SPEAKING OF TROUBLE.

No life would be complete without some trouble.

If there were never any dark days the bright ones would pass by unrecognized.

After all, it isn't until we have a thing taken away from us that we begin to appreciate it.

If we were never sick, we couldn't understand the blessing it is to be well.

Trouble is the forerunner of contentment. But if we brood over it, permit it to retard our best efforts, then it will produce an unbalanced, miserable state of mind and of living.—Fairmont Sentinel.

SERMON AGAINST SLANDER

The Hubbard County Journal at Park Rapids, anent scurrilous campaign stories circulated in that county during the closing days of the campaign, has the following comment:

"Two years ago a prominent citizen of this community withdrew his name from the ticket as a candidate, not wishing to wallow in the mire with the personal propaganda and unfair criticism circulated by the opposition. Character assassins are becoming so bold and brazen that it has assumed the role of a profession. Fair criticism and plain truth in politics is permissible and expected—in fact should be encouraged—but there should be no room in the political arena for falsehood and deliberate misrepresentation."

"Those who saw 'The Covered Wagon' came away thoughtful," says the Montevideo News. "The picture brought to them once again a realization of the hardship, the sacrifice, the courage that were needed in developing the fair domain which they enjoy today. A real service has been done in thus reproducing pioneer life on the screen for a generation which, after all, knows little about hardship. The pioneer of an earlier day went west in a covered wagon of white. Those of that sturdy race who still remain face another journey toward the setting sun in a covered wagon of black, with the same courage. All honor to them."

The teachers of the Thief River Falls schools are to be congratulated upon the fine entertainment provided for the pupils Hallowe'en evening at the high school. For the first time in history the city was practically free from Hallowe'en pranks of an annoying nature. We congratulate the teachers upon their foresight and we also commend the pupils upon their splendid citizenship.

It is claimed that an itinerant moonshine peddler sold 25 gallons of body rub in Thief River Falls last week. No doubt the liquor so sold will be used for pickling purposes. A kind stranger is said to have favored his local friends last week by selling them 25 quarts of genuine Scotch whiskey. (Guaranteed to make a jack rabbit spit in a lion's face.)

"Alfalfa is the greatest known breakfast food for dairy cows, and has a flavor which makes the most blase cow pass her plate for more," says a man writing to The Tribune. Right you are, brother, and the farmers of Pennington county are not overlooking any bets when it comes to alfalfa. We rise to remark that this county will have it on every other community in the matter of alfalfa acreage. "Ten thousand acres in 1925," is our slogan and we mean to live up to it.

According to some of our exchanges from central and southern Minnesota, farm lands are beginning to change hands. Two large farms were sold last week near Fergus Falls to cash buyers and other deals have been reported from time to time. Let us hope a general revival of farm conditions may continue to swing in this direction.

If the proposed deep waterway were now a fact instead of a myth there would be no such thing as an embargo on grain shipments. Farmers of the northwest would then have an opportunity to get their grain to market and country elevators would be in a position to deal with any emergency.

The county attorney of Becker county wants to know what to do with the bootleggers who infest that county, as he cannot get a jury to convict them no matter how strong the evidence. Get together with your sheriff and the judge will do the rest. First of all, however, get your newspapers to stimulate public sentiment in the direction of law enforcement.

A man with a soul so dead that he would ply a school boy or girl with liquor is indeed a pitiful object of humanity. Yet there appears to be such people in Thief River Falls and The Tribune calls upon all decent citizens to help ferret them out in order that the authorities may place them where they belong—behind the bars.

It sure takes a colossal lot of gall for a man who has practiced the meanest sort of graft himself through the government printing office and in sending out postage free political speeches, to get up and loudly accuse others of graft. It sure does! But gall, pure and unadulterated, is about all a few of the louder ones have to offer in the way of qualifications. — Le Sueur Center Leader.

Thief River Falls is a good town but could be a thousand times better if everybody in town pulled together in perfect teamwork style.

We hope every farmer in the vicinity of Thief River Falls will make up his mind NOW to attend the sessions of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association, which meets in this city during November.

The Fairmont Canning company is about to expand by erecting an additional plant at Winnebago. From a small beginning the Fairmont plant has grown to large proportions. They have asked the Winnebago people to erect a suitable building and furnish $30,000 of the required $90,000 which the new plant will cost.

The Crookston Times announces that plans are under way for the establishment of a pea cannery in that city in time for handling next year's crop. The proposition under consideration in Crookston is similar to the one recently presented to the Commercial club of Thief River Falls.

Albert H. Loeb, father of young Loeb who participated in the killing of the Franks boy in Chicago, died last week as a direct result of the worry and grief brought on by the atrocious act of his son. Mr. Loeb was vice president of the Sears-Roebuck company up to the time of his death.

The Northern Sugar corporation of Mason City, Iowa, the people to whom local producers ship their beets, made a record last week when in 24 hours of continuous operation they turned out 4,800 sacks of sugar, a total of nearly half a million pounds.

At the last minute Andy Gump's name was left off the ballot by crooked election officials. Thus is accomplished by underhanded methods the defeat of the only candidate for president of the United States who is 100 per cent for the people.

There is no room in any community for the knocker and the grouch. Lets all look for something to be cheerful about, something to be proud of, something good to say of our friends and neighbors. That is the way to build up a community in which people like to live.

"Doc" Graham lives in Rochester but he has sufficient faith in Pennington county land to make substantial improvements upon his farm near Thief River Falls. "Doc" has made plenty of money out of farm land and knows a good thing when he sees it.

An auto driver south of here is said to have died recently from shock received on one of our main highways. He met a truck driver who gave him half the road and the shock was so great he fell dead on the spot.

Man is the only animal who will lose $40 in a poker game and kick like blazes on the hard times. He is also the only biped who will pay $10 a quart for rotten moonshine and complain over the increase in taxes.

The meanest man in the world has been found. He called an old maid by telephone, asking her hand in marriage. When she accepted he told her he had the wrong number.

Now that the campaign is over, let's forget it, and determine to support the men in power. That's the good American way of doing things—and by long odds the right way.

A lot of people in this neck of the woods must be pretty wormy by this time if pratridges were as wormy as the game wardens say they were.

You can get a more inspiring vision in a church in a valley than in a dance hall on a hill, truthfully says an exchange.

An acre of alfalfa for every dairy cow in Pennington county and we don't care who is president of the United States.

The Will of a Cynic.

"To my wife I leave her lover and the knowledge that I was not the fool she thought I was.

"To my son I leave the pleasure of making a living. For 35 years he has thought the pleasure was mine. He was mistaken.

"To my daughter I leave $100,000. She will need it. The only good piece of business her husband has done was to marry her.

"To my valet I leave the clothes he has been stealing from me regularly for the past ten years. Also the fur coat that he wore last winter when I was south.

"To my chauffeur I leave my cars. He almost ruined them and I want him to have the satisfaction of finishing the job.

"To my partner I leave the suggestion that he take some other clever man in with him at once if he expects to do any business."

Banks Reopened.

One of the closed banks at Inkster, N.D., was opened again for business this week. Recently more than 30 banks have reopened for business in North Dakota and Minnesota, indicating a healthy condition of affairs and pointing to a general revival of business conditions.

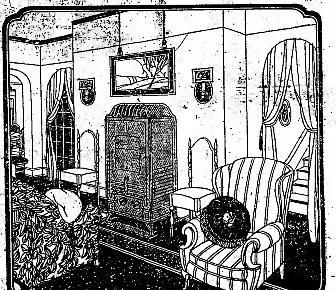
The Heatrola— and what some users say:



Sounds like a foolish question, maybe, yet it has everything to do with your comfort this winter. With a stove, heat waves radiate like ripples gravitating from a splash in a pool. As the distance from the stove increases, the heat diminishes, leaving the rooms farthest from the stove too cold to live in. In the immediate vicinity of the stove it is too hot to be comfortable.

That's why thousands of home owners have abandoned stoves for the Estate Heatrola. The Heatrola is the modern ground-floor heating plant which circulates a current of warm air through every room of your house. There is no hot spot near the Heatrola, no cold areas farther away. You live in your whole house and live with furnace comfort during the severest weather. Even heating—that's what circulation gives you; that's why the current of warmth from the Heatrola is more satisfactory than the radiating heat from a stove.

Drop in any time—we'll gladly show you the Heatrola and explain its advantages. Here's your chance for the best investment in winter comfort you've ever had the opportunity to make.

BIG HOUSE AND BARN GOING UP ON LOCAL FARM

Rochester Physician Lets Contract For Substantial Farm Improvements.

Probably one of the most gratifying signs of the times to be noticed for many months in this vicinity is the action of Dr. Graham of Rochester, owner of the socalled Conner farm near the Pennington county fair grounds, in providing for the erection of substantial new buildings on the property, which be acquired recently.

The farm dwelling, which is now enclosed and nearing completion, is one of the neatest structures of the kind we have seen in many a day. It It is a two-story house to be modern in every respect, including a fifty-barrel cistern, electric lights, etc.

The doctor has also let the contract for a large dairy barn which will be constructed early next spring. This barn will also be modern in construction and will have steel stanchions, drinking cups and other conveniences which the cow of today apciates so much.

In addition to the improvements noted above, the Graham farm is to be planted to alfalfa with all possible speed. More than 150 acres which were fall plowed will be seeded to alfalfa and sweet clover, at least 40 acres to be in alfalfa. It is the intention of Dr. Graham to put as much of the acreage into alfalfa as preparation of the land will permit.

The Graham farm consists of 387 acres adjoining the city of Thief River Falls and, is considered one of the choicest farm properties in the country. Dr. Graham owns and operates a number of large farms in Olmstead county, being a Holstein breeder of more than local renown, and his farm in Pennington county will eventually be the home of some of the best cows raised on his farms in Olmstead county. His faith in Pennington county is based largely upon his observations here with reference to alfalfa. Last fall he stated to The Tribune that the future of agriculture in Pennington county was not in donbt—that the situation here held promises of future prosperity to be found in no other section of the country.

Potato shippers in the vicinity are very mnch dissaatisfied with returns received to date. Jens Letnes, who shipped two loads of tubers to the Chicago market reports that returns were quite disappointing in his case. From the two carloads he received approximately $300, or $1.17 more than the transportation charges amounted to. Other shippers have expressed similar low returns from their potato shipments.

Parent-Teachers Have Fine Program Monday

The Parent-Teachers meeting held Monday evening in the assembly room of Lincoln high school pleased those attending with an unusually fine program.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and as there was no further business to be disposed of, Ariel Kingborn opened the program with a very well received piano solo. The association is indebted to Mrs. F. S. Patton for the next number, which was the "Nosegay" dance from the Musical Revue, a drill by very small children in flower costumes. The audience was especially pleased with a vocal solo by Cleon Bottelson, who made his initial appearance as a soloist that evening. He has a very fine tenor voice and received two encores to his number. Miss Ida Dahl, school nurse, then gave a talk on "Health Work in the Schools." In speaking of checking the spread of contagious diseases she asked the parents to co-operate and to follow the Golden Rule by being as careful with their own children as they would like other parents to be. She gave the parents many suggestions as to how they might better the health condition in the schools and spoke of the different lines of her work. Her speech brought forth remarks on the same subject from Supt. I. T. Simley, Dr. O. F. Mellby and Principal Morris Bye.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, December 1, and the annual election of officers will take place at that time. At present plans are being made for the high school students to have entire charge of the meeting and program.

Dance Postponed.

The dance and card party advertised by the Maccabees has been indefinitely postponed, according to word received this morning by The Tribune.

TABBY CARRIES FAMILY 40 FEET UP IN TREE TOP

Sheridan, Wyo., Nov. 1.—"Tabby," whose owners are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Caffen of this place, never has been permitted to rear one of her annual families. Invariably, soon after birth, her progeny would vanish.

So, when "Tabby" bore eight fine kittens the other day, she took them all, one at a time, up to a high tree, and there, forty feet above ground, in an old magpie's nest, she established her home.

Thus far she has succeeded in defending her young from birds.

New Radio Age in Australia Wants Improvements From United States

Australia is to have radical improvements in radio, notably in the field of broadcasting. Sir George Tallis, chairman of the Australian Broadcasting Company, has just left New York after observing for himself what is being done in America.

"If we can approach the remarkable quality of your broadcasting here, I am satisfied that the future of radio in Australia is tremendous," he said.

Sir George was accompanied by Frank Thring, managing director of J. C. Williamson Films, Ltd. Together they own a chain of about one hundred theatres, and are known as the theatrical and motion picture kings of Australia. Sir George and Mr. Thring were particularly impressed with a visit to the studio of WEAF and the laboratories of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company and the Western Electric Company in New York, which brought them in touch with the latest [illegible] in broadcasting.

The Australian Broadcasting Company operates stations both at Sydney and Melbourne.

Sir George is also taking with him complete plans for a radio exposition, modelled upon the National Radio Exposition of the United States. With Harold Bolster, director of the Exposition, Sir George went over the program, floor plans and general promotion policy, with the result that he is prepared to reproduce the American Exposition in Australia. Mr. Bolster supplied photographs of booths as they appeared last year and are planned for the approaching Exposition in November, so that adaptation may be made by Sir George.

Sir George characterizes Australians as a people temperamentally half way between the English and the Americans.

He revealed also that in Australia a [illegible] is not [illegible] spoken of as a "[illegible]."

LINCOLN HOLDS MOCK ELECTION

LaFollette, Johnson, Christianson Win By Small Majorities.

Of unusual interest to the community at this time is the mock election which was held yesterday at the high school. Those who participated in the voting were students in English I, Ancient, Modern and American History, which included most of the student body. Regular sample ballots were used and each class had clerks and judges who officiated the same as those at the polls.

The purpose of the election was to teach the students how to vote and to determine who they would elect, as the school is considered representative of the community.

Following are the main results of the election: LaFollette, 143; Coolidge, 133; Davis, 24. Johnson, 154; Schall, 117; Farrell, 21. Christianson, 144; Olson, 135. Holmes, 153; Nolan, 143. Raised 14 Pound Cabbage.

Ole Lund, who farms on Squaw Point, brought The Tribune a 14 pound cabbage last Saturday. Think of the amount of sauer kraut such an enormous head would make. Enough to keep Jiggs at Dinty's all winter.

YOU will admire the Monarch Range the instant you see it. The white porcelain panels, blue-black Mirco top, smooth nickel parts, and blued steel body will attract you at once. And the best part of it is that every part of the Monarch can be kept looking like new with so very little care.

The Mirco Top needs no stove blacking. And for that reason pots and pans do not get black on the bottom.

How many hours of kitchen drudgery the Monarch will save! And how you will enjoy cooking on this wonderful range! You might as well have a new Monarch because it will pay its own cost by the fuel it saves.

Constance Talmadge to Let Hair Grow Long Again

Actress Liked Curls She Wore in "The Dangerous Maid," Her Latest First National Picture.

Constance Talmadge has decided to let her hair grow long and curly once more. In "The Dangerous Maid," her latest Joseph M. Schenck production, which comes to the Lyceum next Friday and Saturday, Constance's hair is curled in the fashion of the time of James II.

"And I'm going to let my hair grow longer still," says Constance. "I think girls of today are altogether too masculine—or rather, try to be too masculine,' declares Constance. "In 'The Dangerous Maid' the story calls on me to wear the cavalier costume affected by the men of that day. And while I admit that silk breeches and lacy sleeves and ruffs are becoming, bobbed hair certainly would not be fitting for such a costume.

"After all a woman is never so becoming as she is in curls. I haven't had my hair in curls since I was a little girl and wore a Little Lord Fauntleroy costume. As a matter of fact the Fauntleroy costumes had 'gone out' for little boys some time before I was born, but mother liked it so well she said, 'Well, you're a little tomboy, Constance, and it will be all right for you.'"

The story of "The Dangerous Maid" is laid in the turbulent times when the Duke of Monmouth rebelled against King James II of England. Constance Talmadge has the role of a madcap little rebel who dons a cavalier's sword and costume and engages in a thrilling series of adventures with the officers of the king.

PUBLIC FORUM

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 30, 1924.
To the Editor and Friends of The Thief River Falls Tribune:

"I note that it is about time for my renewal so am enclosing check for another year, incidentally parting with some information regarding California conditions. To eulogize this state is like an old story I read of an antique furniture and art dealer who was trying to sell a very old grandfather's clock. "The lady said to the dealer—why, that clock does not give the correct time. Well, said the dealer, stroking his whiskers, you have got to get used to that clock. When the clock strikes 1 1and the hands point to 17 minutes after 4, you can always be sure that the correct time is 28 minutes after seven." There may be some of you who contemplate moving or visiting here so will endeavor to outline briefly, actual conditions.

"Autumn is well on the way and, like your section, the days have a habit of contracting. Today the sun set about 4:50, while weather was clear and warm, registering 61 as an average for the day. What time the sun rises, cannot say as mornings are invariably cloudy or foggy.

Yesterday, seven full trains pulled in filled with winter visitors of which a great number become permanent tax payers and settlers, partly due to extensive advertising on the part of the local chamber of commerce and to escape the severe winters of the East. Employment here is a hit and miss affair, which is regrettable as idleness promotes crime, especially robbing and burglary. About 60,000 are walking the streets without jobs. A great deal of the clerical work, as bookkeeping, stenography, and counter work is done by young ladies at a salary too small for the men to compete with. Skilled labor pays good. Rentals are high, ranging from $40 per month for a small three-room bungalow to $150 a month for a large house. Apartments cost from $45 to $90 per month. This is not the best kind of an investment as these places are empty about half the time. Lots are very high, usually beginning with $1,000 for a lot on the very outskirts, with a 25-foot frontage. I have now resided here nearly three years and expected real estate to take a slump, but it does not. We are subjected to frosts here like you are and for this reason farming is not without its hazards. During frosty and cold nights many fruit growers are obliged to light smudges and keep them going the greater part of the night.

For a man of moderate means to expect to come here and make an easy living is apt to lead to disillusionment. The very best index as to business opportunties of a place is to get hold of a newspaper of that place and seriously inspect its advertising from cover to cover. The Sunday Times or the Examiner costs ten cents and postage about five cents. If requested will furnish you either copy at cost.

As to health and longevity will say that I am convinced that you people have this place worsted. People age fast here and it is not an uncommon occurrence to see a young middle aged person in the early thirties parading the streets with gray hair, probably due to the intenseness of the sun's rays. People who come here to get cured are not cured any quicker, the old do not get any younger, while the crippled remain crippled. Health is largely camouflaged through powder and the red rouge lip stick. We grow a great variety of choice fruits but in the matter of vegetables will say that you far excel us. Vegetables seem to need the cold of the north in order to give them the right flavor and juiciness.

One of your bankers told me at one time that your winters were too long. Our summers are too long, with not enough rain—so there you are. No section seems to be entirely perfect. We think nothing of it and get our water supply at a great distance of nearly 300 miles and now are thinking seriously of tapping the Colorado river. Your section is especially adapted to dairying instead of grain raising so that your winters can be turned into profit. Where one class of business profits it tends to promote prosperity in other lines.

Regardless of the many hard knocks I received in your section, I harbor animosities toward none and at some future time, probably at my vacation period, I hope to revisit the place of my early dreams and pet ambitions and renew acquaintances.

Very truly yours,
B. L. BACKE,

The Nedrebo Farm.

An article in a recent addition of the Dearborn Independent, published at Dearborn, Mich., will be of interest to many Gonvick people as it refers to the old home farm and birthplace of G. T. Nederbo, former resident of this place, and Mrs. R. E. Waage of Pina Lake township. The article follows:

"A magnificent gold buckle, about three inches in diameter was turned up in the soil on the Nedrebo farm, on East Bukn Island, near Stavanger, Norway. The buckle is in three sections; the upper surface is of gold richly ornamented with a design in filigree of Norwegian workmanship; the finest example of goldsmith work of the Viking age which Norway possesses."

Alfred LeBlanc, who lives in Marshall county, has twice been convicted of violation of the liquor laws and an order has been filed by the district court under which the sheriff will close up his home near Argyle for one year. The order is said to be the first of the kind issued in Minnesota and there are indications that it will be appealed to the supreme court.

Hatless Man Scores.

For several years I have not worn a hat in summer—with no motive except that in warm weather I find a hat uncomfortable. But there are also practical advantages. I have discovered that a hatless man may enter with impunity many places where he would otherwise be stopped. Hatless, one can sometimes stroll into the front door of theatres—without a ticket and without question. When I wish to visit a committee room in the national capital I first leave my hat and coat elsewhere. Even the private lobby back of the United States senate is easy of access to him who carries no headgear. If in a hurry to catch a train I simply remove my hat and the gateman never bothers about looking at my ticket. He doesn't necessarily think I'm proprietor of the railroad, but he probably does assume that I'm an employee, else why should I have hung up my hat?

At times, though, the penalties of hatlessness are unexpected. Just recently I wished to see a man in New York and called at his apartment house intending to telephone up to him from the lobby. The man at the switchboard took one look at me and phoned upstairs:

"Your taxi has arrived, sir."

Rye Field Re-Seeds Self.

Last year Knutson Bros. harvested their winter rye on their land in Marshall county with a fair result. But on account of pressing road work they did not have the opportunity to plow the land right away. When they started to turn the soil over, new growth of winter rye had sprouted on the old field. Seeing a possible chance for a crop this year they did not touch the soil with the plow, disk or drill last fall. When threshing was finished this fall they had 20 bushels more rye from this season's growing than in 1923 although they had not plowed, disced or seeded.

Fight Less and Live Happy.

Bandette Region: Married couples in Lake of the Woods county fight less and live more happily together than those in almost any other part of the state, according to figures received from the state by J. U. Williams, clerk of court, this week. In 1923 there were forty-three weddings in the county and only six divorces. In Koochiching there were 94 weddings, and 34 couples got their freedom. In Beltrami there were two hundred and four weddings and forty-six divorces.

Ambitious Program for Education Week Held Out to All Visitors.

The week of November 17-23 has been set aside as American Education Week and will be appropriately celebrated locally. Every parent and taxpayer in Thief River Falls is asked to participate in this celebration by visiting school. Every parent may well use Education Week as the opportunity to start a regular visiting program for the entire year.

There are many reasons why parents should visit the schools. Some of them are:

To encourage the teachers.

To get first hand information about the work of the schools.

To show their willingness to cooperate with the administration of the school.

For the moral effect it will have on the pupil to know that parents and teachers are pulling together in his training and discipline.

To become acquainted personally with teachers and principals.

To learn at first hand the conditions under which their children live in school.

To learn the problems children must meet (course of study, easy studies, difficult studies, time schedules, etc.)

Some of the things to observe upon visiting school are:

The sanitary condition of the school building.

The general discipline and management of the school.

The supply of supplementary material as maps, dictionaries, etc.

Information which parents might well seek might include:

What parents can do to help the schools.

Whether any bad habits have been noted in the pupils.

What is the general school success of the child.

What are the qualifications demanded of the teaching force.

General policies of the school department.

Specific facts about parents' own children.

Per capita cost as compared with that of other cities.

The effectiveness of the schools of a community depends largely upon the interest that the people take in them. In a community where parents visit the schools, become acquainted with the teachers and learn all they can about the conditions under which the teachers and pupils work, there are likely to be better schools than in the community where no parent ever steps inside the school house door.

Buys Purebred Guernsey Bull.

Ted Johnson and County Agent J. W. Taylor were at Thief River Falls Saturday. While there Mr. Johnson closed a deal whereby he became the owner of a purebred Guernsey bull. The animal was shipped here the first of the week.

The gentlemen also took the opportunity of inspecting the plant of the Thief River Valley Poultry association in which Roseau county people are interested. They report it is no small affair. At present the price received for No. 1 eggs f. o. b. Thief River Falls is 40 cents a dozen, and the association has not been able to fill all orders.—Roseau Times-Region.

PETER, THE PERT

Industrial life has its very human side. Whatever science and efficiency may do, it is often a mascot which adds the final touch of enthusiasm to the day's work.

This is demonstrated in the recent advent of Peter the Pert to the Kearny works of the Western Electric Company; and also in Peter's more recent demise. The Kearny works are not yet built; the work of construction goes on apace between Newark and Jersey City, where swamps used to be.

Possibly this common English sparrow, who became Peter, was looking for some familiar swamp nest of other years. Instead he found steel and concrete. But steel was not less kind than the rank swamps of old, and when a storm dashed the sparrow to the ground members of the construction force gave him shelter.

He became a free and welcome tenant and warm friend of the works people. He made various flights abroad, but returned at night to his place of refuge, and as official mascot he added a new and appealing quality to the place of steel and concrete.

When he died, probably from injuries received in the storm which brought him to earth, he was buried with solemnity at Kearny. And the strong men were not dry-eyed at his grave.

Grand Forks Pioneer Is Dead of Paralysis

George W. Aker, 76, who built the first permanent residence in what is now Grand Forks, died last week following a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Aker was born in Milwaukee in 1848 and came to North Dakota in 1870, settling on a homestead which comprises the section of Grand Forks now known as Riverside Park. He is survived by three daughters; one, Mrs. J. L. Noble of Fort Smith, Ark., was the second white child born in Grand Forks.

Mayhews to Iowa.

Ralph Mayhew and family left yesterday for Sargeant Bluff, Iowa, where they will make their home in the future upon Mr. Mayhew's mother's farm. The Mayhew family has resided near Mavie for several years and their numerous friends, while regretting their departure, wish them success in their new home.

Tribune Force Increased.

H. S. Snyder, foreman in The Tribune office, holds his head a little higher and walks a little straighter this week because of the arrival last Thursday, October 31, of a fine girl at the Snyder home. Mrs. Snyder and the baby are getting along fine—and Harold is simply walking on air.

Hunts Have a Boy.

The Prince of Wales has nothing on the boy that was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hunt last Thursday—to hear Ted tell it. Ted and his wife have been busy receiving the congratulations of their friends all week upon the advent of the young man in the family.

Chicken Bandits Hold Up Woman; Loot Coop

A new twist in chicken stealing was pulled off near Iowa Falls when Mrs. Henry Heffelmeier was held up while her entire flock of chickens were loaded on a truck and driven away. Mrs. Heffelmeier was alone at her home when the two men drove into the yard with a truck. While one of the men covered the woman with a pistol, the other loaded the chickens into the truck and the pair drove away.

LIVE AND DRESSED POULTRY WANTED

We will need a lot of dressed turkeys, geese and ducks to fill our orders for the Thanksgiving trade. We would advise marketing only the very best birds at this time, as No. 2 birds are a drug on the market, and they probably would be a No. 1 bird for the Christmas market. Turkeys may look fat but would advise examining them carefully before killing. We can handle them alive just as well if you do not care to dress them.

Get our prices before selling elsewhere as you are sure of getting the right weight and grade when selling to us. We need a lot of both kinds so come in and see us when you have some to sell. See it weighed and graded, know what you are getting when you bring your poultry to town.

CONVENTION OF RED RIVER VALLEY DAIRYMEN OPENS IN THIS CITY NOVEMBER 19

Cow Testing Association to Be Formed Here By Prof. Wilson—List of Speakers Said to Be Finest Ever. Awards Given For Attendance Records—Public Cordially Invited to All Sessions of Convention.

Thief River Falls will be host next week to the best crowd of boosters in Minnesota when the officers and members of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association meet here in annual convention. The dates are November 19 and 20. Secretary Houske and President Stuart McLeod have completed all details and it is hoped the attendance will exceed that of former years.

The Tribune would like to see the sessions of the dairymen next week get the attention of this community which they deserve. Stuart McLeod is one of the home boys who has worked like a Trojan in the interests of better herds in Pennington county. He is president of the association and is a live wire wherever you put him. Let the farmers of the vicinity and the business men of Thief River Falls indicate their appreciation of this fine young dairyman by turning out in large numbers to the coming convention.

The sessions will be worth while, too, as the finest talent in the state will be on the program. Prof. L. D. Wilson, who speaks in the afternoon of the first day, will attempt to interest the farmers of this county in a cow testing association at the close of his address, and what he will have to say upon this subject should be of interest to every cow owner in the district.

Then there will be an address by our old friend, L. Jensen of Clearbrook, who is now president of the state association. It goes without saying that he will have a message of great interest to farmers of this section.

Prof. Selvig is on the program. So is O. M. Kiser.

And don't miss the address by Chris Heen, state dairy and food commissioner, a big man and a fine talker. Then there is James Sorenson and many other dairy experts, all loaded to the muzzle with digestible information concerning the dairy and poultry game. It is all free and none can afford to miss this great convention.

A silver trophy loving cup will be awarded the creamery registering the largest attendance at the convention, Thief River Falls being barred. A $20 loving cup will be awarded the creamery standing second in this contest.

A gold medallion will be awarded the buttermaker making the highest score at the convention. Also there will be prize awards to creameries keeping the best herd records, to creameries having patrons with the best percentage of purebred sires and patrons having the greatest number of silos.

It promises to be a great convention in every sense of the word and we sincerely trust no earnest dairy farmer in the vicinity will miss it. Come to the first session and attend as many as you can—but don't fail to come.

Education Week to Be Observed

Huge Parade, Programs at Schools and Talks at Theatre Featured.

Observation of Education Week, November 17 to 23, will be made in the schools, the theatre and the churches, according to present plans. Students in the various schools have been busy making posters to decorate their rooms in preparation for the visiting parents, and 15-minute programs to stress each day's topic have been arranged.

One of the big features of the week will be the parade of all the school children and their teachers, similar to the exhibition given last year. If the weather permits, this will take place Monday afternoon and if not it will be held later in the week. Announcement of this will be made in the homes through the children so that the parents may be on hand to witness it.

Short talks will be given at the theatre every evening next week by representatives of the various schools and the Public Speaking class, and by members of the various organizations in the city.

The topics for each day of the week are as follows: Monday, Constitution Day; Tuesday, Patriotism Day; Wednesday, School and Teachers Day; Thursday, Illiteracy Day; Friday, Physical Education Day; Saturday, Community Day, and Sunday, For God and Country Day.

All the ministers in the city have been asked to co-operate by stressing education in their sermons Nov. 23.

DISGRACEFUL CONDUCT

Shameful and disgraceful as was the conduct of the young boys who appeared at the football game yesterday, these poor deluded boys are to be pitied rather than censured, but The Tribune finds it difficult to restrain itself in the use of language to properly describe the skunks who sold them the liquor. They are pretty well known to the authorities, however, and if proper evidence can be secured, prosecutions will surely follow.

This thing has reached the limit of endurance in Thief River Falls. The police have refrained from making arrests in order to shield the boys from disgrace and in some cases the loss of their jobs. From now on arrests will be made in all cases where drunks appear in public places, and a strenuous effort is under way to ascertain the names of the parties guilty of peddling liquor to minors.

The boys involved in yesterday's affair are not high school boys, although they are boys of school age and should be in school rather than on the streets. That any human being could sink so low as to procure liquor for such boys passes all understanding, and it is the belief of this newspaper that the day of reckoning is near. One thing is certain, if parents will give the city authorities a helping hand at this moment by assisting in furnishing evidence against the bootleggers, their boys will be saved future disgrace and the city will rid itself of a few damned nuisances.

MANY MEMBERS ARE ADDED TO CLUB IN DRIVE

Committee Finds Ready Response to Call For New Blood.

A committee of the Commercial club which has conducted a drive during the past week for new members has met with a ready response, the latest report being to the effect that 18 have added their names to the roll of honor.

Inasmuch as only half the city has been covered at this time, the prospect for a largely increased membership seems bright indeed. Members of the drive committee have expressed to The Tribune their gratification over the readiness of business men to align themselves with the leading civic organization in Thief River Falls.

President Froehlich and Secretary McCann have worked like beavers for the good of the city in advancing the interests of the Commercial club and we dare say they are pleased over the prospects for a live organization in 1925.

Mexicans Leave For Texas; Will Return in the Spring

Two special cars filled with Mexican sugar beet laborers were shipped out of this city on the Great Northern railroad last Friday afternoon, headed for El Paso and San Antonio, Tex. The cars contained about 55 workers and their families, all of whom have been employed in this immediate vicinity, and who are expected to return again in the spring. At Crookston they were joined by about 200 workers from the neighborhood of Fisher and Grand Forks, who were likewise going to Texas to spend the winter.

THE POULTRY SHOW

The Tribune nearly overlooked the poultry show which takes place in Thief River Falls on November 19, 20 and 21. According to the officials the show this year will be bigger and more elaborate than ever before. Ed. L. Hayes of Minneapolis, said to be one of the finest poultry experts in the country, will do the judging.

A number of valuable extra prizes will be given to winners this year by the business men of Thief River Falls.

Chief Ralston Injured By Glancing Ax Blade

Chief of Police Laid Up as Result of Accident Last Sunday.

Chief of Police Lon Ralston is laid up for repairs at his home as the result of an accident which occurred while the officer was trimming a log last Sunday at his farm on Moose river.

It seems the chief was wielding a heavy ax in attempting to trim the end of a log when the ax glanced and struck him just above the ankle of the right foot, cutting a deep gash. First aid was administered and Ralston was brought to this city for medical attention immediately.

Though suffering greatly from loss of blood, he is now resting easy and expects to be back on duty within the course of ten days. During his absence from the force Night Officer Christianson is officiating as chief of police.

Road Engineers in City.

Gus Flygare, division engineer at Fergus Falls, I. D. Webster, assistant to Engineer Kipp, and W. B. Chapman, division engineer at St. Paul, were Thief River Falls visitors last Thursday, making a tour of inspection of the construction south of this city. The gentlemen also viewed several miles of the Warren road.

LOCAL MAN NOW THROUGH WITH BIG CONTRACT

Isak Helseth, Local Contractor, Figures in State Celebration at Mobridge, S. D., Today—New $300,000 Bridge on Yellowstone Trail Opened to Travel.

Today was a big day in the annals of Mobridge, South Dakota, marking as it does the opening to travel of the huge bridge spanning the Missouri river at that point, and while the governor of South Dakota, and functionaries of all stations and degrees will participate in the gala event, yet it is a Thief River Falls man who figures as the center of attraction—the hero in the play, as it were—and he is none other than "Ike" Helseth, vice president of the Minneapolis Bridge company, a successful contractor and all around good fellow.

Isak Helseth started construction upon the Mobridge bridge early last spring after being awarded the contract in competition with the largest bridge contractors in the country.

Something of the size of the project may be gained from the following statistical information:

Cost of bridge, approximately $300,000.

Total length, 1,487 feet.

It includes six reinforced concrete piers, five 256-foot through riveted trusses.

CANNED GOODS FEATURED BY DEALERS HERE

Awards to Be Made Next Saturday Afternoon By Local Judges.

Canned goods week, November 8 to 15, is being generally observed by grocers in Thief River Falls by fine window displays. A feature of the display is the award of prizes to be given Saturday by a committee of local judges selected by the Thief River Grocery company, the concern which is giving away the prizes. The prize awards will be given for the best display of Del Monte canned goods.

In most homes every week is canned foods week. The list of appetizing and nutritious foods put up in cans is being constantly enlarged. There is an immense variety of both food staples and specialties which, thanks to the can, are available in season and out.

With grocers everywhere co-operating in this National Canned Foods Week, an unusual opportunity is offered to secure just the brands and varieties one wants in quantities to last through the winter months, and at favorable quantity prices.

CITY OBSERVES ARMISTICE DAY AT AUDITORIUM

Loyalty to American Ideals Stressed By Chaplain Barnett in Address.

Armistice Day was appropriately observed in Thief River Falls yesterday by exercises which were carried out under the auspices of the American Legion. All local business houses, which were closed during the day, were decorated with flags and bunting. The schools were closed and the children of the grades held brief exercises in advance of the regular program. The children were favored with a short address by Rev. Jos. Barnett, who delivered the principal address at the subsequent exercises.

The regular program was inaugurated with an overture by the Legion orchestra, followed by the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the audience, Maude L. Johnson leading the singing.

"America the Beautiful" by the Woman's Club chorus was the next number on the program and a most pleasing one.

Rev. S. L. Tallakson followed by reading the Declaration of War message by the late President Wilson, and Rev. J. T. Dixon read the roll of honor, reciting the names of the battle fields of France.

Mrs. O. F. Mellby favored with a beautiful solo entitled, "Christ in Flandere."

The principal address was delivered by Rev. Jos. Barnett of Red Wing, former chaplain Department of Minnesota American Legion. The speaker dwelt upon the significance of Armistice Day and its proper observance, and laid particular stress upon the important part now to be played by the American service men in national affairs. Sinister influences which threaten the safety of the Republic he held to be the greatest menace to our well being and his address fairly bristled with the spirit of Americanism which he held to be the cardinal principle of all right thinking men and women.

Following the program the Boy Scouts under the leadership of Rev. Gerlinger gave a demonstration of their skill. First aid, wig wagging, rescue work and other features of scouting were carried out in a manner which reflected much credit upon the members of the troop. At the conclusion of the drill first class pins were awarded Byron Tharaldson, William Froehlich and Clayton Snyder, who passed the required examination.

Last evening a banquet in honor of Chaplain Barnett was given at the Legion club rooms by the Woman's Auxiliary. The room was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the menu was most excellent to the last detail.

Morlan Bishop did the honors as toastmaster in his usually happy style. He called upon Mayor Arneson, who spoke briefly of city plans with reference to the state convention which meets here next August. Dr. Gunnarson, commander of the Warren post, responded with a review of Legion work in his city, and as was so well stated by another speaker, the doctor really ought to write a book—he is so full of valuable ideas. The doctor pledged the assistance of Warren in making the convention a success, and he received an ovation at the conclusion of his talk—and he deserved it.

Commander Smith was introduced, and in a rousing talk predicted that Thief River Falls would not be found wanting at convention time—but that it would be a howling success.

"Joe" Barnett was called upon and related incidents of his war experiences which were side splitting in character, demonstrating that serious as the work of the American soldier was it was not without its compensating side for those who were possessed of a funny bone and a desire for experience.

Adjutant Sande brought down the house when he related his recent experience before the Legion Executive committee at Minneapolis. If he can be believed (and we think he can) he is the kind of booster to send to all future conventions.

At the conclusion of the speaking program the Woman's Auxiliary was tendered a rising vote of thanks by the guests at the banquet.

It should also be mentioned that Kern Olson and Herbert Hanson received a big hand when they sang that well known ditty entitled, "Ja, Vi Har Ingen Bananas."

Gonvick Booming.

Acquisition of a $10,000 public hall and four new homes together with a gain of forty new residents in less than a year is a record boasted by Gonvick in 1924. Few towns, if any, of a like size in this section, can equal it.—Gonvick Banner.

Lincoln Loses to East Grand Forks, 12 to 6

Game Was Hard Fought Throughout on Cold, Snowy Field.

Despite the disagreeable weather, a large number of local football fans and East Grand Forks supporters turned out yesterday afternoon to witness the game between the Lincolnites and the East Siders, which ended 12 to 6 in favor of the visiting team.

The ground was covered with snow and was very slippery, and the players' hands were wet and stiff from the cold so that they were playing under decided difficulties, but nevertheless the game was one of the best and most closely played this year. East Grand Forks scored their first touchdown almost immediately after the start with a break through center and it looked as if they would win an easy victory. However, the local line tightened up and the two sides played even during the remainder of the contest, each making one touchdown. At an earlier point of the game it looked as if the Lincoln men would score but a pass failed and the ball went to the opponents just at the critical time.

Coach Thune's men played a fine game and proved a surprise to the East Siders, who expected to win by an overwhelming score.

FIRE DESTROYS DWELLING OF CLARA GULRUD

Defective Stove Cause of Saturday Fire on Kendall Avenue.

The home of Mrs. Clara Gulrud on Kendall avenue south was totally destroyed by fire last Saturday afternoon when a defective kitchen stove caused the house to be ignited. Immediately upon receiving the alarm the department responded but the fire had gained such headway that nothing could be saved from the flames.

House and contents, including the personal effects of Mrs. Gulrud went up in smoke. A fair amount of insurance covers the loss of the dwelling, which was of small size, but she had very little insurance on household goods and clothing.

VACCINATION IS NECESSARY AS PRECAUTION

Vaccination More Than 7 Years Old Said to Be of Little Value.

Local health officials have issued a general warning with reference to the small pox epidemic which is said to have assumed alarming proportions in the larger centers of population. A number of deaths have occurred in Minneapolis and St. Paul, the disease which is raging there being particularly malignant, according to health authorities.

So far the disease has not made its appearance in this section, but physicians say it is well to be on guard. In the cities nearly everyone has submitted to vaccination and many people in Thief River Falls have been vaccinated during the past week as a measure of precaution.

In cities where vaccination has been general there has been a noticeable decrease of small pox and scarcely any deaths, while fatalities have occurred on a comparatively large scale in localities where no precautions have been observed.

During the period between 1913 and 1923 there were 85,152 cases of small pox, and 108 deaths. Of these more than 33,000 were never vaccinated. Of those who had been vaccinated more than 7 years there were 1,458, of which only one died. In 586 cases who had been vaccinated less than seven years ago there were no deaths.

Compulsory vaccination was abandoned in Minnesota in 1903. A large percentage of our population is unvaccinated, and unless the people protect themselves by vaccination a serious epidemic may break out.

All health authorities agree that vaccination should be resorted to before small pox appears.

St. Bernard's Guild.

St. Bernard's Guild will be entertained Thursday, November 13, by Mrs. Fred Protz and Mrs. Ole Engelstad at the home of Mrs. Protz. Everybody welcome.

CARL ANGELL IS DEAD, RESULT OF ROAD ACCIDENT

Carl Angell, partner of Ed. Ness in the White Eagle Oil company of this city, died at 7:30 last evening at the Physicians hospital seven hours after being injured when the oil truck he was driving overturned in the road three miles north of Plummer.

A farmer boy who was an eyewitness to the accident states that the truck was traveling at fair speed when the driver seemed to apply the brakes with the result that the machine skidded on the frozen road and, striking an obstruction, turned completely over. When found the truck was headed north, though Mr. Angell was going south toward Plummer.

The cab of the truck caved in and Mr. Angell was severely crushed. Despite his injuries he managed to extricate himself from the wreck and called to the boy who witnessed the accident to assist him in righting the truck. Before the boy reached him Angell had started to walk towards Plummer and was about 150 feet from the overturned truck when he was overtaken by A. J. Adams of the J. I. Case company.

Angell seemed to be in great pain and asked to be taken to Thief River Falls. Mr. Adams assisted him into his car and rushed him to the hospital here. An examination by Dr. Froehlich disclosed a broken right arm, broken collar bone and three broken ribs. The ribs were crushed into the right lung, causing severe internal hemorrhages. Mr. Angell realized his condition, informing the doctor that he expected to die and begging that information concerning his condition be withheld from his wife, who was also at the hospital where she was being treated for minor ailments.

After seven hours of terrible pain, which he bore with Spartan courage, he passed away at 7:30, being fully conscious to the end. Mrs. Angell was notified of her husband's plight a half hour before his death and was with him when the end came.

The tragedy which befell Mr. Angell is deplored by every citizen of Thief River Falls, this city having been his home for many years. He was a fine type of citizen, unassuming, sober and industrious. He farmed some years ago east of this city. In company with another man he opened the first movie house in this city. For a time he was employed at Oen's store. In late years he has been in the oil business, and at the time of his death was a member of the firm of Angell & Ness.

He leaves to mourn his death his wife and five children, ranging in age from 4 to 14 years. He was born at Namndal, Norway, March 9, 1883, coming to this country at the age of 15. Deceased was a member of Brage Chorus and had considerable talent as a musician. He was a member of the Sons of Norway and Odd Fellows lodges.

According to present plans the funeral exercises will take place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Trinity church, Rev. S. L. Tallakson officiating.

Book Week Being Observed in Schools November 9 to 16

Book Week, which commenced last Sunday and continues until this Sunday, is being appropriately observed at the public library and in the public schools, although less is being done this year than last because of its nearness to Education Week.

A large number of new books, both adult and juvenile fiction and nonfiction, is now on display at the library and everyone is invited to come and inspect them before they are put on the shelves. Each of the four grade schools is putting on a program one day this week and all parents are asked to attend these programs, which consist of talks by the pupils on their favorite books, character sketches from books, and story telling.

Book week is for the purpose of interesting the students in better literature and books of a higher quality rather than the cheap type and to help build a foundation for real literary tastes.

LANDS BIG BUCK

As The Tribune goes to press we learn of the first success of the hunting season. Commander Oscar Smith of the American Legion brought down a big buck near Middle River this morning, and he informs us that he will serve it during the coming week for the benefit of the Legion. Luck for Oscar—more luck for the Legion.

Carl Johan Larson.

Carl Johan Larson died Saturday morning, November 1, at his home in Alma township.

Deceased was born in Vermeland, Sweden, in May, 1867, and was over 57 years at his death. About the year of 1887 he came to America. For some years he stayed with his uncle, Andrew Larson, near Granville, Minn. In 1893 he married Emma Jorgenson of Argyle. They rented farms at different places north of Thief Rievr Falle and near Newfolden. The last nine years they lived on a farm in Alma, east of Argyle.

Mr. Larson took a bad cold which turned into pleurisy and later into pneumonia. The fight against grim death lasted just one week. Mrs. Carl Larson, the widow; two sisters, Mrs. Ed. Falgreen of East Grand Forks, Mrs. Bancroft of Minneapolis; two brothers, Oscar and John; and a stepmother, Mrs. A. G. Lundgreen, all of Belgrade, Minn., mourn the death of Mr. Larson.

The funeral services were held at the Middle River church on Monday, Nov. 3rd, at 2 p. m. Rev. John Hjelmeland officiated. Friends from far and near had come to pay the last tribute to the deceased. May God comfort the bereaved and heal the wounded hearts.—Warren Sheaf.

Kind Words for Newlywed.

Married, Miss Sylvia—and James—last Saturday at the parsonage of Rev. Gordon. The bride is one of those spineless females who doesn't know any more about work than an oyster, and never wiggled a dishrag more than three times in her sweet life. The groom is an up-to-date loafer. He has been living with the old folks all his life and is not worth the gunpowder to blow him up.—Ex.

Cranks Car; Breaks Arm.

Paul Schulze, prominent dairy farmer of the Radium community, is recuperating this week from an accident last Thursday in which his arm was broken while he was cranking a car on his place. He received medical attention in Warren and is getting along nicely.—Warren Sheaf.

Still Going Strong.

Mr. Alltalk was a very poor speaker and after his oratory had run on for over an hour some of his audience began to leave. As one man slipped out of the doorway, another, who had waited outside, asked hopefully:

"Has he finished?"

"Yes," said the first sufferer grimly. "Long ago, but he won't stop."—Good Hardware.

Advancing Coffee prices not his fault!

Every pound of coffee must be imported and raw-coffee import prices have

ADVANCED 14 Cents a pound since July 1923

This means an increased cost of 17¼ cents a pound on ROASTED coffee.

The entire advance you now pay goes straight back to the PLANTER in Central and South America.

The advance in cost is justified due to unusually small crops in all coffee-growing countries.

The Kiss in Revolutions.

It was inevitable that sooner or later the Soviet scientists would invite disaster. They have withstood economic pressure from without, triumphed over starvation, crushed the allied armies of intervention—defied nations and even nature up to now—but at length they face defeat.

"No more handshaking—it communicates disease"—showing how filthy these Reds must be.

That settles it. The spell is broken. There are some things in nature that cannot be defeated even by the Soviet. All went well with the Reds of Paris until Robespierre deprived Tallien of his mistress—and the next scene showed Robespierre bleeding on a table, and the lady kissing her lover.

A kiss killed the terror in Paris; prohibition of the kiss may do as much in Moscow.—New York World.

When Your Range Wears Out—Consider Why

Is it broken?

Is it rusted out?

Or, is it getting to look so bad that you just want a new one?

No matter what your experience has been, note this:

Whatever the reason is for discarding your old range—that thing cannot possibly happen to the Monarch.

The Monarch's riveted joints stay tight forever so that it gives the same satisfactory and economical service after years of use as when new.

Magnifies Voice Many Thousand Times

VOICE currents which travel great distances become weak and indistinct. Vacuum tube repeaters, therefore, are installed at intervals when it is necessary to "boost up" or magnify the telephone conversations.

The vacuum tube repeater—the simple looking glass bulb shown in the illustration above—magnifies long distance telephone conversations thousands of times.

Years of research and experiment were required to invent and perfect this little device which has helped so greatly to make long distance telephone service in America the marvel of the world.

Engineering and research work such as produced the vacuum tube, has a very important part in our constant effort to provide the best possible service at the lowest possible cost to the public.

KNUTE NELSON.

It would be hard to find a more typically American figure in the public life of the United States in the past generation than Knute Nelson, foreign born. To those who knew him it seems especially fitting that he should be commemorated in stone at the entrance of Minnesota's State Capitol. He stands for those sturdy Vikings who came from the Scandinavian peninsula, to the forests and prairies of Minnesota and have done so much to build up the young state.

Knute Nelson was every inch a patriot, and the fires of love for his country seemed to burn brighter in the man because of his foreign birth and his fight against odds to the highest post a foreign-born citizen may hold in the United States.

As a mere immigrant boy he threw himself into the struggle to save the Union, enduring hardships and shedding his blood for the country that had opened its doors to him. His own life made him appreciate what America means in opportunity to the humble-born.

With that background, no wonder Knute Nelson was intolerant of the "International" mind, the pink radical and the pacifist, the fellow always anxious to prove his country wrong and apologize for its enemies. He detested a slacker, too.

To Knute Nelson, the mere fact of being an American meant a solemn obligation of service. He gave it himself without stint, both in war and in peace.

As a public servant he was conscientious, honest and painstaking. He was positive in his convictions, but his strongest opponents respected [illegible] as sincere. In the United States senate there was no harder worker than "Uncle Knute."

It was his habit, as every senator knew, to take up one subject at a time and dig to the bottom of it. He would exhaust the possibilities of the Congressional library and all other sources of information, and when he came to the surface after his exploration, his fellow senators knew that Knute Nelson had learned about all that was worth knowing about the matter. His word was accepted as authority.

In the prime of his political career Knute Nelson's advice was accepted as the gospel by his fellow farmers of Minnesota. In his declining years the pressure of affairs at Washington kept him so closely there that he had little opportunity to keep in touch with the home folks. The younger generation refused to heed his counsel in politics, sound as it always was. This was a source of bitter regret to him in his closing years.

It will be balm to the soul of Knute Nelson to know that many thousands of the Minnesota people he loved so well have joined to perpetuate his memory and that the people were eager to join in a popular tribute to their "Grand Old Man."

SWENSON FOR SPEAKER.

Oscar Swenson of Nicollet county appears at this writing to be in the lead for the speakership of the next house. He is exceptionally well qualified for the position, having served in the legislature for seven sessions. Since the results of the election seem to have given city candidates a large preference it would seem only fair that the country have the speakership. Oscar Swenson is a farmer, a fighter, a recognized leader, a man who understands the present needs of the state, and in him the state will have competent leadership in the popular branch of the legislature.

We suggest a colony of pessimists be established on one of the isolated islands in Lake of the Woods. Can anyone doubt that boys so drilled in the art of self defense and giving first aid, educated along lines of the outdoors with reference to knowledge of trees and plants, and having inculcated in their young minds a wholesome respect for the flag and the government—can anyone doubt that such boys will make better citizens, citizens more capable, more public spirited, more tolerant. All honor, we say, to the men who are interesting themselves in this splendid service for the upbuilding of American manhood.

It is up to the people of Thief River Falls to stop the sale of liquor to young boys, whether such youngsters secure their liquor through moonshiners or through the regular channels of a doctor's prescription. An aroused public sentiment, and particularly the friendly co-operation of parents, together with renewed vigilance on the part of enforcement officials, will accomplish the desired result. It is about time the sale of liquor to children in this city were permanently stopped.

No one ever helped this town or community by patronizing mail order houses. In the first place mail order houses handle only inferior goods—a fact which cannot be disputed. Fresh Air Week, Nov. 9 to 15, Should Be Observed

"Fresh air is nature's best tonic—use more of it."

This is the slogan of "Fresh Air Week," Nov. 9 to 16, which is being observed in this state under the direction of the Minnesota Public Health association as part of the tuberculosis-prevention program supported by Christmas seals. The object of the campaign is to encourage out-of-doors sleeping for those that can afford proper equipment to keep warm; open-window sleeping for all; and a more abundant use of fresh air during the day in home, office, shop, school and elsewhere.

"November is in too many homes the beginning of an unhealthful shut-in existence which lasts until spring," says the Fresh Air Week bulletin of the Public Health association. "Fresh air is the cheapest and the best medicine both for prevention of disease and its cure known to man.

"Patients at the tuberculosis sanatoria of the state have demonstrated the body-healing benefits of fresh air and they have also proved that it is possible to sleep out-of-doors in comfort in this climate in the winter." While out-of-doors sleeping is not possible for all, every one can sleep with their windows open. How many of us are guilty of lowering our bedroom window inch by inch as the thermometer recedes degree by degree! Remember the closed window at night is the open door to tuberculosis! Sleep with your windows open top and bottom no matter how cold the night is—and put on all the extra coverings necessary to keep warm. The danger of wasting fuel can be eliminated by closing the bedroom off from the rest of the house.

"Offices, shops and homes should guard against stuffiness and impure air. Watch the thermometer—a temperature of around 68 degrees is best from the stand point of comfort and health. Get out of doors for health; take some of your recreation in the open air."

COUNCIL TAKES ACTION IN MANY MINOR MATTERS

Three Building Permits Are Granted For Improvements.

Street Commissioner Hoff Makes Report on New Sidewalks.

The city council, with only Alderman H. A. Brumund absent, held a short session last Friday evening and transacted considerable business of a routine nature, including granting milk licenses, building permits, dance permits, spreading sidewalk costs and scrutinizing monthly reports.

Following close on the heels of election and the defeat of Senator Magnus Johnson came an application for a milk license from Magnus Johnson—our own Magnus, who recently moved to this city from down state. The application had been duly approved by Dairy Inspector L. R. Twete and was accordingly granted.

Two dance permits were requested, one from the American Legion for their dance last night, the other from the Railway Trainmen for their annual ball Thanksgiving eve, November 26. Both were duly granted unanimously.

Three building permits were asked for and given the approval of the aldermen. The first was from Ed. O'Hara for the building of a small coal shed on the Great Northern right of way at a cost of $100. J. H. Hardisty wished to build a garage at a cost of $125, while Dr. A. W. Swedenburg contemplated the remodeling of the large barn on the rear of the property at the corner of Fourth and Knight. The intention is to put a basement under the structure so as to accommodate automobiles and later on to remodel the main floor and loft into a dwelling. The estimated cost was placed at $2,500.

Street Commissioner H. O. Hoff made his final report on the cost of constructing sidewalks on the East side this summer under his supervision and the aldermen were surprised at the same, it being only $15.15 per 25 foot lot. The cost was ordered assessed against the various pieces of property where the walks were laid.

O. A. Naplin, representing the bondsmen of the Citizens State bank, asked the council for an extension of time until Tuesday evening, November 18, in which to arrange for caring for the funds of the city which were on deposit in the bank at the time it closed January 8 last. This was duly granted.

The lease of the Great Northern Railway company for the right of way where the gasoline storage tank of the city is to be installed was presented to the council for its approval, having been duly signed by Mayor J. S. Arneson. It was referred to the city attorney, H. O. Chommie, and duly approved. The aldermen were of the opinion that although the season was about over it should be installed and be ready for use at any time the necessity might arise.

Adjournment was taken until Tuesday evening, November 18, at which time various other matters will be considered, this week Tuesday having been a legal holiday in Minnesota.

Kiewel Building at Crookston to Be Made Into Spud Warehouse.

Final papers were signed Saturday at Crookston whereby the brick building formerly used by the Kiewel Products company as a brewery has been sold to the Minnesota Potato Exchange as a potato warehouse.

No announcement was made regarding the consideration paid for it was declared the Exchange would take possession September 15. The brewery building has been used by the Kiewel Products company as a bottling works. The sale of beverages by the company, however, will not be halted by the transaction.

Dismantling of the brewery machinery is expected to start this week. The machinery will be shipped to St. Boniface, near Winnipeg, and will be installed in the new brewery being built there by a company headed by Charles E. Kiewel of Crookston.

The brick structure is regarded, with the necessary repairs, to be ideal for a potato warehouse. The building is 90 by 130 feet and it is estimated 250 cars of potatoes can be stored. A spur will be built connecting the warehouse with the Great Northern railroad so that potatoes can be loaded from the house direct to the cars without danger of freezing during winter shipments.

America's air program at least shows a flattering faith in the present force.

The Sphinx, however, wasn't a candidate.

Excerpts from Winning Letters—

"Traveling has become a delight instead of a drudgery since the advent of interurban motor bus transportation."

"The 'bus' clears the drifts off the road after heavy snow-storms."

"To the person that cannot afford or does not wish the care of a private car the 'bus' is a boon."

THE SINS OF THE CHILDREN.
MEAT EATERS RULE.

Joe, aged chimpanzee, alleged member of a tribe whence sprang the Caucasian race, has known a moment of exaltation. His keeper, as usual, entered the cage to clean it. Joe, just for a change, swung his knotty black hand around and knocked the keeper senseless with ease, went out the open door and walked in the park. He stopped to exchange courtesies with his friend, John Barrett, eighty-three-year-old park employe. Soon he was on his way back to the cage.

Learn that when you admire a prizefighter, you admire only a poor imitation of a chimpanzee, and a worse imitation of a gorilla, that could beat any twenty prizefighters in forty seconds.

Learn also from Joe, the chimpanzee, that freedom depends not on how hard you can HIT, but how well you can THINK. Joe, the chimpanzee rose, knocked down his keeper, and walked out of the cage, but he didn't know what to DO next. "There's the rub."

An "educator" of Minnesota is accused of punishing boys in a high school by causing them to sit in an "electric chair," causing severe burns.

It might cure the man with the rubber hose to let him spend half an hour in a closed room with Wills, the negro fighter, the latter also equipped with a piece of rubber hose.

The Minnesota educator could be enlightened by a brief stay in a real electric chair, but that would be too drastic, even for that kind of stupid brutality.

The Government, which found so many billions for the wars of other people in Europe, ought to find a few dollars for building the canals that this country needs. One canal would unite the Lakes and the Mississippi Valley with the Gulf and the Pacific via Panama. Another canal for ships unite the Lake country with the Atlantic. "Every big American city a seaport" should be our motto.

Within twenty-four hours, a girl of fourteen, scolded by her father shot herself to death. An eighteen-year-old boy, beaten by his father, killed himself by turning on the gas.

Strange that man, said to descend from the "higher apes" or some animal like them, should treat his own children with a brutality of which no gorilla, orange-outang or chimpanzee was ever guilty.

A man that would not allow anybody to beat his young horse or dog for fear of "breaking its spirit" will break the sensitive spirit of his own child.

Modern crime turns an ancient text upside down. In Exodus, 20th chapter, 5th verse, you are told that the iniquity of the fathers is visited upon the children "unto the third and fourth generation."

Now the crime of the child is visited upon the father. Albert Loeb, whose son killed the Franks boy, is dead, killed by sorrow and disgrace. That should satisfy the bloodthirsty that demanded "somebody hanged."

That unfortunate father died a thousand deaths to atone for his son's hideous crime.

Have you noticed how little men seem to think about their souls while they are alive, and how much they think about what will happen to their bodies after they are dead? A corpse left behind is no more important than a pair of wornout shoes thrown aside. Yet men of power, from the Pharaoh that built the first pyramid to millionaire Cone with his concrete grave, have worried about their bodies.

The question interesting to one thinking of death should be, "Where do I go from here?" not "Who is going to steal my body?"

George Bernard Shaw, self-appointed Vice-Regent of Omnipotence, thinks little of meat eaters. He's wrong. He says: "Armies fed on barley have conquered half the world." Perhaps so, but men that eat meat RULE THE ENTIRE WORLD. Don't forget that.

Poem by Uncle John

My neighbor drives a limonsine, an' fusses with his liver,—he finds it mighty hard to keep in trim. He mebbe doesn't realize that, in my little flivver—I wouldn't think of swappin' lots with him. Of course, he's got his velvet an' his fancy rubber tires, which he figgers that he couldn't live without,—but I enjoy the trimmin's that a healthy yap requires, and I never have been pestered with the gout.

Though me and him is human, we have allers got along—an' loved each other—same as neighbors will. . . . His life's the soul of dividends, while mine's the soul of song—but, we differ some on how to climb the hill. I reckon he is satisfied a-settin' in his bank, enjoyin' little twinges of the gout,—while I have come to realise, I've got the Lord to thank for the many things I've learnt to do without!

WARREN COW IS WORLD CHAMP

All worlds records in milk and butter production have again been broken by a Minnesota cow. Queen Bessie Pietertje Ormsby, a senior two-year-old Holstein, owned by C. L. Spaulding of Warren, Marshall county, produced 24,587.6 pounds of milk and 895.63 pounds of butter in 365 days. This is worlds' record for all breeds for a two-year-old. The record was kept by the official testing organization of which W. E. Peterson of University Farm is superintendent.

Queen Bess is a granddaughter of Sir Pietertje Ormsby Mercedes, one of the outstanding sires of his breed in this country.

Final papers were signed Saturday at Crookston whereby the brick building formerly used by the Kiewel Products company as a brewery has been sold to the Minnesota Potato Exchange as a potato warehouse.

No announcement was made regarding the consideration paid for it was declared the Exchange would take possession September 15. The brewery building has been used by the Kiewel Products company as a bottling works. The sale of beverages by the company, however, will not be halted by the transaction.

Dismantling of the brewery machinery is expected to start this week. The machinery will be shipped to St. Boniface, near Winnipeg, and will be installed in the new brewery being built there by a company headed by Charles E. Kiewel of Crookston.

The brick structure is regarded, with the necessary repairs, to be ideal for a potato warehouse. The building is 90 by 130 feet and it is estimated 250 cars of potatoes can be stored. A spur will be built connecting the warehouse with the Great Northern railroad so that potatoes can be loaded from the house direct to the cars without danger of freezing during winter shipments.

America's air program at least shows a flattering faith in the present force.

The Sphinx, however, wasn't a candidate.

Excerpts from Winning Letters—

"Traveling has become a delight instead of a drudgery since the advent of interurban motor bus transportation."

"The 'bus' clears the drifts off the road after heavy snow-storms."

"To the person that cannot afford or does not wish the care of a private car the 'bus' is a boon."

CONSIDER JOE, CHIMPANZEE.
THE SINS OF THE CHILDREN.
MEAT EATERS RULE.

Joe, aged chimpanzee, alleged member of a tribe whence sprung the Caucasian race, has known a moment of exaltation. His keeper, as usual, entered the cage to clean it. Joe, just for a change, swung his knotty black hand around and knocked the keeper senseless with ease, went out the open door and walked in the park. He stopped to exchange courtesies with his friend, John Barrett, eighty-three-year-old park employe. Soon he was on his way back to the cage.

Learn that when you admire a prizefighter, you admire only a poor imitation of a chimpanzee, and a worse imitation of a gorilla, that could beat any twenty prizefighters in forty seconds.

Learn also from Joe, the chimpanzee, that freedom depends not on how hard you can HIT, but how well you can THINK. Joe, the chimpanzee rose, knocked down his keeper, and walked out of the cage, but he didn't know what to DO next. "There's the rub."

An "educator" of Minnesota is accused of punishing boys in a high school by causing them to sit in an "electric chair," causing severe burns.

It might cure the man with the rubber hose to let him spend half an hour in a closed room with Wills, the negro fighter, the latter also equipped with a piece of rubber hose.

The Minnesota educator could be enlightened by a brief stay in a real electric chair, but that would be too drastic, even for that kind of stupid brutality.

The Government, which found so many billions for the wars of other people in Europe, ought to find a few dollars for building the canals that this country needs. One canal would unite the Lakes and the Mississippi Valley with the Gulf and the Pacific via Panama. Another canal for ships unite the Lake country with the Atlantic. "Every big American city a seaport" should be our motto.

Within twenty-four hours, a girl of fourteen, scolded by her father shot herself to death. An eighteen-year-old boy, beaten by his father, killed himself by turning on the gas.

Strange that man, said to descend from the "higher apes" or some animal like them, should treat his own children with a brutality of which no gorilla, orange-outang or chimpanzee was ever guilty.

A man that would not allow anybody to beat his young horse or dog for fear of "breaking its spirit" will break the sensitive spirit of his own child.

Modern crime turns an ancient text upside down. In Exodus, 20th chapter, 5th verse, you are told that the iniquity of the fathers is visited upon the children "unto the third and fourth generation."

Now the crime of the child is visited upon the father. Albert Loeb, whose son killed the Franks boy, is dead, killed by sorrow and disgrace. That should satisfy the bloodthirsty that demanded "somebody hanged."

That unfortunate father died a thousand deaths to atone for his son's hideous crime.

Have you noticed how little men seem to think about their souls while they are alive, and how much they think about what will happen to their bodies after they are dead? A corpse left behind is no more important than a pair of wornout shoes thrown aside. Yet men of power, from the Pharaoh that built the first pyramid to millionaire Cone with his concrete grave, have worried about their bodies.

The question interesting to one thinking of death should be, "Where do I go from here?" not "Who is going to steal my body?"

George Bernard Shaw, self-appointed Vice-Regent of Omnipotence, thinks little of meat eaters. He's wrong. He says: "Armies fed on barley have conquered half the world." Perhaps so, but men that eat meat RULE THE ENTIRE WORLD. Don't forget that.

Poem by Uncle John

My neighbor drives a limousine, an' fusses with his liver,—be finds it mighty hard to keep in trim. He mebbe doesn't realize that, in my little flivver—I wouldn't think of swappin' lots with him. Of course, he's got his velvet an' his fancy rubber tires, which he figgers that he couldn't live without,—but I enjoy the trimmin's that a healthy yap requires, and I never have been pestered with the gout.

Though me and him is human, we have allers got along—an' loved each other—same as neighbors will. . . . His life's the soul of dividends, while mine's the soul of song—but, we differ some on how to climb the hill. I reckon he is satisfied a-settin' in his bank, enjoyin' little twinges of the gout,—while I have come to realize, I've got the Lord to thank for the many things I've learnt to do without!

WARREN COW IS WORLD CHAMP

All worlds records in milk and butter production have again been broken by a Minnesota cow. Queen Bessie Pietertje Ormsby, a senior two-year-old Holstein, owned by C. L. Spaulding of Warren, Marshall county, produced 24,587.6 pounds of milk and 895.68 pounds of butter in 365 days. This is worlds record for all breeds for a two-year-old. The record was kept by the official testing organization of which W. E. Peterson of University Farm is superintendent.

Queen Bess is a granddaughter of Sir Pietertje Ormsby Mercedes, one of the outstanding sires of his breed in this country.

The second Indian summer for this fall is now with us.

Chicken thieves and tnrkey thieves have been doing quite a stroke of husiness in this locality during the last few weeks. From now on they will find a warm welcome awaiting tbem in the shape of a double barrel shot gun loaded with huck shot at every farm house. The farmers in this vicinity have organized for the purpose of protecting their fowls, and we pity the man who comes within "gun range" of a chicken coop with the intention of getting chickens or turkeys by the light of the moon.

FATTENING, MARKETING THE THANKSGIVING BIRD

Turkeys are best fattened on range and corn gives the quickest and best gains, says Cora Cooke, state poultry specialist with the agricultural extension service of the university. The corn ration should be begun gradually for if the corn is not well matured, digestive tronbles may develop. It is well to begin with a light feeding of mixed grain gradually changing to corn and increasing the ration steadily. For the last ten days before the birds are marketed they should receive all the corn they will clean up every day, with the largest feedings night and morning.

It is important, Miss Cooke warns, to ship turkeys from the farms ten days to two weeks before Thanksgiving Day. Dealers often have to reship and if the turkeys are received too late they may have to be held over at a lower price.

Good quality turkeys will be in strong demand, says Miss Cooke. The crop is small. Turkeys well matured and in good flesh should bring a good price on the Thanksgiving market.

T. B. TEST LAW UPHELD BY COURT

Under a recent decision of Judge John B. Sanborn of the Ramsey county district court, the Minnesota law of 1923 providing for the eradication of tuberculosis in cattle through the area test plan is declared to be constitutional.

The law provides for test of all cattle in a county by the State Livestock Sanitary Board on the presentation of a petition signed by a majority of the cattle owners. The county commissioners appropriate funds for doing the work. Both state and federal funds are provided to pay the indemnity on condemned animals.

Meekers county was the first county in the state to comply with the conditions of this law. After one test of all the cattle and two retestets of the infected berds had been made, a restraining action was brought against the Livestock Sanitdry Board by a gronp of fonrteen farmers who opposed the test. An injunction was granted against the board by Judge Harold Baker of the Twelfth Judicial District court at ths time the second test of all tbe cattle was to be made.

Following this action a change of venue was secured to the Ramsey county district court by Victor E. Anderson, who as assistant attorney general represented the state in ths case.

After a thorough review of the testimony in the case Judge Sanborn ordered the injunction granted by Judgs Baker lifted.

The objections to the state law made by James Manahan, who appeared for the plaintiffs, were: that it appropriates public funds for private purposes, and that it is special and class legislation and grants to one class of citizens privileges and immunities not granted to others, and fails to operate uniformly.

In his order Judge Sanborn said:

"The fact that the operation of this law is of peculiar benefit to private individnals or corporations does not in any way affect its validity. Nearly every law confers some peculiar benefit upon some individual or class of individuals, and it is only where no public purpose is served that the law becomes invalid. It would be impossible in this day and age to sustain a contention that the eradication of tuberculosis, even though done piecemeal and upon conditions, does not serve a public pnrpose.

"The act is not special or class legislation. The question of classification for the pnrpose of legislation is left largely to the legislature.

"The fact of tbe matter is that it would be almost impossible to lay down a rule in this case under which the law conld he held unconstitutional without affecting a great mass of existing legislation which is based upon the same general legislative theory. I am satisfied that the act violates nc constitutional limitation."

In an interview witb a representative of the Minnesota Farm Burean Federation following ths issuing of the order by Judge Sanborn, Dr. C. E. Cotton, head of the State Livestock Sanitary Board, said: "It is our understanding that the plaintiffs in this action are going to appeal the case. The Livestock Sanitary Board will welcome a snpreme conrt decision on the constitutionality of this act in order that any flaws in it may be corrected by further legislation."

Jndge Sanborn's order will permit tbe state to continue tbe second complete test of the cattle in Meeker county. The test is to be started on November 17.

SEED CORN TESTS AT "U" FARM REASSURING

Recent tests of many samples of old and naw corn in the seed laboratory at University Farm sbow a high average of germinating ability, according to A. H. Larson, seed analyst.

Ears selected before the late heavy frost will furnish good seed says Mr. Larson, if they are properly dried and kept dry. Corn which was picked even in the dough stage will do for seed if its moisture content is so reduced that it does not ferment or mold. The germ is tbere and will survive with the rigbt kind of care.

Seed for the 1925 planting can be tested at home. Write to the Division of Publications, University Farm, St. Paul, for further information.

A PSALM OF LOVE or
"More Truth Than Poetry"

By Martin G. Christenson.

A "Psalm of Life" let Longfellow write;
Let other good men do the same;
And nothing be said to their shame.
But when they say that souls cannot die—
Be it in poetry, prose or song—
They are thereby repeating Satan's old lie,
And belp to preserve what is wrong.

The Scriptures are Truth's measuring rod,
And they say "The soul that sins sball die." (1)
Yon poor worms think you are wiser than God
"The day (2) you eat thereof you surely die.,"
To a living soul (8) thus spoke our Lord;
"You sball not de" was Satan's lie,
And yon believe him better than the Word.

That Satan appears as an angel of light (1)
Is the reason so many believe him;
His servants are priests and men of might
Who are hired by man to deceive him. (2)
That human souls are immortal the Bible doesn't state;
"The wages of sin is death" the Bible does tell. (3)

And after death exists, then Jesus died in vain.

WASHINGTON STORES ORDER CO-OP BUTTER

The Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association recently signed a contract under which it will ship two cars of bntter a week to the Sanitary Grocery company, which operates 250 chain stores in Washington, D. C. For or the present one of these cars will be put under the brand of tbe company. The other car will be put up under the Land-O'-Lakes brand of tbe association.

Orders for butter havs recently been received by the association from the Gray Von Allman Milk company, the Ewing Milk company and the Maloney Milk company, all of Louisville, Ky., and the Andrew Rohan compsny of Cincinnati, Ohio. Ths first two companies distribute butter direct to cnstomers. The Maloney Davidson company and the Andrew Rohan company do a jobbing business. While the orders received from the Louisville and Cincinnati companies are small initial trial orders, it is expected that they will lead to a much larger volume of business in the near future.

In this connection John Brandt, president of the Creameries association in a communication to the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation said: "The Rieck-McJunkin Milk compsny of Pittsburgh, which distributes its products to the consumer direct on house to house delivery, and to whom we started shipping butter a couple of months ago, ordered from ns originally 5,000 pounds of bntter a week. We are now shipping them 25,000 pounds a week. In a similar manner we expect the small orders we are now receiving from the companies mentioned to increase rspidiy to iarge orders."

Good neighbors and a good digestion are similar. You are never aware of them.

Beginning the Day Right.

From "The Garden of Folly" by Stephen Leacock: Begin each day with a smile. When you rise in the morning throw open your window wide and smile out of it. Don't mind whom you hit with it. When you descend to the breakfast table, try to smile at your food, or even break into a pleasant laugh at the sight of it. When you start off to your place of business, enter your street car in a bright and pleasant way, paying your fare to the conductor with a winsome willingness.

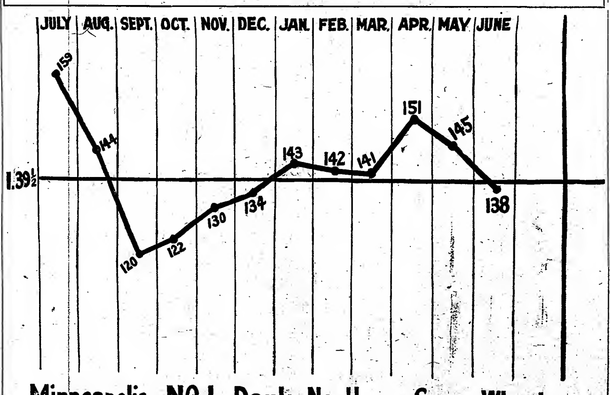
SHOWING AVERAGE WHEAT PRICES



Minneapolis - No. 1 - Dark Northern Spring Wheat
1922-23 - 41st ANNUAL REPORT MPLS, C of C - PAGE 74

The chart here shown was prepared by the Minnesota Wheat Growers Co-operative Marketing Association, and shows comprehensively how averages are arrived at with reference to pool marketing. It will be noticed that producers in some instances receive a price under the cash market on the day the grain is sold, but others receive more and in the end the benefit in average prices shows a gain to all producers. The pool is settled upon the basis of the average price.

DO NOT KNOCK GOD'S COUNTRY SAYS CRANDALL

Former Thief River Dentist Stands Up For His Adopted State.

In a letter to the editor of The Tribune, Dr. Crandall, formerly of this city, now a resident of Napa, California, the genial doctor mildly takes us to task for "knocking God's country," indicating that Dr. Crandall is as good a booster out there as he was here. The Tribune has nothing to say in defense except that—admitting everything said in the affirmative with reference to California climate—Pennington county offers so many more advantages to the average man. We know the doctor is nicely situated in a congenial spot. We wish him and his family all the luck and happiness in the world, for they deserve it.

Dr. Crandall winds up by taking a crack at the Sapiro plan of marketing, which he says is the bunk. We will turn him over to Dan Wallace and Bill Frederick to carry out that end of the argument.

structural steel and 2,555 cubic yards of concrete.

In addition to Mr. Helseth, who is superintendent of construction, the following Thief River Falls men are employed os foremen upon the structure: H. Hofstet, Martin Jettson, D. Stanton, D. Michalsky, John Rundquist and John Bredeson. About 20 local men are employed as common laborers.

The ceremony at Mobridge today is made one of state-wide importance. Governor McMaster, recently elected senator, will deliver the main address. There will also be speeches by the designer, the contractor, and the historian of the Yellowstone trail.

The new bridge replaces the old Mobridge ferry and fills a need fclt in that section for many years. Travelers over the Yellowstone trail will hail the new structure with delight and the people of the Standing Rock Indian reservotion are among those elated over the bridge.

It goes withont saying that Thief River Falls is mighty proud of the achievement of one of its citizens and local people join..with the people of South Dakota in extending compliments to the builder and contractor. It is men like Isak Helseth who spread the fame of Thief River Falls to all corners of the globe.

"When a Man's a Man" Is a Real Big Picture

Harold Bell Wright has long been considered one of the most popular authora in the world. His many novels have been read and re-read by countless millions. When announcement was made some time since that Principal Pictures Corporation would give the screen the entire series of Wright's books, movie fans anxiously awaited the first of the series, and the opportunity to witness the film adaptation of it.

At the Lyceum theatre next Sunday and Monday the first of this world-famed series will be presented. "When a Man's a Man" was the story chosen by the prodncers as the first to be given everlasting life in celluloid form. This gripping story of the great Arizona ranch country is said by those whose pleasure it has been to witness private showings to be one of the big outstanding features of the year.

John Bowers, Marguerite de la Motte, Robert Frazer, and a host of other celebrated screen artists will be seen in the many portrayals of "When a Man's a Man." The prodnction is in feature length, and is said to follow closely the original story.

"When a Man's a Man" is one of the most popular of all Harold Bell Wright stories. Its circulation is said to reach over two million copies and a conservative estimste of those who have read the story can be placed in the neighborhood of the five million mark.

The story deals with the determination of a Cleveland "son of the rich" who goes West to make a man of himself after having been spurned by the girl he planned to wed. The situations that surround his entry into the desert cattle land, how he overcomes pride and pitches in as a ranch hand, and after he finally succeeds in gaining his goal, lead to make up one of the most intense and interesting stories that have yet come from the pen of that famous author, Harold Bell Wright.

Fred Zeh Elected to House in Montana

Newly Elected Representstive Is a Brother of Pbil Zeh of This City.

The Missoula Sentinel of November 7 carries a front page article stating that the fourth member of the Missoula delegation in the legislature will be Fred Zeh, who was elected as a Repnblican. According to the Sentinel the race was quite close in the district, the final returns giving Mr. Zeh a majority of 60 votes over his nearest opponent.

Mr. Zeh is a brother of Phil Zeh of this city and is quite well known to many of our citizens.

Thanks Higbway Users.

Having been the road patrolman on Babcock Highway No. 32 between Thief River Falls and Holt for many years, I wish to express my satisfaction to those who have used the road and observed the rules and regulations governing its use. We always have the road hog and the reckless drivers with us and if they were as careful and as observing as the following men, I believe that a great deal of road trouble could be avoided:

I appreciate the co-operation these men have given me and it is for this and to the benefit of othera that I make this publication. I find that the lady drivers of Pennington county are very ohserving in rules of the roads and they too are to be commended.

ENORMOUS LOSS RESULT OF BIG FIRE AT BEMIDJI

Plant of Crookston Lumber Company Threatened on Saturday Afternoon.

Fire Fighters From Crookston and Nearby Towns Aid in Fighting Fire.

The entire city of Bemidji faced destruction by fire last Saturday when huge lumber piles belonging to the Crookston Lumber company caught fire. At one time 20 acres of lumber was on fire, causing a seething furnace which defied the efforts of the local fire department. The departments at Crookston, Cass Lake, Walker and Brainerd were hurried to the scene and succeeded in placing the fire under control at midnight.

At one time it was feared the entire plant of the Crookston company would be destroyed, but a shift in the high wind which was raging saved the plant. As it was nearly a million dollars worth of lumber, the year's output of the company, was reduced to ashes.

Every store and husiness house in Bemidji closed shop and employes and proprietors turned out to fight the fire which it was feared for a time might sweep the town.

The heavy gale sent embers across the river into the city of Bemidji. Some of the embers even were blown across the lake into the residential section along the lake shore and several small fires were started. One small blaze started at the hospital but was quickly extinguished.

It has not been determined how the fire started. It is thought to have started in the office of the plant. The blaze was first discovered around 11 o'clock in the morning bnt fanned hy the high wind it had assumed tremendous proportions by the time any efforts could be made to fight it.

The lumber company had an exceptionally large amount of timber on hand. It had over cut last year and a large amount of last years' time, bonedry, was in the yards. Millions of feet of this lumber was destroyed and while no attempt was made to give an accurate estimate of the loss, predicitons were made that it would be in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

On account of the intense heat and the high wind difficulty was encountered in fighting the fire proper. The only headway that could be made was through back firing and allowing the main fire to burn itself out. There was the constant fear, however, that the flames would leap the burned over area or jump across the river and sweep through the main husiness district. This fear was quieted when the wind switched and checked the spread of the flames and gave the men opportunity to strengthen their lines.

Brothers Dnel With Guns.

Pine River Sentinel Blaze: Two farmers residing a mile south of Wabedo postoffice started out to settle their differences Saturday morning and hrought guns into play that resulted in the wounding of James Shepard by his brother Lawrence. According to report, trouble had been brewing for some time. Saturday morning James sent his boys over to Lawrence's place to bring back a horse. They were told they could not take the horse and went home and told their father, who started out armed with a repeating shotgun. When near the Lawrence farm, the brothers met and after a few words Lawrence shot at James with a single harrel shot gun loaded with small shot. James returned the fire but missed his mark, but his brother's charge struck him in the body, from his hips to his chin, a shot entering his throat. Lawrence then disappeared, but undaunted James proceeded to the farm of his brother and brought back the horse he came after. Deputy Sheriff Peterson was telephoned for; accompanied by two deputies he went out and arrested Lawrence, who was taken to Walker. He was released Monday on $500 bail. Wednesday Deputy Sheriff Peterson was sent out to arrest James but found him in bed suffering from the wounds. Twenty-seven shot entered his body bnt no ill effects are anticipated. According to neighbors, James is known as a quarrelsome character and has had trouble getting along with them. Last spring he and his brother settled differences with their fists.

Too Liberal.

"My dear," remarked the young husband, "did you ask the milkman why there never is any cream on our milk?"

"Yes, darling and he explained quite satisfactorily. I think that it is a greatc redit to him."

"What did he say?"

"That he always fills the jug so full there is no room for cream."—

Members of the Thief River Falls-Twin City club will give their first social event of the winter season at the hall room of the Minnesota Union, University of Minnesota, on Saturday evening, December 13, according to word received this week by The Tribune. Thief River Falls people who expect to be in Minneapolis at that time are invited to attend the banquet and dance which will follow. James Helle is president of the club and Roy Barzen, secretary.

LOCAL NIMRODS BREAK RECORDS

Record Made By Messrs. Ihle, Haynes and Jung in Bagging Deer.

A trio of local deer hunters, composed of Sheriff Ihle, F. F. Haynes and Walter Jung started far afield last Friday in quest of deer, but met with good fortune much sooner than expected and were back in town with two fine specimens just 100 minutes after leaving the city.

It was like this. The hunters were traveling in the direction of the state park, expecting to establish camp in that vicinity, when two large deer jumped across the road a few miles north of Oklee. Each of the hunters took aim and both deer fell dead on the spot.

Dressing the deer the boys returned here so rapidly that members of their families and suspicious friends have had some difficulty in believing the story above related. So far, however, The Tribune has been unable to discover any instance of deer being purchased from settlers in the timber belt.

Raises Prize Cabbage.

Among the vegetables received this week to be placed in The Tribune's window exhibit of Pennington county products is a cabbage raised by Mrs. Lawson north of this city, which weighs 23 pounds. This beats all previous entries of this kind and we believe the saurkraut fans ought to hand her the first prize.

Commercial Club Hits 23 in Big Membership Drive

Up to this writing 23 new members have been added to the Commercial club. The committee earnestly hopes that this number does not mean skiddoo, but is only a good starter. Many people in the city have not been approached and the aim of the committee is to double the number now enrolled.

Lots of hard work on the part of the committee is involved in such a drive and hence every citizen not already approached should consider it his patriotic duty to come in under the wire without being urged. In other words, do not wait to be drafted. Enlist.

Ted Hunt Tussels With Buck Tuesday Evening: Wins After Long Chase

Animal Apparently Dead, Runs For Hours With Hunter in Pursuit.

Ted Hunt, who recently became the father of a bouncing baby boy, received his second big thrill Tuesday evening when he took a lucky shot at a big buck which crossed the road ahead of his car as he was driving from Trail to Oklee. It was just at dusk when Ted spied the deer as it moved leisurely away from his speeding car. Up went his trusty rifle and down came Mr. Deer, apparently deader than the proverbial "door nail."

Ted jumped to the ground and proceeded to slit the deers' throat when the animal suddenly came to life and started off across the field. Its lower jaw had been shot off and thinking it would soon drop, the hunter started in hot pursuit, soon being outdistanced by the king of the forest, which disappeared in a thicket.

After tracking the bleeding animal for miles, Ted drove to Thief River for assistance. Long after dark the hunters again took up the trail and at 10 o'clock in the evening the game buck was found stone dead in a farmer's yard. Thus endeth the most thrilling hunt of the season.

Man Accused by Woman Is Bound Over: Provides Bail

Harry W. Miller, charged with illegitimacy by a woman named Mamie Sorlie, was released from the custody of the sheriff Tuesday evening upon furnishing bail in the sum of $750 in Judge Tarrant's court.

The man was bound over to the district court and his trial will take place at the January term in this city.

In the campaign just ended he wrote extensively in the interests of the Farmer-Labor candidates and has frequently appeared on the stump in the Ninth congressional district.

EPIDEMIC IS NOW DECLARED TO BE WIDELY SPREAD

State Board of Health Acts at Saturday Meeting, According to Dr. Mellby.

The small pox epidemic which has been prevalent in Minnesota for many months and has recently assumed alarming proportions in the Twin Cities, has now been declared statewide, according to Dr. O. F. Mellby, who returned Sunday from Minneapolis where he attended a meeting on Saturday.

It is reported that Minneapolis has had one death each day from "black" small pox and that cases have shown up in various parts of the state. Vaccination is urged by state authorities on the part of all persons in order to nip the epidemic in the bud.

So far no cases have appeared in Thief River Falls or immediate vicinity, according to local physicians.

LOVE-COMEDY IS GREAT SUCCESS

The Story of Girl Who Plays With Fire, Thinking She Can Get Away With It.

"The Enemy Sex" is the story of a girl who plays with fire, who thinks she can lead men on and never get caught—the kind of a girl who is always with us in some form. The picture will be shown at the Lyceum theatre Sunday and Monday.

Don't get from this that "The Enemy Sex" is just another one of those flapper pictures, because you don't know the production or the story, or Jimmy Cruze if you think that. It has plenty of speed, but it is all pepped with humor.

Imagine Betty Compson as the girl let loose in the upper world—the world of judges, newspaper owners, millionaires—as a gold-digger, and you have some idea of Miss Compson's role in this picture. To awaken the real woman in this girl, is something more than a trap—that is, shall we call it, the miracle James Cruze has performed in this picture.

"The Enemy Sex" is taken from the novel, "The Salamander," by Owen Johnson, author of "The Varmint," "Virtuous Wives," "Blue Blood," etc. This story was the pioneer flapper novel, written before flappers were called flappers—but so modern in theme, and so far in advance of its time, that it might have been written only yesterday, or even next week.

Farmer Holding Lucky Number Given 6 Sheep

W. F. Head, farmer living near Warren, is now just a little "stronger" for sheep. His herd of sheep has been increased by five ewes and one ram.

Mr. Head had the lucky number and was given the grand prize of the annual fall market days held at Warren last week. His number was 9,162 and it was given him by Louis Fine, manager of the Warren Mercantile company.

Announcement of the prizes late on Saturday brought to an end two of the most successful market days held in five years, according to Warren merchants. Friday was an ideal day and good crowds came to town. On Saturday a cold and strong shifting wind from the south made the weather very disagreeable but in spite of this large numbers of maryket day visitors came.

Elected as Delegate.

Miss Anna Koglin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Koglin, residing seven miles north of the city, has been elected as a delegate to the World's Sunday School convention which will be held at Washington, D. C., some time during December. Miss Koglin is now teaching Bible Greek in the Anderson Bible Training school at Anderson, Ind.

Oscar Rambeck Brings in Largest Buck of Season

Fourth Ward Alderman Meets With Fine Luck in Rapid River.

Alderman Oscar Rambeck of the Fourth ward had Lady Luck with him last Tuesday when he hit the Rapid River country in quest of the antlered tribe. No more had he struck the trail than he spied an enormous buck. Crack went Oscars' rifle and down came Mr. Buck. The animal proved to be a fine specimen, weighing 237 pounds dressed.

Mr. Rambeck hunts in the Rapid River country every season and usually has good luck, never having failed to bring back a fine trophy of the hunt. His luck this year, however, was the best ever.

Annual Church Bazaar to Take Place Friday, Dec. 12

Window cards announcing the forthcoming annual bazaar of the Presbyterian church on Friday, Dec. 12, were prominently displayed in store windows today, and judging from their appearance there will be an unusually well selected lot of fancy work offered for sale, including handkerchiefs, aprons, laundry sets, pillow cases, childrens' aprons, coat hangers, rugs, etc., as well as tempting home made candies and delicacies.

In connection therewith will be the annual cafeteria supper, beginning at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. It is needless to say that an appetizing menu has been prepared and the public is assured of the usual Presbyterian treat in the way of a supper.

Various committees are hard at work in an effort to make the event this year surpass anything held in the past.

Bank Opening Discussed.

W. W. Prichard, Sr., and Senator C. L. Hansen held a conference last Friday with officials of the state banking department, when the proposed opening of the Citizens State bank at this place was discussed. What the outcome is to be is not as yet determined.

"Curly" Ullrich Tarries Here.

"Curley" Ullrich, who made his home in this city for about a year in the old saloon days and has recently become quite famous as a boxing referee, passed through the city Sunday evening bound for Brouson, where he will hunt deer with a party of St. Paul friends. Mr. Ullrich remarked about the substantial growth of Thief River Falls, which he asserts is known far and wide as the dairy center of the great northwest.

Gay Hens and Proud Roosters Hold Forth at Poultry Show

The Eighth Annual Poultry Show Attracts Exhibits From Four Northwestern States—Bigger and Better Than Ever.

The eighth annual poultry show of the Pennington County Poultry association, which opened this morning at the auditorium, exceeds all previous shows in the quality and extent of exhibits.

This year exhibitors attracted by the fame of the Pennington county show have entered birds from North and South Dakota and Wisconsin. In addition there are a wider range of exhibits than ever before from Minnesota counties.

It is hoped that the people of this vicinity will avail themselves of the opportunity offered to see the finest aristocrats of the poultry world. The exhibition includes every known breed of chickens, turkeys, ducks and guinea hens.

It is gratifying indeed for the officers of the association, who have worked day and night to make the show a success, to note how the public has responded to their efforts. The show is a credit to Pennington county and brings annually to Thief River Falls hundreds of poultry fanciers who have come to regard the exhibition as among the best in Minnesota.

A visit to the show is well worth while, showing as it does the present importance of one of the state's greatest resources.

The Tribune joins with the officers of the poultry show in urging all to view it today, tomorrow or on the closing day, which is Friday. But—don't miss it.

Advertising Pays, Declares Froseth Shoe Store Folks

If anyone has any doubt concerning the value of advertising, just take a look at the interior of Froseth's shoe store any day this week. Following the publication of a page advertisement in The Tribune last week, Froseth's shoe store did the largest day's business since 1921.

The big sale is still on as will be noticed from a perusal of their advertising in this issue of The Tribune. Read their ad. carefully for bargains in shoes—and then take advantage of some of the bargains offered. It will pay you.

LIVESTOCK SHOW GREAT SUCCESS

Shows Indication of Much Progress Since Exhibition of 1923.

Several world records were thrown into the discard at the 1924 Minnesota Junior Livestock show, held Nov. 11, 12 and 13 at South St. Paul.

For one thing, the show itself is the largest in the world, of its kind. For another, the highest level of prices known was paid for the livestock exhibited by the juniors. Yet another, what is said to be the highest price ever paid for live mutton was paid for the grand champion lamb of the show. And yet another, a world record price was paid for the champion fat barrow.

George Tellier, 10 year old boy of Farmington, exhibited the grand champion baby beef, a purebred Shorthorn, which weighed 997 pounds and was sold at auction to the First National bank of St. Paul for 80 cents a pound. This was a record price except that the winning baby beef last year brought an even dollar a pound. The reserve champion steer, an Angus exhibited by William Scanlan of Belview, sold for 43 cents a pound.

A Shropshire lamb exhibited by little Mary Sullivan of New Prague won the grand champion ship and was bid in by Witt's Market House of Minneapolis at $4 a pound. It weigh- 112 pounds. The previous top price of $2 a pound was paid to George Sullivan, a brother of Marie, who exhibited the grand champion lamb at the 1922 show. Raymond, another boy in the Sullivan family, captured the grand championship last year when his lamb was bid in for $1.60 a pound.

Jay Seymour of Eyota was the club junior paid the record price of $1 a pound for his pig, a Chester White barrow, which won the grand championship. The pig was bid in by the St. Paul Dispatch. Last year's grand champion pig brought 55 cents per pound.

A pen of young Buff Orpingtons, raised and fitted by Jean Middleton of Marshall, won the grand championship for cocperels and was knocked down to McHugh brothers of Farminton for 46 cents a pound. The pen of prize turkeys, exhibited by Raymond Hershberger of Bagley, was sold to

The 21st annual convention of the Red River Dairymen opened this morning at the Lyceum theatre with President Stuart McLeod presiding. A feature of the morning session was the community singing under the leadership of Maude L. Johnson of the Thief River Falls schools with Miss Ariel Kinghorn at the piano.

The Pennington county alfalfa song and a number of popular songs served to enliven the convention. The audience stood while singing "America." Miss Johnson and Miss Kinghorn were given a standing vote of thanks by the audience.

The convention began its deliberations promptly at 10:30 after the invocation had been pronounced by Rev. Chas. Gerlinger of the Presbyterian church.

President McLeod then introduced Mayor Arneson, who welcomed the delegates on behalf of the city, briefly outlining the development of the dairy industry in the northwest. The response was made by Marius Waldal, representative-elect from the 65th district, who complimented the dairymen upon their achievements and thanked the city of Thief River Falls for the hospitality shown the visiting dairymen.

The president's address by Stuart McLeod was a sensible argument for steadfastness in the dairy business. He argued that success was sure to crown the effort of the dairyman who kept his eye on the main purpose, namely better breeding, better feeding and keeping everlastingly at it.

The next speaker was Chris Heen, state dairy and food commissioner, who paid high compliment to the dairymen of the district, assuring them of the co-operation of his department and predicting great future prosperity for the entire state in an agricultural way.

Secretary Houske made a brief address before adjournment in which he briefly stated the financial standing of the association and urged all present to become members.

The afternoon program was taken up by an address by L. Jensen, president of the state association, who spoke on "Breeding and Developing a Dairy Herd." He made frequent allusions to the alfalfa propaganda in Pennington county, which he held to be one of the most progressive moves ever attempted in Minnesota. The Tribune came in for compliments upon its campaign for better cows and better cow feed in the valley.

C. G. Selvig, of the Northwest School at Crookston, made one of the important addresses of the afternoon and as we go to press L. V. Wilson, dairy specialist of the University of Minnesota, was speaking on "Cow Testing." Efforts will be made to form a cow testing association at the close of today's program.

A large attendance featured the opening of the convention, large delegations being present from Goodridge, Holt, Red Lake Falls, Plummer and many other points in the Red River valley. The prizes for attendance will be given out tomorrow afternoon.

Clara Baldwin, State Librarian, Gives Fine Talk at Woman's Club

Miss Clara Baldwin, state librarian, was the main speaker at the Woman's club meeting held Monday afternoon in the Commercial club rooms.

Mrs. Emil Zch, as president of the Library board, presided over the meeting and gave a talk on the books in the local library, stressing those books on special subjects which the average person does not realize are there. In connection with this, a number of the less known books were displayed.

Miss Baldwin then gave a most interesting talk on library matters generally, discussing the impossibility of having every book that is asked for in a library and the difficult task of a book committee in choosing those that will suit the most tastes. Even the largest libraries, through lack of sufficient funds, find it necessary to use selection and people should learn to appreciate this fact and expect it. She was highly complimentary concerning the local Carnegie institution, commenting favorably on its books, system, librarians, board of directors, and general efficiency. She urged making this a county library rather than merely a city one in order to give the country people an opportunity to secure more good reading matter. With the support of the county, a traveling library could be sent out to the various districts and the books would have a much wider range of circulation.

After Miss Baldwin's talk, Mrs. C. A. Nason and Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Jr., rendered a vocal duet, accompanied by Mrs. N. K. Harris.

Social Welfare hostesses for the meeting were Mesdames Daniel Shaw, H. O. Chommie and H. W. Protzeller.

Miss Baldwin met with the local librarians and members of the board Monday evening, talking over library matters and making many valuable suggestions concerning the work.

Barthelmess Is Again Seen in Modern Role

Patrons of the Lyceum theatre will see Richard Barthelmess in a modern role for the first time in a year, when "Twenty-One," a First National attraction, will be shown Friday and Saturday. Dick portrays the leading role and he is surrounded by a cast headed by Dorothy Mackaill, who again appears opposite him, and others of importance including Bradley Barker, Joe King, Dorothy Cumming, Elsie Lawson, Ivan Simpson, Nellie Parker Spaulding and Helen Tracy. John S. Robertson directed the production.

The story of "Twenty-One" deals with the struggles of a youth whose parents have permitted him to grow up according to their whim and not according to his wishes. He is the spoilt darling of his society-loinvg mother and when he meets the factory girl with whom he falls in love, rebels against the circumstances and drops his mother's fast crowd for her company. He gets into a scrap on her account and is licked by his father, who threatens to have him arrested as an incorrigible.

But he turns the tables on his parents by running away from home and getting work as a taxi driver. Later he bulnders into a nest of taxi bandits and in saving his father from their blackmailing schemes, he proves his manhood, marrying in the end the girl of his choice.

Miss Clara Baldwin, state librarian, was the main speaker at the Woman's club meeting held Monday afternoon in the Commercial club rooms.

Mrs. Emil Zeh, as president of the Library board, presided over the meeting and gave a talk on the books in the local library, stressing those books on special subjects which the average person does not realize are there. In connection with this, a number of the less known books were displayed.

Miss Baldwin then gave a most interesting talk on library matters generally, discussing the impossibility of having every book that is asked for in a library and the difficult task of a book committee in choosing those that will suit the most tastes. Even the largest libraries, through lack of sufficient funds, find it necessary to use selection and people should learn to appreciate this fact and expect it. She was highly complimentary concerning the local Carnegie institution, commenting favorably on its books, system, librarians, board of directors and general efficiency. She urged making this a county library rather than merely a city one in order to give the country people an opportunity to secure more good reading matter. With the support of the county, a traveling library could be sent out to the various districts and the books would have a much wider range of circulation.

After Miss Baldwin's talk, Mrs. C. A. Nason and Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Jr., rendered a vocal duet, accompanied by Mrs. N. K. Harris.

Social Welfare hostesses for the meeting were Mesdames Daniel Shaw, H. O. Chommie and H. W. Protzeller.

DAIRYMEN, PUT 'ER THERE.

The people of Thief River Falls are glad to have you with us. We drink a Holstein highball or a Guernsey cocktail to your health and future welfare. No set of men have contributed so much to our community and none are more deserving of public acclaim.

Your sermons on better breeding, better feeding, cow testing, scientific methods with reference to handling milk, the culture of alfalfa, the building of silos, etc.,e tc., are inspirations to our hungry hearts. We come to listen and learn and we take off our hats to the great industry which you represent.

We like you and we bope you will like us, and we wish to express the thought that is uppermost in the minds of our people, namely, that the present convention will be the most successful in the history of your association—that it will be the forerunner of many future gatherings of dairymen in Thief River Falls.

Plant an acre of alfalfa next year.

The village of Baudette will soon hold a bond election in an effort to float a $16,000 bond issue to take up outstanding warrants. Simply getting back on a cash basis, explains Bill Noonan.

Social item: The finest chickens in the country would like to meet the people of Thief River Falls this week at the auditorium, where they are attending the annual style show given by the Pennington County Poultry association.

Why not visit the schools? School taxes are high and most of us have occasion to criticise the manner in which modern schools are conducted. But why not spend a few hours in the school room with the kids and thus acquire a litle first hand information.

The despised Minnesota eleven redeemed themselves Saturday by decisively trimming Illinois and the famous "Red" Grange. Betting was 5 to 1 against Minnesota. Under the circumstances who can blame the thousands of loyal Minnesota fans for acting like lunatics around Minneapolis Saturday night. It is victories like that which make football history and the student body of today will be talking about Saturday's game when they are grandfathers.

It appears that there exists at this time a world shortage of wheat and rye, which accounts for the rapid rise in price recently. If reports are reliable a serious world shortage of bread is imminent. This condition of affairs brings to mind the suggestion of Henry Ford that at least a billion bushels of grain be stored in concrete warehouses in the United States, said grain to be purchased at current prices by the government. By leaving one warship out of the budget each year this could be done. We would have no famine danger staring us in the face and there would be no surplus of wheat in this country for years to come.

After January 1, 1925, the capital of Norway will be officially known as Oslo instead of Christiania.

If all the bunk uttered in the campaign could be run through a carburetor, gasoline wouldnt' be worth over two cents a gallon for the next ten years.

Bill Noonan said a mouthful when he penned this: "Before you blame the teacher for not pushing your backward kid forward, search his clothes. Perhaps you will find a package of cigarettes."

Magnus Johnson is a man of average intelligence, possessing an average amount of common sense, and you can put it down in your hat band that most of the stories which tend to make him out a boob are silly and ridiculous.

Important as the creamery industry is and much as we like to think of it as the cornerstone of agricultural activity—we cannot escape the notion that the poultry game is assuming proportions which are not to be despised. More good poultry houses have been erected upon Pennington county farms this year than ever before, and as above noted, keep your eye on the chicken business as a mortgage lifter.

The editor of The Tribune has bragged of the deer hunters consistently for two weeks, even to the extent of stretching the truth in some instances, which is contrary to custom in this office, but our desire for a chunk of venison has, in this instance, outweighed considerations of conscience. But at this writing we are more firmly convinced than ever that honesty is the best policy, our cheerful prevarications having yielded no deer meat for the family larder.

Women have a right to crow a little over the fact that two members of their sex, "Ma" Ferguson of Texas, and Mrs. Ross of Wyoming, were elected to the governorship of their respective states in the last election. It is significant that neither of the lady governors are of the politician type, but are women devoted to their homes and families, with homely and old fashioned notions concerning the conduct of affairs. Both wear their hair and dresses long and both scorn the use of makeup to cover the complexions given them at the beginning by the Maker of the universe.

Remember that the Commercial club is the heart and soul of Thief River Falls. It is an organization which labors unceasingly and without hope of reward for the common interest of town and country. It has accomplished much good and would accomplish more if the critics would join in the effort for community upbuilding instead of standing around the street corners telling how little good it does. There is no distinction of class in the Commercial club, no creed except the creed of good fellowship, and it behooves all of us to boost rather than knock. Knocking the efforts of the patriotic men and women of the town never accomplished anything except to stamp the knocker as a poor sport and a poor citizen.

When the time comes for the meek to inherit the earth there will be no oil left, says an exchange.

The legislature has before it the opportunity of a life time. It can meet, carry out Ted Christianson's suggestions and adjourn.

Let's have a real Thief River Falls home coming next summer—say during the Legion convention—when the old town will be in gala attire anyway.

In connection with the American Legion convention next year what is the matter with having a Pennington county "home coming." The editor of this great family journal has been approached by numerous former Thief Riverites who endorse the suggestion. Most of our former residents want to get back here next year to view the greatest gathering ever held in northern Minnesota and it would be no more than right to arrange a special reception and entertainment for our visitors at the convention. Let's talk it over and do something to make it worth while to get the "gang" back here next August.

The young man who starts out in life with the notion that there is anything smart or heroic about being tipsy once in a while, is off to a bad start. Such a boy is robbing himself of every advantage given him by the Almighty, and is placing upon himself a tremendous handicap in the race of life. In this day and age it is the sober young man who is sought out for advancement. Every business man knows that one who habitually or occasionally gets tipsy is not to be trusted, and such a person is forever doomed to be a follower, a trailer, rather than a leader in the work of the world. A young man to win must be sober and if he is that he will naturally have the other necessary qualifications. He will be industrious, upright and polite. He will be respected and sought after wherever he goes and will be a success in everything he undertakes.

Paste this in your hat for future reference: Pennington county will have next year more actual acres of alfalfa than any other county in Minnesota.

The buildings of the Northwestern Fair at Crookston were sold last week to satisfy claims of creditors, and the Crookston Times calls upon the citizens of Polk county to save the fair from extinction. The total indebtedness of the fair association is approximately $5,000. The Times rightly says "it would be a calamity to give up the fair now." Pennington county has a real fair every year, an exhibition which is the pride of Pennington county, and best of all the grounds and buildings are paid for and the association is out of debt. We should hate awfully to live in a county too dead to support a county fair, and it is up to the people of Crookston to ring the fire bell if they want to keep up with Thief River Falls.

The family doctor told [illegible] nan to go to Florida for the winter. Bill retaliated by telling the doctor to go to a still warmer place.

When you write a leter to a friend don't forget a word of compliment for Thief River Falls. Tell 'em it's getting better and better, prettier and prettier, bigger and bigger.

In spite of the tremendous effort put forth to get the voters out this year, only about fifty per cent of the people voted. Something wrong with the citizen who does not think enough of his right of franchise to get out and vote.

Once upon a time Thief River Falls had the champion hockey team in Minnesota. The old town is chock full of graceful skaters, and we believe the trick can be turned again. Skating is the finest of winter sports, and with the prospects of a real ice rink on the river—why not a cracker jack of a hockey team?

[illegible] Brookhart may go back to the United States senate but he cannot erase nor blot from his memory the warning finger held up to him by the voters of Iowa.

Three carloads of turkeys were shipped out of here one day last week by the Co-operative Poultry association. That was just one firm, mind you, but Atlantic avenue took on the appearance of Market street in Minneapolis that day, and gives one some idea of the importance of the poultry industry in this city.

Ford Touring Car Smashes Into Gravel Truck Friday

When a Ford touring car meets a truck loaded with several tons of gravel, the results are apt to be disastrous for the Ford, as was shown last Friday evening when that very thing occurred west of the city on Highway No. 33.

David Lindstrom of Warren and a friend from St. Paul were driving to Warren to attend the funeral of the former's father, W. J. Lindstrom, when they met one of the largest of the gravel trucks and smashed into it head on. The strength of the impact pushed the Ford back about twelve feet, forcing the engine almost into the driver's seat bending the frame out of shape, and in fact completely demolishing the car. In some miraculous manner the St. Paul man escaped injury and Mr. Lindstrom, though thrown from the front seat, received nothing more than serious cuts about his face, hands and legs.

The truck was uninjured with the exception of the front cross member, which was knocked out.

It seems strange that all used cars were driven by old men who never got off the pavement.

Carl Angell Funeral Services Held Sunday

Last rites for Carl Angell, well-known resident who was killed in an accident on Armistice day, was held Sunday afternoon at the auditorium.

The services opened with an English hymn sung by the audience, fol- by "En Sangers Bon" by the Brage chorus. The invocation and scripture reading by Rev. S. L. Tallakson of the Trinity Lutheran church was next. Dr. P. L. Vistaunet then rendered a vocal solo in Norwegian, "Endnu en Streif Kun af Sol." and Rev. Tallakson followed with a Norwegian sermon. A beautiful solo. "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," was sung by Thora Hanson, and the audience joined in another English hymn. Rev. Tallakson then delivered a most fitting sermon in English, and the Brage chorus completed the services with "Requiem." Mrs. W. J. Brown played the funeral march and Mrs. G. Ward accompanied the soloists.

The auditorium was filled to capacity with friends and relatives of the deceased who gathered to pay their last respects.

After the service. interment was made at the Greenwood cemetery.

John Skomedal.

John Skomedal, residing nine miles north of the city in Excel township, passed away Friday, November 14, after a year's illness caused by pernicious anemia. He was 54 years of age at the time of his death, having been born in Norway September 22, 1872.

Mr. Skomedal immigrated to this country 40 years ago and for the past 20 has been a resident of the township in which he died. During this time he has made many friends who sincerely sympathize with the wife, children, brothers and sisters who survive him.

Rev. I. A. Raume of Holt conducted the funeral services, which were held from the home last Sunday. Interment was made in the Saterdal cemetery, located east of Steiner.

Carl Habedank.

Carl Habedank, for 20 years a resident of this community, died last Thursday, November 13, at his home three and one-half miles north of Mavie. Death was caused by chronic endocarditis, or as it is more commonly known, heart trouble.

Mr. Habedank was born in Germany July 30, 1851, and at the time of his demise was 71 years of age. He had lived in the United States for 40 years and in Grand Plain township the past 20. He was very well known in this section of the country and leaves a large number of friends as well as many relatives to mourn his passing.

Funeral services were held last Sunday from his home near Mavie, Rev. Glock of Goodridge performing the last rites.

Clarence Jabenski.

Clarence Jabenski, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Jabenski, residing in Sandesr township, died last Monday at the age of three days. The funeral services were conducted Wednesday with Rev. E. H. Kreidt of St. John's Lutheran church officiating. Interment was made at the Rux cemetery west of St. Hilaire.

Rev. Tallakson to Chicago.

Rev. S. L. Tallakson of the Trinity Lutheran church left yesterday for Chicago, where he is to take part in the fifth annual celebration of the union of St. Paul's and St. John's churches. Former pastors have been invited to attend and as one of these Rev. Tallakson will appear on the program Sunday morning and again at the Confirmant reunion Friday evening. He, together with Mrs. Tallakson, who accompanied him, expected to spend Wednesday and Thursday of this week at Willmar visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Tallakson. They plan to return next Wednesday.

Middle River Is Already Practicing Basket Ball

Prospects for a good basket ball team have never been brighter. With such players as "Taft" Gullickson, Sulo Sandberg and Clarence Nordlum forming a nucleus for this year's five, a winning aggregation can be turned out.

"Taft," captain of last year's quintet, who was given a position on the All-District team at the tournament held at Thief River Falls, will try to duplicate.

Clarence Nordlum, one of the best guards developed in the district, secured honorable mention last year and is determined to make the All-Star team, as is Sulo Sandberg, another regular of the team which came so close to winning the championship of District No. 1.

Middle River made a splendid showing at the tournament, losng the titular game after a hard fight, to Erskine, by a score of 24-22. Erskine had previously lost to the state champions by a score of 20-17 at Hamline.

Others who are trying for positions on the team are Oswald Kvenes, Ernest Nordlum, Albert Stephens, Lawrence Schenky, William Rostedt, Hilmer Wold and Ingvald Gullickson.

A grade schedule will also be organized for the coming season. — Middle River Record.

Powers' meat market for 32 cents a pound. The prize pen of ducks was exhibited by Alfred Hoar of Monticello and sold for 32 cents a pound. Lily Drews of Fergus Falls exhibited the prize pen of fat young geese, with Gladys Lund of Vining second.

All features of the show indicated that substantial progress has been made since 1923. The exhibits were 30 per cent more numerous than a year ago and the quality was pronounced much better. Marked improvement was to be seen in the Shorthorn group. Improvements made to the show buildings by South St. Paul business interests gave a new and enlarged setting for the event.

The banquet at the South St. Paul Athletic club and the entertainment which followed at the auditorium were events which the juniors and their parents will long remember.

Traveling Through Europe With Senator C. L. Hansen

Observations Covering a Three Mooths Tour of Principal European Countries and Cities, Giving Facts and Figures of Public Interest.

Norway.

The sight of the high, rocky shores of Norway were more than welcome after the trip across the Atlantic, and particularly charming was the view of Christiania, nestled among the foothills of the mountains to the rear.

Christiania, soon to losa its present name, which has been recited hy scholars throughout tbe world for three hundred years, is one of the renowned cities of northern Europe and well worth more than passing comment. Sailing into the harbor of Christiania, ooe's first impression is that of what is called homeliness: there are the family groups on the pier, chatting and laughing; the welcome songs and waving flags of Norwegisns greeting compatriots or relatives from the United States, aod the pleasant sights on the city streets.

There will be no more "Christiania" after January 1, 1925, the Norwegian people having decided to use tbe old name of the capital—Oslo, which 300 years ago King Christian IV of Denmark, who inherited the Norwegian throne, changed to Christionia to honor himself. Oslo had been the name of the capitol since time immemorial, and undoubtedly the reason for the change is the nationalistic movement which is going on in oll countries all over the world.

Norway, although one of the oldest countries in the old world, is comparatively new, when modern nations are treated in the strictest sense of the word, for it was not till 1905 that she was granted her independence, having previously been a part of Sweden. The separation was adroitly hrought ahout and Sweden proceeded to recognize the new monarchy, although the pill was a bitter one to swallow.

Of the three Scandinavian countries—Norway, Sweden and Denmark—Norway is the smallest in poulation, having only about two and a half million people, with Denmark a few hundred thousand more, while Sweden is more than double. The strong dramatic nature of the people as a whole has had much to do with tha strengthening of the power of Norway, and the progressiveness of the people is remarked about hy everyone who visits the country.

Norway was one of the first countries to go on a light wine and beer basis, and it is noticeable that the people are not of that buoyant spirit so noticeahle in France and Germany. However, there are exceptions to all rules and only as late as in August did the authorities find in the basement of the Hall of Justice a seven pound dynamite bomb, placed there either as a threat or as an ohject lesson.

Of late there has been considerable unemployment and the people are restive under the after effects of the war. At present a crown in Norwegian money is worth only about fourteen cents, whereas before the war it was worth twenty-six cents, or nearly double. The added cost of living as a result is beginning to have a marked effect on the population the same as in most all the countries of the world.

However, as Dr. Maurice Francis Egan, late United States Minister to Denmark, puts it, "it is unpleasant to be rich, because the government in its energetic economic capacity makes the life of a rich man a burden, by tremendous taxation. Sometimes in Norway one can begin to understand the meaning of the Oriental legend in which the only happy man appears to be the one who possess nothing but a shirt."

In proportion to its population Norway has outstripped the world in furnishing men of great learning, its inhabitants being very thrifty and studiously inclined. Many of the leading inventions are also attributed to this country noted for its deep thought.

Sweden.

Associated in many woys with Norway and Denmark is the sister country, Sweden, which in many respects might be compared to Minnesota, for its vast wealth in timher, iron ore and other products of the soil is a source of great wealth. In area it is ten times the size of Denmark and fifteen times as large as Belgium, hut of course there is considerable land that is unproductive on account of mountainous nature, but suffice it to say that where the land is tillable the people use it to advantage. The beautiful farms in southern Sweden are second to none in the world.

Mining, agriculture, manufacturing, lumbering, fishing and shipping are the principal industries and the total value of these alone last year passed the billion dollar mark. The total value of the real estate alone, according to recent statistics, is placed at over four and a half hillion dollars, or more than ten times the total national debt. Sweden, like the United States, has been on the gold hasis, and redeems her notes in gold. The hank notes in circulation in September this year were secured by 48.2 per cent gold as against 45.5 per cent at the outbreak of the world war, ten years previously—a mighty fine showing for this sturdy nation. A hig factor in upholding the integrity of Sweden is the fact she exports much more than she imports, her total ordinary revennes a year ago exceeding her total ordinary expenditures hy $104,657,017.

Denmark.

Closely allied to Norway in many ways is Denmark, in which country one can profitably spend a considerable length of time to advantage, for to quote Dr. Egan again, "no people existing are more literate, more interested in things of the mind, or more advanced socially than the Danes."

The co-operative movement so apparent in this country the past two or three years has for a long time been a source of great benefit to Denmark, a land whose people are very highly civilized. The country is devoted to a very large extent to agriculture, although only ahout a third of the population—a littla over the three million mark—are engaged in this pursuit, together with forestry and fishing. The city of Copenhagen itself hoasts a population of abont 750,000.

The kingdom of Denmark, at least in area, is very small. With the recently acquired territory of Schleswig, re-ceded since the world war, it only contains about 17,000 square miles, about one-fifth the size of Minnesota, or one-twentieth the size of the state of Texas. However, the density of population is quite marked, it being aboot 181 to the square mile, while in Minnesota there are only 27 people to the square mile and less than ten in North Dakota. But Belgium is credited with over 650 people in the same area.

Copenhagen has for centuries been one of the leading seaports of the world, it being located in what is perhaps a unique key to the various inland seas of Northern Europe. The city has spent millions of dollars in making the port availahle to vessels of all classes aod extends to the owners thereof privilsges enjoyed hy them in no other port in the world.

The docks at the Free Port are open to all, the cargoes may he unloaded and reloaded withont being suhjected to the custom duties prevailing elsewhere. Only in case the cargoes are destined for inland parts of Denmark is any duty levied thereon. This Free Port provides the various vessels with the best opportunity for bunkering with coal or oil. The warehousea and all mechanical apparatus are constructed with special regard to the most rapid dispatch of ships and goods possible.

The many advantages of Copenhagen for distribution to European ports was recognized by Herbert Hoover and his aides during the time he superintended the relief work in the war torn countries. The shipments from America all weot to Copenhagen and thence to their final destinations.

Statistical reports indicate that there are 4,000 co-operative organizatioos in Denmark, and these not only care for the distribution of the products of their members but also care for the purchases of all necessities, thereby affording an economic administration of the affairs of the greoter portion of the popolation. It is said that it is impossible to "corner" the market on any article in Denmark. It is also said that there are but few multi-millionaires.

But the great thrift and acumen of the Dane is perhaps the best visunlized in stating that one of the leading husiness men of the country each week ships to Berlin a whole trainload of 28 railroad cars, all owned by him, full of meat, which is sold either in the capital of Germany or in nearby places. Another car in this train contains the private office of this merchant prince in one end while in tbe other end is located the cooling or icing plant whereby the meat is kept in perfect condition.

It is a well known fact that Danish butter ranks highest throughout the entire world, with the exception of that from Mianesota, due perhaps to the rigid inspection of the government over its manufacture. Yes, it even inspects the herds producing the milk and cream, and there are no hetter cows to be found than those in Denmark. Statistics recently compiled show that the Danish cow produces annually an average of 290 pounds of butterfat while the Minnesota cow gives 162 pounds. Bacon and eggs were also produced in large quantities and before the war the English hreakfast table was generally supplied with the exported surplus from Denmark. Eggs also come under the closest scrutiny and they are dated as soon as gathered so that there is no possible chance of misleading the pnblic.

The government even goes so far as to fix the responsibility of labor and very little unrest has become apparent for a long time, the unemployed to some extent being cared for through governmental agencies.

During the current month when the Soviet government in Russia asked the Danish government to banish the dowager empress of Russia, Marie Feodorovna, tbe request was denied by His Excellency, Premier Th. Stanning, one of the ranking diplomats of the world, the premier stating thot any such action would be resented hy the Danish people as a whole. It must be remembered that Denmark to a great extent has furnished many of the royal families of Europe with its members.

The capital of Denmark is commonly known as the gateway city to all Scandinavian countries, and it is also known as the Paris of Northern Enrope. The people are of a pleasant and happy nature, and evidently believe fully in the scriptural passage found in Matthew 6:24, viz: "take therefore no thought for the morrow."

The hospitality of the Dane is well known abroad and many a tourist has been moved to remark at the palatable meals served throughout the land. The women are excellent cooks and one thing that become apparent to the traveler is the number of boiled dishes that are served, not only in the home, but also in the eating houses. The advantages thereof are only too apparent.

Ona of the most productive of the Danish islands is Laaland, located in practically the southeast corner of the country, having an area of 452 miles, the greatest length being 36 miles and 17 miles across in the widest place. The land in many places is barely above the sea level and often is overflowed, the soil being very prodnctive. Here are raised large crops of barley, rye and oats, bnt especially sugar beets. The second largest sugar beet refinery in the world is said to be located at Nakskov on the west coast of the island, this city being my birthplace and former home. The property owners receive good returns on their sugar beet production even with only 12 tons of beets to the acre. Help in the cultivation and harvesting of the beet crop is secured from Poland, whence thousands annually come to all parts of Denmark for the summer season, being mostly young Polish girls, supervised by their priest, who accompanies them.

One of the principal ontlets for the products of Denmark is Germany, mnch of the exports entering the latter country through the city of Rostock, a short distance eontheast of Laaland. From Rostock it is an easy matter to reach almost any part of Germany through the wonderful network of railways.

Germany.

On entering Germany today one is immediately and favorably impressed with the well dressed appearance of tha people, there being no semhlance of hard times resultant from the late world war. They all apparently have sufficient money and it is spent quitc freely, yet not recklessly, the Germans still retaining their thrifty habits.

Doe to the low rate of exchange the farmers especially were enahled to get hig prices for their prodocts while merchants and others having large atocks were also benefitted. It is freely told today how practically every mortgage in Germany was cleaned np shortly before the Dawes plan went into effect and the gold standard re-estahlished. It was the investors and bondholders who havo suffered losses, bnt it is quite probable that they will he at least partly able to reconp through legislation within the next few years. Ootward appearances indicate that prosperity again reigns in Germany.

At present Germany is the only European country whose money is quoted at par, this being due to the gold standard again going into effect, the paper money issued in such volumes heing nearly worthleas. Most of it will be retaioed, I presume, as a relic of the aftermath of the war.

It will he no effort for Germany to pay her war debt, once the real start is made. Already taxes of every description have heen imposed and the luxury tax is a good sample of how this is heing done. By way of illustration certain wines when purchased in leading hotels and restaurants at a cost of 14 marks, require first of all a ten per cent tax, with a surtax of 55 per cent, bringing the total up to 23 marks and 10 pfennig, thus giving the government a profit, which in American money would he about $3.50 on this one transaction.

Practically half of the food consumed in Germany is imported and it is very carefully inspected, the local manufacturing plants and stockyards are under a government controlled system and maintained in a scrupulously clean manner, insnring healthful foods at all times.

In Berlin, the third largest city in the world with a population a little under four million, recently there was held a packers' exposition, attended by leading meat dealers from many countries. Live stock of typical American varieties were on exhibition as well as the very latest in mechanical devices for handling all kinds of meats, etc, and I was very favorahly impressed with the magnitude of the nndertaking, and greatly enjoyed the opportunity of attending this remarkable exhibit. German hutchers are noted for their sausages and "57 varieties" would not begin to cover this field of industry.

Cologne is another of the large German citiea visited by practically every tourist, for it has many sights worth viewing, especially the Cathedral, which is one of the largeat Gothic structures in existence, completed after centuries of lahor, the final touches heing added as late as 1880. The spires tower aloft several hundred feet in the air and can be seen for a long distance. Cologne is located about 250 milea southwest of Berlin near the Belgian border, and is the center of commercial industry on the Rhine, with a population said to be about 400,000. It is here that the English bave the head offices for the army of occnpation, hut to watch the people one would never suspect that there had been any animosity between the two nations, for everyone goes abont his or her business jnst as thoogh no one was around. The fine residences are occupied by tho ranking army officers, while tbe historic town hall is the headquarters for the army of occupation. This city was founded shortly after the birth of Christ, and thus it is one of the oldest European cities.

Few people realize the manner in which Germany has been penalized for her part in the world war, yet a close analysis of the following facts will show that she paid dearly for her action. In 1914, before the war, Germanys' total area comprised 208,780 square miles, with an estimated population of 67,812,000. Over ten per cent of her land was taken away, or to he more exact, 27,275 square miles were disseminated, leaving her with only 182,995 square miles at present, while her population shrank a little less in proportion, a total of 6,471,581, leaving 61,340,419 as the present population estimate, of whom 28,984,156 are statistically given as males, with 32,356,263 females, a preponderance of the latter it will be seen.

In addition to this astounding loss there is a cash penalty that mnst not be forgotten. It is the amount recently agreed npon and put into effect under the Dawes plan—$625,000,000 annually for an indefinite period, an amount equalling twice the cost of the Panama canal.

Alsace Lorraine was returned to France, its area being 5,604 square miles, with a population of 1,874,014. Belgium was awarded Eupen and Melmedy, 398 square miles in size and having 60,294 people. Eastern and Upper Silesia were ceded to Poland, these embracing 17,787 square miles and quite densely populated, there being 8,853,354 persons within the prescribed area. The allies were awarded Memel with 1,057 square miles and 140,746 population. Danzig was made a free city and embraced 794 square miles with 330,252 people within its confines. Denmark secured by the treaty of Versailles the upper portion of Schleswig, thereby enlarging her territory hy 1,537 square miles and increasing her population to the extent of 166,895 people. Czecho Slovakia was given the npper part of Silesia, thereby acquiring an additional hundred square miles and 45,396 more population. In addition to these several allotments the Saar Valley with an area of 751 square miles and a population of 657,870 is to he under the guidance of the League of Nations, and exploited by France for a period of 15 years, after which its future will be determined hy a vote of the people.

Just what such a vote might result in is hard to conjecture for when the people of unper Silesia in March, 1921, took such a step the outcome was that a majority favored retention to the Reich, although the population of the city of Wrrihin, embracing 1,255 square miles and with 891,669 inhahitants, favored annexation with Poland.

Germany, as she now is—A federation of republics in central Europe—is bounded on the north hy the North Sea, Denmark and the Baltic Sea; on the east hy Poland, Czeco Slovakia and Austria; on the south hy Czecho Slovakia, Austria and Switzerland; on the west by France, Luxemburg, Belgium, Holland and the North Sea.

France.

To visit the city of Rhiems, France, at present one cannot hut ahhor the destructiveness of war, for it is in this city that perhaps the worst traces of damage remain to be seen. Every building in this city was practically shot to pieces, and while many of them have been repaired very accnrately there are yet many that have not been touched. The Rhjems Cothédral, a wonderful piece of architecture, the Germans deliberately tried to destroy, having soaked in oil the straw that was in it, together with the scaffolding around the walls, and then set fire to it as tbey retreated from the city. The building had been used by the enemy as a temporary hospital and straw had heen placed therein for heds. Tbe scaffolding had been erected by the French just previous to the war for the purpose of rehahilitating the edifice and thus afforded the Germans added means to accomplish their purpose.

Before the war Rhiems had a popnlation of 110,000 while it is said to have today only ahout 50,000. The town hall was formerly a fine building, hut one would hardly recognize it from the appearanca of the only remaining wall, tbe front.

Another city that suffered greatly at the hands of the enemy was Chateau Thierry, less than 100 miles east of Paris, and this city and surrounding vicinity, including the hurial place of Quentin Roosevelt, are visited in ever increasing numbers by those who wish to have first hand information as to tbe destruction wrought hy Germany. It was here, the birthplace of the famous fabulist, LaFountaine, that the American forces got in such destructive action against the foe, raking the river and hridges continuously for four days and nights in June, 1918.

Paris and London, two wonderful cities, which to be fully understood must be seen personally, for description of them haffles even the most ardent admirer of either one or both. One is amazed at the traffic in hoth places, at the freedom of life in Paris and the stern, methodical life in London. Truly London is the metropolis of the world. The air service between these two citiea is only indicative of the trend of modern ideas and that the world is cosmopolitan.

Europe Ahead in Commercial Flying.

An extraordinary network of air lines covering ahout twelve thousand miles spreads across Europe today. Sixteen different companies operate rontes connecting London and the Near East; Soviet Russia and France with North Africa. Thongh this huge web, spread fan-like across the continent, is not by any means as important as the various railroad systems, yet it seriously is competing with tbe fastest trains and boats that any single nation can produce.

If this contrast between conditions at home and ahroad seems to reflect upon the enterprise of America in this newest form of transportation, it should be remembered that the results obtained in Europe were made possible largely through suhsidiea granted by varions governments to encourage commercial aviation, whereas similar ventures in America have not received any such federal aid.

The ronte which interests me the most, on account of being a passenger over the route, is the Air Union company operating the Paris-London route, and the Paris, Brussels and Amsterdam ronte.

Another surprise of civil flying in Europe is that, in spite of handicaps imposed by the peace treaty, Germanys' commercial air service is thriving this year as never before, and, as a matter of fact, the restrictions of the peace agreement npon aviation acted as a stimulant, for the borders of Germany are connected with air lines, almost as numerous as trunk railroads, and there is scarcely a large city that cannot be reached by air from Berlin on regular schedule.

Had the country been allowed to continue with an air program unrestricted by allied rules it is doubtful if the local service would have developed to its present state. These restrictions have caused the use of lower horse power and consequently air dynamics has received more attention than otherwise.

This combination furthermore has made for cheapness of construction and operation to such an extent that commercial flying has actually been benefitted almost as much as it has been injured. While no speed records have been attained, nor any great international flights attempted, the German air service is a healthy, self-contained industry, growing rapidly, and patronized extensively.

At present there are seven active lines running on regular schednle within Germany and connecting with outside lines. The most ambitious of these is the Berlin-Amsterdam-Loodon line, which became a reality only in the spring of 1928. Others connect Berlin, Hamhnrg, Bremen and Amsterdam; Hambur, Copenhagen and Malmo, Sweden; Koenigsburg, Berlin, Zurich and Geneva; Berlin, Danzig and Koenigshurg; Berlin, Munich and Prague; Koenigsburg, Smoleusk and Moscow. The latter, one of the longest lioes in the German schedule, has been thoroughly established and is perhaps the best passenger service from Berlin to Moscow.

The Latecoere company operates the Southern France route from Toolouse to Casahlanca, with hranch connectioos in Spain and in North Africa.

Accidents have been comparatively few in tha four years that the air lines have operated. It is said that abont 50,000 passengers have heen carried hy Freoch machinea and more than 1,000,000 miles covered, and there have been very few accidents resulting therefrom.

England has awakened within the last year to an appreciation of tbs vast importance of aviation. As a result, the Air Ministry is planning hroad measures to develop the air service in Great Britain, both along military and civil lines.

There are now in England three air linea maintaining regular service. There are two services daily between London and Paris. From Croydon the starting times are 12:30 and 4:00 o'clock. The company has found hy experience that it takes on the average two hours and a half to make the run, although the record is exactly one hour less.

Reflecting on the trip ahroad one hardly dares to contemplate the future, for it is well within the memory of us all the advantagea that arose when the horse displaced the ox, and the anto displaced tbe horse, with the more recent displacement of the auto hy the airplane. What monster of the air or of the depths of tbe earth or sea will next appear to broaden the scope of civilization? It is not for me to say.

Government Ownership Elsewhere.

The dawn of a new era in Europe is welcomed not alooe hy the people across the water, but also hy the Americans as a whole, for the war established the fact that to a more or less extent we are all one big family. But first of all for general prosperity it is very important to the States as well as to Europe to have the avenne of commerce open. While the writer of this article is not a believer in free trade, yet it is patent that the foreign countries should be on a basis whereby they can purchase our products (especially foodstuffs.) But the present European low rate of exchange in many cases makea it prohibitive. Hence a loss in no small degree to the Amerisan prodocer, and in turn to the whole populace of the country.

While solicitous of the welfare of Europe we must not lose sight of the fact that we are apt to drift onto breakers here in this country, if we are not careful. Obviously there nre strong indications of a movement for federal control or rather ownership of the railroads. Recently compiled statistics and accurate, too, as to government ownership of railroads in Europe hring to light the fact that only recently has the German government recognized the fact that it was failing in efficient operation of its railroads and has decided to turn them over to private management. The moneys derived from their operation in independent hands will be a great source of revenue for Germany in meeting the reparations.

Continuing the investigation it is learned that in Fraoce the net income of the privately owned systems last year amounted to 732 million francs, whereas the previous year under government ownership there was a deficit of 145 million francs. Personal observation has clearly indicated that the service under private ownership has heen mnch more efficient. In Mexico the National railways showed a loss of nearly 250,000,000 pesos last year, while in Italy and Switzerland negotiations are under way to secure private management of the transportation systems. Sweden is considering the same step, and undoobtedly Brazil will also adopt the same policy. Norway and Denmark have also experienced serious losses. When one considers the fact that the total railway mileage in the United States is greater than that of all of Europe, and nearly equal to that of Europe aod Asia comhined, it behooves us to leave well enough alone and not shoulder the cost of governmental operation here onto the people in common. Jndging from the experience of the European countries such a step here would undoobtedly prove disastrous.

PUBLIC FORUM

Facts About S. R. Kirby.

Editor Tribune:

When I read about the coroner's inquest and the jury's verdict in the last attempt to crucify Dr. Kirby, I thought that these noble high minded men had not been given all the facts. If so they would have acquitted him. Now this 65-year-old man died from cancer. His son had stated that the doctors at Warren had said it was cancer and couldn't do anything for him. Dr. Kirby said it was cancer, and the injection was given the man because he pleaded for it, having been stopped up both ways for about four days. The injection was a harmless one generally used for that purpose but it did not work.

Why not stop persecuting S. R. Kirby? He has been gifted by the Almighty to treat and cure when the doctors of medicine cannot. If it had not been for Dr. S. R. Kirby I would have had a son crippled for life. Three years ago last summer one of my boys started to limp. I took him to Kirby, who examined his hip and run his hand up and down his spine. He stopped and said, "He is hurt in the spine." He pressed on a certain place and the boy groaned from pain. Then he told me he would give me some medicine to paint his back every night and he would improve in a few days and get well in five or six weeks. The boy got well, started to school again and is a big strong man today.

Another father who is thankful to Dr. Kirby is Mr. Dohrman of Middle River. After many weeks of treatment Kirby cured his son Carl of pulmonary consumption five years ago. X-rays prove that the cavities in his lungs have been healed.

H. M. EVENSTAD.

Comments on Rev. Kreidt's Sermon on Trinity.

No such expression as "Triune God," "Trinity" and "God, the Holy Ghost' are found in the Bible. No words in the Bible should be translated "Holy Ghost. "Ghost' should be "spirt" as it is from the Hebrew "ruach" and the Greek "pneuma," which means "wind"—an invisible power. Invisible powers are often personified. Love (which is an invisible power) is personified into "Cupid." The comforter or Holy Spirit is the spirit of truth (John 14, 16-17) and no more a person than the "spirit of the world" is. "God is love," (1 John 48.) "God is spirit," (John 4, 24,) and not a person. "God is one," (Gal. 3, 20) and to show us that God is not "one in three persons" (as man-made creeds say) Paul says in 1 Cor. 8, 6, that the one God is the Father and that there is only one Lord (not God) for us—the elect. "No man hath seen God at any time" (1 John 4, 12) but many have seen Jesus, who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature." (Col. 1, 15) This and Rev. 3, 14 shows that Jesus was created. Jesusu was not the beginning of creation as a man but as a spirit-being. Jesus is the beginning and the end of God's direct creation because every thing else was created by the Son with power he had from the Father. (John 5, 30; Col. 1, 16; 1 Cor. 8, 6.)

John 1, 1 should be translated, "The word was with the God and a god (theos—mighty one) was the word." Jesus was a God but his Father is the God. Jesus (who is called Michael (who as God) in Dan. 10, 13, 21; Jude 9 and Rev. 12, 7) was the chief one of the gods (elohim) who said: "Let us make man in our image. Lucifer (lightbringer) who later became Satan (Isaiah 14, 12) may have been one of these gods. Satan has been the god of this (the second) world. (2 Cor. 4, 4.) The first world (before the flood) was under angels. (Heb. 2, 5; Gen. 6, 2; Jude 6, 7) but the next world (the millenium—the third heaven (2 Cor. 12, 2) and earth) will be ruled by Christ which is Jesus and the 144,000 elect—the bride who then will be united with Jesus so that they will be one the same way as God and Jesus are one (John 17, 12, 21-22) because the Father is in Jesus and also in his bride at the beginning of their thousand-year reign on earth, but the balance of the people need Christ as a mediator between God and themselves (1 Tim. 2, 5) until God is all in all (1 Cor. 15, 23-28) those who are left living at the end of the millenium. (Rev. 14, 1-4; 20, 4; 22, 17).) Jesus was put to death in the flesh but was made alive in the spirit (1 Pet. 3, 18) so he has not had any fleshly or earthly body since his resurrection except for the few short periods when he wanted to show himself to his disciples. Then he created himself body and clothes and dissolved them later the same as he and the two angels did when they visited Abraham and Loth. Jesus gave his flesh for the life of the world (Mat. 20, 28; Luke 22, 19; John 6, 51; Heb. 10, 10.) It is no giving if what is given is taken back on the third day or any time after. It is not a sacrifice then. (Heb. 10, 12.) It is the man-made churches who deny the ransom sacrifice (1 Tim. 2, 6) when they say that Jesus took back his fleshly body. If Jesus did so what became of him when he left the earth as "flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God?" (1 Cor. 15, 50.) Why should Heb. 5, 7 speak of Jesus "in the days of his flesh" if he has his flesh yet? Church creeds make Jesus a liar when they say he is equal with God. (John 14, 28.)

For lack of space the above is brief, but "Bereans" who wish for more information on this subject may ask me any question on Bible-religion and I shall answer them.

Next week: "The Wages of Sin is Death."

POULTRY SHOW GREATEST EVER SAY OFFICIALS

"Far Above Average," Says Ed. L. Hay, Who Did the Judging.

The eighth annual exhibition of the Pennington County Poultry association, held last week in conjunction with the dairymens' convention, was a very successful event, being larger in attendance and better in quality of exhibits shown than any previous show put on by the organization. "This show is far above the average in point of quality of exhibits," said Ed. L. Hay of Minneapolis, who did the judging, and whose experience in this work is state-wide. This, of course, is as it should be, for the initial purpoes of the show is to foster continual improvement, and under ordinary circumstances it would be very disappointing if this were not the case.

The association has decided to hold its annual meeting at the Commercial club rooms Monday evening, December 1, at which time officers will be elected and other business transacted. Dr. Billings, extension veterinarian of the University of Minnesota, will be present to address the members. He is an able speaker and will have much of interest to say to the poultrymen. After the meeting a free lunch will be served to all members and others who contemplate affiliating with the organization.

On Saturday, November 29, Dr. Billings will put on a demonstration dealing with tuberculosis in poultry, the experiments to be carried on at the farms of Hans Anton, W. I. McCrum and Owen Weckwerth. This should be interesting as well as instructive. and it is hoped that a large number of farmers and others interested in the poultry business will avail themselves of this opportunity of seeing the up-to-date demonstration which Mr. Billings is qualified to give.

Next week The Tribune will publish a complete list of prize winners at the show held here last week.

Oen Grocery Serving Free Eats Friday and Saturday

On Friday and Saturday of this week, the grocery department of the Oen Mercantile company will serve sandwiches and White House coffee The lunch is absolutely free and will be served both days from morning until night in order to demonstrate the White House coffee, a brand which Oens' believe to be especially good. No one is obligated to buy a thing. What Oens' want is to give the people a taste of real coffee. The people in turn will form a sort of craving for this superior grade of coffee and at some later time will want to use the same at home. There's method in their madness!

"FEET OF CLAY" COMING SUNDAY

Is Unusually Strong Love Drama and Full of Excitement.

Cecil B. DeMille's first Famous Forty production is "Feet of Clay," which comes to the Lyceum next Sunday and Monday.

"The scenes in which scores of beautiful bathing beauties race on surf-boards; the society ball room scenes designed by Norman Bel Geddes, who did the settings for Gest's 'The Miracle,' the scenes and gowns in the ultra-fashionable modiste shop—here is stuff that DeMille knows how to create to perfection.

"'Feet of Clay' is, in addition, an unusually strong love drama adapted by Beulah Marie Dix and Bertram Millhauser from the Ladies' Home Journal novel by Margaretta Tuttle. It is the story of a flapper of 18 growing into a wife of 21, but still retaining much of her love for jazz and excitement, and getting into complications thereby. The backgrounds vary from a Harlem flat to a millionaire's yacht, with the latter type predominating.

"Heading the cast of 'Feet of Clay' are Rod La Rocque, Vera Reynolds, Victor Varconi, Ricardo Cortez, Julia Faye, Theodore Kosloff and Robert Edeson."

Senator Hensen in City.

Senator C. L. Hansen left the first of the week for St. Paul where he expects to remain for several days to look after business affairs.

Alfalfa Day

Thursday, December 11, 1924, will go down in history as the first "Alfalfa Day" in Thief River Falls, and The Tribune trusts it will be the forerunner of many alfalfa days in this county.

Arrangements for "Alfalfa Day" were completed last week by a citizens' committee which will have general charge of program, speakers and entertainment.

The program will be completed by Friday of this week, but this much is sure:

An address will be made at the auditorium in the evening by President Jaffray of the Soo Line, himself the owner of a large farm which has 150 acres of alfalfa.

An address will be made in the afternoon by Dan Wallace, editor of The Farmer, brother of the late Secretary Wallace of President Coolidge's cabinet.

Address will be made by A. B. Lyman, seed expert, C. R. Hutcheson, alfalfa expert, Commissioner of Immigration O. H. Smith.

A huge "Alfalfa Palace" will be erected at a prominent street corner, said place to be appropriately dedicated in the evening of December 11th.

A free lunch will be served during the afternoon and evening to all visitors in the city.

The famous "Clown Band" which won the American Legion convention at St. Cloud will play all day and evening.

A queen of "Alfalfa Day" will be crowned during the exercises in the evening.

Invitations have been issued to farmers and civic organizations in the following counties in Northwestern Minnesota: Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Lake of the Woods, Beltrami, Clearwater, Mahnomen, Polk, Red Lake and Norman.

The object of "Alfalfa Day," of course, is to stimulate interest in alfalfa. Last year when 40,000 pounds of pure Grimm seed was distributed here, hundreds of farmers congregated in the city and the occasion was made a gala event. This year the celebration will assume larger proportions.

It is estimated that 6,000 acres of alfalfa has been planted in Pennington county since the drive for increased acreage began two years ago. It is hoped that 10,000 new acres of alfalfa will be planted during the coming season in Pennington county alone, and with this in view the citizens of Thief River Falls have bit upon "Alfalfa Day" as the best means of bringing together the men and women who believe more alfalfa means the ultimate agricultural salvation of this entire section.

AMERICAN BEET SUGAR COMPANY BUYS FACTORIES

More Than $4,500,000 Involved in Unusually Big Transaction.

Agreement to purchase three Minnesota and Iowa sugar beet companies, with headquarters at Minneapolis, for $4,100,000 was announced this week by R. Walter Lee of New York, chairman and president of the American Beet Sugar company.

The purchase will be a cash transaction, $2,900,000 for the Northern Sugar Corporation and $1,500,000 to $1,600,000 for the Minnesota Sugar company, a newly formed concern with undeveloped properties owned jointly by Northern and Minnesota Sugar, will be included in these prices.

H. A. Douglas of Minneapolis, president of the Northern Sugar Corporation and also of the Minnesota Sugar company, will be the executive in charge of northwest properties for the American Beet Sugar company.

Officers of the Northwest companies regard the transaction as of great importance to the beet sugar industry in Minnesota, where it is assuming large proportions in the farm diversification movement under way.

Opening up of an important market, with possible eventual establishment of new plants, forecasts a call for additional sugar beet acreage by farmers of Minnesota and North Dakota.

W. E. Groom of Minneapolis, treasurer of the Northern Sugar Corporation, discussing the transaction said the northwest is considered the greatest field for future development of the sugar beet industry.

"This strongly financed New York company will permit of important expansion," he said. "The American Beet Sugar company can be expected to take steps to arrange for enlargement of the beet sugar output in the northern Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota fields. This will be a great stimulus to farm diversification."

"At East Grand Forks a company recently was organized and rails have been laid and foundations put in. When the option was taken by the New York company construction was halted. The probability now is that the American Beet Sugar company will move one of its southern California plants there end, if it decides to move the Oxford plant, East Grand Forks will have one of the largest manufactories of its kind in the country. Truck gardening and fruit raising has tended to curtail the supply of raw materials for the sugar beet companies there."

It's Hard to Believe. But Nevertheless True! Read!

It was 10:50 p. m. November 20 and the southbound Soo flyer from Winnipeg was more than an hour late. The deer hunting season would be over in an hour and ten minutes, and Engineer John Mitchell had not laid off to get his deer.

Out of the darkness leaped a fine large buck, just as the train crossed the Great Northern track half a mile beyond the city limits. It was impossible to stop the train within the short distance intervening. When the train stopped, it was still breathing, having been hit on the shoulder.

"Easy pickin's," was Mitchell's verdict.

CO-OP. CONCERN SHIPS POULTRY

Talk about your blooming bloody business!

The Thief River Valley Poultry association in the last 13 days shipped from their warehouse on Fourth and Main, five carloads of dressed turkeys, one-half carload of live turkeys, four carloads of mixed birds, chickens, turkeys, geese and ducks. Four of these cars went to New York City, one car by express to Chicago and the remainder to various other points far and near. A conservative estimate places the total number of pounds shipped at 250,000.

More than 2,500 turkeys were picked here, 12 men being hired to do the work. Birds were received from points north and south, east and west, including Winger, Rosean, Grygla and Angus. The fowls came flying in so fast that the association's storage room proved inadequate and it was found necessary to use the barns at the fair grounds as places of refuge. The concern's business greatly exceeded all expectations of the officers and it is believed that from now until Christmas they will be equally busy. Many who have had the opportunity of watching the boys at work packing turkeys for shipment opened their eyes and remarked, "B'gosh, that's quite an industry."

Prichards Loading Beets With Up-to-Date Machines

The Pricherd company, which recently was awarded the contract for loading into cars the large piles of sugar beets near the Soo tracks, is this week busily engaged in filling cars for shipment. The work is being carried on by means of a new device which has a loading capacity of 100 tons per hour. The new machine was put in operation yesterday morning and has been found to be very efficient. According to Mr. Prichard, 21 cars have been loaded since he took over the contract.

Dr. T. M. Kolberg Installs New Scientific Instrument For Use in Local Offices

Chiropractor Returns From Two Weeks Research Course at Davenport, Iowa.

Dr. T. M. Kolberg, local chiropractor, returned Saturday, November 22, after two weeks spent at Davenport, Iowa, attending a research course at the Palmer school of chiropractic. She brought with her and now has installed in her offices in the First National bank building a recently invented instrument known as the Neurocalomster, a device so sensitive that when placed over the spine it will immediately register a certain degree of pressure, showing the location of the interference to transmission. The chiropractor then knows just what vertebrae to adjust. After giving the adjustment the instrument is again applied, and wonderful as it may seem, registers in all cases a reduction, and in some cases even zero.

This scientific instrument was invented by Dr. D. D. Evans, an electrical engineer. Mr. Evans at one time was in very poor health and secured relief through chiropractic. His belief in its possibilities became in incentive to research and the neurocalometer resulted.

Dr. Kolberg has installed this new instrument on a lease at great expense and its possibilities will no doubt become more and more evident as she uses it in everyday practice.

Ditch Engineer Appointed.

Hearings may be resumed next spring upon judicial Ditch No. 3, the Thief Lake project which was a part of the proceedings dismissed two years ago by Judge Grindeland. Last Friday the judge appointed Glen C. Bickley of Aitkin engineer for No. 3. The engineer must qualify inside of ten days and must file his report in 90 days. H. O. Berve was attorney for the objectors in the former proceedings.

NEW RAILROADS TO BE STARTED NORTH OF HERE

Right of Way For New Project Has Already Been Purchased.

Entire Road to Be Completed Within Two Years, Say Promoters.

Brother "Bill" Noonan of Baudette claims that he is building railroads, not with print paper and ink, but with rails and ties this time, and has the following to say regarding the new project, which has been talked of continually for several years but which never really materialized util recently:

"The long looked for new railroad in Lake of the Woods county is coming at last. According to an announcement made late last week 30 miles will be added next year to the road running from International Falls to Loman, and the remainder of the road will be extended the following year to Goodridge, which already has a railroad to Thief River Falls.

"Backing up the announcement and demonstrating that it is no mere railroad rumor, two representatives of E. W. Backus have purchased

Many Big Game Licenses.

According to records at the county auditor's office, 116 big game licenses were issued to residents of Pennington county. This exceeds by a considerable number those issued last year. It is impossible at this time to ascertain the number of deer killed by hunters but it is generally known from reports that many were successful in their efforts to "bring home the venison."

Ralston Back on Job.

Chief of Police Lon Ralston is back on the job again this week after being laid up for repairs the past two weeks. Stores to Close All Day Thanksgiving, Nov. 27th

The time-honored custom of closing all business places on Thanksgiving Day will be observed in Thief River Falls as usual. Those in charge of relief work in the city have always succeeded in bringing happiness in a greater or lesser degree to the needy of the city, and this year will be no exception. Charitable organizations this day will distribute boxes containing things useful to embellish the Thanksgiving table and which will be appreciated, not because of their intrinsic value, but because of the spirit which enters into the giving. The spirit of giving! That is the outstanding virtue of Thanksgiving Day.

Sande New Commander of American Legion Post

Installation of New Officers to Take Place at Club Rooms Friday, November 28.

At a recent meeting of Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion, Ole R. Sande, county superintendent of schools, was elected to head the organization for the ensuing year. Ole was adjutant during the past year, a very efficient one, and it is certain that he will make an exceedingly creditable commander. The big state convention is nearing and there is much work to be done which will require close co-operation on the part of all Legion men and townspeople. Oscar Smith, the former commander, has just completed a rip-roaring, high-soaring years' work, and is still on hand with all his enthusiasm to help put the convention over. Other officers of the grand old parade elected are, Francis Burns, vice commander; Verner Nelson, adjutant; F. E. McGinn, finance officer; Rev. Chas. Gerlinger, chaplain, and L. A. Hermanson, sergeant-at-arms.

Installation of the new officers will take place at the Legion club rooms this week Friday, November 28, at 8 o'clock. There is going to be an interesting time and a large percentage of the membership is urged to turn out and help put 'er over big.

JENS ERICKSON DIES SUDDENLY

Was Well Known in City and Leaves Host of Friends.

Olaf J. Erickson, famliarly known to his many friends as Jens, passed away at the Warren hospital last Saturday, November 22, after a short illness. His death was caused from complications arising out of a malady technically known as septicarmia, or more commonly called ulcers of the stomach. When suddenly taken ill he was taken to physicians here, who diagnosed his case and realized there was little hope for his recovery. Soon after he was taken to Warren, where he died a few days later.

Mr. Erickson had lived in Thief River Falls for many years, being employed at various occupations. The greater part of the time he was employed by the Soo Line, but at different times was in the insurance business for himself, and did organization work for the Minnesota Wheat Growers and Potato Growers associations.

The many friends of Jens find it difficult to realize that he is gone. He was always so congenial, unassuming and honest in his convictions, and well liked by everyone with whom he came in contact. Jens was known everywhere in the community as a "prince" of a fellow and his untimely death is generally regretted.

Olaf J. Erickson was born in Sweden June 26, 1891, being at the time of his death 33 years of age. He came to this country with his parents when a small boy and has resided in the Thief River Falls community the greater part of the time since. Deceased is survived by his wife and three little daughters, and his father, all living in Thief River Falls. His mother died here two years ago. Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon (Wednesday, November 26) at 2 o'clock from the Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. J. Thomas Dixon, pastor of the church, and Rev. O. J. Lindell, pastor of the Swedish Mission church, officiating. Interment will be made in the Greenwood cemetery.

The twenty-first annual convention of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association closed last Thursday, November 20, after the most successful sessions, both in the point of attendance and importance of work carried on, in the history of the organization. All of the old officers were re-elected by acclamation, and are as follows: President, Stuart McLeod, Goodridge; first vice president, A. R. Knutson, Pelican Rapids; second vice president, Marius Waldal, Plummer; secretary, Leonard Houske, Halstad; treasurer, E. E. Thorson, Hendrum.

The officers were greatly elated over the attendance at the convention this year, which in part was due to the $30 trophy held up by the association to the creamery having the largest attendance present.

Holt, only 12 miles north of Thief River Falls, captured the prize, having 83 members registered. In fact, it was a surprise to everyone attending that one organization should be so well represented.

But a still greater surprise was that the Rindahl creamery had 32—count them, 32—members present, and they had to come about 60 miles to get here and were away from their farms for two days. They were given a $20 loving cup, and it is safe to say they will prize it very highly.

Plummer was third with 26 members, Goodridge fourth with 17 and Hazel fifth with 14 members registered.

Thursday foreoon a buttermaker's scoring contest was held and considerable interest therein was manifested. A gold plated butter trier was the prize for the buttermaker who scored the tub of butter previously scored by the judges and who came the nearest to the judge's score. This was won by B. J. Omodt of the Flom creamery.

A silver plated butter trier was the second prize and this went to J. C. Woeste of the Celloway creamery, while the third prize went to Richard Neslon of Maple Bay, who received a nickel plated butter trier.

Following are the results of the Shop Now and Mail Early Is P. O. Department Slogan

The postoffice will make every effort to handle the Christmas mails without congestion and delay, but owing to the enormous volume this can be done only with the co-operation of the public. All parcels must be securely wrapped or packed in order to reach their destination in good condition. Strong paper and heavy twine should be used. Fragile articles must be crated or especially well wrapped and perishable articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation will not be accepted. All perishable articles must be plainly marked "Perishable" and special delivery stamps should be used to expedite delivery.

Local postoffice officials especially urge the public to properly and plainly address all packages in typewriter or ink, also placing a return address in the upper left hand corner. If Christmas stamps or stickers are used they should not be placed on the address side of the parcels.

The Colonel Gets a Buck.

Col. Jule Provencher of the Evelyn hotel, alias "Dead Eye Dick," was among the fortunate ones who roamed the forests last week. On a hunting party near Roosevelt last week the colonel shot a big buck five minutes after alighting from the car which conveyed him to the hunting grounds. After deducting the chunk of venison which the editor expects to receive for this kindly notice of the hunt, the colonel will have approximately 225 pounds of venison for the guests of the Evelyn. It will thus be seen that the buck above mentioned is not to be sneezed at. There are lots of deer in the Roosevelt country according to Mr. Provencher and the hunters are having no difficutly in securing their quota.

Christmas Seals

Minnesota's 17th annual Christmas Seal sale to raise funds for the campaign against tuberculosis and for the promotion of health opens officially Thanksgiving Day. An army of volunteer workers, including 80 county campaign managers, 800 local managers and 8,000 rural school teachers for the huge selling force, makes possible the sale of the little "for health" stamps in even the most remote districts of the state.

The Christmas Seal is unusually attractive this year, symbolizing as it does the light of knowledge about tuberculosis the little penny stamps have carried into every part of the world. Thousands of gay red and green posters, arousing a new interest in health and urging the continued support of Minnesota's winning fight against tuberculosis, have been distributed, and movie slides and trailers are being used to stimulate the sale.

Included in the program for next year, to be supported by Christmas Seals, are the following activities: Free clinics in every county; a follow-up nurse to give advice to clinic cases needing it; an extensive school program, emphasizing prevention, demonstration, public health nurses; the Northwestern Health Journal; health literature for general distribution, exhibits, lectures and motion pictures on various health subjects; special health campaigns.

"Place a voluntary health tax on all your cheerful Christmas letters and packages," is the appeal of the Minnesota Public Health association in urging everyone to buy and use the Christmas Seals. The campaign does not ask much of anyone, but it asks something of everyone. Because millions of people have bought Christmas Seals, millions have learned that tuberculosis is curable, preventable, and can be eventually wiped out. Buy Christmas Seals to your limit—help rid Minnesota of this dread disease!

BOOZE!

A drunken father of eight children fired into a group of youngsters celebrating Hallowe'en last Friday night at New Ulm, killed a 13 year old girl, wounded a boy of the same age seriously and inflicted shotgun wounds of a less serious nature on other children. Influenced by liquor, he had hidden in a shed near his home to await the young perpetrators of Hallowe'en pranks with the purpose of firing his shotgun at them.

The youngsters who were in the group had not harmed his property. There was no excuse for the shooting. Under normal conditions the father of his eight children would not have thought of firing a gun at them even had they destroyed some of his property.

The remorseful father will probably be punished by at least a long prison term. His family will be bereft of his ability to make a living for them. The beloved daughter of another pair of parents has been snatched from them. Another child is probably maimed for life.

Booze did it!

The Journal-Chronicle cannot believe that even a small minority of the American people wish to see the return of liquor, as has been proposed by a few politicians. And it cannot believe but that every self-respecting American wants to see the most strenuous measures used in stamping out the bootlegger evil. — Owatonna Journal-Chronicle.

By H. L. Schuster, Secy.-Treas.

Owing to the fact that everyone around the plant has been busy (even to the writer) for the past two weeks, we were unable to get our items to the press.

The association has done a tremendous business in the way of shipping dressed turkeys. It was necessary to rent the mechanical room of the Northwestern garage and this was converted into a packing room.

Five carloads of dressed turkeys were shipped by the association members in two weeks time. We claim this is a very creditable record—and this does not signify that all of the turkeys in the country are shipped out. We venture to say that this is perhaps one-third of the birds which our members have.

Owing to the late season, we would recommend to those who have turkeys to put on the Christmas market, begin now to feed these birds and have them in the best possible shape, and get the best price.

Buckwheat is next to corn as a fattening feed for turkeys. We are of the belief that it probably takes more but the results are better.

Many good No. 1 birds have been spoiled in the picking—burned legs and wings. This is caused by twisting or rubbing too hard in trying to remove feathers—when the bird cools the flesh gets dry and red. Any place on the bird where skin is broken will dry down and leave a distasteful red spot. These things can be avoided if the picker is careful.

A little care and the proper feed will encourage your hens to lay more eggs. Right now is the time you are going to reap your harvest in the egg market as the prices are gradually advancing. The last pool of eggs brought the members over 50 cents per dozen for extra first, and other grades were not far below.

We can take your turkeys for the Christmas market at any time. The weather is such that they will keep indefinitely when they are packed.

Care should be taken when killing turkeys to see that birds are properly bled. Poor sticking causes red streaks in the body and red in wings. This will tend to cut the grade, so guard against it.

To Radio Convention.

Milton Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Larson, left Monday evening for Minneapolis to attend the Northwest Radio convention which is taking place at the West hotel from November 25 to 29. Milton is representing the Thief River Music company, which deals extensively in radio sets and all radio supplies.

Thanksgiving--
Thursday Next!

This Store will be closed on Thanksgiving Day as usual.

It is fitting that a day should be set aside each year to give thanks to the Omnipotent for the blessings received.

It is a time-honored custom, observed on the last Thursday in November since 1863 when President Lincoln so declared by proclamation.

It was first observed in America when in 162 the Plymouth Pilgrims devoted the day to an acknow ment of their first harvest.

THANKSGIVING.

We trust that every citizen of this great country will have some cause for thanksgiving tomorrow. Especially do we hope there will be found none in this vicinity who cannot find unusual cause for thanksgiving. Blessed with bountiful crops and with signs of returning prosperity upon the horizon, the people of this section have much to give thanks for.

When one compares conditions in this country with what has taken place in many foreign lands, sufficient cause for grateful thanksgiving may be found in the fact that one is a citizen of the United States. But there is so much to be thankful for that it seems almost futile to particularize.

Let us humble ourselves tomorrow before the Giver of all things, giving thanks to Him for the bountiful blessings of the past.

ALFALFA DAY.

December 11th has been designated as "Alfalfa Day" in Thief River Falls. A big alfalfa palace will be erected at one of the street intersections as a tribute to alfalfa—everlasting clover—the greatest forage crop to be found in this country, prominent speakers will be here to tell about their various experiences with alfalfa, free lunch will be served by the citizens committee, the band will discourse sweet music, and it is expected that large delegations from many counties of the section will join in the big celebration.

We trust the citizens of Thief River Falls will boost "Alfalfa Day," for it means much to all of us. When the day arrives that alfalfa is our principal corp in this section, our worries will be over, at least our financial worries will be minimized, and it behooves each and every one of us to help hasten the day.

Let us all join in making "Alfalfa Day" the greatest event in the history of the city.

It remained for Jack Pahlen of Plummer to come to the rescue of the editor last week with a fine chunk of venison after our efforts to stir the hearts of certain tightwads had failed utterly. Jack is a gentleman and a scholar, who realizes that the meatless life of an editor has its monotonous side. and we wish to thank him from the bottom of our editorial heart for the gracious manner in which he "saved our face."

"For a fellow who didn't stand any more show than a jack rabbit of being elected, we gotta admit that Bob threw an awful scare into us," observes Sid Huntley in the Frazee Press.

Some of the newspapers are still talking about socialists and communists and radicals. Forget it, boys, the war is over, and good sportsmanship demands a cessation of hostilities. And then remember, also, that Senator LaFollette carried an overwhelming majority of the rural precincts of the state.

Nearly every exchange which we pick up carries an account of someone being killed or maimed for life by a mad bull, and it would seem as if extra precautions would be observed in handling such animals. A full grown bull is always dangerous and should never be handled except by experienced persons equipped with proper appliances.

Minnesota baby beef captured the first prize at the National Livestock show at Chicago, and President Coolidge will have one of the juicy steaks served at the White House dinner table. So Minnesotas' fame is constantly being spread from one end of the country to the other by the people who are paying close attention to the upbuilding of agriculture.

Carlos Avery wasn't elected governor of Minnesota and his vote was not so impressive, but let it not be forgotten that Mr. Avery contributed much in an educational way to the campaign just closed. None is better posted concerning the state's resources and he carried on a clean and dignified campaign which stamps him as one of Minnesota's very biggest men. Mark our prediction—Carlos Avery will some day be elevated to high position by the people of Minnesota.

TEARS OF A TEN-YEAR-OLD.

George Tellier, aged 1[illegible], of Farmington, Minn., owner of the grand champion baby beef of the Junior Live Stock show, is after all just a little fellow and tears, so close to the surface with little fellows, found their way out under the strain that would have worked on the nerve of one who counted his years in larger numbers.

He wept first when he found his Shorthorn was "off its feed" after it arrived at the pavilion, fearful thst its failure to take its regular nourishment might affect its chances of capturing the prize.

After he had won the prize and learned that his pet was to be killed—tears came again. He knew that it was born and raised and fed to become beef and to be eaten, but little boys are tenderhearted and the thought of the death of the animal he had tended so faithfully as to become almost a part of his life was more than he could bear. He and his sister, Jean, were found weeping quietly over the fate of their animal friend and the compensation of a sack of money—800 big dollars—that George was barely able to lift, could not make up to them for the fate in store for the baby beef.

There are grown men who are as tenderhearted as little boys. The one who bought George's baby beef saw the tears and ordered a reprieve for the doomed pet. He did more. He comforted the children by a promise that their animal should be shown at the International Stock show at Chicago and that they should be taken there to see it stand proudly among other champions of the cattle world of the United States. Why!—the day was all changed, and smiles broke through the clouds at once. What matter if the evil day bas been but postponed? If the baby beef must die, let it be later and let it be an honorable death, that it may serve its country in the form of a banquet for President Coolidge and his cabinet. The tears of childern, like the prayers of the righteous, often "avail much."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Thief River Falls will soon be known as the convention city of northwestern Minnesota. Not a bad reputation to have at that.

The Rock county Farm Bureau offers a reward of $50 for the arrest and conviction of chicken thieves in the county. Stealing chickens has become quite common in many of the farming communities of the state and it might be well at this time to repeal the old laws governing horse stealing and substitute therefor a law making it a gross misdemeanor to steal chickens. A good chicken is now worth almost as much as a horse and then there is something so contemptible about stealing chickens that we would really enjoy seeing a few chicken thieves treated as were the horse thieves of old.

THE COUNTRY DOCTOR.

We living in the city know but little concerning the country doctor. But the rural districts know him and appreciate his worth. If he told half he knows, most country communities would be in an immediate uproar. If he bad answered in the mud-spattered night-riding years only the calls for which pay was certain, the beat of stork wings in midnight sky would have more often than not become the cold, winnowing blast of the destroyer.

If he had rendered and collected bills for all the mumps, the bronchitis, the tonsilitis and the pneumonia he has cured he would be richer than many of his city brothers. But he has tempered the apologetic annual "dun" to the needs of the unpainted house by the side of the road. He has "taken it out" in turnips and wood and pork. He has served greatly in most instances happily and be has watched the children of stormy nights grow greatly, smiling at him now over the wheels of fast, sporty cars.

Sleet in his beard and dust in bis nostrils, he has evolved from the day of the rattling buggy to the day of the ratling flivver; still selet in his beard; still dust in his nostrils, the same old grumbling, cussing, soothing spirit of hope, standing in the doorway when souls pass and souls are born. Out there at the side of the darkened country road, everywhere in America, is the country doctor. God Bless him!—Los Angeles Times.

Fred Sherman says nothing is so unsatisfactory to a girl as to go joy riding with a one armed man, unless she does the driving herself.

Plans for the big Legion convention to be beld in Thief River Falls are already under way, but don't forget the Legion boys need the active help of every citizen in order to put the affair over according to plans and specifications. Everybody together, let's put our shoulders to the wheel.

One cannot read the account of the fraud trial at Sioux Falls, in which a number of slickers are accused of defrauding farmers and merchants of South Dakota and Iowa, without feeling that Barnum understated the facts when be said one was born every minute. And it is plain that the possession of money in large amounts does not remove people from the sucker class.

The following article written by Elmer Adams of Fergus Falls is worthy of consideration: "The English system of politics has some features which the United States ought to copy. England decided to have an election. It was called on October 5 and held on October 29, after an intensive campaign of three weeks. In ten days the government changed. Ten months ago candidates in this country began to file for office and the campaign has been dragging along ever since and the new administration will not come in for four months more. It is bad on business and an awful waste of time."

As usual Mike H[illegible] headed the state ticket. This has become a habit with Mike and we would not be at all surprised to see bim rewarded one of these days by having his name placed at the head of the state ticket.

ADVERTISING PAYS.

Advertising Pennington is something The Tribune doesn't do anything else but. Sometimes we get discouraged, but all in all it looks like the best game to play. Especially do we swell up a little when we receive a letter like the following from the editor of the Northwest Farmstead:

"I note an item in the November 5th issue of The Tribune indicating that Dr. Graham of Rochester is joining the procession in Pennington county in putting in alfalfa and sweet clover. You can certainly count on it Dr. Graham knows a good thing when he sees it. I am confident that his judgment, as well as that of the farmers of Pennington county, will be amply justified before another year rolls around."

Dr. O. F. Mellby has been selected as Pennington county chairman for the Knute Nelson Memorial drive now in effect in Minnesota. A memorial commission haa fixed November 17 to December 1 as the time within wluch the drive for funds is to he condocted.

According to Dr. Mellby the Pennington county quota is $240 and anyone who feels like giving something to tbe fund is requested to send sueb donations to Dr. Mellby at his office in Thief River Falls.

In his proclamation declaring a state-wide drive, Governor Preus has this to say:

"The boys and girls of any age, the citizens of the future, always receive inspiration from the study of tbe lives of great men and women wbo have preceded them. Whenever any man has risen from bumble circumstances, has served his country gloriously in the hour of emergency, and continued to serve it faithfully and conscientiously in times of peace, it is most fitting that his record be held np as an example for others to follow.

"Such a man was Knute Nelson. His hirtb was most humble, his youth was beset with hardships, yet he conquered all difficulties and rose to a position next to the highest in the land. At the age of 17 be responded to Lincolns' call for volunteers and rendered conspicuous service. As a member of the legislature, as county attorney, as state senator, as a member of congress, as governor of his state, and for nearly 8 years as a member of the United States senate, he gave his etate and country exceptionally valuable service. He was always modest, unselfish, gentle and kind, yet firm and unswerving once he had made up his mind what was right.

"A record of service and achievement so unusual and conspicuous should be preserved by a permanent memorial. It is proposed to erect a hronze statue of Senator Nelson upon the State Capitol grounds, and a replica thereof in the city which was his home. It is a tribute which we owe to his memory. But a memorial like this is more than a mere token of our love and respect for this soldier and atatesman. It will be a beacon light which will guide our young men and women in generations to come, into the paths of patriotic service and devotion to their country."

After a winter of storm and cold, sickness, death and famine and combat with hostile Indians, the survivors of the first terrible winter that the Pilgrim Fathers spent on the bleak shores of New England set about the business of laying the foundation of what is now the greatest nation of the earth.

They built and fortified their homes, they planted their crops and when, with the approach of another winter, they found themselves facing another winter with security and ample stores wrested from the earth, they joined together in rendering Thanksgiving to Divine Providence. Such was the foundation of the Day we celebrate as Thanksgiving.

We of Minnesota have special cause this year to celebrate in the spirit of the Pilgrim Fathers. This bank is thankful that the past year has given us many opportunities to work for and with those who come to us for banking service.

We are thankful that the future gives promise of many more similar opportunities.

May Thanksgiving Day find you and those dear to you blessed with true friends and many, many reasons for gratefulness!

A year ago the Red River Valley Dairymens' convention had 80 tubs of butter in the scroing contest, 60 of them being from the valley proper, while the other 20 came from various points in the state to make a good showing and to encourage the buttermakers of Northwestern Minnesota.

That results were accomplished was noticeable this year for there were 70 tubs sent in, only two of them being from outside the 17 counties in the association. They graded a little under last year, due perhaps to the quality of feed resultant from the difference in the season, but were of excellent quality, however.

Practically all of the tubs were donated to the association this year and when they were auctioned off by F. M. Brown of St. Paul they brought a good price. With New York extras quoted the previous day at 44 cents, bidding started at 30 cents, f. o. b. Thief River Falls, on the butter. The price advanced one cent at a time till it reached 35 cents, when it went up in half cent increases till it was sold at 37 cents to the Minnesota Co-operative Cerameries association of St. Paul.

The following resolutions presented by the committee on resolutions were adopted without change:

"Your committee on resolutions begs leave to submit the following:

"Resolved, That the Red River Valley Dairymen express their thanks to the business men and citizens of Thief River Falls for their hospitable treatment while in attendance at the 21st annual convention; we also express our hearty thanks to the State Dairymens' association for their financial and moral support, and to the commercial men for their advertising patronage and enthusiastic support;

Resolved, That we especially commend the creamery operators for their intense interest in the association as evidenced by their large attendance at this convention, and in behalf of this association we extend to them and their respective creamery boards the thanks of this association for the large volume of butter shown, and the generous donation of the same to this association.

Whereas, It has come to our knowledge that our esteemed fellow dairyman, and life member of this association, John Fosse of Fertile, is stricken down with illness and unable to attend this convention, a condition which we very much regret as it has been one of his most cherished ambitions to always meet with us and contribute his humble share towards making the convention successful for a number of years past, therefore,

"Be it Resolved, That we extend to our friend, John Fosse, our sincere sympathy in his affliction, and while we hope and trust that it may not prove as serious as now feared, we wish to assure him that we miss his presence at this convention, and hope that he may again recover his health and be able to be with us in the future, and

"Whereas, The importation of dairy products from foreign countries countries, where the cost of production and the standard of living are below American costs and standards, unduly depresses the domestic price, resulting in a too low and unstable domestic market for dairy products; therefore

"Be it Resolved, That we respectfully ask the Tariff Commission immediately recommend to the President of the United States that he raise the tariff on butter to 12 cents a pound, and that congress at an early date consider the question as to whether 12 cents is sufficient protection, to the end that proper legislation be enacted to afford full protection to our dairy interests; and,

"Be it Resolved, That the secretary transmit a copy of these resolutions to the President of the United States, to the chairman of the Tariff Commission, to each member of the newly appointed Agricultural Commission, to the chairman of the Senate and House Agricultural committees, to the members of the Minnesota delegation in congress, to the Secretary of Agriculture, to the Minnesota Farm Bureau, to the Minnesota Dairymen's association, and to the press, urging prompt and active work in behalf of this recommendation. And we recommend legislation embracing the principles of the McNary-Haugen export corporation bill, and urge its immediate adoption as fulfillment of the [illegible] that agriculture must be placed up[illegible] with industry and labor.

"Recognizing in the person of A. J. McGuire a lifelong friend of the dairy industry of Minnesota, whose untiring work and every effort is and and has always been for the express purpose of aiding the farmer's co-operatively owned creameries, we take this means of expressing our appreciation of whatever good work he may have accomplished for the Minnesota dairymen, particularly his share in raising the standard of Minnesota butter, and the finding of new markets for the same.

The citizens of our state, and particularly those affiliated with our dairy organizations are to be congratulated on a continuance in the highly important office of Dairy and Feed Commissioner, by the re-appointment of our present efficient commissioner, Mr. Christ Heen, and which we respectfully submit to the incoming state administration.

"WHEREAS, We believe that the progress of dairying in the future depends very largely upon proper education and training of the boys and girls, therefore,

"BE IT RESOLVED, That we pledge our moral and financial support to the advancement of the boys' and girls' club work.

"We wish especially to congratulate the progressive farmers and dairymen of the territory tributory to Thief River Falls for the splendid progress made in the growing of that most wonderful aid to successful agriculture—alfalfa.

"We also desire to congratulate the members of the Thief River Falls Co-operative creamery for the most substantial evidence of their spirit of co-operation as evidenced by their new and splendid creamery building nearing completion.—

"We desire to convey our thanks to ths officers of this association, and especially to its able secretary, Mr. Leonard Honske. We feel that the Red River Valley association has lived up to its old reputation, and carried on a most successful convention, in connection with which we also desire to give due credit to the able speakers who contributed toward its success, and to the loyalty, goodwill and assistance of the members of the Minnesota creamery operators and managers' association.

New Railroad to Be Started North of Here

most of the right of way from Loman to a point south of Baudette and including two townships in Lake of the Woods county. The balance will be purchased as rapidly as possible.

"The road will run on a straight line from Loman to Goodridge and will pass through four townships in Lake of the Woods county and then into Beltrami county on its way to Goodridge. While representatives of Mr. Backus have been purchasing the road, it is generally supposed that the road will eventually be controlled by the Soo, which owns the line from Goodridge to Thief River Falls.

"As near as can be learned, the road will enter Lake of the Woods county from Koochiching county near the north boundary of Township 117, Range 30. From there it will go through Township 31 (Kiel), then through Township 32 (Pioneer), then through Township 33 and possibly touch Township 34 before going into Beltrami county on its way to Goodridge. The route is subject to change but it is approximately the territory in which the road will pass through this county.

"What the new road will do in the way of benefits to Koochiching, Lake of the Woods and Beltrami counties is something that makes the heads of the homesteaders dizzy with joy. It will pass through an exceptionally fertile region, which however, owing to the long distance from market, has been undeveloped. The coming of [illegible] road w[illegible] opme[illegible] a ver[illegible] ers i[illegible] good [illegible] mer-chan[illegible] in many in-[illegible] [illegible]rthless because [illegible] a railroad. It [illegible] many homesteaders who [illegible] their places will return and [illegible] mean a big development that [illegible]ure to help the county as a whole and be a big thing for Baudette, the market place of the county.

"The sudden announcement of the building of the road is taken as an indication that the men behind it are endeavoring to beat the promoters of the road from Big Falls to Pine Island to the territory. The road to Pine Island was built this summer and it is a well known fact that its ultimate destination is Baudette. The building of the road from Loman to Goodridge will undoubtedly hasten the construction of the Pine Island road.

"Altogether the situation has taken on a very rosy hue, and the next few years will see a lot of railroad building and development in the district south of Baudette. It has already given the homesteaders new heart and will mean that the vast undeveloped empire south of Baudette will come into its own. It is an exceptionally easy country through which to build a railroad and it is estimated that a big crew could construct three-quarters of a mile a day.

"In Baudette there is great jubliation over the coming of the road. There is enough good land in the county to make this a village of more than two thousand if the land were developed, and the coming of the road will hasten that day.

"The men purchasing the right of way state that they were more than pleased with the co-operation of the homesteaders, who did not in a single case try to hold them up for a high price and who in most cases volunteered to give the land necessary for the road."

Still Rattling Along.

One lamp was gone entirely and the other was smashed and useless. The top was gone and the upholstering looked like a lot of last summer's sparrow nests. The radiator leaked and the tires were flat. Hay wire held down the rusty hood and the foot boards were missing. The engine wheezed and sputtered as it sank to rest. There was no license number in front.

What was left of the windshield was cracked and patched together and-down in one corner thereof where there was still a little open territory a campaign sticker still stuck. It screamed for LaFollette and Wheeler. —Fairmont Sentinel.

RUMBLE RETAINED AS EGG CO-OP'S COUNSEL

The law firm of Mitchel, Doherty, Rumble, Bunn & Butler of St. Paul [illegible]s been appointed general counsel [illegible] the Minnesota Co-operative Egg [illegible] Poultry Exchange. This announce[illegible]nt was made by A. A. McPheeters, [illegible]anager of the Exchange, in a communication to the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, immediately following the appointment by the executive board of the Exchange.

In view of the fact that it is already serving in the same capacity for the Central Livestock Commission association, the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association and the Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange, the appointment of this firm as the legal representative of the Egg Exchange will be welcomed by members of that organization.

Wilfrid E. Rumble, who has made a special study of co-operative law, will have personal charge of active legal work for the exchange. In the times of special need, also, the Exchange will have the additional advantage of the advice and help of such men as Messrs. Mitchell, Doherty, Bunn and Butler.

Mr. Rumble has for several years been recognized as the leading authority on co-operative law in the Northwest. As general counsel for other co-operative organizations he has become thoroughly familiar with conditions in Minnesota and neighboring states. His most notable recent achievement in the co-operative field was his successful handling for the Central Co-operative Commission association of the hearings in connection with the charges brought against it by livestock interests in the South St. Paul stockyards.

Lights For All Rigs.

A wrecked automobile and several people narrowly escaped injury! The driver explained after the accident south of the city that he swerved to avoid hitting a buggy that suddenly loomed up in the headlights of his car. The buggy carried a light but it at the side. There is no law requiring horse-drawn vehicles to carry lights at night. The buggy did more than comply with the law, but there should be a law to fix the proper location of lights on such vehicles, for the protection of both the automobile driver and the occupants of the horse-drawn vehicle.—Fairmont Sentinel.

BUY NOW OR PAY MORE.
THE BRAIN GROWS.
FLYING PULLMAN CARS.
MELLON WILL STAY.

Mr. and Mrs. Careful Citizen, go now and buy what you need without further delay. Prices are low, because merchants whose distribution of goods has been checked by abnormally warm weather in many big cities, have cut prices regardless of cost. But cold weather is coming. And, more important, the boom is here already. When prices go up on the stock exchange, you [illegible] that you will [illegible] prices going up in the stores also. Do your shopping early, and for the sake of your pocketbook this time, not merely for the sake of the overworked Christmas-time salesmen.

The human brain is capable of unlimited development and there is no such thing as overwork for a brain properly developed. Thinking with intense concentration makes the brain actually grow at any age. The latest proof is the increase of one-quarter of an inch in the size of Lloyd George's head since 1903.

A quarter of an inch makes a great difference when the space is filled with the right kind of brain matter.

Also, thinking changes and increases the size of the nose, develops the chin. We are what our thoughts make us.

Judge Soper in Baltimore decides that the "one-half of one per cent" clause in the Volstead Act doesn't apply to drinks made at home for home use. If that decision stands it will make a big hole in prohibition. Incidentally it will mean more prosperity for graveyards. Home-made beverages, as the doctors will testify, are the undertaker's best friends.

Fat men and men with hobbies that engross their thoughts are rarely thieves, says the head of a [illegible] from the [illegible] of [illegible] as the [illegible] says a good [illegible] the [illegible] of wives and [illegible]

Marriages, as compared with divorces, are falling off in the United States. The Census Bureau shows that in 1923 the number of divorces increased 12 per cent, the number of marriages only 8 per cent more than the previous year. That isn't good news.

Mr. Hungerford writes to this column, asking for a definition of the great "social problem" of the present day. The greatest problem is to make a real success of the average marriage.

The fault, of course, is with men. It will take several centuries, probably, to educate them up to the only kind of life worth while.

Big steamship companies think more rapidly than do our United States railroad companies. At least the big lines already are planning flying boats for carrying passengers across the Atlantic. If anything is to make their ships obsolete they want to own the thing that does it.

American railroads seem content to watch their stocks booming and boiling, without worrying about the fact that in twenty-five years passenger traffic will be cut down to short hauls. Fast trains across the continent or only half way across will be only a memory.

George F. Baker, boss of several roads, and young in spite of his eighty odd years, should set the young men an example. Mr. Carry, head of the Pullman Company has long been at work on plans for light, but strong "flying Pullman cars."

News from Washington that Secretary Mellon will consent to remain in charge of the Treasury is good news. The management of United States finances, including the paying of billions of debt rolled up so swiftly, takes real financial and business ability.

Mr. Mellon has both. The people will be fortunate if he continues working for them for nothing, neglecting a profitable business of his own.

Youth and beauty go forward in Germany more rapidly than here. The German newspapers discuss this question: "Should modern bob-haired women tip their hats to each other?"

Another subject discussed is this: "Is smoking pipes ladylike?"

Poem by Uncle John

Uncle Billy Spriggs is an old-time wreck, but there ain't no kinks in his soul, by heck! He's everybody's friend in the whole blame town, with a ticklin' in his system that he can't keep down.

The moon shines brighter when the old man grins,—though his head's plumb bald—an' his ears ain't twins—he's a little hard o' hearin' an' his teeth don't fit, but he dotes on humor, and he thrives on wit!

His leg went bum when he had that stroke—an' his chest hurts some where his ribs got broke. He smashed his jaw when he fell down stairs—but, you oughta see the smile that old Bill wears!

Of course there's reasons for a good scout's mirth—his heart's in heaven, though his feet's on earth.—he takes this paper to his soul's delight.—O, it's no use talkin'—Uncle Bill's all right!

Lone Shot Kills 8 Partridges.

F. Smithers of Mirror, while hunting in company with some friends suddenly surprised a flock of Hungarian partridges, totaling 11 birds. He overcame his surprise soon enough to get in a single shot. He was astonished to see the birds fall in a cloud and found that the one shot had laid low eight birds.

Council Grants Lincoln Free Use of Auditorium

The meeting last night of the city council was another short one, adjournment taking place at half past nine after transacting only routine business. Alderman T. A. Fossum was the only one not answering roll call.

The free use of the auditorium was granted to the high school basket ball team for ten games during the winter, together with such nights as might be necessary for practice work, provided the practicing will not interfere with any other use that might be made of the auditorium such as for dances, plays, etc. The auditorium will also be used without charge for the alfalfa show to be held December 11th.

A milk dealer's license was granted to Jens Kierk, following approval of the same by the dairy inspector, Dr. L. R. Twete. Mr. Kierk has a herd of 20 cows and intends to supply milk in the city.

The meeting adjourned until December 9 following the allowance of bills.

Sugar Plant Busy.

The plant of the Minnesota Sugar company at Chaska is cutting 1,000 tons of beets a day, working to full capacity. The plant will run at least 110 days and it is thought that the total beets cut may go above 125,000 tons.

State Commander Expected.

Edwin J. Lindell, state commander of the American Legion, and Mrs. Milton Spencer of Winona, state president of the Women's Auxiliary, are expected to be in the city a week from Friday, December 5, for the purpose of assisting the local post in making plans for the 1925 convention.

A year ago the Red River Valley Dairymens' convention had 80 tubs of butter in the scoring contest, 60 of them being from the valley proper, while the other 20 came from various points in the state to make a good showing and to encourage the buttermakers of Northwestern Minnesota.

That results were accomplished was noticeable this year for there were 70 tubs sent in, only two of them being from outside the 17 counties in the association. They graded a little under last year, due perhaps to the quality of feed resultant from the difference in the season, but were of excellent quality, however.

Practically all of the tubs were donated to the association this year and when they were auctioned off by F. M. Brown of St. Paul they brought a good price. With New York extras quoted the previous day at 44 cents, bidding started at 30 cents, f. o. b. Thief River Falls, on the butter. The price advanced one cent at a time till it reached 35 cents, when it went up in half cent increases till it was sold at 37 cents to the Minnesota Co-operative Cerameries association of St. Paul.

The following resolutions presented by the committee on resolutions were adopted without change:

"Your committee on resolutions begs leave to submit the following:

"Resolved, That the Red River Valley Dairymen express their thanks to the business men and citizens of Thief River Falls for their hospitable treatment while in attendance at the 21st annual convention; we also express our hearty thanks to the State Dairymens' association for their financial and moral support, and to the commercial men for their advertising patronage and enthusiastic support;

Resolved, That we especially commend the creamery operators for their intense interest in the association as evidenced by their large attendance at this convention, and in behalf of this association we extend to them and their respective creamery boards the thanks of this association for the large volume of butter shown, and the generous donation of the same to this association.

Whereas, It has come to our knowledge that our esteemed fellow dairyman, and life member of this association, John Fosse of Fertile, is stricken down with illness and unable to attend this convention, a condition which we very much regret as it has been one of his most cherished ambitions to always meet with us and contribute his humble share towards making the convention successful for a number of years past, therefore,

"Be it Resolved, That we extend to our friend, John Fosse, our sincere sympathy in his affliction, and while we hope and trust that it may not prove as serious as now feared, we wish to assure him that we miss his presence at this convention, and hope that he may again recover his health and be able to be with us in the future, and

"Whereas, The importation of dairy products from foreign countries, countries, where the cost of production and the standard of living are below American costs and standards, unduly depresses the domestic price, resulting in a too low and unstable domestic market for dairy products; therefore

"Be it Resolved, That we respectfully ask the Tariff Commission immediately recommend to the President of the United States that he raise the tariff on butter to 12 cents a pound, and that congress at an early date consider the question as to whether 12 cents is sufficient protection, to the end that proper legislation be enacted to afford full protection to our dairy interests; and,

"Be it Resolved, That the secretary transmit a copy of these resolutions to the President of the United States, to the chairman of the Tariff Commission, to each member of the newly appointed Agricultural Commission, to the chairmen of the Senate and House Agricultural committees, to the members of the Minnesota delegation in congress, to the Secretary of Agriculture, to the Minnesota Farm Bureau, to the Minnesota Dairymen's association, and to the press, urging prompt and active work in behalf of this recommendation. And we recommend legislation embracing the principles of the McNary-Haugen export corporation bill, and urge its immediate adoption as fulfillment of the pledge that agriculture must be placed upon an equality with industry and labor.

"Recognizing in the person of A. J. McGuire a lifelong friend of the dairy industry of Minnesota, whose untiring work and every effort is and and has always been for the express purpose of aiding the farmer's co-operatively owned creameries, we take this means of expressing our appreciation of whatever good work he may have accomplished for the Minnesota dairymen, particularly his share in raising the standard of Minnesota butter, and the finding of new markets for the same.

The citizens of our state, and particularly those affiliated with our dairy organizations are to be congratulated on a continuance in the highly important office of Dairy and Feed Commissioner, by the re-appointment of our present efficient commissioner. Mr. Christ Heen, and which we respectfully submit to the incoming state administration.

"WHEREAS, We believe that the progress of dairying in the future depends very largely upon proper education and training of the boys and girls, therefore,

"BE IT RESOLVED, That we pledge our moral and financial support to the advancement of the boys' and girls' club work.

"We wish especially to congratulate the progressive farmers and dairymen of the territory tributory to Thief River Falls for the splendid progress made in the growing of that most wonderful aid to successful agriculture—alfalfa.

"We also desire to congratulate the members of the Thief River Falls Co-operative creamery for the most substantial evidence of their spirit of co-operation as evidenced by their new and splendid creamery building nearing completion.

"We desire to convey our thanks to the officers of this association, and especially to its able secretary, Mr. Leonard Houske. We feel that the Red River Valley association has lived up to its old reputation, and carried on a most successful convention, in connection with which we also desire to give due credit to the able speakers who contributed toward its success, and to the loyalty, goodwill and assistance of the members of the Minnesota creamery operators and managers' association.

most of the right of way from Loman to a point south of Baudette and including two townships in Lake of the Woods county. The balance will be purchased as rapidly as possible.

"The road will run on a straight line from Loman to Goodridge and will pass through four townships in Lake of the Woods county and then into Beltrami county on its way to Goodridge. While representatives of Mr. Backus have been purchasing the road, it is generally supposed that the road will eventually be controlled by the Soo, which owns the line from Goodridge to Thief River Falls.

"As near as can be learned, the road will enter Lake of the Woods county from Koochiching county near the north boundary of Township 117, Range 30. From there it will go through Township 31 (Kiel), then through Township 32 (Pioneer), then through Township 38 and possibly touch Township 34 before going into Beltrami county on its way to Goodridge. The route is subject to change but it is approximately the territory in which the road will pass through this county.

"What the new road will do in the way of benefits to Koochiching, Lake of the Woods and Beltrami counties is something that makes the heads of the homesteaders dizzy with joy. "The sudden announcement of the building of the road is taken as an indication that the men behind it are endeavoring to beat the promoters of the road from Big Falls to Pine Island to the territory. The road to Pine Island was built this summer and it is a well known fact that its ultimate destination is Baudette. The building of the road from Loman to Goodridge will undoubtedly hasten the construction of the Pine Island road.

"Altogether the situation has taken on a very rosy hue, and the next few years will see a lot of railroad building and development in the district south of Baudette. It has already given the homesteaders new heart and will mean that the vast undeveloped empire south of Baudette will come into its own. It is an exceptionally easy country through which to build a railroad and it is estimated that a big crew could construct three-quarters of a mile a day.

"In Baudette there is great jubilation over the coming of the road. There is enough good land in the county to make this a village of more than two thousand if the land were developed, and the coming of the road will hasten that day.

"The men purchasing the right of way state that they were more than pleased with the co-operation of the homesteaders, who did not in a single case try to hold them up for a high price and who in most cases volunteered to give the land necessary for the road."

Still Rattling Along.

One lamp was gone entirely and the other was smashed and useless. The top was gone and the upholstering looked like a lot of last summer's sparrow nests. The radiator leaked and the tires were flat. Hay wire held down the rusty hood and the foot boards were missing. The engine wheezed and sputtered as it sank to rest. There was no license number in front.

What was left of the windshield was cracked and patched together and down in one corner thereof where there was still a little open territory a campaign sticker still stuck. It screamed for LaFollette and Wheeler. —Fairmont Sentinel.

RUMBLE RETAINED AS EGG CO-OP'S COUNSEL

The law firm of Mitchel, Doherty, Rumble, Bunn & Butler of St. Paul has been appointed general counsel [illegible] the Minnesota Co-operative Egg [illegible] Poultry Exchange. This announcement was made by A. A. McPheeters, manager of the Exchange, in a communication to the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, immediately following the appointment by the executive board of the Exchange.

In view of the fact that it is already serving in the same capacity for the Central Livestock Commission association, the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association and the Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange, the appointment of this firm as the legal representative of the Egg Exchange will be welcomed by members of that organization.

Wilfrid E. Rumble, who has made a special study of co-operative law, will have personal charge of active legal work for the exchange. In the times of special need, also, the Exchange will have the additional advantage of the advice and help of such men as Messrs. Mitchell, Doherty, Bunn and Butler.

Mr. Rumble has for several years been recognized as the leading authority on co-operative law in the Northwest. As general counsel for other co-operative organizations he has become thoroughly familiar with conditions in Minnesota and neighboring states. His most notable recent achievement in the co-operative field was his successful handling for the Central Co-operative Commission association of the hearings in connection with the charges brought against it by livestock interests in the South St. Paul stockyards.

Lights For All Rigs.

A wrecked automobile and several people narrowly escaped injury! The driver explained after the accident south of the city that he swerved to avoid hitting a buggy that suddenly loomed up in the headlights of his car. The buggy carried a light but it at the side. There is no law requiring horse-drawn vehicles to carry lights at night. The buggy did more than comply with the law, but there should be a law to fix the proper location of lights on such vehicles, for the protection of both the automobile driver and the occupants of the horse-drawn vehicle.—Fairmont Sentinel.

THE BRAIN GROWS.
FLYING PULLMAN CARS.
MELLON WILL STAY.

Mr. and Mrs. Careful Citizen, go now and buy what you need without further delay. Prices are low, because merchants whose distribution of goods has been checked by abnormally warm weather in many big cities, have cut prices regardless of cost. But cold weather is coming. And, more important, the boom is here already. When prices go up on the stock exchange, you know that you will soon see prices going up in the stores also. Do your shopping early, and for the sake of your pocketbook this time, not merely for the sake of the overworked Christmas-time salesmen.

The human brain is capable of unlimited development and there is no such thing as overwork for a brain properly developed. Thinking with intense concentration makes the brain actually grow at any age. The latest proof is the increase of one-quarter of an inch in the size of Lloyd George's head since 1903.

A quarter of an inch makes a great difference when the space is filled with the right kind of brain matter.

Also, thinking changes and increases the size of the nose, develops the chin. We are what our thoughts make us.

Judge Soper in Baltimore decides that the "one-half of one per cent" clause in the Volstead Act doesn't apply to drinks made at home for home use. If that decision stands it will make a big hole in prohibition. Incidentally it will mean more prosperity for graveyards. Home-made beverages, as the doctors will testify, are the undertaker's best friends.

Marriages, as compared with divorces, are falling off in the United States. The Census Bureau shows that in 1923 the number of divorces increased 12 per cent, the number of marriages only 8 per cent more than the previous year. That isn't good news.

Mr. Hungerford writes to this column asking for a definition of the great "social problem" of the present day. The greatest problem is to make a real success of the average marriage.

The fault, of course, is with men. It will take several centuries, probably, to educate them up to the only kind of life worth while.

Big steamship companies think more rapidly than do our United States railroad companies. At least the big lines already are planning flying boats for carrying passengers across the Atlantic. If anything is to make their ships obsolete they want to own the thing that does it.

American railroads seem content to watch their stocks booming and boiling, without worrying about the fact that in twenty-five years passenger traffic will be cut down to short hauls. Fast trains across the continent or only half way across will be only a memory.

George F. Baker, boss of several roads, and young in spite of his eighty odd years, should set the young men an example. Mr. Carry, head of the Pullman Company has long been at work on plans for light, but strong "flying Pullman cars."

News from Washington that Secretary Mellon will consent to remain in charge of the Treasury is good news. The management of United States finances, including the paying of billions of debt rolled up so swiftly, takes real financial and business ability.

Mr. Mellon has both. The people will be fortunate if he continues working for them for nothing, neglecting a profitable business of his own.

Youth and beauty go forward in Germany more rapidly than here. The German newspapers discuss this question: "Should modern bob-haired women tip their hats to each other?"

Another subject discussed is this: "Is smoking pipes ladylike?"

Poem by Uncle John

Uncle Billy Spriggs is an old-time wreck, but there ain't no kinks in his soul, by heck! He's everybody's friend in the whole blame town, with a ticklin' in his system that he can't keep down.

The moon shines brighter when the old man grins,—though his head's plumb bald—an' his ears ain't twins—he's a little hard o' hearin' an' his teeth don't fit, but he dotes on humor, and he thrives on wit!

His leg went bum when he had that stroke—an' his chest hurts some where his ribs got broke. He smashed his jaw when he fell down stairs—but, you oughta see the smile that old Bill wears!

Lone Shot Kills 8 Partridges.

F. Smithers of Mirror, while hunting in company with some friends suddenly surprised a flock of Hungarian partridges, totaling 11 birds. He overcame his surprise soon enough to get in a single shot. He was astonished to see the birds fall in a cloud and found that the one shot had laid low eight birds.

Council Grants Lincoln Free Use of Auditorium

The meeting last night of the city council was another short one, adjournment taking place at half past nine after transacting only routine business. Alderman T. A. Fossum was the only one not answering roll call.

The free use of the auditorium was granted to the high school basket ball team for ten games during the winter, together with such nights as might be necessary for practice work, provided the practicing will not interfere with any other use that might be made of the auditorium such as for dances, plays, etc. The auditorium will also be used without charge for the alfalfa show to be held December 11th.

A milk dealer's license was granted to Jens Kierk, following approval of the same by the dairy inspector, Dr. L. R. Twete. Mr. Kierk has a herd of 20 cows and intends to supply milk in the city.

The meeting adjourned until December 9 following the allowance of bills.

Sugar Plant Busy.

The plant of the Minnesota Sugar company at Chaska is cutting 1,000 tons of beets a day, working to full capacity. The plant will run at least 110 days and it is thought that the total beets cut may go above 125,000 tons.

State Commander Expected.

Edwin J. Lindell, state commander of the American Legion, and Mrs. Milton Spencer of Winona, state president of the Women's Auxiliary, are expected to be in the city a week from Friday, December 5, for the purpose of assisting the local post in making plans for the 1925 convention.

American railroads seem content to watch their stocks booming and boiling without worrying about the fact that in twenty-five years passenger traffic will be cut down to short hauls. Fast trains across the continent or only half way across will be only a memory.

News from Washington that Secretary Mellon will consent to remain in charge of the Treasury is good news. The management of United States finances, including the paying of billions of debt rolled up so swiftly, takes real financial and business ability.

Mr. Mellon has both. The people will be fortunate if he continues working for them for nothing, neglecting a profitable business of his own.

RUMBLE RETAINED AS EGG CO-OP'S COUNSEL

The law firm of Mitchel, Doherty Rumble, Bunn & Butler of St. Paul has been appointed general counsel of the Minnesota Co-operative Egg and Poultry Exchange. This announcement was made by A. A. McPheeters, manager of the Exchange, in a communication to the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation immediately following the appointment by the executive board of the Exchange.

In view of the fact that it is already serving in the same capacity for the Central Livestock Commission association, the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association and the Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange, the appointment of this firm [illegible] legal representative [illegible] change will be welcomed by [illegible]

Wilfrid E. Rumble, who has made a special study of co-operative law, will have personal charge of active legal work for the exchange. In the times of special need, also, the Exchange will have the additional advantage of the advice and help of such [illegible] as Messrs. Mitchell, Doherty, [illegible] and Butler.

Mr. Rumble has for several years been recognized as the leading authority on co-operative law in the Northwest. As general counsel for [illegible] co-operative organizations he [illegible] become thoroughly familiar with conditions in Minnesota and neighboring states. One lamp was gone entirely and the other was smashed and useless. The top was gone and the upholstering looked like a lot of last summer's sparrow nests. The radiator leaked and the tires were flat. Hay wire held down the rusty hood and the foot boards were missing. The engine wheezed and sputtered as it sank to rest. There was no license number in front.

What was left of the windshield was cracked and patched together and down in one corner thereof where there was still a little open territory a campaign sticker still stuck. It screamed for LaFollette and Wheeler. —Fairmont Sentinel.

Lights For All Rigs.

A wrecked automobile and several people narrowly escaped injury. The driver explained after the accident south of the city that he swerved to avoid hitting a buggy that suddenly loomed up in the headlights of his car. The buggy carried a light but it at the side. There is no law requiring horse-drawn vehicles to carry lights at night. The buggy did more than comply with the law, but there should be a law to fix the proper location of lights on such vehicles, for the protection of both the automobile driver and the occupants of the horse-drawn vehicle.—Fairmont Sentinel.

Spending Charity's Millions 10,000 Miles Away From Home Is Task Of Finance Wizard

EDWARD C. MILLER

HANDLING collections and making disbursements which last year exceeded $8,000,000 at a hundred scattered points, some of them ten thousand miles apart, in such a fashion that there can be no waste or loss, is the task that faces Edward C. Miller, Comptroller of the Near East Relief, one of America's largest purely philanthropic enterprises.

The size of the job and its numerous difficulties is illustrated by the fact that money and supplies frequently must be transported from places as far distant as Los Angeles, California, to Tabriz in Persia, with large sections of the intervening regions infested with bandits.

Despite the hazard of brigandage only one large loss has been sustained in the transfer in recent years. Bandits in 1922 held up the American Director General in Armenia and made a haul of $25,000. Practically all of this was later recovered and the bandits executed by the Armenian Government.

"We are required to keep a careful watch over our funds and to account for every cent to the United States Congress, under whose charter we operate," declares Mr. Miller.

"Auditors from New York Headquarters are constantly going over the books of collection offices throughout the country. A firm of certified public accountants inspect our books at National Headquarters regularly. Abroad the situation is more difficult because of the distances and transportation problems involved. But the accounts of each orphanage and outlying stations are audited at least once each year by accountants from a British firm in Egypt.

"Aside from insuring that all funds entrusted to our care by the American public for relief work are spent properly, our greatest responsibility is to see that they are spent economically. Charity and philanthropy to be efficient must be run in a business-like manner. And they must be run on a lower overhead cost than business, because no profits are made to balance expenditures.

"It is truly remarkable what American business efficiency has accomplished in this connection. Last year I visited every relief station overseas, some of them miles from the beaten track of trade and tourist travel. Yet orders that had been issued from headquarters in New York were being as effectively and as intelligently carried out as they could have been were they located in Brooklyn or Jersey City. Every cent contributed for the orphans went to the orphans.

"In this connection the following report of Russell and Company, chartered accountants of Cairo, is interesting:

"'We maintain a running audit of the books and accounts of the foreign offices of Near East Relief, and we have found the operations to be correctly stated and sufficiently vouched in accordance with the explanations given to us and as shown by the books, and the funds to have been administered in accordance with the financial advices received from New York. Further, the funds appear to us to have been administered efficiently and economically.'"

REPORT SPUDS STORED TO CO-OP. BY DEC. 1st

Exchange Asks All Growers to Send in Blanks So Pool May Be Completed.

Members of the Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange are urged by Frank, Kennedy, president, to report at once on the number of potatoes they have in storage. These reports must be at the state office, 369 Robert street, St. Paul, by December 1; or earlier if possible.

Blanks for this purpose were forwarded to the membership October 30. Up to November 15 less than 2,500 of the association's 13,650 members had sent in reports. All who have not filled in and mailed these blanks are urged to do so at once. The forthcoming issue of the Exchange's house organ will contain a blank which can be used by those who have lost the original reports.

"These blanks are very important." said President Kiene. "We need them, first because we must know the number of bushels we will have to handle during the season. They are necessary, in the second place, so that we can arrange accounts for the payment of our first installment.

"We want every member who has more potatoes than he needs for home use and seed to report, whether the amount on hand is large or small. On all these potatoes the regular allowance for handling, storage and shrink will be given. Lots of more than 600 bushels will be inspected and become a part of the state pool. Lots of less than 600 bushels will not be inspected but will share in the storage, handling and shrink allowances.

"Our books on home storage will be closed December 1, and we hope that every member will have his report on file by that time, earlier if possible."

Members who have less than 600 bushels are asked to make delivery as quickly as possible, so they will be available for quick shipments as the markets show strength during the winter and spring.

Small Boys Know Better.

In some parts of the country along the state highway that had its course marked in good shape in every particular, the small signs were torn down or changed in such a way as to make them read incorrectly and misguide strangers. Work of this kind was never done by the small boy who is usually given credit for enacting all of the deviltry that is done on Hallowe'en.—Goodhue Enterprise.

MILWAUKEE CONCERN BUYS CO-OP. BUTTER

The Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association has entered into an agreement with the Gridley Dairy company of Milwaukee, one of the largest butter manufacturing concerns in Wisconsin, whereby the association will supply that company with all the sweet cream butter it needs in the future. For the present this will amount to a carload a week.

The Gridley company is a pioneer in the manufacture of sweet cream butter. Recently it has not been able to get a sufficient supply of sweet cream to care for the needs of its customers.

Officials of the Creameries association were particularly elated over this order, not only because it proves to them that the associations' product is becoming well known but also because the shipping of butter to markets as near as Milwaukee saves considerable expense in freight.

C. E. Lee, manufacturing expert for the Gridley company, who conducted the negotiations with the Creameries association, expressed unusual satisfaction over the consummation of the deal. "Yours is the best butter I have been able to find anywhere," said Mr. Lee to H. F. Meyer, manager of the butter sales department of the association. "We could not get fifty tubs of such butter in the state of Wisconsin.

DAIRY COW POPULATION IN PENNINGTON COUNTY GROWS

Pennington county's dairy cow population is increasing, according to figures coming from reliable authority. The statement covers an area embracing approximately one-eighth of the state in this section, and is believed to hold true for the county proper.

A 1.7 per cent gain in the number of dairy cows two years old and over is noted for the district over the preceding year, while the increase for the state as a whole was 6.8 per cent as compared with 1923. The entire United States shows an increase of 6 per cent, government figures show.

The number of heifers 1 to 2 years old as compared to the total number of cows in this district seem to be above the average, indicating the intention to bring more young stock into milk in the near future.

In citing these figures attention is called to the fact that the United States needs 320,000 more cows every year if production is to keep step with the normal growth in the demand for dairy products. There are 1,412,000 more mouths to be fed in the United States with every passing year and with the increased consumption of dairy products per capita, this added number to the nations' herd will barely suffice to meet the increased demand.

EGG CO-OP. BUSINESS REACHES HIGH FIGURE

A recent report of the Minnesota Co-operative Egg and Poultry Exchange, which began business in St. Paul July 12, 1924, shows that up to October 31, the organization handled 47 carloads or 706,499 pounds of live poultry, and 51 carloads or 18,417 cases of eggs. The poultry handled represents a value of $129,763.70 and the eggs $201,462.96. The total value for both eggs and poultry is $331,216.66.

These figures are all the more impressive when it is understood that of the 12 district associations now shipping to the Exchange only six were shipping in any quantity up to October 15.

"We expect to handle six or seven cars of turkeys for the Thanksgiving trade," said W. A. Rogers, sales manager for the Egg Exchange, to a representative of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation. "There is a smaller supply of turkeys this year than there was at the same period last year despite some reports to the contrary. However, we are advising our members to hold back all turkeys which are not mature, for the Christmas trade. Immature birds make a poor impression on the consuming public. There is every indication that we shall handle between 20 and 25 cars of turkeys or more for the Christmas trade."

If travel doesn't broaden one in other particulars at least it broadens the feet.

Bull Advises Feeders to Clean Screenings

In a communication to the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, C. P. Bull, state weed inspector, warns against the danger of spreading weed seeds through the feeding of screenings which are being shipped into the state by the carload at the present time, and advises the feeders to grind the screenings before using them or at least to clean the feeding yards next spring and summer.

Most of these screenings are fed to sheep. They contain all kinds of weed seeds. Some of these seeds are of the worst perennials and hard to kill. Others are annuals and will be more than troublesome if allowed to gain a foothold.

"Obviously, it will be the height of folly to haul the weed-infested manure to the fields and thereby scatter the weed seeds over large areas," said Mr. Bull. "Prickly nightshade, Russian thistle, quack grass and others of the noxious weeds are hard to eradicate once they get a start. In any event they can only be destroyed after a considerable expenditure of time, labor and money. By examining the screenings before they are bought and fed and rejecting those with weed seeds in them, feeders may avoid a lot of trouble and expense. If screenings are fed it would be a stroke of economy to have them ground and thus destroy the germinating power of the weed seeds contained in them."

Beware at Side Roads.

An Arlington physician had just left a farm home where he had made a professional call and shot his car up onto the main road when, whiz, bang! another car smashed into the doctor's car broadside. When the doctor got out from under the wreckage there was nothing left of his coupe, and the sedan that did the damage had its front end stove in. Stop, watch and listen when driving onto a main road.—Belle Plain Herald.

Mark Twains' War Prayer.

George W. Miner in the Springfield Republican: The following war prayer was written by Mark Twain, who said of it: "I have told the whole truth and only dead men can tell the whole truth in this world. It can be published after I am dead." The publication of it was withheld until after his death. Here is the prayer:

"O Lord our God, help us to tear the soldiers to bloody shreds with our shells; help us to cover their smiling fields with the pale forms of their patriot dead; help us to drown the thunder of the guns with the cries of the wounded writhing in pain; help us to lay waste their humble homes with a hurricane of fire; help us to wring the hearts of their unoffending widows with unavailing grief; help us to turn them out roofless, with their little children to wander unfriended through wastes of their desolated lands in rags and hunger and thirst, sport in the sun flames of summer and the icy winds of winter, broken in spirit, worn with travail, imploring Thee for the refuge of the grave and denied it. For our sakes, who adore Thee, Lord, blast their hopes, blight their lives, protract their bitter pilgrimage, make heavy their steps, water their way with their tears, stain the white snow with the blood of their wounded feet! We ask of One who is the spirit of love and who is the everfaithful friend of all that we are sore beset and seek His aid with humble and contrite hearts. Grant our prayer, O Lord, and Thine shall be the praise and honor and glory, now and ever. Amen."

This prayer is respectfully commended to all those who are supporting the efforts that are being made to get ready for "the next war."

The Wages of Sin.

"The wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." (Rom. 6, 23.) This, with Rom. 2, 6-7, should be enough to convince any sane person who believes in the Bible that the wages of sin is not eternal torment. No one could suffer forever unless he had eternal life, which will not be forced on anybody but will be given only to those who seek for it, but dozens of other texts can be given to prove that eternal torment is not sin's punishment. No such expression as "immortal soul" is found in the Bible, but 1 Tim. 6, 13-16 says that only God hath immortality. Jesus was GIVEN immortality at his resurrection (John 5, 26) and the elect will get immortality at their resurrection. (2 Peter 1, 4.) There is no word in the Hebrew and Greek Bible that means a place of eternal torment. "Hell" was used in England long before there was any Bible there but it did not mean a place of torment. The Bible in its original languages does not in any place state that human beings shall suffer everlasting torment. What about Rev. 14, 9-11? says the clergy. It does not say that anyone will be tormented forever but that the SMOKE will ascend forever. Let us change the symbols into plain language. The "smoke" is the remembrance the saved (who are the only ones who will live forever. Ps. 37, 18, 20, 27-29, 38) will have of the torment of those who worship the "beast" and its image. Rev. 19, 20 shows that these are destroyed, and, of course, they will not be worshipped after they are destroyed, so the torment lasts only as long as these systems last. The "beast" is the Catholic church and its image is the Protestant churches (which also are called the false prophet) and the worshippers of these man-made organizations will be tormented by articles like this and other Scripture citations until they (the organizations, not members) are destroyed. The Word of God is the sword that shall destroy these systems which together are called "Babylon." (Rev. 18; Rev. 19, 13-15; 2 Cor. 10, 3-4.) When reading Rev. 14, 10 notice that it is not in a churchianity-hell but in the PRESENCE of the Lamb (Jesus) and the holy angels (messengers, including the 144,000 elect) the worshippers of the beast and its image are tormented. "Blessed are the dead (dead in Christ—the elect, 1 Tes. 4, 16) who die in the Lord FROM HENCEFORTH." These are they who shall not sleep (be dead for a while) but shall be changed in a moment from mortal, earthly beings to immortal spiritual beings so that they can work without becoming tired. (1 Tes. 4, 16-17; Rev. 14, 13.)

"What about the Rich Man and Lazarus?" is the next question. Rev. Kreidt said that we should let the Bible interpret itself by letting plain passages explain parables and symbols, so we will use that method. The rich man was in "hades," it says. "Hades" is the Greek for the Hebrew "sheol" and Ec. 9, 10 says: "There is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in sheol the grave.) If "sheol" and "hades" mean "grave" in one place they mean grave in another also, but "sheol" and "hades" should be translated "state of death" instead of "hell," "grave" and "pit," as the Hebrew for grave is "qebar." As (in other words) there is nothing doing in hell (Ps. 115, 17) we must not interpret this parable literally and they say that a dead man was in torment, because that would make the Bible contradict itself. Then, what does it mean? The Jews (in the year 70) became dead as a NATION but individual Jews have lived and suffered, and Lazarus (the heathens) died AS HEATHENS and came in "Abraham's bosom" (See Gal. 3, 29) when they became Christ's. But Mat. 25, 46 mentions "everlasting punishment." Certainly the punishment (Rom. 6, 23) lasts forever for those who die the second time, as they will be dead forever after. The reward is life and the punishment is the opposite of life—death or "shutting off" as the Greek word translated punishment means.

Another text Mr. Kreidt quoted in his attempt to prove that the everlasting torment dogma is Scriptural, was Dan. 12, 2. This does not say that the shame will be everlasting but the contempt will be, because those who have contempt for those who PERISH in the second death, will live forever, while those who die can only be ashamed of themselves as long as they live. Those who pretend to teach Bible religion and do not see that the meaning of this text is as explained above, should be ashamed of themselves, but if they see it and try to deceive their audience, I have contempt for them.

If anyone has any more arguments in favor of everlasting torment, let me have them and I shall answer them.

For mouths Pat, who lived in the oil country, had been drilling unsuccessfully in his back yard. One day his friends were astonished to see him rush from his door, cheering loudly.

"Good Lord! You haven't struck oil at last, have you?"

Warren Farmers Return Carload of Poor Sheep

A carload of sheep, containing about 230 head, sent to Warren about two weeks ago by the Agricultural credit corporation, was returned to Fargo, N. D., last week after S. F. Crabbe, a representative of the corporation, had examined the shipment. The corporation will make adjustments with the original owners of the sheep.

The carload, which was intended for four farmers in the Warren community, contained a large number of sheep which were from three to eight years old, according to experienced sheep men here and the farmes refused to accept the shipment.

A. D. Collette, agricultural instructor of the Warren high school and secretary of the Warren committee of the Agricultural Credit corporation, got in touch with headquarters of the corporation and was asked to care for the sheep until an adjustment was reached. The sheep were to have cost $11.10 a head laid down in Warren and a cash offer of $4 a head was wired in response to an appeal by the corporation for bids.

Officials of the Agricultural Credit corporation said that the sheep had been purchased in Mott, N. D., on the recommendation of a Mott banker and a representative of the North Dakota Agricultural college at Fargo, after the corporation had been unable to procure any more Montana sheep.

Nov. 20 is the closing date for any sheep to be sent out by the corporation, hence the Warren farmers will not get any sheep. Ed. Sommers and son of Radium, Frank Truhn of Warren, E. O. Styrlund of Viking and Ed. E. Sloan of Radium were the farmers who were to have bought the sheep.—Warren Sheaf.

COUNCIL PASSES GRIST OF BILLS

Auditorium Granted to the Trinity Church For Annual Xmas Program.

The city council at its adjourned meeting last Friday night transacted its business with considerable dispatch, there being only two absentees, Aldermen Oscar Rumbeck and T. A. Fossum. Adjournment was taken at 9 o'clock after a half hour session.

The principal matter up for discussion and disposal was the necessary step to take in connection with protection of the city's $9,000 balance in the Citizens State bank. The city attorney advised the council to execute and file with the state banking department a proof of claim claim therein, such action to be taken by the city clerk and treasurer. However, he stated, this would not release the bondsmen from their liability in the matter, and the council then instructed the city attorney to arrange with the bondsmen for a date on which there could be a united meeting of both parties to the end that a settlement of the affair could be secured without undue delay.

The council also granted the use of the auditorium on Christmas night to the Trinity Lutheran church for its annual Christmas exercises for the Sunday school.

Due to the Friday night meeting being the first one at which bills were presentd the list was larger than usual, but it was allowed after careful scrutiny.

The appointment of Mrs. O. F. Mellby as a member of the library board by the mayor to succeed Mrs. E. O. Mogensen, resigned, was received and ordered filed.

The street commissioner's assessment roll showing costs for snow shoveling last winter and cutting of weeds this summer for about $200 was accepted and the clerk was authorized to take necessary steps to collect the same from the benefitted the real estate.

MANY THRILLS IN REX BEACH FILM

"Flowing Gold," First National Picture, Offers High Class Entertainment.

"Flowing Gold," the First National picture produced by Richard Walton Tully, shown at the Lyceum theatre next Thursday and Friday, offers real entertainment. You are certain to enjoy this exceptionally well directed and well produced story of the Texas oil fields.

"Flowing Gold' is a Rex Beach story, typically American and intensely human. The story has to do with the struggles of a family of impoverished "dry farm" nesters who finally strike oil in fabulous quantities and then indulge in a wild orgy of extravagance, finally coming to earth through the friendliness and counsel of Milton Sills in the role of Calvin Gray.

Sills has one of his greatest roles in this production, as does also Anna Q. Nilsson as Alleghany Briskow. Miss Nilsson may always be counted upon for a charming performance and in this role is given great opportunity for emotional as well as comedy work. She portrays the part of an awkward girl, bitter at the fates which made her so large and gawky and then mocked her by laying fabulous riches in her lap.

There is a great deal of delicious comedy in the story, which is very well handled.

Doctors Are Still Busy Vaccinating; Control of Disease Well Under Way

Local doctors have been busy all week vaccinating Thief River Falls people and those of the surrounding community as a precaution against small pox. The work started in earnest last week after state health officials had issued statements recommending vaccination as a means of keeping under control the dreaded disease, which had reached the epidemic stage in the larger cities of the state. As yet no cases have been reported in this city or immediate vicinity.

High School News

DEBATING TEAM NOW SELECTED

Lylian Arnold, Ward Mathewson, Emmett Shanahan and Thomas Melgaard Compose Team.

A preliminary debate was held at the high school last evening for the purpose of selecting the debaters who are to represent Lincoln High this winter in the verbal clashes with the neighboring teams. According to the decision of the judges, who were Rev. Chas. Gerlinger, O. R. Sande and Morris Bye, Lylian Arnold, Emmett Shanahan and Ward Mathewson will make up the team, with Thomas Melgaard acting as alternate.

On Monday and Tuesday of last week the first try-outs were held for the purpose of cutting down the number of contestants to eight. All the public speaking students, about forty in all, tried out as part of their regular class work and the eight chosen from this group appeared in the debate last evening. The negative side of the question, "Resolved, that the United States should adopt the League of Nations Covenant as it existed July 1, 1924," was upheld by Jessie Joyce, Lylian Arnold, Emmett Shanahan and Thomas Melgaard, and the affirmative side by Maxine Johnson, Ruby Aaseby, Ward Mathewson and Maurice Holzknecht.

Thief River Falls has been scheduled to meet Ada on December 19 so that the team will commence work at once under the direction of Lawrence Mickelson, debate coach.

Other teams in the ninth congressional district that are scheduled to meet each other are:

Pelican Rapids vs. Fergus Falls.
Moorhead vs. Barnesville.
Perham vs. Detroit.
Warroad vs. Roseau.
Crookston vs. Bagley.

"Prowler" Campaign to Be Conducted Next Week

Next week has been set aside in Lincoln High as "Prowler Week," which will be featured by special assemblies, a special issue of the "Progress," and an intensive campaign for subscriptions.

The committee in charge of "Prowler" pep meetings, Lylian Arnold, Ersyle Anderson and Ariel Kinghorn, has planned a special assembly for next week which promises to be most original and unique. This will act as the opening gun in arousing enthusiasm for the "Prowler" and will be followed by a whirlwind subscription campaign Wednesday and Thursday. Only members of the Senior class will be salesmen this year but they plan to canvass the entire city, both residence and business districts, in the short time allotted.

Members of the "Prowler" staff will have charge of the editing of the "Progress" next week and other advertising will be in the hands of the advertising committee, composed of Kenneth Streeter, chairman, Delma Dols, Russell Olson and Sylvester Wengeler.

The publishing of a high school annual is a worthy undertaking and is one of the finest advertisements a school can have. Encourage the Seniors to make the "Prowler" this year the best ever by subscribing next week.

Basketball Season Opens; Penney Chosen Captain of This Year's Aggregation

Basketball practices have now commenced for the 1924-25 season and Arthur Penney, one of the two-letter men remaining from last year, has been selected to head this year's quint as captain. Penney earned a fine repatation last year as a fast and dependable forward, besides being high-point man for the season, and without doubt is entirely deserving of the honor bestowed upon him.

"Mike" Parenteau, the other remaining letter man, likewise plays forward and is one of the hardest fighters and trickiest players the local school has had. Though there is a decided lack of experienced men, some very promising material is being developed in the squad of 15, according to Coach L. A. Thune. Due to class basketball and previous training in the grades, a good basic knowledge of the game has been instilled in nearly all the boys.

Plans are now being made for a series of two games to be played with Moorhead on the local floor some time preceding the Christmas holidays. Coach Thune's brother has charge of the Moorhead aggregation, which, as winner in its district, took part in the state tournament last year and promises to demonstrate some mighty fine basketball.

An announcement of the complete schedule for the season will be made later.

Parent-Teachers to Elect New Officers at Meeting Monday Evening, Dec. 1

The annual election of officers will be held at the Parent-Teachers meeting Monday evening, December 1, at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium. The retiring officers are: President, Mrs. R. Arnold; first vice president, Morris Bye; second vice president, O. R. Sande; secretary, Miss Edna Larson, and treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Hermanson.

After the above business has been disposed of, the following program, consisting almost entirely of numbers by high school students, will be given:

Piano solo—Mildred Engan.

"Why I, a Girl, Should Go to High School"—Katherine Barzen.

Songs—Boys' Glee club.

"Why I, a Boy, Should Go to High School"—Lloyd Bennes.

Vocal solo—Mrs. M. W. Brink.

Both before and after the regular meeting, a sewing exhibit under the direction of Miss Benora Ingebretson, domestic science teacher, will be shown. This will consist of 29 dresses, blouses and numerous other articles which have been made by high school girls since the opening of school.

Rev. Merth, Formerly of Stephen, New Priest Here

Rev. A. I. Merth, for the past two and a half years pastor of St. Stephen's church at Stephen, arrived in the city last week to assume charge of St. Bernard's church, succeeding Rev. M. J. Noesen, whose ill health forced him to return to the hospital at Crookston.

Rev. Noesen had been in charge of the local parish for the past seven years and it is with sincere regret that members of his congregation bid him good-bye.

Rev. Merth, who was succeeded at Stephen by Rev. Nicolai of Dilworth, was exceedingly popular in his previous parish; and as the Stephen Messenger says: "During his stay in Stephen Father Merth has been an especially zealous worker, not alone in religious affairs, but in patriotic and civic affairs as well. His departure from the community will be generally regretted, in circles outside of St. Stephen's congregation as well as among the congregation to which he has given his endeavors."

"I reckon it's safer to marry a widow. She's learned to cook on some other mans stomach.'

FIRE DEST[illegible]OYS BR[illegible] TOWNSHIP PLACE SUNDAY

Family of Thirteen Are Left Homeless as Result of Conflagration.

Father and Three Children Were in North Dakota on Business.

Fire, presumably starting from an oil stove, last Sunday completely destroyed the farm home of Del Sandry, residing 16 miles west of Thief River Falls in Bray township. Mrs. Sandry and nine of the 13 children were at home when the fire was discovered aboot 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the hushand having gone to North Dakota on business a few days ago, accompanied hy other children.

The nearest neighbors were a mile away but when they arrived the home was nearly burned to the ground, the family having escaped with only the clothes they were wearing. The mother was forced to give her entire attention to the youngest child, not quite two years old. the thermometer registering almost zero. Friends took various members of the family to their homes, having first gone for wraps to protect the destitute ones, who had sought shelter in the barn.

LOOP SHOOTERS MAY ORGANIZE

Local Legion Post Plans Organization of Basketball Team For 1925.

With the hope of duplicating the wonderful performance of their 1921 basket hall team, the Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion has hegun once more to organize its basket shooters.

The team of 1921 went through the season of 16 games undefeated, beating the strongest teams in this state and North Dakota. Fans of this city will remember the many thrilling hattles played on the auditorium floor that winter.

Tuesday evening the post selected a committee of four, Roy Brown, Roy Kiland, Francis Burns and L. A. Hermanson to start organization. A meeting will be held Sunday morning with prospective members of the quint and members of the committee participating.

Several former college and high school stars of ability will be available, among them heing Lars Thune, coach of the high school team, former all-conference center of South Dakota State college.

Mr. and Mrs. Gamhle have made many friends in this city who sincerely regret their departure. LEGION TO GIVE AWAY FORD CAR MONDAY, JAN. 17

Merchants to Give Coupons With Purchase of $1.00 and Upwards.

Who will win the fine new Ford touring car to ge given away hy the merchants of Thief River Falls on January 17?

That's the question which will cause many hearts to palpitate before the close of the contest which is to be inaogurated hy the merchants on Friday of this week. As in former contests of this kind coupons will be given away with all purchases of $1 or more, and coupons will also be given for money paid on account.

It will be well for all shoppers to read the terms of the contest in the page advertisement in this issue of The Tribune, which gives details concerning the big automobile contest.

The contest is being staged by the American Legion and is part of the plan to assist that organization in raising funds for the 1925 state convention.

CITY HARDWARE MAN IS HONORED

F. L. Christenson Made Secretary-Treasurer of Big Association.

At the annual convention of the Winchester club of Minneapolis district held in that city November 11 and 12, Frank L. Christenson, well-known local hardware dealer, was signally honored by being selected as secretary-treasurer of the organization. The club of which Mr. Christenson becomes an officer is a large one, being the combination of similar smaller organizations in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, northern Iowa and northern Wisconsin.

Upward of 200 hardware and sporting goods merchants from the above named states were in attendance at the convention. The entire seventh floor of the Minneapolis Winchester warehouse was given over to the meeting, and Mr. Christenson says the lectures provided interesting and instructive entertainment for the members and that the display of hardware was wonderful. During an hour set aside for discussion of merchandising there were frank and open talks, an outstanding feature of all Winchester conentions from which all merchants are mutually benefitted.

E. Frankfes of Eveleth won the $200 Toledo scale which was given away as a prize. Frank Christenson won the job of secretary-treasurer of one of the greatest hardware organizations in the country, but says he wonld mnch rather have had the scale. There are no donbts as to the qualifications of Mr. Christenson, and Thief Rier Falls is proud to have one of its citizens so honored.

Huge Alfalfa Palace at Third and LaBree to Be Illuminated With Hundreds of Colored Electric Lights. Prizes Offered For Best Decorated Window and Best Alfalfa Slogan—Hundreds of Flags to Beautify City.

Present indications are that thousands of people will assemble here on Friday, December 11, to bear the message of alfalfa as it will be expounded by several prominent speakers. At a meeting of the general committee held last evening at the Commercial club rooms final arrangements for the big meeting were completed.

The program may be changed in slight details but indications are that it will be as follows:

Music day and evening on the streets and in the anditorium by the famous Clown band, which made such a "hit" at the St. Clond convention. The band, made np of many circus soloists, is made up of twenty pieces.

Auditorium meeting begins at 2:00 o'clock. Principal address to be delivered by Hon. Dan Wallace, managing editor of "The Farmer." Mr. Wallace is strongly committed to the alfalfa game and will have a message of utmost importance.

Brief talks by W. A. Lyman, Grimm seed grower; W. E. Hntcheson of The Farmstead; Dan Willard of the Great Northern; Harry Funston of the Soo Line, and T. O. Ofsthun of the Minnesota Rural Credit Bureau.

Promptly following the afternoon meeting a citizens committee will begin serving free lunch to the visitors. There will be an ample supply of sandwiches, coffee and doughnuts.

At the evening meeting in the auditorium, President Jaffray of the Soo Line will be the principal speaker. He is an alfalfa enthusiast, having more than 150 acres on his own farm west of Warren. No doubt his talk on the subject of alfalfa will be among the inspiring messages of the hig alfalfa meeting.

Prizes are being offered for the best alfalfa slogan and for the best decorated window. The judges will be Supt. I. T. Simley and two others selected by him.

The decorating committee announced last evening that American flags will be used in the decoration of the city. Loose alfalfa hay will be furnished for window decorations.

The big palace or arch, which was designed by "Ted" Thronson, will be placed at Third and LaBree and will be illuminated with hundreds of colored incandescent lights.

The band will play all day and evening.

Word has reached the committee that large delegations will be here from at least six counties of northwestern Minnesota.

Follow the crowd to Langseth's for unheard of shoe bargains, and do not fail to register your choice for the Radiola—a remarkably fine instrument which is a combination radio and phonograph in one.

High School Quint to Meet Alumni Thursday

Lincoln High will play its first contest of the season Thursday evening at 8 o'clock when the alumni and high school will clash at the auditorium in a practice basket ball game.

The graduates have been practicing the past week in preparation and have gathered a first class squad, composed of such men as Math Barzen, John Sether, Stanley Sorenson, Charles Herron, Milford LaBree, Roy Brown, Elmer Larson and Orrin Storholm.

Capt. Peney will lead a lineup that at the present time promises to be of championship calibre, though lacking in experienced players. Besides the two letter men, Penney and Perenteau, the squad is made up of Walter Larson, Lloyd Bennes, Lawrence Mulry, Clifford Bjorkman, Howard Jaranson, Leigh Anderson, Kenneth Streeter, Richard Zeh and Maurice Holzknecht.

The high school has likewise scheduled a pre-season game with Middle River, to be played next Tuesday evening at the city anditorium. Middle River has practically the same team as played here last year and shonld be able to make the local boys do their best stuff. Come out and give the team the same kind of support that was evidenced throughont the entire football season.

Gambles Return.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Gample returned yesterday morning from a six weeks trip to Europe with Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Gamble, Sr., of Minneapolis. They first went to London and after a short stay there crossed the English channel by airplane to Paris. A side trip to Madrid to take in a bull fight and a return visit in Paris were the high lights of their trip.

CHOMMIE HEAD OF LOCAL POST

Members at Live Meeting Friday Night Plan Future Activities.

At the last meeting of the Elmer J. Eklund post, H. O. Chommie was elected commander to succeed O. R. Sande, deemed ineligible because Legion rules do not permit elective officers to hold office in the Legion.

The new commander was installed last Friday and will preside at the Lindell meeting Friday evening. Mr. Chommie is well known in state Legion circles and will add much prestige to the local post in promoting the success of next year's convention.

Colonel Webb Is Elected New Mayor of Winnipeg

His many friends in Thief River Falls are pleased over the election of Col. Webb, proprietor of the Marlborough hotel, as mayor of Winnipeg in the election which was held last week. The colonel is one of the greatest boosters in Winnipeg and has a personality which wins him friends wherever he goes. He has promised to visit Thief River Falls in the near future and it goes withont saying that he will receive a noisy reception.

Domesticated Deer.

While on a joy ride last Sunday a representative of The Tribune, to his surprise, noticed a young deer a short distance from the main road about three miles east of town. Upon investigation it was learned that the little fellow, weighing about 60 pounds, was the property and pet of Fred Beerbower, well-known farmer living in that vicinity. The young buck pricks up his ears when the name "Jack" is shouted at him and will follow his master anywhere. Fred saya he pities the fellow who takes a shot at "Jack." One thing sure, if one becomes acquainted with the little beast he will become so infatuated as to have no desire to shoot.

Wm. Wood in City.

Clown Band to Play at Big Alfalfa Meeting

The famous Clown Band which took St. Cloud by storm during the Legion state convention, has again been pressed into service and will appear in all its pristine glory on the streets of Thief River Falls on "Alfalfa Day," December 11.

This musical aggregation which numbers among its soloists several former circus players of note, consists of twenty pieces. During the St. Cloud convention they did a "snake dance" on the streets and played any well known selection suggested by the large audience which greeted them. They were the "hit" of the convention.

We predict they will be a "scream" on "Alfalfa Day."

POULTRY ASS'N. ANNUAL MEET HELD MONDAY

Dr. Billings of University Farm Delivers Interesting Talk at Meet.

The annual meeting of the Pennington County Poultry association was held at the Commercial club rooms Monday evening, December 1, at 8 o'clock. Abont 40 fanciers and others interested in the game were present to hear Dr. Billings of the University Farm talk on "Poultry Diseases." Mr. Billings gave a very enlightening discussion concerning T. B. tests which he had made in this county. His investigation disclosed that only one flock tested was free from T. B. while others showed nearly 50 per cent of the birds affected. This disease is one peculiar to poultry and has no connection with what is commonly known as T. B. in humans. It affects the spleen and lier. of birds and lowers their vitality but does not in any way make them unfit for food.

Following is a list of the officers elected for the ensuing year: President, Dave Gnstafson; vice president, W. J. Janda; secretary, H. L. Schuster; treasurer, Chester Dols. Directors of the association will be appointed at a later date.

After the lecture by Mr. Billings, the meeting was thrown open to round-table discussions. Many members availed themselves of the opportunity of asking questions and the resulting remarks proved to be interesting as well as instructive.

Helen Warner, Daughter of W. E. Warner Is Dead

The community was inexpressibly saddened last Friday evening to hear of the premature death of Helen Warner, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Warner, 416 Riverside avenue.

Miss Helen passed away at the Oakland sanitarium after a lingering illness of more than a year's duration, during which time she bore her suffering with remarkable patience and fortitude. She was born in this city on October 26, 1904, and died Friday evening, November 28, 1924, at 6:30.

Helen Warner graduated from the local high school in '22. The following year she entered the nurses' training school at the Mayo clinic at Rochester. Stricken with tubercular trouble she returned to her home here and became a patient at the sanitarium, where every medical care was accorded her, but her frail constitution failed to stay the ravages of the disease and she sank steadily until the Angel of Death relieved her suffering.

Helen Warner was blessed with a winsome and attractive personality, and she will be long remembered by her friends and associates for the little thoughtful kindly acts which so endeared her to all.

Her remains were carried to their last resting place Monday morning, the obsequies being conducted at St. Bernard's church by Rev. Merth. Six former school mates acted as pall bearers, namely Gregory Werstlein, Leroy Holmgren, Lawrence Baker, Leo Lasha, Chas. Dostal, Math. Barzen, Jr. Profuse floral offerings were laid upon her casket, among them being a large emblem by members of her graduating class. Among out-of-town people who attended the funeral exercises were Mr. and Mrs. J. Lasha and Leo Lasha, Red Lake Falls;; Mrs. Lucy Ures and Mrs. V. McKinney of Minneapolis.

The state commander will be the guest of Elmer J. Eklund post all day Friday, coming here to discuss plans for the 1925 convention. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Milton Spencer, state president of the Woman's Auxiliary. The visiting Legion heads will be guests of honor at a banquet Friday evening at 5:30. The mayor, members of the council and members of the board of county commissioners have been invited to attend the banquet.

At 8 o'clock Commander Lindell will address a mass meeting at the auditorium, which is open to the public.

The anditorium program is as follows, Commander Chommie presiding:

Music by high school orchestra; opening address by Commander H. O. Chommie; song, "America," by the audience; remarks by Mayor Arneson; address by Commander Edwin Lindell; "Star Spangled Banner" by the audience.

Commander Lindell is an entertaining speaker and the Legion is extremely anxious that he be given a lusty reception at the auditorium Friday evening. His remarks will cover very largely the activities of the Legion with reference to the convention next year, and every citizen of Thief River Falls who feels an interest in that affair shonld make it a point to hear him.

It is likely that Mrs. Spencer will talk briefly upon matters of interest to the Woman's Auxiliary.

Sons of Norway Attention.

An impotrant meeting of the Sous of Norway will be held tomorrow (Thursday) evening at the lodge hall. Matters of utmost importance will come np for discussion and every member is urgently requested to be present.

LYCEUM OFFERS GREAT PICTURE

Are American film andiences hungry for powerful stories in their screen entertainment? The Palmer Photoplay Corporation thinks they are, hence "Jndment of the Storm," the offering at the Lyceum Friday and Saturday. Splendid technical presentation and a cast of stars of a caliber seldom assembled in a single picture are—wonder of wonders!—completely overshadowed by the sheer power of one of the most remarkable stories ever filmed.

One in seeing "Judgment of the Storm" wonders just where such a plot has been hiding, that it escaped the frenzied search of film producers for good stories. As a matter of fact it was only Mrs. Ethel Styles Middleton of Pittsburgh who wrote the story expressly for the screen. It makes her debnt as a recognized photoplaywright, and the power, virility and novelty of the story shows what "new blood" in screen authorship can do.

Who says there is nothing new under the sun in picture stories? A glance at a few plot highlights of "Jndgment of the Storm" indicates that at least some of the "unknown" authors "at large" in America have new ideas for story twists.

For instance: Lloyd Hughes as John Trevor, a wealthy young college man, sentences himself to a lifetime of hard labor on a New England farm, to atone for the accidental killing of his sweetheart's brother! Another: In a heroic battle with the elements, Trevor finds himself suddenly confronted with the problem of which to save from death—his mother, or two little children, the brother and sister of the girl he loves! To tell of other big "punches" in the story would spoil the spectators' biggest thrill—that of watching the unexpected unfold into new complications, and into unexpected solutions; suffice to say that those two plot "twists" are but a taste of what "Judgment of the Storm" has to offer.

Ida M. Kaiser to Give "Polly of the Circus" Tuesday Night, Dec. 9

"Polly of the Circus," which is to be presented by Mrs. Ida M. Kaiser at the Presbyterian church next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, is a four-act play written by Margaret Mayo and contains a wealth of humor, pathos and strong moments.

The reader is a graduate of Carleton College, where she studied under Professors Cochran and Calderwood, and has studied under Miss Leah Deutsch of the Northwestern School of Speech in Chicago. She comes to this city very highly recommended and will undoubtedly give one of the finest programs of this type ever heard here.

WILL WE PUT THE CONVENTION ACROSS?

A mass meeting is scheduled to take place at the auditorium Friday night, December 6, at 8 o'clock. "Eddie" Lindell, commander of the state department of the American Legion, and Mrs. Milton Spencer, president of the state Women's Auxiliary of the Legion, will be here with important information tending towards the solution of problems which confront this community in properly putting over the state convention to be held in Thief River Falls next year.

Both Mr. Lindell and Mrs. Spencer are splendid speakers. That fact alone should warrant the attendance of a large audience. But their coming here at this time has a greater significance than we at first might think. The state convention of the organizations they represent is to be held in this city next year, and they are here to look us over—to ascertain what degree of enthusiasm we are showing because we were fortunate enough to land the convention for this city.

Now, here is the point. It is up to Thief River Falls to fill the auditorium to capacity Friday night in order to show that we are a live community and are working in good faith to execute the numerous duties which will confront us in taking care of the convention. Let us ALL turn out and show that we are NOT dead—that we are heart and soul for the convention. This job is not a Legion affair, not a business men's affair—it is an affair of the entire community at large, and it will take the hearty co-operation of every individual and every civic organization in Thief River Falls to handle it.

For the love of Mike, get out Friday night at 8 o'clock and attend the meeting at the auditorium. If you don't, we're lost!

NORTHWEST BREATHES EASILY AGAIN.

The Federal reserve bank of this district reported in an item to The Herald last night that twenty-five selected member banks have been able to pay off all their obligations to the reserve bank, and that during a recent four-week period these same banks increased their deposits twenty-nine million dollars, enlarged their loans by seventeen millions, and increased their reserves.

This vastly improved banking situation is highly significant to the mellowing change that has come to the Northwest in recent months, and it is all the more significant because this is the first time in five years that such a report could be made.

There is no need of harrowing the emotions by going back over the conditions that prevailed when reports of conditions in the Northwest were very, very different from that which The Herald was glad to be able to publish yesterday. It is enough to say that the farmer was poor, that he couldn't meet his obligations at the country banks, that the country banks therefore couldn't meet their obligations at the city banks, and that every bank that could, therefore, drew heavily upon the resources of the Federal reserve bank to tide it over that period of pressure and distress.

When the phenomenon of good crops and good prices came along, it loosened the key-log—the farmer's situation—and the jam broke. The flood of new money flowed freely again, with results that are reflected in the rosy report of the Federal reserve bank.

And not reflected there alone, either; for when the farmer is poor the country retailer is poor, and poorness is likely to wind its chilly coils over business in every field, city and country, large and small.

But that's all past, now. The Northwest, convalescent for some months, can now be said to be up and out and attending to business as usual.—Duluth Herald.

ADVERTISING MILK, BUTTER, CHEESE.

In his address at the smoker given in this city two weeks ago to the visiting dairymen, Prof. J. H. Hay of the State Department of Agriculture mentioned advertising as one of the most dependable factors in securing a steady outlet for dairy products. And why not?

Have we not before us object lesson after object lesson which teaches the farmer how to proceed with his merchandising? The Twin City milk dealers have tried advertising on several occasions when the supply exceeded the demand, always with gratifying results. Statistics show that butter, milk and cheese are used as a food product by a larger per capita percentage where judicious advertising is resorted to.

There is no substitute for the dairy products of the country. They are necessary to the health and well being of our people, and yet substitutes are palmed off on the public through advertising. Think of people using oleomargarine in place of butter! Unthinkable! And yet it is being done to an extent which constitutes a menace to the dairy industry of the country. Advertising is the only agency which can change this order of things.

The legislature will again have before it a bill to organize a state bar association, which will compel every lawyer to join the state association. Such a bill ought never to be considered by the state law making body. Why not have a law compelling all the editors to join the state editorial association? Or a law compelling all the farmers to join the potato association. Such laws only serve to clutter up the record and we fail to see where anything except selfish purposes can be served. Why not let the lawyers do as they please about joining their own organization?

A gold mine near St. Charles in which investors had been fleeced out of more than $200,000, proved to be a worthless hole in the ground, and an investigation by the state securities commission disclosed the fact that only $20,000 of the amount collected had been spent in drilling for "ore." Of course, the ore never existed, but the chugging of an old threshing engine served the purpose of satisfying the conscience of the stock salesmen who spoke in glowing terms of the progress of the drilling operations. Working on the theory that the people desire above all else to get rich quick—to live in regal style upon their incomes without working—it is the easiest thing in the world to sell stock in any wild cat enterprise.

The Ramsey county coroner has moved to curb auto accidents by causing the arrest of a careless driver who killed a little tot on the streets of St. Paul. There is only one way to curb reckless drivers and that is to get just as tough as they are. Arrest them morning, noon and night. Lock them up, keep them locked up for months at a time, take the privilege of driving away from them, fine them, manhandle them just as they manhandle others. Keep everlastingly at it and after a while it will dawn upon the thick headed ones that there are laws to curb them. Simply making a few arrests at intervals when the slaughter on the streets is the greatest, is like throwing water on a duck. The city authorities must not relax for a minute in the war upon reckless drivers.

Deer were never so plentiful in the north country as this year, and the slaughter of the innocents exceeded all previous efforts to exterminate the beautiful animals. Next year is a closed season, thank goodness for that, and friends of game conservation sincerely hope the legislature will pass further restrictive measures. We believe a one buck law might be effective to preserve the deer for future generations. At least it might be tried out and results noted.

Game wardens are said to be on the track of violators who slaughtered deer by the wholesale this fall. It is said that market hunters in some instances killed deer by the dozen, selling the carcasses to city hunters willing to pay the price. Such practice cannot long be countenanced by the authorities, who now are determined to inaugurate a system of investigation which will put a stop to this senseless waste of game in this section.

The Tribune hopes it succeeded in getting out of the class of newspapers commonly referred to as the "kept press" during the campaign just closed. Our total income from political advertising and editorial haranguing was just $6.30. It is almost pathetic to think of wearing a brass collar for such a sum.

Even the staid old Duluth Herald has turned its back upon the iniquitous primary law. Of course, it does not favor a complete return to the old caucus system, but aside from that the Herald is willing to swallow almost anything. Few thinking people favor the present primary and we firmly believe the legislature will work out a substitute this winter. Any old change will be a relief, in our humble opinion.

The Republican party has repudiated LaFollette, Brookhart, Ladd and Frazier, and inasmuch as no other political party has evinced any desire to foster these senators, the gentlemen appear to be, like the nigger who was hung, in status quo, whatever that is. In other words—in a heluva fix.

The catalogue houses never contributed a cent toward a municipal Christmas in Thief River Falls and never will. Moral: Buy your Christmas presents from the men who reside here and give liberally of their earnings to the upbuilding of the community. Nothing can be fairer than this.

We can't say much for the man recently mentioned in divorce proceedings who spanked his wife for making the wrong lead in a bridge whist game. At that, it must be admitted that the provocation for strenuous measures sometimes becomes very great in a whist game.

One of the surest means of inheriting the Kingdom of Heaven is to do something charitable to lighten the burdens of those less fortunate than yourself. St. Peter is said to have a list of the tightwads not entitled to enter the City of Eternal Light.

The creamery at Baudette has shown an increase of 400 per cent in four years, according to the Region, a great booster for the cream industry. That is some showing for the Lake of the Woods county and entitles them to cackle as long, as loud and as often as they please.

The city of Wadena last week dedicated a new $100,000 hospital which was sponsored by the Methodist church. Church dignitaries from many parts of the northwest attended the dedication.

Before many moons Theodore Christianson will have the following motto hanging over his mahogany desk in the state capitol: "You're damned if you do, and damned if you don't."

The larger cities keep careful track of their unemployed to see that no one not a resident gets a city job. If people in the country were equally vigilant concerning their own welfare no one would ever send away for anything.

Among the unfailing signs of coming winter, the St. Paul Herald notes that the women are putting away their furs and getting out their finest wearing apparel.

It has been noted that men who habitually argue have heavy heads of hair. And by the same token, women are seldom bald headed.

Strange as it may seem, Tommy Schall has not offered the Thief River postoffice to the editor of The Tribune.

Rudolph Valentino came back with his face all covered with whiskers—and we presume whiskers will be in style. Another piece of Soviet propaganda to undermine American institutions, we'll bet.

In his speech to the dairymen Prof. Hay said the German people use eight pounds of cheese per year to our four. But look what the Germans have to go with it.

No word in the English language has been so prostituted to the uses of unscrupulous politicians in this country as the word "progressive."

More acres of alfalfa not only means more settlers—that is important enough—but it means increased profits for those already here.

Experience shows alfalfa to be a never failing crop in this section. Then why take chances? Why not play cinches?

When we hear statesmen talk of doing something for the farmers we often wonder if they don't mean doing something to the farmers.

At least Floyd Olson is not being pestered any longer by those who would like Charley Babcock's job.

PUBLIC FORUM

More About Kreidt's Sermon.

I am glad that "Pastor" Kreidt had his sermon printed. "Out of thine own mouth will I judge thee, thou wicked servant." (Luke 19, 22). Scripture should explain Scripture and be interpreted according to the laws of language. I agree with Luther and Kreidt so far. Preachers of churchianity are not following the laws of language when they in order to support their creeds want "destroy" and "perish" to mean "save" or "preserve;" "cut off" to mean "extend," death" to mean "life," "punishment" to mean "torment," and "fire" to be a symbol of preservation instead of destruction. See Ps. 37, 9, 20, 22, 28, 34, 38; Ps. 145, 20; Ez. 18, 4, 20; James 5, 20; Gal. 5, 12; 2 Pet. 2, 12; 2 Thes. 1, 9, and Heb. 2, 14. If we use the English language that way we can make the Bible say anything. Then we could call "darkness" "light" and "evil" "good," but "Woe unto them that call evil good and good evil." (Es. 5, 20). Titus 3, 7 does not say what Kreidt claims. "We ought to obey God rather than men." (Acts 5, 29). We should not obey authorities if they command us to do evil. "Render therefore unto Caesar," etc., in Mat. 22, 21 means that we may give money and other things that are the government's to the governments, but not ourselves, which we should give only to God. Men who give themselves to governments as soldiers, do wrong, for Rom. 13 says also that "Thou shalt love they neighbor as thyself," and "Thou shalt not kill," and there is no exception for killing by the wholesale. "Resist not evil, but love your enemies," says Jesus in Mat. 5, 39 and 44.

I claim that the Bible does not teach any impossibility like the trinity dogma, and that it does not teach anything that is unreasonable even. Kreidt says: "We teach that Jehovah, Jesus and the Holy Spirit are three persons in one divine essence, or in one God." Where does the Bible say this, Mr. Kreidt? You have not quoted a single text for it. The preachers speak about essence because they have ass-sense, but if they had even good horse-sense they would not teach such non-sense. God was in Jesus and Jesus was in God (John 14, 10, 17). God's spirit of truth and love, which is also called the holy spirit, was in Jesus. God can be in three persons and He can be in billions of persons, which latter He will be when Christ has conquered all evil, for then God will be in ALL. (Cor. 15, 24-28). Will God be in Satan and his servants? No, for at that time they will be destroyed (Heb. 2, 14)—dead—and "God is not the God of the dead, but of the living." (Luke 20, 88).

In John 3, 16 (which Mr. Kreidt quotes) "perish" is put in opposition to "everlasting life," so it must mean death, which is the opposite of life. "Death" as used in the Bible always means that something ceases (or has ceased) to exist. If anyone has found any place in the Bible where "death" has any other meaning than as explained above, please bring it to my notice, as I want to learn as much from the Bible as I can. In the Bible are no such expressions as "temporal death," "physical death," "spiritual death" and "resurrection of the flesh." These were "coined" by priests to make their deluded dupes believe Satan's lie, "You shall not die." "Coined" is the right word because the priests made them to get the coin. (Micah 3, 11, 12). Read also Ez. 34, which shows that the sheep shall be called out of the pastures (church organizations) of the false shepherds who teach for hire, into the wilderness where they shall be fed!

Kreidt contradicts himself when he says that God sent his Son to redeem sinners from everlasting death. He must make "death" mean "life" or else the dead could not suffer everlasting torment as he claims. It seems as if the clergy wants to take symbolical words literally and to give plain words a meaning opposite to what they have in ordinary useage.

POISON LIQUOR TOOK 17 LIVES IN MINNEAPOLIS

So Charges Deputy Coroner in Recent Report in Hennepin County.

Less Than Half of One Per Cent of Seized Liquor Found Genuine.

Charging that poison liquor killed 17 men in Minnenpolis during the month just past, the deputy coroner of Hennepin county makes some very startling statements in the following article which appeared in Saturday's Journal:

Poison liquor has taken the lives of 17 men in Minneapolis since November 1.

Some of it moonshine, some of it "good liquor" hiding killing poisons hehind spurious labels, the concoctions these men drank caused death sometimes in a dny, in other cases only after days of suffering.

Dr. G. W. Callerstrom, depnty coroner, completed an examination of death records today, disclosing the heaviest poison liquor death list in the city's history in any similar period. But every month has from one to five poison liquor deaths on the lists, according to John Anderson, morgue keeper. These 17 deaths, Dr. Callerstrom said, are linked directly with drinking of either moonshine or spnrious liquor, all of lt containing poison. In additon there have been several accidents traceable directly to drink.

Efforts to trace the source of the poison liquor have been unsuccessful, he said.

"By the time the poison kills it has spread all through the system, and we can't get enough of it to make chemical tests as to the kind of poison," he said. "But we find plenty of evidence that poison alcohol has done its work."

"From the case of a man found in the old mnrket, dead from drink, leavlng a few months old bahy, to the case of a man two days ago who drank moonshine after he had been arrested, the month's record tells a gruesome story. The death record includes thnt of n man who drank a cleaning fluid to get the alcohol. There was also a case of death from wood alcohol.

G. D. Williams, chemist in the internal revenue department office here, today analyzing his 16,500th hottle of illicit liquor, one of samples sent him from Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska since prohibition went into effect, said his records showed that less than one-half of one per cent of all the liquor seized is genuine.

He picked up three samples.

"This one," he said, indicating a hottle full of blue liquid, "is colored with methylene hlue and contains a large amount of nicotin. One good drink would kill. The presence of the nicotin could not be detected by the taste."

The second hottle was full of colorless liquor.

"This is isopropyl alcohol," Mr. Williams said. "It is the formula prescribed by the prohibition department for making liquor unfit for human consumption."

The third sample was a jug full of moonshine. Mr. Williams ponred out a little. On the crest of the stream floated n well embalmed cocroach.

"The moonshiners skim off the worst," Mr. Williams explained.

State prohibition forces have not found any genuine liquor for several months, S. B. Qvnle, state director, said.

"Seventy per cent of all the liquor seized by state prohibition forces is moonshine or redistilled alcohol rub," Mr. Qvale said. "All of thnt contains a certain nmonnt of poison."

"In conference with directors of the other northwest states' prohibition forces, I heard them make the statement thnt no genuine liquor has been seized hy their forces in the last year."

Animal Diseases Located By Radio, Says Vistaunet

Dr. P. L. Vistaunet, interested in the cure of disease by electronics, has handed The Tribune the following interesting comments which recently appeared in a journal devoted to electricity as used in the treatment of animal diseases, and comments thereon:

"Every day some new use for radio energy is being found," states Dennis A. Merriman of the American Steel & Wire company.

"Our engineers in searching for an indestructive test for steel have been working npon the well known principle that all matter radiates energy and an instrument has been perfected by F. C. Ellis which accurately measures the wave length for identification and wave amplitude for quantity and intensity.

"This applies to pathological tissue as well and the wave lengths of many kinds of bacteria have been ascertained. The wave length of tissue affected by bovine tuherculosis, for instance, is found to be 16 millimeters.

"Epizootic is of the same wave length as influenza, which proves them identical.

"The diagnosis is determined hy using a few drops of blood or of milk, and the result is that it can be accurately told whether the cow has tuberculosis and to what extent.

"Signal success is attending the treatment of such animals by the Ellis apparatus which connects the animal in series much as a condenser is hooked up in a radio outfit.

"In the tests, animals in the advanced stages of tuberculosis were selected. Treatments over periods of two to three weeks restored the animals to normal health. Slaughter several months later revealed all tubercular lesions healed and the meat suitable for market. Of particular interest was the quick response of the animals to treatment.

"The importance of these tests is significant because of the elimination of the personal element common to previous similar tests on human beings."

This article is a reprint from one recently appearing in leading farm journals and newspapers throughout the United States and is the first news of an epochal development in the Electronic field. While the results obtained promise much for the stock raiser, they are no less interesting to the electronist offering, as they do, convincing evidence of the possibilities of improved Electronic treatment.

Surely the removal of the personal element in these tests on animals offers proof of the proposition. The apparatua used in the tests embodied the same general principles that have been used for a long period in treating human ailments with apparent success.

When dumb animals can be successfully treated by these methods one wonders if the time is not at hand when suffering humans will not have to be the guinea pigs of lethargy and ignorance regarding lmproved electronic methods.

Whether or not this method is also successful in the treatment of human ailments can hest be judged from reading the case reports contained elsewhere in this publication.

The surprising thing is that these methods bave been in existence so long without gaining more general use but, of course, their development was nearly obscured in the early months of electronic development by the advancement of countless "theories" and "new ideas." Electronic practitioners, searching for advanced instruments, became hopelessly confused on account of the many conflicting claims and many lost heavily throngh attempting to experiment, each for himself. Particularly was this so becanse of the highly technical nature of the physics involved in the research so little understood by many. Unfortunately, of course, scientific development remained largely in the background dne to conservative statements concerning them. However, time has brought ont the real merits of the various claims.

There is only one right answer to a given problem and fundamentals must be ahsolntely right to get it. When acientists, great newspapers and many competent physicians recognize a result it usnally is the right answer—the solid thing which often emerges from chaos.

GAS ATTACK ON SCHOOL FAILS; SKUNKS REMAIN

Because a family of skunks found it convenient to take up their winter home in the school house of District No. 43 near Bronson, pupils of the district will have an unexpected vacation which will continue until a new building can be erected.

Hearing that the school board had ordered the unwelcome tenants routed, Inval Anderson and Eddie Peterson planned a new method of attack.

They backed their automobile, one of the jack of all trades varieties, up to the building, connected a rubber hose to the exhaust and fitted it snugly into a hole in the foundation of the school house. A small hole was left at the opposite end of the building where the skunks were to come out and be annihilated.

Inval posted himself where the victims were to appear and Eddie was appointed engineer. The needle valve was turned down several notches to improve the quality of the gases and the engine coughed, choked, fired, misfired and made any amount of gas which crowded evry nook and corner of the building.

Invals' patience was nearly exhausted when after half an hour of gasing, the skunks failed to make their exit. He had about made up his mind they were dead when the unexpected happened.

A portion of the wall struck Anderson and knocked him unconscious, the floor and ceiling met half way, window panes crashed and pieces of siding and shingles were scattered in every direction. Peterson and the car escaped injury. It is believed that a burning particle of carbon ignited the raw gases, causing the explosion. The damage was estimated at $5,000.

Blanks For Adjusted Compensation Must Be Sent in Without Delay.

The War Department urges all veterans who intend to apply for the adjusted compensation to do so now, or if they do not intend to apply, to notify the department to that effect at once. Delay increases the cost to the tax payer of handling the adjusted compensation and delay in applying may place the veteran in another insurance year and thus decrease the benefit that he should receive. Should he die without applying, his beneficiaries receive at the time of his death but one-third of the total amount due that they would have received had he filed his application.

A large number of applications have been returned for correction and but few of these have been received back at the department.

All army posts and army and navy recruiting stations are ready to serve the veterans by assisting them in making out their applications, making corrections, taking finger prints, and helping them in every possible way.

'The Alaskan' to Be Shown Here Sunday and Monday

Here is the directors's story of what happened when he took his entire company to British Columbia and Alberta to produce Thomas Meighan's latest Paramount picture, "The Alaskan," which appears at the Lyceum next Sunday and Monday:

"From the outset I believed James Oliver Curwood's story, 'The Alaskan,' as a motion picture, would afford Thomas Meighan his greatest role. It had many of the same qualities which made 'The Covered Wagon' so powerful. There was a convincing reality in its situations which made the same appeal to something ingrained in the hearts of Americans.

"Stories of the pioneers, if they are told in their strong simplicity, will always light a glow in the true American's breast.

"It was to catch the fading glamour of the Alaskan empire builder as it merged with the strong progressive spirit of the men who hold the land today, that we went northward.

"I can never be sufficiently thankful for the fact that all the players in my company were seasoned actors. Inexperienced people could never have retained their enthusiasm for their roles in the face of the hardships and discouragements which met us. For such players as Estelle Taylor, John Sainpolis, Charles Ogle, Frank Campeau and Anna May Wong, who headed the cast supporting Thomas Meighan, each fresh obstacle served to strengthen their determination to achieve their utmost in 'The Alaskan.'"

Philosophy is what enables us to love the "higher things of life" when we fail to make money.

He was first elected in 1911, after having served respectively as second assistant clerk in 1907 and first assistant clerk in 1909. This means 18 years of consecutive service as clerk of the House, which exceeds previous records of such service by quite a span.

It means that Oscar has called the roll about 18,000 times, and those who have heard him say he is the "cat's whiskers" as a roll caller, being so familiar with the members that he can call the 131 names without referring to the printed sheet, and he is a walking dictionary on parliamentary practice.

Co-op. Earns $75,000.00 Latest Report Shows

The report of the Central Co-operative Commission association of South St. Paul for the first ten months of 1924 shows net earnings of more than $75,000.

Comparative figures for the last three years as given in this report show that for the first ten months of 1922 Central handled 12,145 cars; for the same period of 1923, 15,706 cars; while the receipts for the first ten months of 1924 were 15,099 cars. During the first ten months of 1922 Central's proportion of the car receipts for South St. Paul was 22.6 per cent; for 1923, 28 per cent, and for 1924, 26.3 per cent.

In October, 1923, Central handled 2175 cars of livestock. During October, 1924, it handled 1703 cars. Its percentage of the total receipts at the South St. Paul yards in October, 1923, was 25.2 per cent, while in October, 1924, this percentage was 23.8.

It will be seen that Central's business for the first ten months of the current year, therefore, was a little under that for the same period of last year. It is expected, however, that this deficit will be made up before the first of January.

Prize to Be Given County Selling Most Xmas Seals; Largest Not to Compete

Public Health Association Makes Offer as Phase of 1924 Christmas Seal Sale.

An unusual prize, which will be of inestimable value to the health work of the county winning it, is announced by the Minnesota Public Health association as a phase of the 17th annual Christmas Seal sale, which officially opened throughout the state Thanksgiving Day. The award, which is to go to the county having the highest per capita sale of Christmas Seals and which is in line with the educational program of the state association, will take the form of a scholarship to the Tuberculosis Institute to be held at the University of Minnesota next June. The entire expenses of the person, selected by the county public health association or a special committee in the winning county, to the institute and the annual meeting of the National Tuberculosis association which precedes it, will be paid by the state association.

The institute, which is one of the series being held in various parts of the country by the National Tuberculosis association, offers an intensive course in public health work with particular reference to tuberculosis. Any person attending will bring back to his or her community valuable information and practical suggestions for carrying out a public health program. At the annual meeting of the National Tuberculosis association the speakers will be leaders in the various fields of public health work from all parts of the nation.

The three largest cities in the state and the counties in which they are located, Ramsey, Hennepin and St. Louis, will not be permitted to compete.

Mrs. Chas. Solberg of St. Paul left Monday morning for Badger to attend the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Nels Nelson, who died there Saturday after a five years' illness. There are no children to survive Mrs. Nelson and Mr. Nelson is an inmate of the state hospital at Fergus Falls.

P.-T. OFFICERS NOW ELECTED

Mrs. E. J. Richards Chosen to Succeed Mrs. Arnold as President.

The annual election of officers was held by members of the Parent-Teachers association Monday evening in the high school auditorium. Mrs. E. J. Richards was selected to succeed Mrs. R. Arnold as president of the association; Mrs. Daniel Shew, first vice president; Morris Bye, second vice president; Lyda Batten, secretary, and Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, treasurer.

Before the election was held, the annual report of the secretary and treasurer was made, summing up the work of the past year. This showed that seven meetings had been held during the year, a reception had been given for the teachers, several out-of-town speakers had been brought here to address the association, and much local talent had appeared on the programs. The report as a whole was very gratifying and showed what a wide range of work had been covered in the past year.

The program Monday evening was put on by students of the local high school and consisted of the following numbers:

Three songs—Boys' Glee club.

"Why I, a Girl, Should Go to High School"—Katherine Barzan.

"Why I, a Boy, Should Go to High School"—Lloyd Bennes.

Piano solo—Mildred Engen.

A talk on "The Prowler"—Maxine Johnson.

Each number was highly commendable and the entire program was very much enjoyed by the audience.

The sewing exhibit displayed both before and after the meeting by Miss Ingebretson showed that fine work is being done by the sewing classes of the high school and offered conclusive proof as to the usefulness of such a course in the school.

By H. L. Schnater, Secy.-Treas.

Directors and officers of the Thief River Valley Co-operative Poultry association held a joint meeting with directors and officers of the co-operative creamery last Saturday afternoon and took up the matter of renting the old creamery building as permanent quarters for the poultry association, and also to agree on office room and store room in the new creamery, as well as a candling room. All parties were in harmony and satisfactory arrangements were made for both.

The poultry association has ample refrigerator room in the new creamery. The two coolers which were built expressly for the poultry association will hold two carloads of eggs and one carload of dressed poultry, and these freezers may be brought down to any temperature desired.

We are in a position to take your dressed turkeys at any time. Arrange to get them to us early.

Things have been "muddled up" around the plant since last Wednesday. Foreman Palmquist went away then to spend Thanksgiving and came back with a bride. Thats' the reason why!

Live chickens are coming in quite rapidly this week, and we expect to get a car out during the week but it will take quite a lot of them. If you have some to dispose of, bring them in.

Nearly 111,000 pounds of dressed turkeys were packed and shipped from the local plant. 3175 turkeys were killed and dressed by men employed by the association.

We received for our last pool of eggs from November 1 to 15 the following: Extra first, 54c; first, 40c, and seconds, 30c. Prices are still going up.

Dr. Billings, in his talk to the Pennington County Poultry association Monday night emphasized the fact that you cannot be too careful about guarding against disease in your poultry. Watch them and know their diseases.

Epsom salts administered to your flock twice a month, at the rate of one pound to one hundred birds, will tend to keep them healthy. This can be used in drinking water.

M. ??n Larson returned Tuesday morning from Minneapolis, where he spent a week in attendance at the Northwest Radio convention, which took place at the West hotel last week.

Hunters Kill Moose.

G. H. Mattson returned on Monday from Baudette. He had spent a couple of days in a community forty miles up the Rapid River investigating the reported killing of moose. He found the report correct and that the slayers had taken only the hind quarters and left the rest to rot. A party of hunters from another state had been out there and had with them hounds to assist them in the hunt. They had killed a number of deer besides the two moose. The party traveled in automobiles, but the few settlers had not taken notice of the license numbers.—Roseau Times-Region.

This showed that seven meetings had been held during the year, a reception had been given for the teachers, several out-of-town speakers had been brought here to address the association, and much local talent had appeared on the programs. The report as a whole was very gratifying and showed what a wide range of work had been covered in the past year.

The program Monday evening was put on by students of the local high school and consisted of the following numbers:

Three songs—Boys' Glee club.

"Why I, a Girl, Should Go to High School"—Katherine Barzen.

"Why I, a Boy, Should Go to High School"—Lloyd Bennes.

Piano solo—Mildred Engen.

A talk on "The Prowler"—Maxine Johnson.

Each number was highly commendable and the entire program was very much enjoyed by the audience.

The sewing exhibit displayed both before and after the meeting by Miss Ingebratson showed that fine work is being done by the sewing classes of the high school and offered conclusive proof as to the usefulness of such a course in the school.

By H. L. Schuster, Secy.-Treas.

Directors and officers of the Thief River Valley Co-operative Poultry association held a joint meeting with directors and officers of the co-operative creamery last Saturday afternoon and took up the matter of renting the old creamery building as permanent quarters for the poultry association, and also to agree on office room and store room in the new creamery, as well as a candling room. All parties were in harmony and satisfactory arrangements were made for both.

The poultry association has ample refrigerator room in the new creamery. The two coolers which were built expressly for the poultry association will hold two carloads of eggs and one carload of dressed poultry, and these freezers may be brought down to any temperature desired.

We are in a position to take your dressed turkeys at any time. Arrange to get them to us early.

Things have been "muddled up" around the plant since last Wednesday. Foreman Palmquist went away then to spend Thanksgiving and came back with a bride. Thats the reason wbyl

Live chickens are coming in quite rapidly this week, and we expect to get a car out during the week but it will take quite a lot of them. If you have some to dispose of, bring them in.

Nearly 111,000 pounds of dressed turkeys were packed and shipped from the local plant. 3175 turkeys were killed and dressed by men employed by the association.

We received for our last pool of eggs from November 1 to 15 the following: Extra first, 54c; first, 40c, and seconds, 80c. Prices are still going up.

Dr. Billings, in his talk to the Pennington County Poultry association Monday night emphasized the fact that you cannot be too careful about guarding against disease in your poultry. Watch them and know their diseases.

GAS ATTACK ON SCHOOL FAILS; SKUNKS REMAIN

Because a family of skunks found it convenient to take up their winter home in the school house of District No. 43 near Bronson, pupils of the district will have an unexpected vacation which will continue until a new building can be erected.

Hearing that the school board had ordered the unwelcome tenants routed, Inval Anderson and Eddie Peterson planned a new method of attack.

They backed their automobile, one of the jack of all trades varieties, up to the building, connected a rubber hose to the exhaust and fitted it snugly into a hole in the foundation of the school house. A small hole was left at the opposite end of the building where the skunks were to come out and be annihilated.

Inval posted himself where the victims were to appear and Eddie was appointed engineer. The needle valve was turned down several notches to improve the quality of the gases and the engine coughed, choked, fired, misfired and made any amount of gas which crowded evry nook and corner of the building.

Invals' patience was nearly exhausted when after half an hour of gasing, the skunks failed to make their exit. He had about made up his mind they were dead when the unexpected happened.

A portion of the wall struck Anderson and knocked him unconscious, the floor and ceiling met half way, window panes crashed and pieces of siding and shingles were scattered in every direction. Peterson and the car escaped injury. It is believed that a burning particle of carbon ignited the raw gases, causing the explosion. The damage was estimated at $5,000.

Blanks For Adjusted Compensation Must Be Sent in Without Delay.

The War Department urges all veterans who intend to apply for the adjusted compensation to do so now, or if they do not intend to apply, to notify the department to that effect at once. Delay increases the cost to the tax payer of handling the adjusted compensation and delay in applying may place the veteran in another insurance year and thus decrease the benefit that he should receive. Should he die without applying, his beneficiaries receive at the time of his death but one-third of the total amount due that they would have received had he filed his application.

A large number of applications have been returned for correction and but few of these have been received back at the department.

All army posts and army and navy recruiting stations are ready to serve the veterans by assisting them in making out their applications, making corrections, taking finger prints, and helping them in every possible way.

'The Alaskan' to Be Shown Here Sunday and Monday

Here is the directors's story of what happened when he took his entire company to British Columbia and Alberta to produce Thomas Meighan's latest Paramount picture, "The Alaskan," which appears at the Lyceum next Sunday and Monday:

"From the outset I believed James Oliver Curwood's story, 'The Alaskan,' as a motion picture, would afford Thomas Meighan his greatest role. It had many of the same qualities which made 'The Covered Wagon' so powerful. There was a convincing reality in its situations which made the same appeal to something ingrained in the hearts of Americans.

"Stories of the pioneers, if they are told in their strong simplicity, will always light a glow in the true American's breast.

"It was to catch the fading glamour of the Alaskan empire builder as it merged with the strong progressive spirit of the men who hold the land today, that we went northward.

"I can never be sufficiently thankful for the fact that all the players in my company were seasoned actors. Inexperienced people could never have retained their enthusiasm for their roles in the face of the hardships and discouragements which met us. For such players as Estelle Taylor, John Sainpolis, Charles Ogle, Frank Campeau and Anna May Wong, who headed the cast supporting Thomas Meighan, each fresh obstacle served to strengthen their determination to achieve their utmost in 'The Alaskan.'"

Co-op. Earns $75,000.00 Latest Report Shows

The report of the Central Co-operative Commission association of South St. Paul for the first ten months of 1924 shows net earnings of more than $75,000.

Comparative figures for the last three years as given in this report show that for the first ten months of 1922 Central handled 12,145 cars; for the same period of 1923, 15,706 cars; while the receipts for the first ten months of 1924 were 15,099 cars. During the first ten months of 1922 Central's proportion of the car receipts for South St. Paul was 22.6 per cent; for 1923, 28 per cent, and for 1924, 26.3 per cent.

In October, 1923, Central handled 2175 cars of livestock. During October, 1924, it handled 1703 cars. Its percentage of the total receipts at the South St. Paul yards in October, 1923, was 25.2 per cent, while in October, 1924, this percentage was 23.8.

It will be seen that Central's business for the first ten months of the current year, therefore, was a little under that for the same period of last year. It is expected, however, that this deficit will be made up before the first of January.

STATE LEGION HEAD GIVES US THE ONCE OVER

"Eddie" Lindell Endorses Legion Plans for 1925 State Convention.

Mrs. Spencer Among Speakers at Meeting Held Here Last Friday.

"You can say for me that the plans unfolded to me for the 1925 Legion convention by the committees in charge, meets with my unqualified approval," said "Eddie" Lindell, commander of the American Legion, Department of Minnesota, as he boarded the east bound Soo flier Friday evening following the mass meeting at the Auditorium. His words were fully endorsed by Mrs. Milton Spencer, president of the Woman's Auxiliary, who was among the speakers at the mass meeting.

Speaking of the mass meeting, it should be stated in all candor that the attendance did not augur well from the standpoint of local interest. Whether the lack of interest may be charged to the inclemency of the weather on that particular night, or simply indicates that people generally are indifferent to the big convention to be held here next year, is difficult to say, but the truth is the attendance was disappointing to the last degree.

Commander Lindell made a speech covering the various activities of the American Legion, which should have been heard by every citizen of the city. He is not what one might term a flowery orator but speaks in a manner which inspires confidence. He ridiculed the idea that the Legion was organized for the purpose of fun and frolic, but held to the argument that much good to the service man has actually been accomplished, and cited in support thereof the work done in behalf of the disabled war veterans, etc. He closed by asking for united action in the city, co-operation on the part of Legion and citizens in putting over the 1925 convention.

Mrs. Spencer gave a very fine talk in which she addressed herself to the activities of the women in Legion work, pledging the Woman's Auxiliary to stand back of the men in all work undertaken. She is a splendid speaker and received an ovation from the audience.

Commander Chommie presided at the meeting and made a plea for united action on the part of the city in putting over the convention. Music at the meeting was furnished by Mrs. Erickson and Dr. Vistaunet, the latter leading in the singing by the audiencee.

Commander Lindell and Mrs. Spencer were honor guests at a banquet tendered them by the Legion at their rooms under the First and Peoples bank at 6:30. Brief remarks were made at the banquet by Mayor Arneson, Commander Lindell and Mrs. Spencer. Several vocal selections were rendered by Kern Olson and Herbert Hanson, and judging by the applause, they "did their stuff well."

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Johnson, Pioneer Residents of City Here Visiting Old Friends

Mr. Johnson Was Connected With the Winton-Nichols Lumber Co. in Old Saw Mill Days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Johnson arrived last Saturday from The Pas, Manitoba, Canada, to spend an indefinite time visiting people in Thief River Falls who have lived here since the old saw mill days back in '85. Mr. Johnson was connected with the Winton-Nichols Lumber company for many years while the business place of that concern was yet on the east side of the river.

At present, the Johnsons are visiting at the homes of their sons, Martin and Carl, of this city, and expect before their return to Canada to look up Erick Johnson, Ole's brother, and Ole Davidson, also of that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson say a wonderful transformation has taken place in the old city since they were here last. There were only a few buildings standing at that time and they were all constructed of wood. "A few of the old frame buildings are still here, but most of them have been replaced with newer and larger structures", said Mr. Johnson. He says he has met several old timers during his visit, but the greater number have either passed away or removed to other locations.

"For Heaven's sake, son, you didn't spend 50 cents for an afternoon lunch, did you?" said Roy Lambert, local pharmacist to his little boy, George. Master George had been given a dollar with which to buy a lunch, his father expecting him to return the change.

"By Gosh! daddy, I tried to eat a dollar's worth so I could get a Ford coupon, but I could only eat 50 cents worth."

Gracious sakes—what will become of the younger generation!

Anyway, get your Ford coupons without delay!

Former residents of Thief River Falls of whom there of many in the Twin Cities will give their first annual winter entertainment Saturday evening, December 13, at the Men's Union of the University of Minnesota. The affair will take the form of a banquet at which Mayor Arneson, of this city, will speak briefly on "Thief River Falls." A social dance will follow the banquet.

James Helle, who is now a student at the "U", is president of the Thief River Twin City club and Roy Barzen is secretary. In years gone by several social affairs have been held, the last one being a picnic at Como park last summer.

The officers of the club are anxious to make these social affairs of interest to Thief River Falls people and urge all residents of the city who happen to be in Minneapolis or St. Paul at the time of the banquet and dance to attend as guests of the club.

Opens New Barber Shop.

A new barber shop is being opened in Thief River Falls this week by D. L. Hanson of Lawton, N. D., who will make this city his permanent home. He has rented the shop at 201½ LaBree avenue, at one time known as the Ralston shop, and will move his family here in the near future. Mr. Hanson is an experienced man, making a specialty of hair bobbing and work pertaining to the trimming of ladies hair. He guarantees to do satisfactory work and charges only the regular rates.

"Ike" Helseth in Movies.

Among the various scenes of nation-wide interest shown this week at the Lyceum, is one depicting the dedication of the big Mobridge bridge recently erected by the Minneapolis Bridge Company, which shows "Our Own" Isak Helseth in the act of untying the rope which opened the bridge to traffic. Alongside of Mr. Helseth appear the governor of South Dakota and other dignitaries.

ALFALFA DAY OFFICIAL SONG

Melody, "Solomon Levi"

We hail the home of Alfalfa
In Pennington County
It is the best of all the crops
That ever there could be
We live in the Alfalfa Zone
Of Minnesota state
And every farmer ought to be
A grower up-to-date.
(Cho.)

And there is Peter Engelstad
Of Pennington county
The Pioneer of Alfalfa
Of him we must take heed
He raises Guernsey cattle
And feeds Alfalfa Hay
Which makes the cream checks grow and swell
And thereby saves the day.
(Cho.)

We have the limestone in our soil
Which makes Alfalfa grow
From two to four to six tons
Per acre you must know
It is the food for dairy cows
That makes good butter and cream
And lines the pockets of the man
With dollars and cents that gleam.
(Cho.)

And here comes Pennington bankers
Who woke up to the fact
That every farmer in the rank
Was making lots of Jack
They got behind the movement
To boost Alfalfa Hay
And help with the improvements
To raise and pave the way.
(Cho.)

CHORUS

Oh! Pennington county
Tra la la la la la la
Home of Alfalfa
Tra la la la la la la
la la la la la
la la la la la
We hail the home of Alfalfa
In Pennington county
It is the best of all the crops
That ever there could be.

Dr. Twete Gains Prominence.

In the work of placing the Red Lake county dairy herds on the accredited list, Dr. Twete, local veterinary, had a prominent part, being one of the three men who performed the examinations throughout Red Lake county. In conversation with a representative of The Tribune the doctor states that the work of dairy inspection in this vicinity has been productive of much good, both to patrons and the public, the people generally having gained confidence in the quality of the dairy products being served them by the milk dealers. The work has also given added security and protection to the dealers themselves who are very much in favor of the rigid inspection service.

Largest Onion.

Louis Ramsey, who resides in Star township, raised some of the biggest onions this year which it has been our privilege to see. He sent in a sample to The Tribune the other day and it certainly was a dandy. Mr. Ramsey is one of the farmers of this county who thinks there is no better place under the sun, and we dare say his crops seem to bear him out.

Mrs. Frank Schantzen and daughter Viola, who reside near the city, spent Saturday at Steiner visiting their son and brother, Clifford, and family.

Blare of Band Music and Flutter of Flags Feature Booster Event

Big Alfalfa Palace at Third and LaBree to be Illuminated With Hundreds of Colored Lights—Free Lunch to Visitors Following Afternoon Program—Speaking to Be at Auditorium at 2 O'clock and 8 O'clock P. M.

The big alfalfa palace at the corner of Third and LaBree is almost completed as The Tribune goes to press, and everything down to the smallest detail is in readiness for "Alfalfa Day" which opens here tomorrow.

Bandmaster Hermanson, who has been in charge of the music for the occasion states that his musicians are on hand and will be ready to fill the air tomorrow with a blare of snappy music. He has about twenty pieces and is is expected that the public will be treated to something novel in the way of jazz stuff.

Maude L. Johnson of Thief River schools will lead the community singing at the Auditorium and will be assisted by the members of the Glee club of the high school. Among the numbers will be the Pennington county "Alfalfa Song" and some of the songs submitted this week by the school children of the rural districts.

Stores in Thief River Falls have taken on holiday appearance, store decorations, flags, bunting and colored crepe paper adding a glow of color which is decidedly picturesque. The big palace will be covered with a myriad of colored lights and is expected to add much to the festival appearance of the city.

The speakers who will participate in tomorrow'a program are expected to reach Thief River Falls on early morning trains.

Dan Wallace of the Farmer has been decided upon as the main speaker of the afternoon. With him will in all likelihood be D. E. Willard of the Great Northern and A. M. Lyman, seed grower and alfalfa expert.

On the evening program, which is subject to change, the speakers will be Chas. Hutcheson of The Farmstead, T. O. Ofsthun of the Rural Credit Bureau, Harry Funston, of the Soo Line, and a number of local speakers.

According to the committee in charge, scores of songs and slogans embodying the principles of alfalfa have been received from this and adjoining counties, and it is likely the winner in these contests will be announced from the stage at the auditorium tomorrow evening.

It is reported about town today that the hustling little town of Holt, which has twice carried off prizes for the largest attendance at dairy meetings, first at Red Lake Falls, and this year at Thief River Falls, will be here in force tomorrow, expecting to again come through with the largest representation.

People are expected to be here from Goodridge, Mavie, Grygla, Gatzke, Middle River, Red Lake Falls, Plummer, Hazel, Oklee, Brooks, St. Hilaire, Wylie, Crookston and Warren.

Let every man, woman and child in Thief River Falls turn out tomorrow and help make "Alfalfa Day" a notable one in the history of the city.

Jaffray Reported Ill.

In a telegram to Mayor Arneson, C. T. Jaffray, President of the Soo Line conveys the information that he was taken suddenly ill at Chicago, and will be laid up in the hospital for ten days, thus being unable to speak at the Alfalfa exercises here tomorrow. He says: "Awfully sorry to have missed "Alfalfa Day." The meeting is very important for the future of your district and I hope nothing will be left undone to bring great success."

LEGION COUPON FORD CAMPAIGN GOING OVER BIG

Merchants Claim Idea Is a Good One and Stimulates Business.

Several More Retailers Now Taking Advantage of Novel Scheme.

Thief River Falls merchants state that the Ford coupon campaign started last week in the effort to raise money for the American Legion state convention fund for 1925 has met with quick and ready response, and interest has been created which far exceeds previous coupon campaigns.

Naturally interest will increase as the campaign progresses. People who make Christmas purchases should always ask for the coupons, as every number counts, and it is not unlikely that the holder of a single coupon may hold the winning number.

The drawing will take place on January 17, when an impartial committee will decide the winner, and it is stated that it will not be necessary for the holder of the lucky coupon to be present.

Study the advertisement on another page of The Tribune and become familiar with the terms which govern the big coupon campaign now being carried on by the merchants of Thief River Falls.

MAYOR ENDORSES CHRISTMAS SEALS

In a proclamation officially opening the Christmas Seal sale this week, Mayor J. S. Arneson places his endorsement on the campaign in the following words:

"Christmas Seals are votes for health. Every citizen of the community should buy them and register his approval of the fight against tuberculosis which in the last ten years has cut almost in half the death rate from this disease.

"Not many years ago tuberculosis was the equivalent of a death sentence to those who contracted it. Today, the organized warfare, financed by Christmas Seals, brings hope to thousands of afflicted, safeguards the health of thousands who have escaped it, and insures a healthier world from year to year.

"But this work cannot go on unless we all buy all of them we can. It is not financed by enormous contributions from the rich, but by the dimes and dollars of you, me, and the rest of us.

Health for All and All for Health.

Mrs. Kaiser Pleases Good Sized Audience

Dramatic Reader Gives Excellent Rendition of "Polly of the Circus."

Mrs. Ida M. Kaiser of Bagley, pleased a large audience at the Presbyterian church last evening with a splendid rendition of "Polly of the Circus." The piece has to do with a circus girl who is suddenly thrown into changed surroundings, when an accident makes her the inmate of the home of a minister. Her quaint sayings and the pathos injected into her life by her foster parents, a wagon master and a circus clown, combine to make a stage setting which is vividly portrayed by Mrs. Kaiser.

Mrs. Kaiser has a well modulated voice and a pleasing personality and her appearance in this city in future numbers will no doubt be hailed with delight. While in the city Mrs. Kaiser was a guest at the home of J. M. Bishop.

SIMLEY TO HEAD SEAL CAMPAIGN IN THIEF RIVER

Many Uses of Christmas Seals Suggested in Appended Article.

"If no one asks you to buy Christmas seals—ask someone to sell you some." This is the appeal made today by I. T. Simley, local campaign manager, who said that many people wanting seals would undoubtedly be missed in the general selling campaign, and that those that were not aproached were urged to get in touch with the local committee. Christmas seals in any quantity, the campaign manager announced can be procured by telephoning No. 52 or calling at any school building.

For the convenience of those wishing to procure more seals and those not solicited, the little penny "for health" seals will also be placed on sale in the downtown stores, the manager announced. Seals may be procured at the following places: Oen, Mercantile Store, J. C. Penney Co., Lambert'a drug store, Curtis' drug store, Newell drug store and Stebbins' drug store.

"Many novel uses of the Christmas seals are reported from other cities," said Miss Ida Dahl, school nurse. "In one city the cheerful little stamps are appearing on party invitations, tallies and place cards, in addition to the ordinary mail. The use of the seals in this way not only gives an attractive Christmas touch, but also shows that the user is personally giving her support to the campaign for health."

"We hope to increase our per capita sale of Christmas seals this year and so have a chance to win the state prize offered to the county making the best record. If every one in the county will do a little in the campaign, it will not only increase our chances for the prize, but will also make possible far-reaching health work in our own county for next year."

LOVE! THRILLS! AT LOCAL SHOW

Lloyd's "Girl Shy" Considered One of Best Side-Splitters.

Harold Lloyd says—

"I want my comedies alwaye to contain clean fun—I find it is what the public likes best and longest."

Harold Lloyd's comedies have always been clean in idea, clean-cut in ideals, and clean in humor. And his humor overflows with the exuberance and joy of clean living, clean-thinking, wholesome youth.

His fun is universal in its appeal. It has that human touch that makes the whole world kin—and grin!

His comedy is so simple that a child can laugh at it; so clean that old-fashioned grandma chuckles over it without blushing; yet so subtle that philosophers chortle.

Harold Lloyd causes the laughter waves that radiate around the world!

Harold Arneson Now "Daddy".

Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Arneson on Monday became the proud parents of a bouncing baby daughter, and judging by the haughty demeanor of "Daddy" Arneson, we should judge the young lady is about the smartest thing in town.

ALFALFA DAY.

To some people all this fuss over alfalfa seems like the sheerest nonsense. "Why not tackle something worth while," says one man. Alfalfa will take care of itself, and so forth and so on. But to all such gloomy views The Tribune would respectfully present the other side of the picture.

The fact that one man raises alfalfa matters little so far as the community is concerned. But the entire countryside is interested in a movement to make Thief River Falls the alfalfa center of the Northwest. In support of that argument much could be said, but suffice it to say that in a general way the wholesale raising of alfalfa in this territory means greater profits to the farmer—a steadier annual income based upon observations in other communities devoted to alfalfa. More dairy cows and increased profits from dairying. Large profits from the sale of seed. Soil upbuilding. The permanent eratdiation of noxious weeds. Etc. Etc.

There can be no valid argument against alfalfa raising on a community scale such as would probably attract buyers of seed and hay, dairy cows, farm lands. Alfalfa in this community, where soil conditions and other elements are extremely favorable, may be viewed from any angle—but the plain truth is that it is the real foundation upon which the future superstructure may be safely built.

In other words, we cannot go wrong on alfalfa except in one way —by listening to the crepe hangers.

That is the why and the wherefore of alfalfa day and that is why everyone ought to get out and boost for more acres of alfalfa.

Furthermore, The Tribune, will venture a perdiction:

"Alfalfa Day" will be a permanent fiixture as a day of celebration in Thief River Falls.

Now they say the Near East relief collections have been squandered by expensive overhead, and only ten per cent of the money donated by charitable people has actually been spent on behalf of the starving Armenians. Thus is our faith in human nature destroyed, day by day.

Good morning—have you got a Ford coupon yet?

Doing something for a needy kid is one way of finding out whether you really have a heart or a gizzard.

Even Germany has started a movement to rid the country of Reds. We presume they made themselves obnoxious around the free lunch counters.

"Eddie" Lindell said a mouthful when he asserted that only united action could put the Legion convention in Thief River Falls over with credit to the city and the local Legion post.

State Commander "Eddie" Lindell looks like a matinee idol, but his talk here was one of the best we have heard on the subject of Legion activities. By the way, girls, he's a married man.

Ted Christianson in his Olivia speech bidding goodbye to the seventh district editors, said he would appoint only efficient men to office, though such action might mean disappointment to some of his friends. All of Ted's friends are efficient, however, judging by the results of the election.

It is very flattering to our county agent to have Mr. McCann elected to a similar position in Polk county, but "Mac" has whispered in our ear that so long as he is in the county agent husiness he will stay hy the best county in Minnesota—the "home of Alfalfa." Most any school hoy can name the county which McCann prefers to county agent for.

Word comes to us that the Red River Dairymen who recently held their convention here, were greatly pleased with their entertainment in Thief River Falls. Let that go double. We were glad to have them with us, and hope they will make this city their permanent convention place.

Nearly every town in the country has a skating rink except Thief River Falls which has a handicap in the way of two rivers flowing through town. Think what some of those North Dakota towns located a hundred miles from water of any kind would do if they were situated as we are. We leave the answer to the red blooded kids of the city.

John A. Johnson of Preston will be the next speaker of the House. He has an illustrious name to live up to; but knowing him as we do, it is our belief that he will measure up to the job before him. He will be surrounded by able men and will, no doubt, be a great help to Governor-Elect Christianson in carrying out plans for reorganization of state departments.

Red Lake county boasts of being the first county on the accredited list, which means that the dairy herds of our sister county are practically free from tubercular infection. The Gazette very properly spreads the news all over its front page, for the boast is one to be proud of. We believe the cows of Pennington county are equally healthy—only we lack the certificates of good character. Why not get out and get one?

A great many farmers hereabouts are giving notice that hunting is forbidden on their farms, and they are wholly right in taking this stand. Hunting has become something quite different from what it used to be. The automoblle and the good roads have made it possible for hundreds of potshooters as well as sportsmen, from the cities to drive out to the country and clean up all the wild life. Every highway leading out of the cities, on a Sunday morning carries hundreds of hunters' cars for the holiday slaughter on the farms. This invasion from the city was unknown up to a few years ago. There simply isn't enough wild life to survive this wholesale shooting and many farmers object to having their places of abode turned into a shooting range.—Belle Plaine Herald.

Bureau Urges Market Groups to Advertise

A survey made by the News Service Division of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation of over 100 weekly newspapers published in Minnesota towns supporting one or more co-operative associations during a recent week shows that ouly eleven co-operative marketing associations carried some form of advertising. The average size of these "ads" is less than 3 by 5 inches.

The advertisements carried group themselves as to their nature under three heads: (1) Those which are merely a statement of ths existence of the organization — the bnsiness card type; (2) those which contain a pointed statement showing the value of the local co-operative institution in general; and (3) those which stress the valne of the local co-operative institution as a community builder and its value to those who market their products through it.

Farmers' co-operative organizations have done entirely too little advertising in the past. That there is a distinctive value to such organizations in advertising is proven hy the fact that the large centralized organizations of the west have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars for this purpose with the result that their products are enjoying a nation-wide as well as a world-wide distribution.

The use of advertising space in the local papers by farmers co-operative associstions is recommended by the Farm Bureau on the following grounds: (1) It brings the name of the organization favorably before the public; (2) it is a cheap means of contact with the members; (3) it brings to the attention of all classes of people, both producers and consumers, what the organization is accomplishing, the savings it can bring about, and emphasizes the place that tha co-operative holds in the life of the community.

The surprising thing is that up to the persent time so few co-operative organizations seem to have given advertising the consideration it deserves. If the co-operative is to be run on a business basis, it should not neglect one of the essentials of business practice. It should advertise.

Montgomery Reviews Livestock Conditions

J. S. Montgomery, manager of the Central Co-operative Commission association of South St. Paul, reports that owing to heavy receipts of cattle from North Dakota and Montana, the cattle market has been seriously depressed. He advises, therefore, that shippers from local territory in Minnesota hold back shipments until the western run is cleared np, which will be about the first of December.

"Abont this time of the year," said Mr. Montgomery, "there is a severe discrimination against light welght hogs—those weighing from 100 to 190 pounds. Such animals should be held for a little more weight."

In Mr. Montgomery'a opinion this is a most desirable time to buy stocker and feeder cattle, as the market has apparently reached the lowest point it is likely to touch.

State Butter Co-op. Fights Freight Raise

The Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association is on record as opposing the increase in freight rates which the western railroads are preparing to ask of the Interstate Commerce Commission, on the ground that such an increase will add 25 per cent or an average of 45 cents a hundred pounds, to the freight on bntter.

"The association is going to head off this increase if there is any possible way of doing it," sald Manager A. J. McGuire. "We believe bntter is now paying more than its share for transportation. The cost of shipping a carload of butter to New York runs as high as $1,000. A representative of the association's traffic department is now in Chicago protesting this increase in freight."

A wag in commenting on this being a fast age, says it has gotten to the point where the children run most everything except the washing machine and the lawn mower. He forgot to inclnde the grindstone and the cream separator. — Jordan Independeut.

Gopher Creameries Plan Wine Praise

National Experts Call it Desirable Form of Co-operative Body.

Experts who have made a study of all forms of co-operative associations consider the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries Association's plan of organization and operation to be a very desirable form of co-operation.

This is the report brought back by A. J. McGuire, general manager of the association, who attended the annual meeting of the National Association of State Marketing officials in Chicago.

Speaking to a representative of the Minnesota Farm Bureau, Mr. McGuire said: "Men from all parts of the nation who have made a study of co-operative organizations, tell me that our association's plan is a very desirable one. They are particularly impressed with the advantage of leaving to the farmers the management of their own business affairs, as this must result in making the farmer a better business man each year.

"In our organization," Mr. McGuire continued, "the farmers retain full control of the operation and management of their local creameries; they figurue and distribute the returns from their butter sales among their patrons. This necessarily develops the business ability of the men on the creamery boards, which results in a general benefit to the community.

"The central organization's chief function is to act as the sales agency for the member creameries, but it does far more than that. Maintaining federal inspection and aiding in standardization, it is makng Minnesota butter a great market favorite. All butter reaching a certain standard of excellence goes under the "Land O' Lakes brand which has already gained enviable fame as the choicest butter on the American market." Mr. McGuire concluded.

500 TONS BEETS TO BE SENT FROM NEWFOLDEN

Piled up in piles all around the two elevators in Newfolden between 500 and 600 tons of sugar beets are awaiting shipment to a sugar factory at Chaska, Minn.

Newfolden farmers are busily engaged in harvesting the beets and shipments will be made when harvesting is completed. Newfolden has a beet acreage of about 75 acres and the farmers there are said to have harvested a fair crop this year.

If farmers there are paid only $8 a ton guaranteed by the sugar beet company they will receive from $4,000 to $5,000 for their work this summer. If they receive the $15 a ton paid last year they will get $7,500. A yield of ten tons to the acre is considered a fair yield.

Newfolden this year did not use up its allotted acreage because of the lateness of the season and because farmers were unable in some instances to get Mexican labor.

The beets are hauled directly from the fields where they are dug. Frost does not injure them, it is said.—Warren Sheaf.

More About the Deer Season in Minnesota

A few honest hunters from the north woods—incidentally comprising those who returned home without deer—stated that the traffic in game in the deer country this year exceeds anything ever known in former years. Residents of that section shot off hundreds of deer, either just before or during the first part of the open period, and the hunters trusted to their merits only were exceedingly fortunate to bag a trophy. Different hunters tell of places where the regular inhabitants of the section agreed to furnish empty-handed nimrods with any number of deer, from one to a dozen, at prices ranging from $25 to $40 per deer—special concessions to large parties. Some of the hunters are of the opinion that the short hunting season tends to greater slaughtering of the deer than the longer season and it tends to render the traffic in game more profitable and also looses all the demons of the chase at one time with the result that deer are slaughtered with great dispatch. The contention is made that a longer season would tend to scatter out the hunting period and put the deer on their guard before any slaughter was possible. It is said that the deer flocked into the protected areas immediately following the opening of the season, indicating that the denizens of the forest know something about protecting themselves.—St. Cloud Journal-Press.

George Whaley on Visit.

George Whaley came down from Thief River Falls Thursday afternoon to spend Thanksgiving with his family here. Mr. Whaley is manager of the dressed poultry department of the Thief River Valley Poultry association and looks after the grading, packing and shipping. For the Thanksgiving trade five carloads of dressed turkeys were shipped and Mr. Whaley estimates that the Xmas demand will be fully ten carloads. The dressed turkeys are carefully wrapped in paper and packed in barrels averaging two hundred pounds to each barrel. Each carload contains 125 to 127 barrels. Mr. Whaley brot with him a picture of the cold storage room in which were nicely filed in rows, 3,000 turkeys. Mr. Whaley returned to his work Tuesday and will remain there until the Christmas shipment has been attended to.—Winnebago City Enterprise.

Crookston Preparing For Red River Valley Shows

Active preparation were begun for the 1925 Red River Valley Winter Livestock, farm crops and poultry shows to be held in the Red River Valley Livestock pavillion, Crookston, February 9 to 13, 1925, at a meeting of the directors of the Red River Valley Livestock association held at Crookston last week.

A. J. Robinson of Mahnomen is Mahnomen's county's member on the livestock association's directorate. The Schermerhorn Farms will exhibit both Angus and Herefords at the 1925 show.

The meeting was attended also by representatives of the Red River Valley Development association, the Red River Valley Crops and Soils association, the Northern Minnesota Poultry association and Northwest School of Agriculture, all of which co-operate in carrying on what is known as the Red River Valley Winter Shows and Northwest Farmers' week meetings.

Egg Producers to Organize.

Organization of a Warren unit of the Thief River Falls branch of the Minnesota Co-operative Egg Marketing association will be made at a meeting in the agricultural rooms of the Warren high school Thursday night at 8 o'clock, when B. Norby, a member of the Thief River Falls branch will be the speaker. Both men and women are invited to attend the meeting, according to A. D. Collette who is in charge of the meeting.—Warren Sheaf.

Bank at Barnesville Will Be Re-opened

Barnesville, Minn., Dec. 5.—Plans for the reorganization and reopening of the Citiizens' State bank of Barnesville will be made at a stockholders' meeting to be held soon, it was announced yesterday. At this meeting the stockholders are to be given an opportunity to purchase $25,000 worth of stock.

Third Unit Added To Warehouse.

Preliminary construction on a 24x36 addition to the ice warehouse owned by George W. Smith of Warren has been started and the addition will be completed next spring after it has been filled with ice.

Ice for Mr. Smith's warehouses is shipped here from Thief River Falls. The addition is similar to two other units and will make it possible for Mr. Smith to store his ice in one warehouse instead of using part of his coal sheds as he has done in the past. A total of 500 tons of ice are shipped here annually. — Warren Sheaf.

Farmers Bank of Munich Re-Opens

Bismarck, Dec. 5.—Re-opening of the Farmers Bank of Munich, which went on the special trust deposit list Sept. 18, 1923, was announced today by Gilbert Semingson, state examiner. The bank has a capital of $20,000 and deposits of approximately $230,000. P. J. Antony is president of the bank.

Shipped Three Carlots.

Warren farmers who have sold their sweet clover seed are in luck, according to George Hagfeldt of the Farmers Mill and Elevator Co., of Warren. The market earlier this fall was ten cents a pound but has now dropped to seven with little demand, he says. Three carloads of sweet clover seed have been shipped this fall through the mill, one of them being shipped from Radium.—Warren Sheaf.

ALFALFA,

Pennington County and First & Peoples State Bank

IF EVER there was a harmonious arrangement of nature, it is the soil of Pennington county and vicinity and ALFALFA. Pennington county is ideally suited to this wonderful legume. Soil, climate and rainfall all are favorable. This is the real home of ALFALFA and those farms which have it are ample evidence.

Pennington county already is a good dairy county. But ALFALFA will put us far ahead of many other counties, far ahead of where we would be if we had to depend on ordinary hay. ALFALFA supports, it is said, two and one-half times as much stock per unit of land as any other kind of hay.

Knowing this, is why the First and Peoples State Bank, interested in the welfare of Pennington county, and sensing also a selfish advantage, takes this means of adding its part to the invitations to the farmers of this section to learn more about this wonderful crop on ALFALFA DAY at Thief River Falls, Thursday, December 11.

ALFALFA for hay, is the keynote of the future for Pennington county. ALFALFA for cows, hogs and chickens. Pennington county's crops should, with the exception of cream, eggs, some small grain and potatoes, walk off the farm.

Whatever your opinion, whatever your plan, we suggest you let nothing interfere with your being present for solicitation of several Thief River Falls people who were interested in furthering musical instruction in the city. The city council at the beginning of the school term appropriated a small amount of money to be used in this work, and they, as representatives of the city at large, are certainly getting their money's worth—and then some.

There are now 36 members in the band. They have been divided into two classes, beginners and more advanced. Four rehearsals are held each week, two for each class, so it is very evident that Mr. Reque is putting a great deal of time and energy with the organization. The "kids" have already appeared in public, several times during football and basket ball games, and often at "pep" meetings at the high school. The next appearance of the boys will be at the Warren-Thief River Falls basket ball game to be played on the local floor December 19. At this time the band will loom up in new "pep" uniforms, nifty sweaters which the director has procured for the members.

The present plan, said Mr. Reque, is to open the band to new members up until February 1. After that date no one will be allowed to enter, for it would only tend to retard the progress of those who already have became interested in the work. There is still room for about 30 boys, and they will have to make application within the stated time or the opportunity will be lost to them indefinitely.

Mr. Reque is a good man for the job, is well liked by the boys, takes an active interest in their development, and only regrets that he can not spend more of his time in this phase of education. As it is, he has practically no time for private instruction.

For a long time Thief River Falls has been in need of just such a man to give the younger talent a start in music, and it is to be hoped that Mr. Reque will be retained here for some years to come. Now that the boys have actually been organized, it would be folly for the city to let them fall down because of lack of support. Every individual and civic organization should get behind the movement, encourage it, and see that it is kept up indefinitely. If the boys are not started now, Thief River Falls will never have a band in the future—and a good band is one of the greatest assets of any community.

Hurrah for Reque!

The Legion basketball team which has been talked of for some time has now become a reality. The first practice was held Monday evening and about 15 candidates responded to the call. Coach L. A. Thune, local high school coach and former star center for the South Dakota University team will coach the Legion men and at the same time, play center.

D., Havre, Mont., the University of Manitoba, Can., and Bessemer, Mich., to say nothing of all the towns within closer range.

Lincoln High Defeats Middle River 14 to 2

The local high school quint,, headed by Capt. Penney, was victorious last evening when it deafeated the Middle River team by a score of 14 to 2.

The locals gave a poorer exhibition of floor play than in the game with the alumni which they won 18 to 15, but they put up a defense that made it impossible for their opponents to get close enough to the hoop to score. Their poor passing can be attributed partly to lack of experience in actual games. As a whole, the eight men who played showed many fine qualities and gave promise of developing into a mighty good team.

The Middle River men, who are coached by Elmer Tandberg, is a team of which that village may well be proud and can always be depended on to give the local high school strong opposition.

Due to a misunderstanding, the game with Rosean has been shifted from this Friday to February 7, and the Legion team, which has just organized, will play in their stead. The next game after this Friday will be December 19, when the locals meet the strong Warren aggregation.

Drama of Great Dog Will Be Shown at Local Show

The long awaited picturization of Jack London's famous novel, "The Call of the Wild," comes to the Lyceum theatre Friday. The hero of the story is a dog whose father was a St. Bernard and whose mother was a Scotch shepherd dog. The dog is called "Buck" and from puppyhood, is raised in the luxury of civilization. Then he is stolen away to the Klondike, where he experiences a strange climate, meets strange men and adapts himself to strange habits and labors. He is a bewildered dog, until the strain of his forefathers begins to assert itself—until he feels the call of the wild.

As Jack London wrote "The Call of the Wild" around the life of a dog, so has the picture been filmed. It is Buck's joys and sorrows and career that [illegible] and the human beings in the picture are there only in their relation to Buck's story.

Buck, the personal property of Hal Roach, who produced "The Call of the Wild" for Pathe, was trained from puppyhood for his role. for Jack London is Roach's favorite author and it had long been his desire tu film this popular story. When he was two years old Buck was sufficiently "rehearsed" for his screen role.

Obituary

Nels Knutson

Nels Knutson, retired farmer residing in this city, passed away at Fergus Falls last Thursday, Dec. 4, death being caused by hardening of the arteries or as it is technically known, cerebral arterio sclerosis.

He was born in Norway in 1855, being 69 years old at the time of death, and came to this country 52 years ago. After farming in Iowa for about nine years, he moved to this community and lived on what is known now as the Noper farm until the spring of 1910. Since that time he has been a resident of this city, with the exception of the past five weeks when he has been at Fergus Falls receiving treatment.

He is survived by three sons, Julius and Oscar Knutson of this city and Carl Knutson, who was last heard of at Flint, Mich.; two sisters, Mrs. Chris Halvorson of Canton, Minn., and Mrs. Peter Anderson of Clearmont, Ia.; and four brothers, Kittle Knutson of this city, Sever Knutson of Bain Lake, Prince Albert, Christ Knutson of Holly, Colo., and Henry Knutson of Theodore, Sask.

Funeral services were held Sunday from the chapel at the Larson Undertaking Parlors, with Rev. George Larson of the Zion Lutheran church officiating. Interment was made at the Greenwood cemetery.

Northwest Aggie School Offers Scholarships

The Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, has been granted additional sums of money from the Caleb-Dorr funds to be used for scholarships. The amount will be available for the second term which begins January 5, 0925. The plans now are to award 14 scholarships of $40 each to a boy or girl in each county of Northwestern Minnesota who has made notable achievement in boys and girls club work during the past year. Recommendations will be made to A. J. Kittleson, assistant state boys and girls club leader and Superintendent C. G. Selvig and the awards will be made from the list of those recommended. The Northwest school has been a strong exponent in favor of club work and it is felt that scholarships on this basis will lead to still better club work and at the same time will assist worthy club folks to continue in school. The scholarship will pay over half of the expenses for the term which begins January 5 and closes March 26. It is expected that the anouncement of the winner from this county will be made within the next two weeks.

Love! Thrills! Spills!

"Girl Shy," which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, has all the dramatic and heart interest of "Grandma's Boy," the thrills of "Safety Last," and more laughs than any comedy ever made.

The chase is the oldest form of screen comedy. It cannot be done on the stage and, since the beginning of motion pictures, we have had the chase. But all the chases ever produced put together could not provide the speed, the laughs and the thrills of "Girl Shy." It has the trick of making you howl with glee—but there isn't a trick in it. Every stunt, every thrill, every inch of that chase is real, and in several instances the thrills were accidents and not written in the script. It will be remembered that it was in the making of this chase that Lloyd was injured when the nozzle of a fire hose hit him. It is amazing that he was injured only once.

CONSUMER PACKAGE FOR GOPHER SPUDS

State Exchange to Try Out Plan of Packing Potatoes for Retail Trade.

"Gopher State" potatoes soon will make their appearance as such in the kitchens of several large consuming centers of the middle west.

An experiment to determine the practicality of putting potatoes into packages ready for delivery to the consuumer is being undertaken by the Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange.

An order for enough cartons to load ten cars has been placed and the Exchange expects to have its consumer package on the market in time to supply the Christmas trade.

For the present, potatoes will be packed in 15, 30 and 60 pound packages. A special effort will be made to supply the growing demand for good baking potatoes.

The Exchange's carton will be made of heavy cardboard, attractively lettered and will contain only Gopher State brand. The cartons will be packed at the warehouses and by the best potato men that are working for the organization.

"A consumer package for potatoes long had been needed in merchandising the crop," says S. G. Rubinow. "And the Exchange has reached a point where it is possible to try out the plan. Our first step in this direction will be on a small scale. We want to know the size of a package that will be most in demand and we must determine, of course, whether the price which such a package will bring will make it worth the effort."

What about tackling our next Legislature for a poultry grading law that will give justice to the producer? This idea of holding up the farmers on a No. 2 grading system with a 12c a pound spread between No. 1 and No. 2 turkeys, is a daylight robbery, to say nothing about getting him again with a two cents a pound difference between a young male and femule turkey and then again with a graft of five cents a pound when it comes down to the real thing, a one or two year old tom. When those same turkeys are handed back over the counter to the consumer, there is no question asked as to whether it is a male or female bird, nor is there anything said about a 12 cents a pound spread in prices. In the first place there should be no difference in price between a male and a female bird. Some protection should be provided for the producer that would harmonize with the retailer's plan in disposing of the finished product. The producer should be entitled to the fruits of his labor in this respect.

Asbjorn Ashjornson came very near having his brand new $25 coat stolen at the basket social held in the Austad schoolhouse last Saturday evening. In fact the coat was stolen and had been placed out in a car. In missing the coat, Mr. Ashjornson made a search of each car and the result was that he found it in one of them. The owner of the car was then approached, but he denied the ownership of the car, but the number was taken and the car was watched until in the morning when the party, after he had tried his best to freeze the others out in waiting, finally went and cranked it up and pulled out. The young man who committed the act, lives a short distance east of the Garnes church and is the son of a well-to-do farmer, but he wants to be careful and not show his face over at any doings on the north side of Clearwater river again. In respect to the parents, we shall not mention the young man's name.

Just a Sociable Game.

A stranger from the East, pockets bulging with money, meandered into the back room of Red Peters' place in Scarlet Gulch, where the boys were indulging in a quiet little poker festival.

Wishing to impress the small town men with a regular guy's idea of what poker playing was, he produced a large roll of bills and demanded a stack.

"It's just a sociable little game, stranger," remarked Yukon Jake, "but I reckon we kin let you in. How much do you want?"

"About a thousand dollars' worth," replied the moneyed one airily.

Raking in the one grand and without missing a turn of the cards, the dealer ordered his assistant:

"Give him a white one."—Legion Weekly.

Iver Hanson's Home Near Salol Burns

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Iver Hanson, 3½ miles northeast of Salol, burned to the ground last Friday afternoon about four o'clock. The fire was discovered by Mrs. Hanson. It is believed to have been caused by a defective chimney, as the fire was first seen in the roof at the point where the chimney was built thru the roof. Mr. Hanson had gone to Salol and was summoned home by the telephone call. The family was able to save some of the household goods but nothing could be done to save the building. O. E. Howg and N. E. Wold, president and secretary of the mutual fire insurance company, visited the scene Monday and made adjustments. $600 will be allowed on the house, $92.67 on household goods and $44.67 on wearing apparel. Mr. Hanson may rebuild in the spring.—Roseau Times-Region.

Fosston Business Man is Killed in Auto Accident

Ernest Shannon, 40, Fosston business man, was instantly killed last week Monday, when the front wheels of the automobile in which he was riding, jack-knifed, overturning the car, says the Crookston Times.

Mr. Shannon was enroute home from Wylie, Minn., where he had gone on business and was accompanied by his niece, Miss Lucille Shannon of Wylie, who was driving the car. Miss Shannon was going with her uncle to Fosston where her wedding was scheduled for tomorrow.

Loose gravel at the side of the road caused the car to skid slightly to the side and endeavoring to turn it back to the middle of the road, the front wheels became locked and the car turned over in a ditch at the side of the road. Miss Shannon escaped without serious injury but the car fell on top of Mr. Shannon with the back of the seat across his neck. Mr. Shannon's neck was broken. He is survived by his widow and two sons.

Devils Lake Police Head a Thief River Falls Visitor

"Joe" Kelly, Live Wire Merchant, Speaks of Famous Boys' Band.

"Joe" Kelly, one of the live wire merchants of Devils Lake, N. D., spent several days here last week as the guest of his brother-in-law, E. O. Mogensen. Mr. Kelly holds the position of police commissioner of the city of Devils Lake which has a commission form of government.

While in the city Mr. Kelly talked of the Devils Lake Boys' band, nationally known musical organization which has made Deviils Lake famous over the country. The band is composed of 60 pieces, every one an artist. The city of Devils Lake pays the band master $3,500 per year, and in addition thereto buys approximately $600 worth of new music each year.

Since the band attained so much prominence considerable income is derived from concerts, and this goes towards paying the running expenses of the band. Last year uniforms for the band were purchased at an outlay of $2,200.

Mr. Kelly, who was one of the originan promoters of the band, gave as his opinion that the organization had been of inestimable value in raising the moral of the young people of the city. Many of the boys who started with the Devils Lake band have secured positions with leading bands of the country and new talent is continually being sought.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH IN PLUMMER FIRE

According to meagre reports reaching Thief River Falls today the home of Leonard Brekke at Plummer was burned to the ground Monday night, and a one-year-old child of the Brekke family lost its life in the fire.

Details are lacking but it seems the fire gained such headway before being discovered that nothing could be saved from the flames, the child presumably being caught in the rush of flames to the second story of the home.

Mattison to Marcus, Iowa

M. A. Mattison, who has been connected with The Tribune for the past two years as associate editor, left last week for Marcus, Iowa, to take charge of the mechanical department of a newspaper at that place. His family will remain in this city for the present but will move to the Iowa city next summer at the close of school.

Mr. Mattison has been associated with both newspapers in Thief River Falls for more than seven years, coming here to take a position with the Times. He is an all around man of marked ability and received an offer from the Iowa paper which was too tempting to resist. His many friends here sincerely regret his departure from the city and wish him unbounded good fortune in his new field.

A Doubtful Compliment.

A young matron was entertaining the new clergyman and at dinner he proved to be so brilliant that the table was in a continuous gale of laughter. Finally when the dinner was over, the hostess, drying the tears of mirth from her eyes, sighed: "If I were a queen, I should certainly revive old customs and have a fool present at every meal."—Everybody's.

SCHOOLS CLOSE FRIDAY FOR TWO WEEKS VACATION

Many of Faculty to Spend Christmas With Home Folks.

First Semester a Successful One in Every Respect Say Teachers.

According to Supt. I. T. Simley, the schools of Thief River Falls will close Friday, December 19, and remain so until Monday, Jan. 5, 1925. Many members of the faculty and out-of-town students expect to leave the latter part of this week for their homes in various spots in the Northwest, and two weeks is given to allow them sufficient time to reach their destinations in good season.

The present semester has been a very successful one both in point of attendance and importance of work accomplished. This section has been very fortunate in not having to contend with epidemics, and the school work has been going on uninterrupted during the whole four months' time.

Teachers and students are doubtless in need of a rest and will return with freshened minds ready to tackle the remaining period of school work full of "pep" and 'rarin' to go.

CO-OP. CASE TO BE FOUGHT OUT AFTER HOLIDAYS

Has Great Significance to Future of Co-op. Marketing Movement.

Judge Bechhoefer to Hear Arguments in Case Brot By Schwartz.

Clauses of the new Minnesota cooperative marketing law which provide penalties for dealers who are parties to marketing contract violations by members of an association, are before Judge Charles Bechhoefer, Ramsey county district court, for decision as to their constitutionality.

The first skirmish in the fight that produce buyers are making to have Sections. 26 and 27 of the state law cast aside came Dec. 6 when attorneys for Louis W. Schwartz of Morristown, Rice county and for Attorney General Hilton, as well as the 150,000 Minnesota farmers who are members of co-operative associations, presented oral arguments. Briefs will be submitted this week but Judge Bechhoefer said he could not render a decision until after the holidays.

Attorneys for the Rice county produce buyer attacked the clauses of law on the grounds that they are unconstitutional, class legislation and in violation of the anti-trust laws. Attorneys for farmers cited scores of decisions to upset every one of these charges.

Regardless of Judge Bechhoefer's decision, the case will be carried to the highest tribunal, probably the United States Supreme court.

Nothing in the case involves the contract between the members of an association or enforcement of any of the provisions of such contracts.

OLD SETTLER CALLED AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Peter Paulson, Father of O. C. Paulson, Alderman, Buried Sunday.

The death last Thursday of Peter Paulson, father of Alderman Oscar Paulson, at his home at 124 Tindolph avenue south, takes from the scene of action, one of the old timers of the city. Mr. Paulson settled in Thief River Falls in 1901, coming here from Grant county, where he made his home for more than twenty years.

Mr. Paulson was born in Skane, Sweden, on May 20, 1852, and came to this country 43 years ago. He was one of the founders of the Swedish Augustana church of this city, and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. He was a quiet, unassuming man of strong religious convictions.

Deceased leaves to mourn his loss his wife and two sons, namely Alderman Oscar Paulson and a younger son, Alfred, who resides at home.

The death of Mr. Paulson followed a brief illness of five days duration. He was stricken with an attack of the flu which developed into an acute attack of brain fever. Up to the time of his death he had enjoyed good health.

The funeral took place Saturday from the Swedish Augustana church, Rev. Albin Larson, pastor of the church preaching the funeral sermon. The remains were laid to rest in Greenwood cemetery.

LINCOLN MEETS WARREN FRIDAY

St. Hilaire to Play Local Second Team in Preliminary Skirmish.

The basketball double-header program which is scheduled for Friday night at the auditorium, includes a preliminary game between the St. Hilaire high school and the local second team, to start at 7:30, and at 8:15 a contest between the Lincoln high quint and the Warren aggregation.

The preliminary game should be interesting in that it will show what players the high school has in reserve for next year and in case of accidents this year, and it will give these boys some necessary experience. The main game will undoubtedly be one of the biggest this season as Warren is perhaps the strongest team that the locals are scheduled to meet. It is not a conference game, due to the fact that the state was redistricted for athletics and Thief River is now in a district with teams such as Roseau, Warroad, Stephen, Argyle and Hallock, but it will be a fine exhibition of basketball and a pretty fair indication of what is to be expected of the team this year.

Warren has much the same line-up as played here last winter. So far it has defeated Middle River 15 to 9 and been beaten only 19 to 18 by Grafton, N. D. Those expected to appear in the local line-up are Mulry and Bennes, center; Capt. Penney, Larson and Zeh, forwards; Streeter, Parentean and Bjorkman, guards.

According to reports, a large number of Warren fans will accompany the team.

To Broadcast Program.

Local radio fans who are listening in next Saturday evening will have an opportunity to hear one of the home boys, Elnor Overland, who is broadcasting an organ program at midnight from WCAL, the St. Olaf College station.

DEAN OF WOMEN GIVES SPLENDID TALK TO CLUBS

University of North Dakota Woman Pleases Large Crowd.

Appeared Under Auspices of Local Clubs at Joint Meet.

M. Beatrice Olson, dean of women at the University of North Dakota, who spoke at the joint meeting of the Woman's club and Girls' Community club Monday evening, gave one of the finest talks that it has been the privilege of either club to hear.

She chose as the topic for her paper, "The Girl of Tomorrow," which proved intensely interesting to both girls and women. Her treatment of the subject was unique in that she voiced her whole-hearted approval of the modern girl, instead of pointing out only their faults, as is the practice of so many speakers and writers at the present time. She viewed the girl from every aspect, her extreme dress, her use of cosmetics, her open comradeship with boys, and compared these with generations of the past. After bringing out most of the faults and virtues of the present day girl, she then spoke of the girl of tomorrow and the hopes she had for her. She first spoke of clothes and the duty of every girl to dress well. In this connection she asked that one's dress be beautiful, suitable for the occasion, and modest, and she brought out numerous original ideas concerning each. She did not condemn the use of cosmetics, for in some cases they add a great deal to the appearance, but she did ask that they be applied artistically at all times. She stated that children should be taught manners, respect for the rights of others, and a personal sense of responsibility for their own actions very early in life. "Don't shield your children from all evil or don't push them into it but teach them to recognize evil from good when they meet it face to face—and above all, trust them," was her plea to mothers.

It was decidedly refreshing to hear a speech based on such common sense and broadmindedness and was especially valuable coming from one whose daily contact with the subject of her talk gives her the right to speak with authority.

The audience greatly enjoyed two musical numbers, a vocal solo by Miss Dora Holmes and a number by the quartet from the Woman's Club chorus, both of which were encored.

Lunch was then served by a committee composed of members of both clubs and the remainder of the evening was spent socially and in dancing. The coffee served was Nash's brand and had been donated for the occasion by the Thief River Grocery company.

Improved Farm Sold in Grain Plain Township

The sale recently of an improved quarter in section 17, Grand Plain township, to Nicholas Kast, of Kalamazoo, Michigan, is among the real estate transfers of more than local interest. The farm sold is what is known as the G. A. Gilbertson place and the same is in a high state of cultivation.

Mr. Kast will become a close neighbor to his brother who is one of the most successful farmers of the neighborhood.

The purchaser of the Kast farm arrived in this country with his family from Austria and after casting about in search of a suitable farm home, he finally decided upon the place in Grand Plain. The Tribune has not learned the price paid for the Gilbertson farm.

Haynes Discards Straw Hat.

F. F. Haynes who was observed just the other day sauntering up the street attired in a jaunty top piece made of straw, probably in observance of "Alfalfa Day" is no longer defying old King Borealis. The cold wave which struck the section Monday is not exactly such as to call for the lighter headgear — and Mr. Haynes announces that he has definitely abandoned the straw lid till the roses bloom again.

GUERNSEY MAN LOOKING OVER CONKLIN HERD

F. Robinson, Editor Guernsey Journal Securing History of Lady Bruce.

F. Robinson of Peterboro, N. H., editor of the Guernsey Journal, was in the city last week for the purpose of securing a complete history of the Conklin dairy herd and especially that of Lady Bruce of Clovercrest, Mr. Conklin's champion Guernsey cow.

Mr. Robinson is making a tour of the country in the interests of his magazine to get write-ups of all the famous dairy animals and herds and having been informed that Pennington county was the home of the renowned Lady Bruce and her owner, he made a special trip here to secure pictures and all available data concerning her and the entire herd. He stated that the article will appear in either the March 1 or March 15 issue of his publication, the Guernsey Journal.

Thrilling War Picture of True Incident to be Shown Dec. 27.

"The Lost Battalion," a wonderful motion picture woven around the story of the real battalion of that name, is to be presented here at the Lyceum theatre, Saturday, Dec. 27, by the local American Legion. Plans are being made for an intensive ticket campaign in the form of a contest and will include a house to house canvas of the entire city.

Everyone remembers the war story of the heroic battalion that was lost in the Argonne for six days and nights without food, water and shelter, and yet refused to surrender though completely surrounded by the enemy. The picture successfully depicts this dramatic incident and has as actors for the part, Lt. Col. Charles W. Whittlesey, commander, and the survivors of the original battalion. Gaston Glass and Helen Ferguson play the stellar roles in a most creditable manner and this together with a wealth of humor, love, pathos, and excitement makes it a picture that you can't afford to miss.

Novel Menu Cards Designed by Ted Prichard, University Student.

The banquet and dance given last Saturday evening at the Minnesota Union, University of Minnesota by the Thief River Falls-Twin City club, proved to be an enjoyable affair. The organization was started about two years ago and has for its object the bringing together of former residents of this city.

About 75 former residents and their friends attended the banquet and dance. Among them we noticed Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Loken, who left this city two years ago for Madison, Wis. They now reside in Minneapolis.

An entertaining feature which followed the banquet was the humorous address of Geo. Lamb impersonating Andy Gump. An address was also delivered by Mayor Arneson, who spoke of Thief River Falls, present and future. James Helle, formerly of this place made a most creditable toastmaster.

ALFALFA DAY BRINGS LARGE CROWD INTO CITY—MAY BE MADE ANNUAL EVENT HERE

More Than 30.000 Pounds of Seed is Subscribed For—Journals Call Event An Epoch in Advancement of Agriculture.

The celebration of "Alfalfa Day" here last Thursday was voted one of the most successful events of the kind in the history of the city. It is estimated the outside attendance exceeded 1500.

When the afternoon program started at the Auditorium the place was packed to the doors.

The forenoon was taken up by the committee in showing the visiting railroad officials and newspaper men, dairy farms in the vicinity. The first farm visited was that of Peter Engelstad, who is credited with having more alfalfa than any other farmer in the territory. The dairy barns and herds were inspected after which the party drove to the Albert Johnson farm and made a similar inspection. The proprietors were absent in both instances, much to the regret of the newspaper men who were anxious to meet real "dirt" farmers and question them regarding Pennington county and alfalfa.

That "Alfalfa Day" attracted attention of a widespread nature may be gathered from the fact that two of the leading newspaper correspondents of the Twin Cities were here to observe the doings. The Tribune sent Dowsley Clark and the Pioneer Press-Dispatch sent W. E. Sherlock, writer and lecturer. Both men sent their papers columns concerning "Alfalfa Day."

Dan Wallace, editor-in-chief of The Farmer, who delivered the main address of the afternoon, will write of "Alfalfa Day" for his string of newspapers which cover every nook and corner of the United States.

C. R. Hutcheson, known all over the northwest as "Alfalfa Hutch," will record his observations in a story for the Northwest Farmstead.

Photographers took snap shots of the big alfalfa palace at the corner of Third and LaBree, as well as street scenes and show windows depicting the big day by displays of various kinds, and many of these scenes will appear from time to time in leading newspapers, farm papers and financial journals.

The streets of Thief River Falls took on a holiday appearance with flags flying from every building. The big alfalfa palace was the center of attraction, being illuminated with hundreds of colored lights. The palace, which contains approximately 11 tons of hay, will be permitted to remain at the bank square until the holidays, when it will be removed. In the meantime it is a wonderful "Ad." for Thief River Falls and vicinity.

Prizes were offered by the committee for the best window display, which was awarded the Christenson Hardware, and for the best alfalfa song. In the latter contest The Tribune has been unable to ascertain the winner, and hence the name of the successful one together with the winning song, will be published next week. It is also the purpose of this newspaper to print other songs submitted, many of which were extremely praiseworthy in the opinion of the judges.

The afternoon program at the Auditorium opened with several songs by the Boys' High School Glee Club, under the direction of Maud L. Johnson, and this feature was greatly en-

Stores to Close at Six O'clock Christmas Eve

From what The Tribune has been able to learn from individual business men in the city, places of business in Thief River Falls will close at 6 o'clock Christmas Eve, Wednesday, December 24. This plan will allow late Christmas shoppers the opportunity of doing last-minute shopping, and at the same time will give ample time to prepare for Christmas exercises which will be held in the various churches that evening.

HUMOROUS SHOW HERE THURSDAY

"Little Robinson Crusoe" Provides Evening of Continual Laughter.

A motherless boy rendered still more forlorn by the death of his father, a gallant member of San Francisco's police force; an aunt, in far off Australia, bidding the boy come to her; weeks of adventure on a tramp steamer bound for the Antipodes; a frightful typhoon rising black and swift in the path of the ship; a wreck in the "sundering floods"; an escape as miraculous as that of Robinson Crusoe; an island of the South seas, wave-washed and jungle-clad.

Also a tribe of maniacal savages lusting for the lives of cruel overseers; an intrepid boy, transformed in the superstitious imagination of the cannibals into a little white god of waters; a rescue, almost miraculous in its timeliness; a voyage back to his home town aboard a speeding destroyer of the United States Navy, and a welcome at the hands of the San Francisco police force such as was never before seen in the city famed for its hospitality and enthusiasms.

These are some of the elemental qualities and incidents of Jackie Coogan's newest and most active and appealing Metro-Goldwyn picture as will be presented at the Lyceum theatre Friday and Saturday.

Firemen Make Elaborate Plans For Annual Ball To be Held December 31

At the annual supper of the city fire department, held at Thompson Bros. cafe last Friday evening at ten o'clock, plans were made for the thirty-first annual ball which is to take place New Year's Eve at the city auditorium.

Chief Paul Midderigh appointed the following committees to take charge of arrangements for the affair: Floor manager, William Warner; music, William Warner, George Curran and Helmer Aga; advertising, Harry Roberts, Harry Schuster and Morris LaSelle; reception, Carl Carlson, Henry Froseth and Harry Roberts. The decorations will be in charge of the entire department.

Present plans indicate that this will be the grand closing event for the year 1924. An extra effort is being made to secure something special in music and several prize stunts in dancing will be featured.

Big Meaning in Alfalfa Day.
(From Minneapolis Tribune)

A second celebration of "Alfalfa day" in Thief River Falls evidenced something more than interest and faith in a single crop.

It was one of the important manifestations of a stiffening determination in Minnesota in favor of a rational order of diversification of farm acres.

It was another significant expression of the joinder of business men of the cities and men of the farms in a common purpose to make the agricultural industry of the state more stable and more profitable.

It was an unmistakable token that the farmers are intent on a more scientific conduct of their business—a conduct having better regard for economic principles and laws.

It provided a rallying place where town and country folk could come together, talk intimately across tables and disclose to one another the better spirit that has been created by a prosperous farm year.

It brought together publicists, educators, bankers, merchants, transportation officials, public officials and farmers. The rightful place of alfalfa in the farm scheme of things in Pennington county was the primary theme, but the discussions embraced questions of crop rotation, dairying, catttle raising, marketing, transportation facilities, sugar beet production, legislation, credits, community of interest between city and country, and other germane topics.

There is a batter realization in this state than ever before of the prime importance of soil perservation and of what it means to a consistently profitable farm plant. Alfalfa figures valuably in that consideration. For soil naturally suited to it, alfalfa holds a logical placa in crop rotation. Normally, it is a good crop in a financial sense. It fits into the cattle and dairy business, and becomes a contributor to balanced farming—a thing of which Minnesota stands in need.

The bankers of Pennington county showed an intelligent understanding of these things when, last year and this, they financed a generous distribution of alfalfa seed for use in the county. They have been serving their community under actuating motives kindred to the purposes of tha Agricultural Credit corporation in serving the Northwest. This interest is firmly predicated on the knowledge that true prosperity runs not to city or country, but to city and country concurrently.

Pennington county is writing itself on the map of Minnesota in capital letters by virtue of common efforts to a common end such as disclosed themselves in Thief River Falls.

"Alfalfa Day" Brings Large Crowds to City

joyed by all. The newspaper men sent their papers glowing accounts of the musical prowess of our schools and paid deserved compliments to Miss Johnson.

The first speaker of the afternoon was Dan Wallace, brother of the late Secretary Wallace. He began by complimenting the people of Pennington county for their progressive spirit as evidenced by the attendance at the "Alfalfa Day" exarcises. He said he had recently returned from the National Live Stock Show where he heard the speech dalivered by President Coolidge. Mr. Wallace held to the idea that the farmer must work out his own salvation instead of hoping for relief from legislative sources. Apparently he is not strong for price fixing of any kind, but stated that much could be accomplished by right methods of marketing. He strongly endorsed co-operativa marketing and pointed to the success of the creamery industry and kindred associations. He expressed the belief that closer attention to diversification, study of soil conditions, larger acreages of legume crops would work out for the greatest benefit of the farmer.

The secondspeaker of the afternoon was T. O. Ofsthun, secretary of the Minnesota Rural Credit Bureau, an institution which has loaned nearly two milion dollars during the past year and a half upon Pennington county farms. He voiced the impression that the country was safe and sound, and gave it as his opinion that the incressed growing of alfalfa would enormously enhance the value of farm lands besides giving the farmer increased annual profits. He favored diversification and cited numerous instances which had come under his notice where farmers had pulled themselves out of the hole by changing their farm methods. Among the things taken up by Mr. Ofsthun was the seed question. He favored, he said, buying first the seed grown by local producers. Such seed he held to be acclimated and more likely to germinate and produce strong alfalfa. In this connection The Tribune will endeavor to advertise all locally grown seed in an effort to haev the same disposed of.

Henry Funston of the Soo Line was the next speaker. He came here with General Superintendent Urbans and Comptroller Bond and expressed his pleasure over "Alfalfa Day" which he characterized as a great move in the direction of permanent prosperity upon Pennington county farms. The railroads, he said, have interests in common with the producers and are extremely desirous of doing everything within their power to advance those things which are beneficial. eH explained that the Soo Line bad a most friendly feeling for the territory in the vicinity of Thief River Falls and complimented the section upon the advancement made in the last year or two, especially in the direction of dairying and alfalfa.

The last speaker of the afternoon program was B. A. Lyman Carver, county seed expert who sold a carload of Grimm alfalfa here last year. He said he had found conditions here ideal for growing alfalfa and gave quite an extensive history of alfalfa. He closed by giving his ideas of preparing seed beds, taking the position that a firm seed bed such as an old potato field, beat field or corn land presented most suitable conditions. He also gave some pertinent facts relativa to curing alfalfa and how to get the best results from crops intended for seed.

The evening program opened at 8 o'clock with Dr. Froehlich of the Commercial club presiding. As was the case in the afternoon the big edifice was packed to tha doors. The first speaker was Hans Anton, who always has something of interest to say. He is one of the men, who has succeeded in his farming operations and his address was a general outline of his experiences. The Tribune did not hear all of his remarks but we assume they were extraordinary as the Twin city newspaper men gave much space to his address. W. E. Sherlock in a special article in the Farmers Dispatch took occasion to compliment Mr. Anton upon the manner in which he has made farming "pay", not only by taking off annual profits but also by retaining the good will of his boys and girls. But more of that later.

"Alfalfa Hutch" was the stem winder of the evening. We did not have the pleasure of hearing his speech but we know it was a gem from the remarks since made by those who were fortunate enough to be present. C. R. Hutcheson is connected with the Northwest Farmstead, a publication which has been especially active in promoting alfalfa in the Northwest and Mr. Hutcheson is one man who more than anyone else helped give the local campaign its first great impetus. He is a live wire of the first order and an entertaining speaker. His study of alfalfa haa been extensive and he has a fine way of imparting his knowledge to others.

The program closed with a brief address by D. E. Willard of the Great Northern, a fine booster for this section, where he is well known as an institute speaker. Mr. Willard has been talking agriculture in the Northwest for many years and he expressed himself warmly in favor of the alfalfa propraganda which has been started in Pennington county. It cannot fail to produce far-reaching results of a favorable nature, be stated. Not only will it place the county on a sound basis for the future but the increased acreage will so impress other localities as to bring here thousands of new settlers, he stated.

The band boys did much to add to the hilarity of the occasion, playing upon the street corners and serenading various business houses for hours. They dished up music of a brand which caught the crowd and inspired all with a feeling of optimism.

Something ought to be said about the Girls Glee club which furnished the music at the evening program. They sang a number of catchy songs, among which were several submitted in the prize contest, and judging by the applause they received this feature must have made a decided "hit."

The lunch committee which served coffee, sandwiches and doughnuts to hundreds of people following the afternoon program, officiated in a most creditable manner, as did the decorating committee which had charge of street decorations.

The day was ideal in every respect, indicating that all the forces of nature are favorable to "Alfalfa Day", the crowds were jovial and entered into the spirit of the thing in a manner which indicated approval.

Orders were taken for about 30,000 pounds of alfalfa and the committee which has this in charge predict that the amount will reach 40,000 pounds before the lists are closed.

"Merton" Finest of Screen Comedies at Show Sunday

Why do you laugh when the comedy hero socks the comedy villain on the head with a mammoth war club?

Nobody knows.

It is one of the unsolved mysteries of the drama. It is the reason that students of the drama say all comedy is based upon tragedy.

While this statement is undeniably true, it has never been more adroitly demonstrated than in "Merton of the Movies," one of the outstanding story and stage successes of recent years.

In this epic of movieland, you laugh at Merton's uncouthness while your heart contracts with pity for his youthful ambition—burning, searing him—that seems destined never to come true.

James Cruze, who made "The Covered Wagon" directed "Merton of the Movies." The story by Harry Leon Wilson has been followed in every detail and combined with the play which was one of New York's sensations last year.

"Merton of the Movies," due at the Lyceum theatre on Sunday and Monday, is a story of an awkward country youth who is consumed with a desire to become a famous motion picture star. His idol is Harold Parmalee, darling of the Holden Studios in Hollywood.

In his spare moments, "Merton" practices the well known Parmalee technique on the clothing dummies of the Gashwiler general store in Simsbury, Illinois, where he is a clerk. He buys a mail-order cowboy outfit and uses the patient Dexter, ancient Gashwiler delivery horse, as his dashing pinto pony.

His dreams are his secret until the fateful Sunday morning when Merton mounts Dexter in the back yard of the store to have some pictures taken and Dexter, suddenly imbued with new life, dashes down the village street and leaves Merton in the dust in front of the church as the congregation is coming forth. Gashwiler discharges him and Merton goes to Hollywood.

PUBLIC FORUM

In Defense of the Truth.

In answer to Mr. M. G. Christenson's ungentlemanly—not to speak of unchristian—attacks on my sermon, I would briefly call attention to the following texts in the Bible:

Jn. 15, 26: "But when the Comforter is come, whom I will send unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of Truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he shall testify of me." If this passage does not designate three persons, distinct individualities, then language has no meaning. This passage together with Deut. 6, 4, teaches what the Christian church has expressed — against just such false teachers as Mr. M. G. Christenson—in the term Trinity in Unity.

Luke 3, 14: "And the soldiers likewise demanded of him (John the Baptist), saying, 'And what shall we do? And he said unto them, do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely; and be content with your wages." Why did John the Baptist not tell these soldiers to give up their profession? If Mr. M. G. Christenson is right about war, then John the Baptist was wrong. I prefer to take my lessons from John the Baptist.

As to the eternal torment of the wicked in hell, I refer the reader to Luke 16, 19-31. A sane and sensible exposition of that passage can mean nothing else than eternal conscious torment.

In his booklet "Hell", J. F. Rutherford asks the question, "Who wants eternal torment?" Of course no one wants it, and that is undoubtedly the reason Russel and his followers are trying so hard to explain it out of the Bible. Their wish is father to their doctrine.

We need not resort to their exegetical acrobatics in order to escape the fear of eternal torment. God Himself has shown us the way: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved," Acts 16, 31.. "In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him" I John 4, 9. Accepting Jesus Christ as our Savior, who was crucified for our sins and raised again for our justification, we have conquered sin, death and the fear of hell.

In conclusion I would advise Mr. M. G. Christenson to give a little of his time to the study and practice of that courtesy and refinement which one has a right to expect of a gentleman.

EMIL H. KREIDT,
Pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church.

What Russellism Teaches.

(By I. M. Haldeman, D. D.)

Submitted by S. L. Tallakson, Pastor Trinity Lutheran Church.

Russellism teaches that death is non-existence.

All who have died, have ceased to exist.

They have been utterly destroyed—body and soul.

God created the Archangel Michael.

He was the beginning of the creation of God.

In obedience to the will of God, Michael gave up his spirit being, and was born of the virgin Mary as a human being.

He who was known on earth as Jesus, was, according to Russellism, none other than the Archangel Michael.

He had but one nature—an animal, human nature.

He was precisely like Adam before Adam fell.

He came into the world to be a substitute for man, die in his stead, and redeem the whole race from death.

As death is the extinction of being, when Jesus died on the cross. He ceased to exist.

His humanity was destroyed forever.

On the third day God caused Him to be created again as an invisible spirit, he was then, for the first time, made a partaker of the divine nature.

The body in which He died was never raised from the dead.

Russellism does not know what became of it.

Russellism says it may have been dissolved into gases.

The body in which Jesus appeared to His disciples after His death was a body created by Him for the occasion.

The clothes He wore on that body were manufactured by Him for the occasion.

When He was done with the specially created body, it dissolved into thin air.

The clothes also dissolved into the air.

Jesus Christ is no longer a man.

He is an invisible spirit.

Although He is an invisible spirit. He is called the Second Adam, and will be the father of mankind during the Millenial Age.

This is the age of election.

Through the Gospel God is now calling out a select number to be members of the "Body" of Christ.

They are justified by faith and "reckoned" as Adam was before he sinned.

They become members of the body of Christ only as they devote the Adam nature to death.

They devote it to death by crucifying self.

Those who deny self will be given "inherent" life—that is—the divine nature.

Attainment to this divine nature is purely a matter of personal merit and human perfection.

They will cease to be members of the Body. They will no longer be elect, but in the Millennium they will be permitted to live forever by eating food.

The seventh thousand year of the world began in 1872.

Jesus Himself came back to the world in 1874.

He has been invisibly present in the world ever since.

In 1878 all the Apostles, and all the dead who had consecrated their human nature to the Lord and lived the perfect Adam life, were raised from the dead and changed into spirit beings like the Lord.

Russellism agrees perfectly with Hymenaeus and Philetus.

Hymenaeus and Philetus taught that "the resurrection is past already." (2 Timothy 2:17, 18.)

The call to the elect ended in 1881.

But as some of the elect have fallen by the way, and others no doubt will, people may go on consecrating themselves in the hope that they shall be allowed to take the places of those who have failed.

"The Times of the Gentiles" will end in 1914.

The prayer, "Thy Kingdom Come," will be fulfilled in October, 1914.

In October, 1914, the Lord will set up His kingdom in power.

In October, 1914, the kingdoms of the world will become the kingdom of this invisible, spirit Lord.

The inauguration of the kingdom will take place in the midst of national, political, social and financial storms.

These storms will be the proof that the kingdom in power has begun.

These will be the Lord's judgments in the earth by which the nations are to learn righteousness.

The invisible Lord and His invisible Church will be at work regulating the affairs of the world.

Abraham and the patriarchs will be raised from the dead as visible, glorified men.

They will be the "princes in the earth."

They will act as the intermediaries between the invisible Church and the world.

They will be the agents of the invisible Church to carry on the work of righteousness.

In 1914, the Jews will be restored to their own land and be the head of the nations.

Jerusalem will be the capital of the world.

Every living person will be on trial for everlasting life.

Those who accept the Lord and own Him, will be given at least one hundred years in which to make progress backward to the State of Adam before he fell—to become perfect in Adam nature.

If at the end of the hundred years they have made no progress they will die and be blotted out of existence.

Those who conform "outwardly" to the laws of the kingdom, may continue to live till the end of the thousand years.

At the end of the thousand years they will be tested.

The test will be "heart loyalty" to the Lord.

They will live forever, not by virtue of "inherent" life (that belongs only to the elect of this age) but by eating food.

All the dead who have died since the beginning of the world (and Russellism estimates them at fifty thousand millions) will be brought to life again. Each will be given a certain measure of health and strength. This resurrection will not be simultaneous. It will occur continuously through the Millennium.

It is true—they have been, some of them, non-existent for thousands of years, body, soul, and personality, destroyed.

This presents no difficulty to Russellism.

Not even the total destruction of personality.

All who shall be made alive again, will be brought to know the Lord.

All shall know Him from the least unto the greatest.

Each will be given an opportunity to live the perfect Adam life.

Like the living, they will have an opportunity for, at least, one hundred years in which to make this effort.

If they see fit to conform "outwardly" to the laws of the kingdom, they may live on to the end of the thousand years.

At the end of the thousand years they may choose eternal non-existence, or live forever.

Russellism illustrates this doctrine of the dead who are called to life by citing Nero, Emperor of Rome.

Russellism quotes a passage in Daniel twelfth, wherein it is stated that the time is coming when many that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, "some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt."

Although, according to Russellism, Nero has been dead and utterly annihilated for two thousand years, yet he will be "awakened."

He will be awakened from the dead with exactly the same character in which he died.

He will be given a measure of health and strength.

All will have read or heard of his poison contracts with Locusta, his reported incest, and the unspeakably abominable and brutal murder of his mother.

He will find himself, in this new era of righteousness, covered with shame, and the object of contempt.

But the experience he has had in sin and wickedness will be a "valuable asset" to turn him in the direction of righteousness.

If Nero sincerely seeks to make progress toward human perfection; if he do nothing more than keep his life "outwardly" decent, he can live in good health and comfort for a hundred years.

Then, if he wish, he can go back into non-existence.

If he prefer, he can go on living till the end of the thousand years, growing every day in favor with the world.

At the end of the thousand years, if he is willing to surrender himself to the will of the Lord, he can go on living forever by eating food.

He will then enjoy life just as he did in the old days when he feasted sumptuously at the banquet in his royal palace, or ate and drank in his splendid villa at Baiae; but, this time, in cleanliness and righteousness, honored in heaven and in earth.

Thus, Nero will be awakened to shame and everlasting contempt just long enough to prove that neither the shame nor the contempt are everlasting and that Daniel made a mistake when he said so.

That is Russellism.

The Dominican monk, John Tetzel, in the days of Luther, offered indulgences of the Pope to all who would buy them.

For a certain sum of money you could buy forgiveness of any sin you wished to commit.

With the Pope's indulgence in your pocket you could commit your sin, look at the indulgence in your pocket, and be assured you were forgiven—your sin wiped out.

With all his offered premium on sin, Tetzel did not offer it on nearly so large and generous a scale as Russellism.

Russellism teaches that you can live like Nero, commit all his crimes, die, and meet no greater punisbment thaa the extinction of being. After that you will he brought again to life. You will come forth ia health and strength. You will he permitted to live a hundred years; that is, if you are careful not to commit "outward" sin. If, after living a hundred years, yoa prefer to be annihilated, you caa bave your wish fulfilled in the secoad death. If you would live forever, you need only come out fully for the Lord. You will then he permitted to live in a world wbere Christ is ruling; where all evil is restrained; where every man has his own vine and fig tree.

What Russellism Teaches.

You can maintain this life hy eating food.

Your daily meal will be the guaranty of your eternal life.

Russellism is the message that hrings glad tidings of great joy to every criminal, to every rohher, every murderer. It takes away the fear of the hangman's rope and tbe dread of the electric chair. The criminal can afford to laugh at them. Even if he should suffer death hy either of these means, he would not suffer afterwards. To him there will be the peace of non-existence till hrought to life again; and if, then, be is tired of sinning, he may turn over a new leaf, and live forever in that age of ages where he shall have nothing to do hut eat to live and live to eat.

Here is a religion that offers a premium on every crime in the caleadar, guarantees eternal life aad felicity to every wicked man who ever lived, and assures the wicked of today that his very wickedaess will be a great advantage, a "vaulable asset" to help him to live a life of joy and peace forever.

All this is offered in the aame of our Holy Bible, and in the sacred name of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

No better way to eacourage the elements of crime in human nature could be found than by circulating the books and preaching the doctrine of Russellism.

Lest any should doubt the Nero illustration, I would state it may be found in Vol. 6, pages 712-718 of "Studies in the Scriptures," puhlished by tbe "Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society," Brooklyn, N. Y.

YOUNG MEN PAY FINES--RESULT OF DRUNKENNESS

Judge Tarrant Imposes $10 Fine on Each When Brot Into Court.

Three young men giving their names as Mick Mikelson, Charles Smith and H. L. Hack, were placed under arrest last Friday night when it was reported that they were under the influence of liquor and were cousing a disturbance at the dance given in the Sons of Norway hall by the Woodmen of the World that evening. The boys were lodged in the city jail and Saturday morning were brought before Municipal Judge N. W. Tarrant who imposed a $10 fine on each of them. The fines were paid after which the triumvirate was allowed freedom.

The young fellows are truck drivers on the gravel work which is going on south of Red Lake Falls, and evidently their better judgment gave way to recklessness after having taken "six or eight too many."

DR. GRAHAM HAS CHAMPION HOLSTEIN COW

Animal May Be Placed Upon Big Graham Farm Near This City.

Minnesota has givea the world a new champion dairy cow. Beginning her record when she was six yeors and ten months old, Grahamholm Colantha Segis Maid, a purebred Holstein, bred and developed by Dr. Christopher Graham of Rochester, produced in 305 days 32,155 pounds of milk yielding 947.43 pounds of butterfat, or 1,218 pounds of butter. The records were kept and reported by the official testing organization of which W. E. Peterson of University Farm is superintendent. The previous world record for cows of any breed for 305 days was 866 pounds of fat.

The interesting part of this great achievement on the part of Dr. Graham's cow is the fact that the Rochester physician owns one of the finest farms in the vicinity of Thief River Falls, and there is a general belief that recently completed plans for improvement of this farm upon an elaborate scale means the transfer to this place of at least a part of his famous herd.

Whether this information is correct or not, it may be set down as an absolute certainty that the nrogeny of the world's champion cow will soon be among the dairy cattle which are destined to reflect future glory upon this section.

As was recently revealed hy a Tribune news item, Dr. Graham has already erected a substantial dwelling house upon his farm, which consists of nearly 400 acres adjoining the fair grounds, and he will begin in the spring the building of a large dairy barn. More than 150 acres of this farm will be plonted to alfalfa, the ground having been put in shape for that crop.

Novel Diaplay at Christenson'a.

The Christenson Hardware company has something unique in the way of a window display this week. A miniature troin may be seen running continually, making a round trip through a tunnel, past windmills and oround curves—and at a rate which thrills the onlooker. The train is run by electricity but there is no part of the propelling apparatua in view. It looks almost like a perpetual motion machine. The Tribune odmits the display is almost as good an advertising stunt as an ad in this newspaper—except that it won't reach so many people and in so short a time.

Auguat Carlson Arrected.

August Carlson, taxi driver, was arrested last week Friday, the authorities alleging that liquor was found in his possession for sale, while he was at Holt, during a dance. He appeared before Marshall county authorities Monday but according to meagre reports, no definite action was taken at tbe time.

YOUNG LETNES WINS TROPHY

Son of Well Known Farmer Has Record of Unusual Performance.

His many friends in the vicinity of Thief River Falls are justly proud of the scholastic record made by Lawrence Letnes, son of Jens Letnes, well known Silverton farmer. The young man covered himself with glory a year ago when he won a $100 scholarship offered by the Northwest Farm school in the annual calf club contest.

Just to show that he meant to use this scholarship to the best possible advantage, he went out and won this year in the closest kind of competition the silver trophy offered by the school for the best acre of alfalfo and potatoes. When Lawrence reoched home Friday evening for tbe Christmas vacation he brought the silver cup with him.

The cup becomes his when he wins it three times in succession, and The Tribune wishes to say to the students of the Farm school that if they have ony oesigns in this trophy they had better get up and dust, for we will place our money on Lawrence to hring home the bacon the required number of times to make it his permanent possession.

But the question of whether or not he again wins the cup matters not in the least, for the main thing to be considered in this connection is that his school record has been so consistently good that nothing can stop him from making a record of great credit to himself and the community.

Young Lawrence comes honestly by hia keen interest in agricultural studiea and his success may be attributed in a large measure to the fine home training which he has received, his father, Jens Letnes, being one of the most successful of farmers. His farm northeast of this city is a model one and bears evidence of intelligent operation to an extent seldom found anywhere. Mr Letnes is a great believer in alfalfa as a feed of unusual value and as a toil builder which cannot be equalled.

He has stated to The Tribune that his alfalfa provides the necessary feed for every animal on the farm, from cows to chickens, ond the condition of his stock seems to bear out his contention. It was alfalfa from the Letnes farm which was nsed in the fine little bales used for decorative purposes in this city in connection with "Alfalfa Day" celebratiou.

DISCUSSION OF LAWS HEARD BY EIGHTH GRADERS

The noon luncheon of the Commercial club last Thursday was greatly enlivened by a general discussion of two prohlems, namely the proposed Child Labor amendment which will come before the legislature this winter for ratification, and a law regulating the bua traffic in this state and placing commerciol motor traffic under the supervision of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission.

The child labor amendment was discussed at length by County Attorney Quale and City Attorney Chommie. Pupils of the eighth grade of the city schools who are now studying the child labor amendment in civics, were present for the purpose of hearing the arguments made.

Mr. Quale made clear the history of child labor legislation, calling attention to the laws passed during two administrations and later found unconstitutional by the supreme court of the United States. He also made clear the geaeral provisiona of the law from an impartial standpoint, citing the fact that most states now have child labor laws, among the number being the state of Minnesota.

Mr. Chommie attacked the proposed ratification principally on tha ground that it meant a further anrrender of state functions. He asserted that state laws were adequate to cope with the suhject, and he also stressed the fact that the question was economic rather than sentimental.

No attempt was made to formally oppose or endorse ratification, although Messrs. Barzen, Haynes and Shaw expressed themselves in opposition to such legislatiou.

A proposed law regulating bus traffic and placing motor vehicles nsed for commercial parposea under the supervision of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission, was presented hy W. A. Barnard, who stated that the railroads and all railroad labor which is organized, were back of the measure. Representative Waldal who was present, declared himself in favor of the law and promised to give it his unqualified support in the coming session of tha legislature.

On motion of Mr. Mogensen a committee will draft a favorahle resolution and present the sama for adoption at a later meeting in tima for presentation to the legislature.

CARLSON STARTS ACTION AGAINST BISHOP; ASSAULT

Claims Damages in Amount of $1,000 as Result of Controversy.

Case Will Probably Come Up at Next Term of District Court.

August Carlson, local taxi driver, this week started an action against W. A. Bisbop, also in the livery business in this city, for damages in the amount of $1,000, alleging that on November 3, be was brutally knocked down and beaten about the head, face and back. Mr. Carlson claims that his flashlight was forcibly taken from him and broken against a telephone pole.

The controversy took place at the Soo Line depot, and is presnmed to have arisen out of personal differences between the two men which culminated in the fracas above described. The case will probably be decided at the next term of district court, according to Attorney G. Halvorsou, counsel for the plaintiff.

CHARLES RAY IS HERE ONCE MORE

"DynamiteSmith" fulfills Thomas H. Ince's promise that he would bring Charles Ray back to the old familiar role of the gawky, earnest, hashful youth that endeared him to millions.

The first thrill comes when Ray as a timid reporter on his first assignment, attempts to cover a murder in a low dive on the Barbary Coast. Wallace Beery, as "Slugger" Rourke, tha proprietor, has good reasons for not wonting the newspapers to get hold of the story. He is a brute and bully ofthe deepest dye and in outwitting him Ray is, to the audience, both pothetic and amusing. Violet, beaten hy her husband, the Slugger, and forced to dance for the amusement of the riff raff, enliats the hoy's sympathies, and the second hig thrill comes when Violet, her hahy and Smith, with others, ore snowed in on the Yukon. Deoth stares them in the face, hut they are saved by Smith, who accomplishes the amazing feat of breaking through the storm with Violet's dead baby in his orms. No one of that party knew he was driven by fear of Rourke, who had trailed him. Rourke, a greater enemy than starvation or freezing and wolves.

The last and greatest thrill is beyond the power of description. It is a hig scene in which Smith uses heroic measures to keep up his courage so that he can banish forever, not only "Slugger", hut the ferribla fear that has conquered him and destroyed his manhood.

Don't Forget to Ask for Coupons Say Legionaires

It has come to the notice of the local Legion officials that some of the business places which are in on tha Ford coupon affair do not give away coupons unless requested by customers. And that is perfectly all right—it is their own privilege—but the Legion boys just want to give all customers this little reminder—DON'T FORGET TO ASK FOR COUPONS! One little boy a week or so sgo tried to eat a dollar's worth of food so he could get a chance on the new Ford touring car. That shows that the idea stimulatea trade.

I.O.O.F. LODGE WINS RADIOLA

The I. O. O. F. lodge of this city now owns a brand-new Radiola. This fact became known shortly after 7:00 o'clock last night, when representatives of the various contestants were present at Langseth's Shoe store to count the votes which were deposited from 1:45 yesterday afternoon until the coatest closed at 7:00 o'clock. Carl E. Johnson held the lead for the past several days, but it seems that at the lost minute an army of friends came to the rescue of the Odd Fellows with the following result:

I. O. O .F. Lodge	1,116,710
Cotbolic Cburch	816,760
Carl E. Johnson	425,202
Poor House	247,000
Sons of Norway Lodge	193,441
"Bugs" Johnson	179,315
American Legion	85,939

Mr. Langseth is well pleased with the results of the idea in giving away the instrument, and also states that he did by far a greater business than was anticipated. The Odd Fellows are indeed pleased with the outcome of the contest and now feel that there should be more incentive than ever for tbe members of the lodge to attend meetings regularly.

Art of Giving.

"For giving is living," the angel said,
"And must I keep giving again and again?"
My selfish and querulous answer then.
"Ah, no!" said the angel, piercing me through,
"Just give till the Master stops giving to you."

Woman Injured in Auto Accident.

Mrs. S. Febro of Red Lake Falls was seriously injured as the result of an automobile accident last Wednesday at the brick school house five miles east of Crookston. Mrs. Febro accompanied her daughter and son-in-law, who were driving out from the school when a car, driven by Earl Gramer of Crookston came from the east and ran into the other car. Both cars were thrown into the ditch, and Mrs. Febro received internal injuries and a blow on the head. She was taken to Crookston and placed in a hospital there.—Ex.

MERRY CHRISTMAS—HAPPY. NEW YEAR

The Tribune extends to its readers its sincerest wish for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. We hope the year has left all more prosperous, but if Lady Luck has passed you by, we hope you have extracted something out of life to make you more happy and contented.

MIXING MEN AND ALFALFA.

(From St. Paul Dispatch.)

Tucked away in the northwest corner of Minnesota, is Pennington county, in area one of the smallest in the state, with its thriving county seat, Thief River Falls. It could easily have remained in the background, but it is as difficult to keep hidden as a city set on a hill. Agricultural experts, railroad magnates, bankers and businiessmen were drawn to it Thursday out of their beaten paths, to celebrate "Alfalfa Day." It fills the eye of the entire state for what it has accomplished.

Pennington county was as other counties in the Red River Valley are. It was sick of wheat. It had its taste of depression, of abandoned farms, of discouragement. The secret of its prominence is—that it had men. It had first its Peter Engelstad, the alfalfa pioneer, who has been growing alfalfa there for 21 years, raising cattle and escaping the one-crop penalty. It has its commercial club at Thief River Falls, where businessmen and farmers sat knee to knee, as members, and where the problems of both were discussed and united action taken. That resulted in the purchase by bankers of 30,000 pounds of Grimm's alfalfa seed in 1923 and the beginning of a new era. It has its boosters and publicity men, typified in its mayor and editor, J. S. Arneson, who see that the good news is spread at home and abroad. There is no way of beating such a combination of fighting men.

Alfalfa may yield $60 to $100 a year for each acre. It may bring about the building of a $25,000 co-operative creamery. It may make some men rich and the community prosperous. But these returns are merely by-products to the real crop of friendliness, of mutual interest, of unity, and of warm hearts and happiness that Pennington county is harvesting.

THE BUS TRAFFIC.

No one will deny the fairness of the proposed regulation of bus traffic and other commercial motor traffic in this state. These vehicles use the roads maintained by the public without contributing their share of the upkeep, and in fairness to the railroads they should be under the same supervision and subject to the same penalties for faulty public service as are other common carriers. We do not permit, under our laws, an itinerant merchant from competing with the established merchant without paying well therefor, and no more should we permit irresponsible bus companies from hauling passengers over our roads when conditions are favorable, to the detriment of the established road, without subjecting such bus companies to reasonable taxes and regulations.

INSPECTING BEES KNEES.

A new inspector has made his appearance on the payroll of the taxpayers—he is the bee inspector who visited Thief River Falls recently. Along with this we learn that Thief River Falls has a deputy bee inspector. We presume the duties of these bee inspectors is to inspect the bee's knees so that the knock-kneed and the bow-legged bees may be kept in separate swarms.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Please, George, don't make fun of the bee inspectors. Isn't it difficult enough to inspect bee anatomy and straighten out their domestic differences without having to contend with hostile newspaper critics? Be fair to bees.

BREAKING BREAD WITH THE FARMERS.

The Alexandria Kiwanis Club last week entertained thirty of the neighborhood farmers at a dinner given for the purpose of getting better acquainted. A splendid idea and one which might be followed with profit by the Thief River Falls Commercial Club. Why not set apart one meeting a month for this purpose? At that time let each club member take a farmer to the club meeting with him, and at such sessions let the discussion revolve about topics of general interest to both. If this suggestion is followed out we firmly believe a canning factory can be built here next year—an institution which would be of inestimable benefit to city and country, and we also believe it can be built without paying out blood money to outside promoters.

Last Thursday's noon luncheon of the Commercial club was a regular three ring circus and demonstrated beyond all cavil the fact which we have always maintained that the old town has the talent and the pep necessary to make things hum when applied properly. A few more sessions like that and we venture to say the noon luncheons will have to be served in the main lobby of the Auditorium.

It seems that in spite of the many eulogies which were pronounced over Knute Nelson at the time of his death the requests for funds with which to erect a permanent memorial to his memory at the capitol grounds have met with a surprisingly scanty response.

The present session of congress could cover itself with glory and gain the good will of the people of Thief River Falls by cutting $50,000 out of the rivers and harbors pork barrel bill and setting aside that amount for a new postoffice at Thief River Falls.

HOW TO GO ABOUT GROWING ALFALFA.

First, select land that is well drained.

Third, prepare the seed bed as well or better than it is ordinarily prepared for any field crop. The finest seed bed may be prepared from a potato, beet or corn field which has been well cultivated. Alfalfa wants a firm seed bed.

Fourth, do not plant seed too deep, not over one-half to one inch, as seed planted deeper than that sometimes fails to come up.

WORLD'S CHAMPION COW.

The people of Thief River Falls are naturally elated over the success of Dr. Christopher Graham, of Rochester, in breeding fine dairy cattle. He is to be congratulated upon being the proud owner of Grahamholm Colantha Segis Maid, a purebred Holstein cow recently proclaimed a world's champion. It may not be too much to hope that this fine animal or her offspring, will soon be among the occupants of Dr. Graham's fine farm near this city.

The flag at the courthouse was at half mast last Thursday in honor of Samuel Gompers, the departed chief of the labor forces. It was indeed apropriate that this mark of respect should be shown in this city to one who has been a great force for good in America for two decades. As a labor leader, Mr. Gompers was shown as much respect as if he had been president of the United States, and very properly so, for he probably did more to direct the activities of labor along sensible lines than any other man who ever lived.

How many people in Thief River Falls ever give thought to the services rendered so unselfishly by the volunteer fire department At no cost to the city except for necessary equipment which is none too modern, these lads stand ready at all times to fight the fire demon, and this city has a record for minimum fire losses which few towns of its size can duplicate.

The Tribune has often spoken of this fine service to the city, and no doubt many of our citizens are mindful of the obligation to the boys who comprise the fire department. Now comes an opportunity to show our appreciation.

On the evening of December 31st the fire laddies will give their annual ball at the Auditorium. Would not this be a grand time to come out and show them how we each feel towards them, those of us who like to trip the light fantastic toe?

Cass Lake is going to have a real outdoor celebration on New Years Day. Good for Cass Lake. We glory in their spunk. This is the greatest climate on earth for people who have red blood in their veins, and it is really surprising how little effort is made to capitalize upon it. Thief River Falls is chock full of people who come from the country which excels in all winter sports such as skating and ski jumping, and, although we have a river right under our very noses, we haven't as much as a skating rink.

The Elks lodge of this city recently presented an artificial leg to a little fellow who lost his limb in an accident a year ago. That is the kind of charity which appeals to the Maker of the Universe, and it must make the antlered hosts feel good to know that the local organization is so nobly doing its work as an institution of Christian charity.

We do not always agree with President Coolidge, and no doubt the chief executive is much disturbed thereby, but we are in perfect accord with his efforts to prevent the large outlay requested by Secretary Wilbur for the navy. Let us rather acquire a superior air force, and use the surplus funds for the erection of concrete storage houses and the purchase of surplus wheat.

We respectfully request the farmers of the vicinity to paste the following valuable information in their hats for future reference: In a recent bulletin issued by the Wisconsin experiment station, is this statement: "In total yield of protein per acre alfalfa produced three times that of clover, nine times that of timothy and twelve times that of brome grass."

Charges are about to be preferred we understand against some of Tommy Schall's supporters for soliciting funds from bootleggers for political purposes, under promises of immunity from prosecution. Is it possible that Tommy's friend, Jacobs, of the Twin City Gaboon, has been geting his hook nose into this dirty mess? If so it may interfere seriously with Tommy's little job of driving the editor of The Tribune out of Thief River Falls.

Editor Nordine issued a very creditable Christmas edition of the Karlstad Advocate last week, the cover of which was beautifully illustrated in colors. Such an edition calls for plenty of hard work and sleepless nights, and we trust the people of Karlstad show their appreciation of the energetic efforts of Bro. Nordine.

"Some of the senators are talking of taking the appointment of senate committees away from Lieutenant Governor Nolan," says the Frazee Press. All talk, Sid, and the same line of twaddle at every session. Bill Nolan is Irish, and he's from Missouri.

There are just seven working days left of the present year, which is leap year, in which the members of the fair sex may push the timid ones over for a touchdown. As the saying goes, "make him fish or cut bait NOW."

Dan Wallace made one thing plain to the farmers in his alfalfa talk here. There is no danger of an overproduction of alfalfa. This wonder crop can only be grown in certain favored spots. Pennington, it so happens, is one of those favored spots. Selah!

In spite of heartbreaking delays due to misunderstanding, it begins to look as if Uncle Bim would take the Widow Zander back to Australia with him.

Word comes from Washington that the Republican leaders are about as tickled over Tommy Schall's election as a woman is over the new wrinkles around her nose.

LINCOLN GRADS STAGE REUNION

The Alumni of Lincoln high school, from the class of 1904 to this year's Seniors, will gather at the Sons of Norway hall this Friday evening to enjoy their annual reunion. Of the 800 alumni who have been graduated in the past twenty years, a large number still live in this city or immediate vicinity and the response received from the invitations, seems to indicate the largest turnout ever.

A program consisting of a few short talks and musical numbers will be given and the main part of the evening spent in dancing and talking over "old times." Refreshments will likewise be served. During the course of the evening, a business meeting will be held to elect new officers to take the place of the retiring ones who are: Francis Burns, president; Stephen Arneson, vice-president; Doris Richter, secretary; and George Mostue, treasurer.

Announcements have been sent out to a large portion of the alumni but due to the fact that some of the addresses were unknown and that not a very complete record was available, a few may have been missed. However, all graduates of Lincoln high school and members of this year's Senior class are most cordially invited to attend and should make a special effort to do so.

TWO LOCAL BOYS WIN IN DEBATE

Among the awards made at the Northwest School, Crookston, at the close of the first term was the presentation of the debating trophy to the winning literary society. This year the championship went to the Lincoln society who won by unanimous decisions both sides of the question "Resolved, that the principles of the McNary-Haugen bill should be enacted into legislation." Among the members of the Lincoln teams was Elmer Miller, son of J. Miller of Erie, and Oliver Howard, son of O. O. Howard of Highlanding. Both boys will be on the squad from which will be selected the debaters for the contests with the agricultural schools of Fargo and Morris in March.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

WHAT THE BUS TRAFFIC MEANS TO OUR CITY

Effort to be Made to Place Them Under Proper Supervision.

It is conceded hy railroad interests that good roads are, of course, of great benefit to the public generally and the rail lines ahare in some part the benefits they yield, but it can hardly be contended by anyone that the beneficial results which come to the railroads from the building of good roads equals the loss they suffer in the traffic which good roads take from them and goes to the trucks and passenger motor busses.

A western state recently allowed the railroads to abandon passenger trains on nine branch lines. The entire country traversed by these tracks wos black with automobiles. In one of the abandoned cases it was shown that trains were run on one of the branch lines for thirteen days without carrying a passenger. Private automobile transportotion as well as motor bus lines have within the past ten years reduced local passenger travel on railroads approximately 50 per cent and the end is far from being in sight.

Railroads afford all year reliable passenger facilities regardless of road and climatic conditions and nowhere in the world can be found trains more finely equipped and furnishing more comfortable accomodations at so low a rate. With only six per cent of the people of tha world, the United States has 50 per cent of the railroads and the most effective railroad service that has ever been known.

Our government tella our railroads how much they may earn, how much they may charge ua for their aervice, how much they should pay their men. It supervises their bookkeeping and it knows where every dollar comes from and where it goes.

The railroada carry us from town to town and do it well, but they make their living in a aervice that is even more important, the carrying of freight. For every possenger coach, they hava forty freight cars. And their great achievement is not even the tremendous number of freight cars—2,500,000—but the ice-cooled cars, almost unknown in other lands, which carry our perishable foods thouaands of miles and deliver them in perfect condition. So, whether we travel or atay at home, the railroada ore serving us every minute of the day.

In the State of Minnesots the railroads pay $8,425,892 yearly in taxes and in Thief River Falls in one month alone the Soo Line has spent as high as $60,572.04 in wages. The greater portion of which is spent with Thief River Falls merchants.

Railroad operoting costs today are over 100 per cent greater than they were at the outbreak of the war, but income from the transportation of freight and passengers is only 50 per cent higher.

The situation is aerious and only additional passenger train patronage will prevent more passenger trains being withdrawn from service, and for every pasaenger train taken off in each direction twelve employes are thrown out of work.

CO-OPERATION AIM OF GROUP

Headquarters for Farmer-to-Consumer League in Washington.

Headquarters were opened last week at Washington, D. C., by the Farmer-to-Consumer League, a national non-partisan association, just organized under the chairmanship of B. F. Yoakum, former president of the Rock Island railroad, to foster co-operative marketing and work for legislative beneficial to farmers.

In a statement announcing opening of headquarters of the league, formation of which was announced recently in New York, where eastern headquarters will be maintained, the organization committee declared:

"Organization of the farming interests along economical lines on a broad scale, has yet to be undertaken, and the hope of the future, in this respect lies only through federal legislation.

"No bill will be satisfactory to the farmers," said the statement, "which places the control of the farmers cooperative marketing organizations in the hands of either government officials, such as the Capper-Williams bill provides, or the friends of the middlemen."

Radio Aerials.

Due to the regulations under which the Northwestern Bell Telephone company operates and to the responsibility with which it is charged as to wire clearance, etc., it is necessary that all telephone poles be kept free from foreign attachments. This applies particularly to radio aerials and G. A. Russell, manager of the local branch of the Telephone company, requests the public to refrain from placing them on telephone poles. Notices will be sent to all those not obeying this request and if still ignored, the aerial will be removed by the company at the expense of the owner.

Albert Johnson's Father Reaches Century Mark

Besides Mr. Johnson, seven other brothers and sisters will be there with their husbands and wives and children, in all more than forty descendants of the aged man.

Mr. Johnson's father is hale and hearty, can read without glasses and recently took a long automobile ride which he enjoyed to the fullest extent. He was born in Skanvik, Norway, on December 27th, 1824, and came to this country at the age of thirty.

At that time the city of Chicago was a barren and forbidding swamp, and he therefor passed through the place to take up land near the present city of Aurora. He bought a tract consisting of 120 acres from the government, receiving a deed to the same made of sheepskin. Mr. Johnson still retains the old sheepskin and it is a valued family heirloom. The 120 acres have never changed hands, a thing which is most remarkable in these days of rapidly moving events.

There were no railroads into the northwest at the time Mr. Johnson came to Aurora. He could have purchased land at that time for $3.00 per acre, plenty of it. He was offered the land adjoining his for $3.00 per acre, but refused to take it. Some years later he was offered a forty for $15 per acre, but the price seemed too high. He relates how, when land began to move, some land near his was sold at auction. Chicago buyers ran the price up to $50 and he bid it in at that figure, but he could better afford to buy it at that figure than at $15 owing to improved conditions.

The Tribune sincerely trusts the family reunion will be a happy and memorable one. It is our wish that the old gentleman may live to enjoy many happy returns of the day—and that his sons and daughters may follow in his illustrious footsteps.

We are going to ask the good editor of the Tribune if he can spare us a corner in his paper to be set aside and known as the "Community Welfare Corner." We feel that there are many persons both young and old who would be glad to take part in expressing their convictions concerning welfare matters effecting the community in which they live as well as other parts of the county. The new year is coming. Let us start it right; let us lay aside all our bad and evil thoughts and all bad habits as well. Let us enter the new year considering life from a point of service to others and usefulness to ourselves and to the world, instead of playing this game of destruction that creates all this murder and crime. Let not others suffer by the life you live, but far rather try to be a living example yourself of a life worth while in this world.

She grew to womanhood in this community and attended the local grammar school. She was married in the fall of 1915 to Adolf Haugen also of this place, who survives together with three children, Eileen aged 8, Harvey 6 and Dorothy 2 years. A baby was born last Sunday evening which however died immediately and on Monday complications set in together with convulsions of the abdomen, which ended the young woman's life Tuesday night. Dr. J. T. Bowers, assisted by a trained nurse from the Physicians' hospital were in attendance but little could be done except to alleviate the terrible pain. The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon from the Rindal church and was attended by a large number of persons. Rev. Geo. Larson of Thief River Falls delivered a brief sermon and the funeral arrangements were in charge of Carl B. Larson. A profusion of beautiful flowers covered the casket. Two solos were sung by Mrs. R. Sagmoen and Mr. Peterson. The following excerpt from the minister's sermon fully covers the general sentiment. "The untimely death of this splendid wife and loving mother from a sorrowing family circle can only be classed from a human standpoint, as a brutality, but in the opinion of the Almighty as a necessity."

Skirts to Be Worn Ten Inches From Pavement

The National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers association met here today and approved style recommendations for next spring and summer.

Skirts as an average will be worn ten inches from the ground and in extreme cases, 15 inches.

The slenderizing silhouette continues the foundation for the new season's styling. Many new variations in the cut of garments are introduced, including the tunic theme and circular cuts, but in all cases the garments are worn so as to achieve the straight line, slender type.

In sport coats, the mannish cut will be strongly evidenced.

The shorter length skirt will have its influence upon the styling of new spring coats, which will be somewhat shortened in length.

Materials will be soft, at least in coats and a number of new shades will be worn, including rose-ash, woodland brown, tiger-eye, golden aok and many new blues, greens and tans.

ROSEWOOD

Mrs. Adolf Haugen is Dead.

Mrs. Adolf Haugen, whose maiden name was Minnie Sorenson, was born on her parents' farm two miles north of Rosewood on Jan. 31, 1889. She grew to womanhood in this community and attended the local grammar school. She was married in the fall of 1915 to Adolf Haugen also of this place, who survives together with three children, Eileen aged 8, Harvey 6 and Dorothy 2 years. A baby was born last Sunday evening which however died immediately and on Monday complications set in together with convulsions of the abdomen, which ended the young woman's life Tuesday night. Dr. J. T. Bowers, assisted by a trained nurse from the Physicians' hospital were in attendance but little could be done except to alleviate the terrible pain. The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon from the Rindal church and was attended by a large number of persons. Rev. Geo. Larson of Thief River Falls delivered a brief sermon and the funeral arrangements were in charge of Carl B. Larson. A profusion of beautiful flowers covered the casket. Two solos were sung by Mrs. R. Sagmoen and Mr. Peterson. The following excerpt from the minister's sermon fully covers the general sentiment. "The untimely death of this splendid wife and loving mother from a sorrowing family circle can only be classed from a human standpoint, as a brutality, but in the opinion of the Almighty as a necessity."

Hanson-Mellem

Emil Mellem of this place and Miss Hilda Hanson whose home is in the Town of Numedal, were united in marriage at the home of Rev. Werner Drotts at Viking last Monday afternoon and were attended by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hanglid of Numedal, Mrs. Hanglid being a sister of the bride. The newlyweds will make their home at Rosewood where Mr. Mellem recently completed a new residence on his farm southeast of town. The communities congratulations are extended.

The directors of the Rosewood L. S. Shipping Ass'n., met at Rosewood last Saturday evening but owing to the extremely cold wind that evening, only three directors and the secretary were present. O. Dahl was re-elected president for the coming year and Carl Mellem vice-president. No new manager was appointed at this meeting as it was thought advisable to have all the directors present at a later meeting which will be announced at some future time.

Christmas tree fests are the order of the day and many beautiful programs have been rendered and many a child's heart has bounced with joy. On Friday evening the christmas tree and program was given at Willowdale under supervision of the teacher, Miss Milda Sheveland and on Saturday evening Columbia celebrated with Mrs. Thos. Jackson at the helm. Both evenings were successful. On Friday Dec. 26th, the Union Rosebank school and Rindal church festival will be given, with Miss Ruth Halvorson on the program committee and assisted by several local people. This promises to be a very attractive evening and the public is cordially invited. Next Tuesday evening, Dec. 30th, the annual fest of the Union Sunday school will be held at the Swedish Mission church in town. This will be the only program held directly in Rosewood, and much is on the program of unusual interest. All programs have free admission and the public is invited.

Miss Lilly Holson, who has been employed in North Dakota this summer, arrived last week and will spend the holidays at the home of her sister, Mrs. Carl Mellem.

Miss Emma [illegible] arrived home on Tuesday from Thompson, N. D., where she has been employed this [illegible]

The windshield was fogged from frost and Ole misjudged the correct turn from the main road onto his farm road. The Ford was somewhat damaged and Mrs. Dahl who was with him was bruised some.

Skirts to Be Worn Ten Inches From Pavement

The National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers association met here today, and approved style recommendations for next spring and summer.

Skirts as an average will be worn ten inches from the ground and in extreme cases, 15 inches.

The slenderizing silhouette continues the foundation for the new season's styling. Many new variations in the cut of garments are introduced, including the tunic theme and circular cuts, but in all cases the garments are worn so as to achieve the straight line, slender type.

In sport coats, the mannish cut will be strongly evidenced.

The shorter length skirt will have its influence upon the styling of new spring coats, which will be somewhat shortened in length.

Materials will be soft, at least in coats and a number of new shades will be worn, including rose-ash, woodland brown, tiger-eye, golden oak and many new blues, greens and tans.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

ELKS ADDRESSED BY M. W. REGAN

Local Lodge to Assist in Work at Rochester Clinic.

At a meeting of the Elks' lodge last Friday evening, State Deputy M. W. Regan made a splendid address to the members upon the work being done by the state association of Elks lodges, of which there are 24 in Minnesota, calling special attention to the maintenance at the Rochester clinic of a welfare worker for the lodge.

The work of this welfare worker covers a multitude of activities, such as ministering to the sick and distressed, finding living quarters, keeping in touch with relatives, providing comforts, and a thousand and one other things of service to members of the organization.

Mr. Regan is a fine public speaker and his address here won him many new friends. He visited the Crookston lodge the previous night and reported an enthusiastic reception in that city.

Thief River Attorneys Argue in Supreme Court

Three Thief River Falls attorneys took their turn in Supreme Court last Friday, in two cases. One was Carl M. Carlson vs. the city and the other was entitled Farmers and Merchants State Bank vs. Emerson Brantingham Implement Co.

The first case involved the right of the contractor to collect for building the Filteration plant even though there was some defect in construction, so long as the construction was under the direction of the Engineer.

The other case involved the question of whether a deed, executed and filed under a mistake of fact can be cancelled even though the grantee has a judgment against him on record.

The District Court held that the deed could be cancelled and the Implement Company appealed from the decision, and now the Supreme Court will soon bring down decisions in both cases. H. O. Chommie represented the city and Theo. Qufle appeared for Carlson in the first case while G. Halvorson appeared for the bank in the deed case.

The decisions are expected in about three weeks.

He made a number of friends during his short stay in the city who are anxiously awaiting the opportunity to hear his talented young son.

At a farmers' meeting held last week at Red Lake Falls. Frank Jeffers, well known spell binder, addressed the meeting on co-operative marketing. At the close of his remarks the farmers passed resolutions asking the legislatura to retain the teeth in the present law.

Richard Mabey Improving.

Richard Mabey, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perl W. Mabey of this city, is convalescing from a weakened condition following a siege of scarlet fever about Thanksgiving time. The disease so stripped the little fellow of his vitality that he has been unable to walk, but acording to Mr. Mabey, his recovery is certain though it will take time before he will be strong again. Richard's many friends wish him a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year and hope he will soon be with them again.

LOCALS DEFEAT WARREN 16-13

Basketball fans received one of the biggest treats of the season last Friday evening when Coach Thune's men defeated the Warrenites 16 to 13. The game was a thriller from start to finish and it was anybody's game until the final whistle.

The first quarter ended 2 to 1 in favor of the visitors, neither team seeming able to connect with the loop. The second quarter favored the opponents who had a short streak of basket-shooting that raised their score to eight while the locals were unable to make more than two fouls. A radical change was shown in the third period during which the Lincoln five scored four field goals and Warren was held to one field basket and a foul, making the game a tie, 11 to 11. Excitement was raised to fever pitch in the last few minutes, Warren making the first basket which was quickly followed by one for the locals. The trick was turned by Capt. Penney who made three fouls and a field goal in the last quarter, thus ending the game 16 to 13.

The game was clean and sportsmanlike throughout and both teams displayed some excellent floorwork. A capacity crowd was present to witness the victory, among which was quite a number of Warren rooters.

The preliminary game between the high school second team and St. Hilaire resulted in a decisive defeat of the latter.

HOWARD SMITH ON SENATE JOB

Local Attorney Among Fortunate Ones Selected by Senate Caucus.

At the caucus of regular senators held at the St. Paul hotel last Monday, Howard Simth of this city was among those selected for senate positions this winter. Mr. Smith will be assistant to Secretary Peachey and will probably have general charge of the latter's office. Mr. Smith was nominated for the position by Senator Hansen.

The position given to Mr. Smith was held two years ago by the late Jens Erickson, whose death took place a few weeks ago.

Mr. Smith is well qualified for the position of secretary and the members of the senate are to be congratulated upon securing his services. The caucus held last Monday was composed of senators generally regarded as "regular" and was in opposition to the members of the senate who have attempted to engineer a deal to take from Lieutenant Governor Nolan the prerogative of appointing senate committees.

Dwelling Burned to Ground in Fire Here

In a disastrous fire which started mysteriously in the attic, the home of Charles Siems, near the fair grounds, was burned to the ground last Friday afternoon. The fire department responded to the call as soon as the station was notified but the flames had reached all parts of the dwelling and it burned to the ground. Quick work on the part of the neighbors served to salvage part of the household goods of the family, although a great deal was lost in the fire.

The burned house belongs to Mrs. Ellen Phelps and was partially insured. Several of the neighbors of the unfortunate Siems family have assisted them by providing articles of wearing apparel, household goods, etc., and they are now domiciled at the home of a neighbor until more permanent living quarters can be obtained.

Entire Cast Goes to Rome to Film Picture

Proof of the heights of realism and accuracy which the producers of motion pictures are aiming for is supplied by the fact that many of them travel long distances in order to film the stories in the exact locale specified by the authors.

Sometimes this entails considerable expense and trouble without end, but the Goddess of Art is a strict mistress and does not brook any slighting of her demands.

"The Eternal City," which comes to the Lyceum on Thursday and Friday, is one illustration of this custom. While Sir Hall Caine laid his story in Rome and its environments, the scenes required for backgrounds could have been duplicated in Hollywood without anyone becoming the wiser for the art directors in the industry have uncanny ability to reproduce any section of the globe. But George Fitzmanrics, who produced this First National picture, would have nothing of artificial settings. So he took the entire cast, including Barbara Ln Marr, Lionel Barrymore, Bert Lytell, Richard Bennett and Montagu Love, together with his technical staff, to Italy, and filmed the picture there.

Card of Thanks.

The undersigned wish to express their thanks to the many kind friends and neighbors, who assisted them by various contributions following the loss of their home last Friday. May you all enjoy a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, is the wish of

AGED MAN MAY LOSE LEG AS RESULT OF EXPOSURE

Ole Peterson Plummer Man in City Hospital

Ole Peterson, 60 year old bachelor, residing a short distance from Plummer, was brought to the Swedenburg hospital yesterday in a precarious condition as a result of exposure. The aged man, who lost a leg in an accident several years ago, was rendered helpless during the recent cold wave and lay in bed unable to move for ten days before his plight was discovered by neighbors.

He was brought there Monday suffering with pneumonia and when found, it was discovered that his remaining leg was so badly frozen that the member will have to be amputated at the knee in the opinion of attending physicians.

As The Tribune goes to press it is reported that Mr. Peterson's condition is very serious and fears are entertained that he may not survive the shock of the operation which will have to be performed.

HELGE JOHNSON LANGUISHES IN CALABOOSE HERE

Wife Says He Has Contributed Nothing to Children's Support.

Helge Johnson, who is quite well known in this city, Grygla and St. Hilaire, where he has worked at various times, continues as an inmate of the city jail as a result of his failure to secure the $500 bail demanded by Judge Tarrant as an evidence of good faith.

Helge is charged by his wife with non-support of three children, aged respectively 6, 4 and 2. Mrs. Johnson, who was cook for a time at the Jefferson Cafe, charges that from July 25 to the present time her husband has contributed nothing to her support. He looks like an able bodied man, but told the court he had been laid up by illness at the Grygla hospital and the necessary expense prevented him from caring for his family.

Lady Luck Favors Ethel Stene in Drawing For Car

Lady Luck perched on the shoulders of little Ethel Stene when she was called from the crowd last Wednesday afternoon to draw from the box the number winning the beautiful car given away by the Christenson hardware.

Excitement ran high through the large crowd which had congregated to watch the drawing when little Ethel was blindfolded and began taking tickets from the box containing the numbers. When she drew the fifth number, the one scheduled to win, it proved to be No. 538, held by her father. It was one of those lucky coincidents which happen so often in drawings of that kind.

Naturally Ethel was elated over the outcome of the drawing, as she now becomes the proud possessor of the car, a Christmas present of considerable value. She is to be congratulated and her friends rejoice with her in her unusual Christmas luck.

Fire Fighters Called to Jack Kielty Home Sunday

The local fire fighters were called to the home of Jack Kielty, 402 St. Paul avenue north, last Sunday at about 6:30 p. m., to extinguish flames which had started in the basement of their home and destroyed most of the partition before assistance came. It is estimated that the fire did about $1,000 in damage, part of which is covered by insurance.

Pennington County Boys On Honor Roll at Aggie

Pennington county was well represented on the honor scholastic roll at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, for the first term which closed December 19. To be placed on this list students must maintain a high grade of work and to secure this distinction is an evidence of close application to the work offered. Those from this county thus honored were: Elmer Miller, Goodridge; Emma Satre, St. Hilaire; Lawrence Letnes, Thief River Falls; Arnold Aakre, Goodridge.

Thief Riverite Member of "Radio Organization"

Arthur Sumner of Thief River Falls, has been elected a charter member of "Radio Farmers Democracy," the national radio farm organization sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation Broacasting Station WLS, according to word received here. The club which will be conducted from the firesides of the members much as the farm bureau is conducted in community halls, will meet over the radio every Tuesday evening at eight o'clock to deal with farm problems as they arise. The sole obligation of membership is the pledge to give one's best thought toward the solution of the many difficulties confronting American agriculture.

"BOY OF MINE" FULL OF PATHOS SAYS A CRITIC

The following fine descriptive article on "Boy of Mine" which appears Saturday at the Lyceum, was written by the great critic, Mr. Harrison:

"It doesn't seem as if anyone could possibly heap too many praises upon this picture, for it is just about perfect. The direction of J. K. MacDonald seems inspired. The acting of Ben Alexander, the boy hero of the piece, as well as that of Irene Rich, Henry Walthall, and Rockliffe Fellows, is practically flawless. The story is so vivid, so vitally true to life, that it gets a strangle-hold on the interest and never loses it. There are some dramatic situations so intense that play havoc with the emotions. The greatest of these is probably the one in which the small son of separated parents is asked to decide whether he and his mother shall return to the father; the father had called to beg them to return to him. This scene is so genuine and has been handled so masterfully that one can almost feel the electricity in it. The story is, indeed, so true to life all the way through that the spectator is made to feel as if he were concealed behind the portieres in a real home, witnessing a real family affair.

The many, many scenes showing the youngster up to all the regulation boyish pranks are hilariously funny. The one showing him in church Sunday morning, bored to death, catching flies by way of diversion, and inadvertently swatting the man in the forward pew on the cheek, brings forth screams of laughter; this just commences to die out when the boy who had been looking around on the floor for a coin he had dropped, raises his head just in time to knock the contribution plate out of the elder's hands; this incident starts the screaming all over again.

The scenes at the dinner-table too, when the youngster "snicks" his napkin-ring into his father's soup, and the one immediately after dinner when he nearly has his father on the verge of nervous prostration by his persistent walking up and down the room on an imaginary tight-rope, brings chortles of laughter. The picture is, in fact, full of such scenes as these; so alive that one fancies one can almost detect its heart beats. The subtitles are also excellent. The remarkable acting of Irene Rich in the scene where her boy has decided that they will return to the father and in which she is on the verge of hysteria is well worth being singled out for praise.

The action revolves around a young married couple, who, although devoted to each other, differ radically as to the proper mode of rearing their young son. One night the father sternly reprimands the boy for what seems to the mother a trivial matter. The boy, cut to the quick by his father's unfairness, packs up a few belongings and runs away. The father's indifference to this incident, as well as his scant courtesy to the kindly doctor who finds the boy and brings him home, safe and sound, convinces the mother this time she and her husband have come to the parting of the ways. The following day she and her boy leave the house to take up their abode elsewhere. Toward the end of the story, after the father has learned his much-needed lesson, they return to him.

There is yet to be produced a finer picture, more appealing than "Boy of Mine." Its appeal should be tremendous; it teaches a lesson that will doubtless strike home with a great many of the people who will see it."

PATTERSON IS NEW HEAD OF ELECTRIC LINE

Protzeller Resigns to Devote Time to Building Weed Burners.

Change Effective Tomorrow According to Bulletin Just Issued.

A bulletin issued today under a Thief River Falls headline, signed by Daniel Shaw, president of the Minnesota Northwestern Electric Railway, says: "H. W. Protzeller, General Manager, having resigned, Mr. W. R. Patterson, Superintendent, is, effective this date, placed in charge of the operation and maintainance of the property of this company."

With this brief announcement Mr. Protzeller, who, for ten years has been in charge of the running of the electric railway to Goodridge, terminates his service with the company and the property will, as above stated, be operated in the future by Mr. Patterson.

Mr. Patterson has been connected with the electric line for several years as superintendent and has operated the car which runs twice daily over the line. His promotion at this time means a considerable increase in salary and added responsibility.

Mr. Protzeller states to The Tribune that he has contemplated resigning for some time owing to the demands upon his time by the Gardner Weed Burner company, and that he will give all his time in the future to the building of weed burners at the plant operated by the company in this city. Railroad officials representing leading roads, attending demonstrations here last summer, pronounced the weed burner designed by Mr. Protzeller to be superior in every respect to anything of the kind now on the market, and the outlook for future business is exceedingly bright.

Egg, Poultry Exchange Did Big Holiday Business

The Minnesota Co-operative Egg and Poultry Exchange, the largest shipper in this section, has encountered no trouble from disease among the poultry it has handled, Manager McPheeters informs the Minnesota Farm Bureau, and the New York embargo has not prevented the Exchange from finding ample and satisfactory outlet for its shipments.

The Exchange did a tremendous business in dressed turkeys, ducks and geese, in addition to a heavy volume of live poultry, during the holiday season, Mr. McPheeters says.

The Minnesota Exchange has closed a two years contract with the Mark Twain Poultry Association of Missouri, to act as selling agency for the "Show Me" state producers.

TRINITY CHOIR PLEASES MANY

"Star of Bethlehem" Beautifully Rendered at Auditorium.

The Christmas Cantata entitled "The Star of Bethlehem", given Sunday at the Auditorium by the Trinity choir proved to be an entertainment of great charm judging by the complimentary remarks heard on all sides.

The solo parts of the beautiful piece were taken by Mrs. O. F. Mellby, Dora Holmes and Thora Hanson, sopranos, Dr. Vistaunet, baritone, Dr. Nesse, tenor. Parts were taken by a trio composed of E. M. Tallakson read the title of the Cantata and in that connection delivered a very appropriate address upon the significance of the selection.

PROSECUTOR IN ANGLE MURDER VISITS IN CITY

County Attorney Middleton Says Evidence Points to Reamer's Guilt.

Preliminary Hearing to Be Held at Baudette Next Saturday Afternoon.

E. C. Middleton, county attorney of Lake of the Woods county, who is very much in the public eye just now on account of the sensational Northwest Angle murder case, was in Thief River Falls yesterday on legal business.

The prosecutor stated that the preliminary hearing of Reamer, held in the Baudette jail on a murder charge, would be held next Saturday in the event that witnesses subpeoned from Kansas were on hand at that time.

Mr. Middleton stated that much circumstantial evidence had been gathered which pointed to the guilt of Reamer. The fact that the accused man stopped at the cabin the day of the murder to deliver mail was suspicious inasmuch as he makes the claims he never knew the slain woman before seeing her at the homestead cabin where she met her death, while witnesses will testify that he knew her well and was quite intimate with her before her marriage.

On the other hand Mr. Middleton states that the evidence so far adduced is of such a nature that all can easily be explained away by Reamer. He described "Toney" Reamer as a typical woodsman, who though weatherbeaten and hardened by his outdoor life, has an open, frank countenance and is capable of looking his accusers straight in the eye without batting an eyelash.

Iowa Land Buyers Look This Way Says Hansen

Prices to Come Back Quick Where Values Were Not Inflated He States.

The coming year, 1925, will witness a steady influx of new settlers into Northwestern Minnesota is the prediction of Senator C. L. Hansen, who has just returned from an extended trip through southern Minnesota and Iowa, on a mission of securing settlers for this section.

The type of settlers is not that of men drifting out of the cities, but capable farmers who see an opportunity to make their dollars and efforts bring in more returns proportionately from the medium priced lands of Northwestern Minnesota than the land of high prices and large rental values of southern Minnesota and Iowa, as these people are now becoming acquainted with the fact that alfalfa and other forage crops can be grown successfully in our country and the investment required to operate here is considerably less than is required in their section of the country and very soon the successful southern Minnesota and Iowa renter will become a Northwestern Minnesota farm owner.

It is apparent that the shortage of food stuffs will continue in Europe for at least another year, if not two, said Mr. Hansen in an interview with a representative of this paper. Hence it behooves the farmer to work his land to the fullest extent and the practically virgin soil of this section can be depended upon to yield good returns when properly tilled.

In his trip Mr. Hansen met men in all walks of life and they were unanimous in their prediction of good times for 1925 in spite of the fact that their country had also felt the effects of the general depression that affected our country in the past year.

That the present outlook for prosperity is based on a more firm foundation than the past boom time prosperity which followed the war and was not based on solid economic conditions and which really did more harm than good and the present outlook is for a gradual, continued, substantial progress.

As agriculture is our basic industry and all general prosperity is based upon conditions in the agricultural

ELKS TO OPEN CLUB ROOMS ON THURSDAY A. M.

Bowling and Billiards on Program For Big Opening Day.

Grand Opening to Take Place in January With Big Initiation.

Tomorrow morning at ten o'clock, the new quarters of the Elks' Lodge under the Citizens' Bank will be informally opened to the membership, the bowling alleys, billiard tables, etc., having been placed in tip-top shape by workmen who completed their task this week.

Roy Morgan, in charge of the new club rooms, announces that a lunch has been arranged to be served during the evening.

The new club rooms are spacious and well arranged. The two bowling alleys, which are of standard make, have been planed down and are said by expert bowlers to be in excellent condition for competitive games. New cloth has been provided for the billiard and pool tables; the walls of the club rooms have been renovated and kalsomined, and, altogether the club rooms present a real metropolitan appearance.

The officers of the lodge announce that the grand opening of the club rooms will take place in January, when the big annual initiation takes place, but there will be plenty of fun tomorrow and all Elks are urged to attend the opening and inspect the new quarters.

LOOP SHOOTERS TO PLAY FRIDAY

Recently Organized American Legion Team to Meet Fosston.

Posters are now out announcing a game of basketball to be played in this city at the auditorium Friday evening, January 2, at 8 o'clock. The strong Fosston American Legion quint will be here on that date with a grim determination to carry home the victory and the Legion boys here are equally as determined to keep the honor here.

Under the able coaching of Coach Thune, the boys here have developed a series of "wicked" plays, and if they can put them across Friday night as they have been doing at practice games there will be no doubt as to the outcome of the contest. However, Fosston has always had a very strong team and according to information received here, this year is no exception.

The proceeds from all games played by the American Legion team this year will go towards the 1925 state convention fund, and it is to be hoped that the citizens of Thief River Falls will get out and give the boys a boost. And everyone will get his money's worth at these games, for they will be fast and furious.

Keep in mind that Big Bemidji (as they call themselves) will be here for a game January 6.

Bigger and Better Business In 1925 Says H. S. Dahlen

Country Now Headed in Right Direction in Opinion of Local Banker.

"As we look back over the year 1924, I believe that we can all agree that it has been a year of high lights and shadows," said H. S. Dahlen, vice president of the First and Peoples State bank, in an interview given this paper today.

"Certainly," he continued, "it will stand out as a turning point in many lines and the change arrived at a time when it was most welcome.

"A year ago this time we were looking forward hopefully and counting on greatly improved conditions. The early months of the year might have seemed to indicate that we had been over optimistic but I believe that the trouble was that we lacked some of the essential facts on which to base our confidence.

"From the middle of 1924 on, however, the facts that prosperity was returning came thick and fast. Crops were of a high order and prices were improving steadily.

"The present aggressive and forceful move to restore business activity to normal would have come much sooner had it not been for the presidential election. That restraining influence is now out of the way, and I believe we are now pointed toward bigger and better business for all in 1925."

"Bob" McGinn—Talk about your cold weather, I remember starting for Red Lake, where Math Barzen and I were logging at the time, on a Sunday morning when the thermometer registered 52 below pero. I had a littla team of horses and made the drive of 65 miles in one day, stopping at Highlanding for dinner. I met a lumber jack on the road whose face was frozen solid in several places. When I told him his face was frozsn hs merely said, "I know it, hut what's tha usa of thawing it out, when it freezes right up again." I made that drive to the lake and remained there for ten days, being ont every day and with less discomfort than I now experience in a ten mile auto trip, the weathar being 40 helow every day. Those were tha good old days when red blooded men worked in the woods and though the weather was extremely cold, few ever got sick or complained of conditions.

Views and Interviews

"Bob" McGinn—Talk about your cold weather, I remember starting for Red Lake, where Math Barzen and I were logging at the time, on a Sunday morning when the thermometer registered 52 below zero. I had a little team of horses and made the drive of 65 miles in one day, stopping at Highlanding for dinner. I met a lumber jack on the road whose face was frozen solid in several places. When I told him his face was frozen he merely said, "I know it, hnt what's the use of thawing it out, when it freezes right up again." I made that drive to the lake and remained there for ten days, being ont every day and with less discomfort than I now experience in a ten mile auto trip, the weather being 40 below every day. Those were the good old days when red blooded men worked in the woods and though the weather was extremely cold, few ever got sick or complained of conditions.

An old timer who lived in Grand Forks in 1871 tells how they enjoyed Christmas that year with salt pork and beans. They had plenty of whiskey but no turkey. After Christmas they held a dance, a local fiddler who could play one tune supplying the music, and in the absence of women, one of the men dressed up in an old skirt and waist, and the old timer states there were no wall flowers at that dance. There were five white men at Grand Forks but Indians were plentiful.

Home Cure For Hiccoughs

Webster, after trying local doctors without relief from the hiccoughing, went into his mother's kichen and concocted a mixture of vinegar, water and sugar. It stopped his hiccoughing.

"Just gargle your throat with the mixture," Webster told fellow employes. They did, and every one was cured.

Hearing of the epidemic prevalent in New York, Webster wrote to Mayor Hylan, disclosing the cure. The mayor sent him a letter of thanks, stating it has "worked like a charm," affording relief to hundreds of New York victims.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

Hans Anton Subject of Article by Dispatch Writer

Family Conferences Essential to Farm Success According to Sherlock.

In a special article to the St. Paul Farmers Dispatch in which he discusses various subjects, W. E. Sherlock, staff man who covered "Alfalfa Day" here for his newspaper, has the following to say of Hans Anton, well known local farmer and dairyman:

"A few days ago I was in Thief River Falls, one of Northwest Minnesota's most enterprising little cities. I asked a leading citizen for the names of the most successful farmers of that section.

"What do you mean by successful," he countered, "successful in acquiring and retaining land and livestock or successful in acquiring and retaining the love and respect of his family?"

I was thinking of land and livestock, but I told my friend to give me the names of those who had acquired and retained the love and respect of their families.

He named several among whom was Hans Anton who not only measured up to my requirements but who had accumulated land and livestock.

He said: "Hans and I once drove over into an adjoining county. We did not get back to his farm till well after midnight. We had scarcely gotten in the house till the whole family rolled out of bed eager to know how dad was feeling and if he had enjoyed the trip. One of the boys went out to the kitchen and made dad a cup of coffee. Hans' family loves and respects him because he loves and respects them and takes them into his confidence. No matter what he undertakes, he holds a directors' meeting of all his family and makes each one feel he has an important part to play in the decision of farm problems. That, you know, is the true measure of success."

I could not help thinking of Solomon's analysis of the successful parent. Solomon speaks in the feminine gender but the thought expressed applies to dad as well as mother. The Wise Man says: "She openeth her mouth with wisdom; and her tongue is the law of kindness. She looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness. Her children arise up and call her blessed."

Any man whose children arise up and call him blessed, is a successful man; and that is why the smile of reverence flits across the face of the Thief Riverite whenever the name of Hans Anton is mentioned."

PUBLIC FORUM

Editor Tribune:

A couple weeks ago I met a farmer friend of mine, Ole is his name, down by the creamery platform bringing his can of cream in a brand new Ford. Nothing unusual about that, is there? Not at all, but at the same time as I was a little surprised, it brought to my mind many things which I had observed before.

How often have I not seen this very farmer coming into the creamery from his 15 mile drive in cold weather and warm weather with his can of cream on the load.

In the summer-time it was generally the job of his wife to make the weekly trips to town with cream and other things to dispose of for other necessities. Many times have I seen this woman heading for home with an old plug of a horse rather late in the afternoon on this 15 mile drive. Coming home late, long after dark sometimes, with some chores facing her both inside and outside, she would have a chance to look back upon a long day.

Having as much knowledge and experience in pioneer life as anyone in this locality and remembering also what this family has had to contend with, it really did me good to see this change cutting the distance to one-fourth of the time otherwise needed for many a trip.

If there is a man under God's sun who needs a car or rather entitled to one, it is a farmer, who lives out more or less of a distance.

The unusual thing about it is this: When every section of country has been sending out S. O. S. calls for financial assistance and favorable legislation for agriculture, Ole has managed his farming in this depressing time in such a way, that he could buy his Ford, not on monthly installments either.

Ole does not specialize in dairying or alfalfo raising either, which goes to show that a man can be a good farmer without practicing along these special lines. Ole is not the only one of this kind of good farmers. There are many. My hat is off to every one of them. When laurels are heaped high on alfalfa raisers and so-called bigger dairymen, let us not forget the many good farmers located here and there and everywhere, who practice diversification in their farm operations. Ole, I congratulate you. May you and your sturdy, industrious and faithful helpmate live long enough and enjoy health long enough to wear out that Ford good and plenty. The way you will use it, it will take you a mighty long time.

No Cross—No Crown.

(By Martin G. Christenson.)

What joy he brings
Who sweetly sings
Of tidings good for all on earth;
Tho many stings
It now him brings
From those who cannot see its worth.

Let world allure,
Let it procure
The things that give it mirth;
Those who endure
The prize secure—
An eternal crown at second birth.

Crookston, Minn.,
Dec. 26, 1924.

The Tribune,
Thief River Falls, Minn.,
Gentlemen:

While a visitor in your city recently, I could not help but notice and admire the spirit the business people of Thief River Falls carry. One thing that particularly attracted my attention was the Posters throughout the business section.

I want to say that you surely have a live bunch there, and if all the towns in the Northwest had a live Boosters Organization like Thief River Falls, I am sure they would see more prosperity.

Mr. Reporter, I regret very much that I was unable to attend your "Alfalfa Week" but I understand you bought over 30,000 lbs. of alfalfa. The farmers of your community are surely going into a staple market.

Out in Montana where I hail from, we had considerable trouble with our alfalfa in various sections but by the assistance of the Agricultural Department of the Great Northern Ry. Co., they have dealt with the situation very successfully and I would like to suggest that should you meet with any difficulty in your community that you get in touch with the Agricultural Department of the Great Northern Ry. Co., who will be more than willing to lend you a helping hand.

Extending to you and your Boosters Club the Season's Greetings, I am,

Yours very truly,
ROY P. O'CONNELL

By H. L. Schuster, Secy.-Treas.

The quality of our Thanksgiving turkeys was very poor, due principally to the fact that birds were hatched late and were undeveloped.

The turkey crop thru the United States this year is equally as good as last year, but the quality is much lower. About all the turkeys which were in shape to put on the Thanksgiving market were the old birds.

The management has been damned for this and damned for that recently, at least since some of the returns have been received. Put yourself in the manager's boots, look at it from his angle—don't think just because we are selling on a co-operative basis that the association can perform miracles in the way of prices. He is just as anxious to see you get a good big price for your produce as you are to get it. You will please take notice that at Thanksgiving time in the large cities, the market was what is termed "a buyer's market." This means that there was a lot of stuff on the market and buyers could go down the line, make you a bid on the stuff; if you thought it was high enough you could take it; if not he could go on down the line; maybe you could sell and maybe you couldn't. You have no chance to dictate price on this kind of a market.

Prices for the turkeys delivered the last half of November are about the same as they were for Thanksgiving, with the exception of prices on hens, which are somewhat higher.

Eggs have taken a drop lately; we have been able to return 54c for extra firsts.

Frank Kingsley, who has had charge of the picking room for the association since before Thanksgiving, left Saturday night for Owatonna, where he will take charge of another picking plant.

Geo. Whaley, who has been with the association as foreman of the packing plant for three weeks, departed Sunday night for his home at Winnebago.

Co-operative marketing cannot be a success without every member doing his part to support the movement.

Remittances for the last half of November were made last week. 30c was paid for No. 1 young toms; 26c for No. 1 young hens and 25c for No. 1 old hens. These prices compare very favorably with prices paid in this section of the state.

There has been considerable misunderstanding about the prices paid on live turkeys. The association paid dressed prices on live weight basis; in other words, there was a difference of 6c per pound between live and dressed turkeys. For instance on 100 pounds live weight No. 1 young toms at 30c per pound would equal $30.00. Deducting 6c per pound or $6.00, this would make a net sum of $24.00. This 6c per pound is used for shrinkage and dressing expense.

The association remitted for the last half of November, 54c for extra firsts; 43c for firsts and 35c for seconds.

Andrew Trovaton, who has been an accountant for the association during the rush, resigned and departed for McIntosh where he will reside this winter.

Beware of New Scheme.

All owners of Ford cars are being solicited to purchase "bankers shares" or "American units" of stock in the Ford Motor of Canada at $6.00 or $6.50 per unit.

The Wall Street Journal in the issue of December 11th explains that this offering "made by a few unlisted security dealers is patently deceptive." It is pointed out that these dealers are "simply trying to get $600.00 or $650.00 for merchandise worth but $470.00", as this is the present market value of stock in the company.

If the Ford owners in your community are anxious to own stock in the Ford Motor of Canada, you will be doing them a kindness to inform them that the purchase can be made through any reputable house at $470 per share. All these people are doing is to purchase the stock, deposit it with a trustee, and sell these printed certificates representing "units" of value divided into 100ths at a fat profit of about 30 per cent.

EXIT GOVERNOR PREUS.

Before another issue of The Tribune Governor Preus will have relinquished to his successor, Theodore Christianson, the reins of office, and after twenty years spent in the public service, will again be a private citizen.

No doubt Mr. Preus has made some political enemies during his term of office, due in a large measure to his failure to appoint this or that man to public office, or because he failed to support certain proposed measures, but all in all, by and large, he has made a creditable record as chief executive of this great state.

Though the governor is barely forty, he has been executive clerk, insurance commissioner, state auditor and governor. He has made good in every position entrusted to him, and we doubt whether any man in the United States can show a similar record of public service. He came within an ace of being United States Senator—and no doubt he would be in the senate now had he two years ago appointed someone like Ex-Governor Van Sant, who likely would not have relished the idea of going through a strenuous campaign. Under such circumstances Mr. Preus could have won this year with great ease.

Many people attribute the governor's success to luck, but such is far from beiog the case. Mr. Preus is a prodigious worker. He can do three men's work and grow fat on it, and every upward step he has made can be traced to his untiring attention to details. He can remember faces and names and facts better than any other citizen of Minnesota. He can meet a chance acquaintance on the train and recall every circumstance ten years later. Then he has a fine personality, and though he was never clever at debate in his school days, he has made himself a fluent and attractive public speaker.

The retiring governor is a striking example of what an American boy can make of himself when fired by ambition, and we predict he will live to make a great name for himself in the business world.

The Tribune extends to its thousands of readers its best wishes for a Happy New Year.

SELECTING GOOD LAND FOR ALFALFA.

> During a period of about 12 years I watched the efforts to raise alfalfa in Roseau county, and gathered the actual experiences of many farmers who experimented with it. The sum total of all these experiments were that no other alfalfa than Grimm would survive there, and that the Grimm had to be planted on fairly good soil where the drainage was as nearly perfect as possible. A couple days of flood water at any time during the growing season seemed enough to kill the plants.—Martin Widsten in Crookston Times.

Mr. Widsten is right about the selection of soil. Alfalfa must be planted on well drained soil, where the surface water line is at least 15 or 20 feet deep. Alfalfa should never be planted on peat soil, as the heaving of such soil in the early spring is almost sure to break the roots and kill the plant. This condition is often mistaken for winter killing. The Tribune is of the opinion that any good certified seed, Grimm or Cossack is suitable for this section, Grimm preferred, but single or "tap root" alfalfa should in all cases be avoided. Mr. Widsten might have added that inoculation of the seed is an important factor in alfalfa raising.

The Tribune has received from State Auditor Chase a valuable work on taxes and taxation, entitled "The Path of Your Tax Dollar," a work which should be in the hands of every intelligent taxpayer in Minnesota. The book contains valuable information for purposes of comparison, and discloses a state of affairs in many Minnesota counties which calls for most drastic action if private property is not to be confiscated. In compiling this work the state auditor has rendered a fine service to the taxpayers of Minnesota.

If Ted Christianson is an admirer of the qualities which made Calvin Coolidge so popular in the late election, we suggest he retain the services of H. E. Samuelson, present private secretary to Governor Preus. "Sam" is about as loquacious as the proverbial oyster and the governor-elect can rest assured that, with such a secretary on the job, he can always go to sleep secure in the feeling that he will never be ruined officially by anything his lieutenant may say for him. When it comes to words, Samuelson is the stingiest man in the state capitol—and one of the most popular.

INOCULATE ALL ALFALFA FIELDS.

It is the firm belief of The Tribune, based upon careful investigation, that all alfalfa seed ought to be inoculated. This forms the nodules upon the roots which draws valuable nitrogen from the air, and a great increase in yield is noticed in all instances.

Sixty barrels of wood alcohol was seized last week in New York from bootleggers who had prepared for the Christmas harvest. During the previous week 29 deaths took place from drinking wood alcohol. Truly a condition worth pondering over.

Times were hard last year, no doubt of that, but just the same this country paid a tax of $325,638,000 on tobacco alone, not to mention the amount paid for the tobacco.

We are happy over the announcement that Governor Preus will remain in Minnesota—that he will enter business and make this state his permanent home. The governor is too good a man to lose and he has a legion of friends in this state who are ready to stand by him in anything he may undertake.

ENDORSES RURAL CREDITS ACT.

Representative Pratt of Polk county, in a recent article in the Polk County Leader, places himself on record in favor of further extension of the Rural Credit law, which he thinks has worked out well. In the opinion of the editor of The Tribune it is the best law ever placed on the statute books by the legislature, and we will go a step farther and assert that no law has ever been better administered than this one, the Minnesota Rural Credit Bureau having made a record which will stand up under the closest scrutiny.

A COLORED HERO.

The Minneapolis Journal printed a picture the other day of a colored porter named Lewis who showed himself to be a real hero in the terrible wreck of a buffet car at Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin. This man worked inside the overturned car in the icy waters of Chippewa river until his hands and feet were frozen solid. When offered mittens he said, "Give them to the lady or gent," and he remained there passing out the dead and wounded until all were out.

We hope Mr. Lewis survives his severe injuries. He is a man whom anyone may be proud to call a friend, and by his action he has forcibly demonstrated how utterly foolish are the acts of intolerance directed against any color or creed.

FOOL LAWS.

> Down in Nebraska they are planning on passing a law which would revoke all marriage licenses issued in Nebraska in cases where no children are born within two years, making exceptions for physical disabilities when properly certified by a physician. The law is being fathered by the city health commissioner of Omaha, who announced that he would support such a bill before the coming session of the legislature in Nebraska. It was announced by the same man that he would support a bill requiring physical examinations of all applicants for marriage licenses.—Truman Tribune.

As an example of the fool laws which the legislature is called upon to consider, the above is entitled to first place. It is almost as asinine as the proposed law which was seriously debated in the Minnesota legislature some years ago, making it a dismeanor for anyone to send flowers to a condemned criminal. The above shows, if it shows anything, that there is urgent need for a fool killer in every legislative body in the United States.

GIFTS TO THE UNIVERSITY.

The Mayor Foundation of $2,000,000 for graduate study, has recently been augmented by a gift of $500,000 by William Henry Eustis of Minneapolis. The latter amount may eventually reach a million and is contingent upon the University raising an additional $2,350,000. In the event that this is brought about, Minnesota will have one of the best equipped medical schools in the country.

The "Alfalfa Day" celebration gave Pennington county the best advertising ever received by any county in Minnesota. That's that. Now it is up to the people here—business men and farmers, to join hands in a common effort to make everything come true. When we really have 10,000 acres of growing alfalfa in Pennington county, which should be next year—we will all be sitting, figuratively as well as literally, "on top of the world."

A GOOD BEAUTY HINT.

A valued excbange hands out the following sensible beauty hint: "To make the hands soft and beautifully white: Soak the hands three times a day in dishwater while mother takes a rest. The treatment will not hurt mother."

An unusual situation exists at the Stillwater prison where the Prison Mirror is published. Not a single editor or printer can be found within the prison walls and it becomes necessary to have the publication edited and printed on the outside.

Texas has a help-yourself hotel. Anticipating the guests who commonly steal the sheets, towels, soap and everything else that's loose, we presume.

The Dawson Sentinel has been leased by Governor-elect Christianson to J. L. Jacobs, of the Franklin Tribune, a newspaper man of fine ability and long experience.

Jas. T. McCleary, one time brilliant congressman from the second district, died last week at a hospital in Wisconsin at the ripe age of 74. He had retired to a Wisconsin farm.

The open door has a new meaning. Death lurks in the closed garage when the motor is running. Open the door and save funeral expenses.

This is a good time to write the extension division of the state farm school for a supply of literature on alfalfa culture. Read up on this wonderful plant and help make this a community of alfalfa experts.

Look over the list of personal property tax payers in this issue of The Tribune, and discover, if you can, who told the truth and nothing but the truth to the assessor.

Deposits in North Dakota state banks increased a trifle over two million dollars during the past year, according to the bank examiner's report recently issued.

During the past year the dear ladies spent $117,175,741 for perfumes and cosmetics and still some of them remain single.

(Cedar Rapids, Ia., Republican.)

What is Iowa land going to be worth five or ten years from now? Most of us wieh we could know. It is a cinch that it never can ba worth any less than it can be bought for at forced sale today. There are reasonable grounds for the belicf that it will be worth more than it was before the war boom.

We had $200 land befora tha war. Some land wae worth more. It bad reached that figure after 300 years of development in the United States. There can not be any question as to the soundnese or permanency of pre-war land values.

Poet war values were inflated, of course, but the average value of all commoditiee other than land remaine today at 150 as compared to 100 for pre-war values of the same things. Average wages are at 200 as compared to 100 for pre-war wages. The belief of economists is, and it is based upon the history of conditione following other wars, that both commodity prices and wages will gradually step downward for the next ten years or more, but the most learned of our economic researchers are convinced that the pre-war level of prices and the pre-war wages will never again return.

If this is true what is going to happen to the price of pre-war $200 land? If prices ebould finally stabilize at 25 per cent above pre-war and wages at 50 per cent pre-war, which allows for a ten-year decline from their present levels, where will land stabilize its price?

Manifestly land at $200 ten years from now will be cheaper than it was before the war if prices of all other things stay up. Land at $250, which was $200, will only have readjusted its pre-war parity with other things if the permanent level of other prices remains 25 per cent above pre-war.

The war boom in land started eight years ago. Population is fully 20 per cent greater now than it was then. Population ten years from now will be 50 per cent greater than it was in 1917. What effect is that going to have on the price of land?

Men of the most accurate and conservative knowledge of land values in 1917 all agreed that if tbe price of corn could remain at $1 and wheat at was before everybody else was selling $1.50 it would make $300 land. Thus his goods and wages at permanently advanced pricee. With wages permanently higher, all other prices permanently higher and 50 per cent more population than we had in 1917 and no more land wby shouldn't our pre-war $200 land bring $300 on the current land market? Thoee who can buy land at today'e forced eale pricee will never see it worth less. They have every promise of seeing it equalized upwards with other things.

Everything has drawbacks. There were no children in the Garden of Eden.

Large Group of Alumni Enjoy Annual Reunion

About one hundred Alumni and members of this year's senior class spent a most enjoyable evening last Friday when the association entertained at the annual reunion at the Sons of Norway hall.

The early part of the evening was devoted to dancing, cards, and a social time and at eleven o'clock the program was given. This opened with a very clever speech of welcome by Stephen Arneson, vice-president of the association who officiated in the absence of Francis Burns, president. Emmett Shanaban, president of the 1925 Seniors, gave a most fitting response, which was heartily applauded. Miss Pearl Weeks, alumni of '23, and now a student at St. Olaf college, pleased the audience with a piano solo and responded to an encore. In behalf of the faculty and board of education, Supt. I. T. Simley spoke in an interesting manner of the school as it is now, its accomplishments and hopes for the future. The last and one of the most enjoyable numbers on the program was a solo by Carl Sundahl, accompanied by L. T. Mickelson.

Dancing was resumed after the program and continued until about midnight when very delicious refreshments were served. After a few more dances, the business meeting was called to order and the election of officers for the coming year took place. George Mostue was elected to serve as president; Morlan Bishop, vice-president; Gregory Werstlein, secretary; and Carolyn Melby, treasurer.

Everyone present enjoyed a most delightful evening and the general verdict was that it wss one of the most successful reunions ever given here.

Mr. Hansen predicts that lands in this section will be sought for, in the near future, as never before and as false boom time values were never created in this section of the country, it will be a very short time when our lands will return to their former true valuation, a fact that cannot be accomplished for many years in the sections that experienced inflated values.
